MEMOIR OF HON. LEVI WOODBURY, LL.D.

By HON. CHARLES LEVI WOODBURY, of Boston.

It was observed by your Committee on Publication that although a memoir of Gov. Woodbury of New Hampshire had been published in the first volume of their Memorial Biographies, yet that the volumes of the REGISTER contained no adequate notice, and the writer was requested to supply a brief capitulation of this gentleman's career. Besides the memoir above referred to, three volumes of the writings, speeches, lectures and judicial opinions of Levi Woodbury were published immediately after his death. The congressional debates in which he participated, the Reports of the United States Supreme Court, Woodbury and Minot's Reports of the Circuit Court, and the documents submitted by the Treasury Department to Congress, will supply much not included in these volumes. His correspondence has not been edited.

Levi Woodbury was born in Francestown, New Hampshire, Dec. 2, 1789. His father, the Hon. Peter Woodbury, in youth had settled there, where he became a successful merchant and farmer. For thirty years he was an active magistrate, justice of the peace and quorum for the county, which he also several times represented in the senate. The family were descendants of John Woodbury, who settled at Cape Ann, 1623-4, and was one of "the Old Planters" who settled Salem, 1626-7, before the Bay Charter was granted. Under the charter government Woodbury was elected a freeman of the Corporation, and several times a deputy of the General Court. He also held many other public employments until his death in 1841. He was one of the five Old Planters to whom 1000 acres was granted in that part of Salem afterwards incorporated as Beverly, where he and his brother William planted and their descendants multiplied.

Josiah,<sup>3</sup> born June 15, 1682; his son Josiah,<sup>4</sup> born Feb. 16, 1708; his son Peter,<sup>5</sup> born March 28, 1738; his son Peter,<sup>6</sup> born Jan. 17, 1767, who married Mary Woodbury. These last were the parents of Levi.<sup>7</sup> Mary, his mother, was descended from Peter,<sup>2</sup> through his son Peter,<sup>3</sup> born in 1664, whose son Peter,<sup>4</sup> born 1705, was father of James,<sup>5</sup> born 1738, who was father of Mary. James Woodbury, grandfather of Levi, had served in the French war at Lake George, and was also one of the provincial rangers who were with Wolfe the next year at the capture of Quebec. Each grandfather was born in Beverly, and James settled in Narraganset No. 4 (Amherst), in 1765 or '6, on land given him by his father in the part now Mt. Vernon.

As Peter signed a petition in 1770 relative to town affairs in Amherst, he was already living there. He was an ardent rebel, and was a member of Capt. Taylor's company that marched from Amherst in Dec. 1775, to Winter Hill. His name is fifth on the list of those in Amherst who in April, 1776, pledged to resist with arms and fortune the encroachments of the British parliament on American liberty. He was of the legislature who formed the first Constitution of New Hampshire in the name of the people, and was frequently on the Committee of Public Safety. Two of his sons, Levi and Jessie, served in the army and afloat under the flag, and the youngest, Peter, enlisted at the age of thirteen years, but his father stopped it.

James Woodbury was a signer in 1776 of the pledge to resist with arms, also was on committees and other public service during the revolution. The blood of other families of the settlers of Essex County before 1641, through the wives of his ancestors, flowed in his veins; such as Richard and William Dodge, Conant, William Woodbury, Herrick, Batchelders, Osmond Trask, Goodells, &c., also the Ipswich families of Perkins, Rogers, Wade and Burnham. Many also of respected individuals in Massachusetts, Maine and New Hampshire were allied through their descent from females of the Woodbury stock. These facts show that Mr. Woodbury was thoroughly of that early New England stock whose memory the REGISTER seeks to preserve.

The subject of this notice was the second of ten children born to his parents, and was named after his uncle Levi, who had been captured in the privateer Essex, and died in Dartmoor prison in England near the close of the revolutionary war. He entered Dartmouth College, was graduated with distinction in 1809, and entered on the study of law, which he pursued under Judge Gould at Litchfield, Conn., Hon. Samuel Dana at Boston, and Hon. Jeremiah Smith at Exeter, N. H. Whilst a student he had acquired considerable local celebrity by speeches and resolutions at war meetings in his native county, and September, 1812, he commenced the practice of law at Frankestown with industry and met with success.

In 1817 he was elected clerk of the Senate, and became one of the trustees under the new act as to Dartmouth College. In course of the same year he was appointed one of the associate justices of the Supreme Court of New Hampshire. In conjunction with Chief Justice Richardson he prepared the first three volumes of the Report of that state.

In 1819 he married Miss Elizabeth W. Clapp, the daughter of the Hon. Asa Clapp of Portland, Maine, and removed his residence to Portsmouth, the old provincial capital of the state. In 1822 he was nominated for governor, and elected,—the vote in the town of his residence being Levi Woodbury 900, all others 34. In June he was inaugurated as governor. In his inaugural he says, "Among the most sacred of those principles my education and political faith have always led me to rank the general diffusion of knowledge, equality of rights, liberty of conscience, and a strict accountability of all public servants." These objects he pursued through his whole public career. In 1823 the New Hampshire Historical Society was formed with Gov. Plumer as president and Mr. Woodbury vice president. Next year he became its president, and always took a great interest in its objects. In 1824 he was defeated for governor, and returned to his profession. In 1825 he was elected from Portsmouth to the legislature, which elected him speaker, and before the close of its session he was elected to the United States Senate. His industry and capacity shown in committees and in debate soon placed him among the most vigorous of the Democratic cohort. On his inauguration Gen. Jackson tendered him the mission to Spain, which he declined. He declined being a candidate for re-election, but a few days after the close of his term he was elected to the state senate. Gen. Jackson re-organized his cabinet in May, 1831, and invited Mr. Woodbury to take the portfolio of the navy department, which he accepted, and entered on its duties. Having served some years on the naval committee, Mr. Woodbury was not unprepared for the duties of the office. He despatched a frigate to chastise the Malays at Quallah Buttoo who had plundered a Salem ship; made a valuable report on the live oak supply of the country, introduced the commuting of the spirit ration of the sailors for money, re-organized the method of allotting service among the officers, revised the Navy regulations, and restrained the power of subordinate officers to inflict punishment on sailors. He visited personally all the navy yards of the United States, and despatched a sloop-of-war to carry Mr. Roberts, the agent, to conclude commercial treaties with Siam and Muscat. He also sent a fleet to Charleston to sustain the custom authorities against the nullifying threats of resistance by some sugar importers, and provided a ship-of-the-line to support our minister, Mr. Nelson, in the Bay of Naples in enforcing demands for indemnity on the Neapolitan government. His plans for the gradual improvement of the navy and for better administration of its affairs were much commended.

The petition of the United States Bank for a re-charter, and the withdrawal of the treasury deposits, raised an intense political excitement. The nomination of Mr. Taney as Secretary of the Treasury was rejected by the Senate. Mr. Woodbury then was nominated for that post, and confirmed without objection; he held the position during the remainder of Gen. Jackson's term, and having been re-appointed by Mr. Van Buren, held it during his administration. During all this time political controversy focused on the fiscal policy of the United States, and the Secretary was consequently the objective point of attack from the opponents of the administration. Any history of the controversy is too long for this article, but it ended with a final divorce of the government from dependence on the banks for keeping its revenues, and the enactment of the sub-treasury system. Before the end of Gen. Jackson's term Mr. Woodbury had the satisfaction of seeing the national debt paid in full. The "specie circular" and "the gold bill" show his efforts to strengthen the specie basis of the country. The distribution of the surplus revenue among the states contrary to his remonstrance, brought on the suspension of the banks in 1837. Deprived of the revenue in their hands, and forbidden by law to use the depreciated paper of the banks, the public credit was in danger, but under his guidance the treasury weathered the storm. "The public credit was maintained without the aid, almost in defiance of the moneyed classes" (R. Rantoul, Jr.). The struggle between fallacies and truth had logically led to the first sub-treasury law, whereby the government kept in its own possession the revenues it collected, and disbursed from its own treasury. It was re-enacted in 1846 as the Independent Treasury, and is still the basis of the treasury system. The use of banks by the treasury, authorized in the war of secession, is practically, but not exclusively, relegated to negotiations concerning loans and war debt. Mr. Woodbury, by remarkable industry and excellent methods of business, was able to give due attention to the numerous miscellaneous subjects in charge of his department, many of which may be seen in some dozen or two volumes of treasury documents emanating during his term. Among these I will refer to a report on the rise and progress of cotton industry in the United States, and to another on the losses sustained from banks and bank paper.

In 1838 he was offered and declined the chief justiceship of New Hampshire. In 1840 Mr. Van Buren was defeated for re-election, and in the winter after New Hampshire elected Mr. Woodbury to the United States Senate. So on his retirement from the cabinet he began his term March 4, 1841, as senator. A question was informally submitted to him whether he had not lost his residence in New Hampshire by his absence on public business and thus become ineligible. He prepared and showed senators a brief on the point, which they considered conclusive, and no motion was made in the senate, nor has the point again been mooted. An extra session of Congress was called, when Mr. Woodbury at once took ground against the charges made on the late administration, and the new policy projected in the finances with such thorough information and logical force as materially aided to renew the confidence of the defeated democracy. The plans to re-charter a United States bank were vetoed by President Tyler, and the democrats appealed to the people to repeal what else the Whigs had enacted. The campaign of 1844 opened on the old issues, and on the annexation of Texas, which he had supported in the senate and advocated before the people. The democrats were successful, and President Polk tendered the mission to the Court of St. James to Mr. Woodbury, which for family reasons he declined. On leaving the cabinet Mr. Woodbury had resumed the practice of law, travelling the circuit in the vacations of Congress, as was the habit of the leading lawyers of New Hampshire.

In August, 1845, Mr. Justice Story resigned from the bench of the supreme court, and Mr. Woodbury was appointed to succeed that distinguished jurist. He accepted, and held all the courts of the Fall circuit. He was confirmed by the senate on its assembling. His remarkable industry and great powers of tracing a legal principle through many precedents and analogies now found a new and fertile field. His decisions in the circuit court can be found in the three volumes of Woodbury and Minot's Reports. In the supreme court his opinions are reported in from four to eleven Howard's reports. His contributions to constitutional law, to questions of admiralty jurisdiction, conflicts of state and federal jurisdiction, and the limits of executive power, were important, but in every branch of law his opinions show judicious discrimination of the true principle involved in the issue before him.

Mr. Woodbury's labors told on his iron frame, and though ill he completed the Spring circuit of 1851, and after delivering before Trinity College, Hartford, an address July 31, he returned home hoping that mental rest and exercise on his farm would bring back his usual health; but in vain, and the absent members of his family were summoned to his side. He died Sept. 4, 1851.

Demonstrations of regret at his loss came from his fellow citizens and from the bar of his native state, from the circuit court he had presided over, from the circuit court of New York, and that of Pennsylvania and many others, and from the supreme court at Washington. The judges of the supreme court and the leaders of the bar bore witness to his courteous patience on the bench, to his ability, integrity and professional learning. It would exceed the limits of this article to repeat all that was eloquently said by distinguished leaders of all parties in commendation of the deceased, but I may be pardoned for referring to some special characteristics they commemorated without repeating the universal testimony they bear to his industry, ability, learning and integrity.

In the Supreme Court at Washington, Hon. J. J. Crittenden, attorney general, in offering the resolutions of the bar, said :

Judge Woodbury was a man who for a long series of years occupied a most conspicuous position. The continued confidence reposed in him by his country, and the numerous honors which he shared, all testify to his greatness, and will be his noblest monument. * * * Judge Woodbury was a man who wore his honors, great as they were, meekly, and it was his distinguishing merit that he thought much less of them than of the duties they entailed.

Chief Justice Taney replied :

His life had been passed mainly in the public service before he became a member of this court. And in the various and important offices, judicial and political, to which he had been appointed, he was always found equal to the duties imposed upon him, and never failed to distinguish himself by the extent and accuracy of his information upon every subject connected with his official duties, or upon which he was at any time called upon to act. * * * We all feel we have lost an able, upright and learned associate, and most truly and sincerely deplore his death.

In the New York Circuit Court Mr. J. Prescott Hall moved, and the Hon. Benjamin F. Butler, United States attorney general under Presidents Jackson and Van Buren, seconded the resolutions of the bar. Mr. Justice Nelson replied :

He was truly an able and painstaking judge. Patient if possible to a fault in listening to the arguments and authorities of counsel; and what is of equal if not higher merit, indefatigable in weighing the arguments and searching out the authorities referred to, so that counsel might be sure the client could have the benefit of them in the investigations and judgment of the court. * * * The private virtues and worth of the deceased were as exalted as his public character. Remarkable for the kindness of his disposition and amiability of temper, his intercourse with his brethren of the bench and bar was most agreeable and pleasant, ever ready to extend courtesy and respect where it was due, and especially guarded at all times against uttering an offensive word that might wound the feelings of an associate.

Mr. J. Prescott Hall, Mr. Butler, late attorney general of the United States, and Judge Betts of the District Court also were among the speakers.

In Pennsylvania Mr. George M. Dallas, seconding the resolutions presented by Mr. Ashmead, said :

He had uniformly exhibited talents of the most solid and brilliant character, accompanied with unvarying purity of moral purpose, and adorned by an unfading glow of true patriotism; such a citizen as Levi Woodbury was invaluable to any country, and he felt pride and pleasure in being permitted even briefly to bear his testimony to his merit.

Mr. Justice Grier, with whom was Judge Kane, replied :

The country has lost a most able and learned judge, a pattern of assiduity in the performance of his public duties, and the members of this court have to lament the loss of a beloved companion and brother.

Chief Justice Shaw presided over the bar meeting in Massachusetts. The resolutions, after expressing their opinion on his character and ability, proceed :

That in recalling the prominent traits of Judge Woodbury's public and private character we cannot forget the unvarying kindness which distinguished his intercourse with the members of this bar, nor the exact and ready attention to the slightest call of official or personal duty, which enabled him in the passage of every day to contribute something to the service of his fellow men.

At the proceedings in Belknap County, N. H., the Hon. Lyman B. Walker moved, and Gen. Franklin Pierce seconded the resolves. Hon. John J. Churchill, the Chief Justice, said :

The patient industry, the self-devotion, the determination to do his duty which he brought to the discharge of his various official responsibilities, are known to us all. The vigor in debate, the powerful reasoning which he brought to bear upon the important subjects that came before him both as an advocate and a senator, his consistent and unvarying fidelity to his political principles, and his dignified bearing, will long be remembered, not only in his own state but by the American people.

An appreciative, sympathetic and eloquent tribute to his memory was the eulogy of Hon. Robert Rantoul, Jr., delivered at Portsmouth at the request of the city government, where all is so well said it is difficult to select an extract, but Mr. Rantoul was a cherished friend and understood him. I cite the closing paragraph :

He believed the world to be upon the whole a good world, and worthy of its Maker; but he would not have so believed if he had not recognized in it what is its best quality, its capacity for improvement; this, which is sometimes the only consolation for the philanthropist grieving over the vice and misery around him, was the inspiring fact ever present in his thoughts, and impelling him in his exertions to assist the improvement and promote the progress in whose indefinite development the hopes of all good men centre. Without indulging in sanguine visions of the sudden transformation of man and society which the nature of man makes impossible to be realized, and which the wisdom of experience repudiates, he believed in what experience demonstrates—progress. He rejoiced in past progress; he felt and realized a present continuing progress. He trusted and confided in a future and indefinite progress. For this he struggled and toiled; to this he sacrificed ease and pleasure and health, and at last life itself, in the protracted martyrdom of overtasked powers, strained till the strings of life were broken in the service of his fellow men. In this as in all things, he lived quite up to the doctrine which it is so much easier to preach than to practise, the doctrine of the illustrious school to which he belonged, in which Jefferson, Madison, Langdon and Jackson were exemplars, that a statesman owes all his powers to his country.

Mr. Woodbury's taste for science had early led him to form collections of the botany and mineralogy of his native state; to these he afterwards added conchology. He delivered many public lectures before the National Institute and various college and historical societies, in which his earnest desire to promote progress, self-knowledge and independence of opinion among his countrymen, is manifest. His eulogy on Gen. Jackson in 1845 showed a high appreciation of that remarkable man, formed through years of confidential intercourse.

In his eulogy Mr. Rantoul referred to the confidence of the democratic party in Mr. Woodbury, although he was withdrawn from politics, and continued:

It is only a very few months since his native state of New Hampshire in full convention of the prevailing party here, again unanimously presented Mr. Woodbury's name for the presidency, and it is no disparagement to other eminent men who may have been thought to deserve the honors and to be competent to discharge the duties of that high station, to say that no event was more probable than his election to succeed the present incumbent in that office.

A summary of his speeches and views would not be appropriate here. I will say that the Compromises of 1850 received his warm support, as tending to preserve the Union he loved from perils he clearly foresaw. In the matter of religious liberty and toleration, won in New Hampshire in 1819 after twenty years of conflict, by repealing the power of towns to settle ministers and tax the minority for their support, when governor he avowed his adhesion to the new liberty. Again in 1848 he invoked in a letter the same principles in behalf of a charter for the College of the Holy Cross at Worcester, and again in 1850 in the New Hampshire Constitutional Convention he sought to remove constitutional disabilities from Catholics, which at a later day was accomplished.

Mr. Woodbury had a pleasing and flexible voice, and was a ready and impressive speaker at the bar, in the senate, before the people, and on the bench, placing less reliance on the flowers of oratory than on the logical array of the facts he wished to impress. "He was courteous in debate," remarks Mr. Rantoul. "He never allowed political prejudices to poison the sanctity of private intercourse."

The domestic life of Mr. Woodbury was singularly happy. At home he loved to have his family about him even when at work. Mrs. Woodbury always made her parlors attractive, and he joined in their social life more than would be expected. His wife and children survived him. The children were: Charles Levi; Mary Elizabeth, who married Judge Montgomery Blair, subsequently postmaster general under President Lincoln; Frances A., who married A. H. Lowery, Esq., of New York; Virginia L., who married Hon. G. V. Fox, assistant secretary of the navy under President Lincoln, and Ellen C. de Q., unmarried.

The engraving which illustrates this article is taken from a bust of

Mr. Woodbury made when he was Secretary of the Treasury. The bust was modeled by a young Vermont man, a self-taught genius, then at the threshold of art, seeking some recognition among the public men at Washington, but who soon became the celebrated sculptor, Hiram Powers.

NOYES INSCRIPTION AND MEMORANDA.

By JAMES ATKINS NOYES, A.B., Ph.B., of Cambridge, Mass.

A PHOTOGRAPH of the light-brown stone tablet which covers the remains of Rev. James Noyes in the ancient Palmer burying ground upon a sloping hill on the east side of Wequetequoc Cove, midway between Stonington, Connecticut, and Westerly, Rhode Island, is reproduced in fac-simile on the opposite page.

Rev. James Noyes was a son of Rev. James Noyes of Newbury, Mass., and grandson of Rev. William Noyes, rector of Cholderton, Co. Wilts., England. He was born in Newbury, Mass., 11 March, 1639-40; was graduated at Harvard College, 1659; ordained 10 Sept. 1674, as the first minister of Stonington, Conn.; married 11 Sept. 1674, Dorothy, daughter of Thomas and Anna (Lord) Stanton. Rev. James Noyes was one of the founders of Yale College.

The photograph was taken in 1889 under the direction of Judge Richard A. Wheeler of Stonington, Conn. The tablet was recut before the photograph was taken.* George W. Marshall, LL.D., Rouge Croix, Heralds' College, London, says that the only Noy-Noye-Noyes arms recorded are those of William Noy of Buryan, Co. Cornwall, England, who died 1593, and whose grandson was William Noy, Attorney General to Charles I. These arms were granted by Robert Cooke, Clarencieux, and the blazon is as follows:†

Coat—Azure 3 crosses botony in bend Argent.

Crest—On a chapeau Azure turned up Ermine a dove Argent in the beak an olive branch Vert.

The epitaph was written by Rev. Eliphalet Adams, Harvard College 1694, who died 1753; pastor in 1720 of the First Congregational Church, New London, Conn. The original draft was in 1889 in the Sunday School Library Room of the First Congregational Church, Stonington, Conn.‡

Rev. William Noyes, rector of Cholderton, Co. Wilts., Eng. (a town 11 miles from Salisbury), matriculated at University College,

* These arms appear to be wrongfully assumed by this branch of the family. Also the bend here is reversed, probably a mistake of the stone cutter.

† This blazoning differs from that in Vivian's Visitation of Cornwall and Burke's General Armory; but is that on record in the Heralds' College, London.

Their sons, Rev. James and Deacon Nicholas Noyes, in March, 1633, embarked for New England in the Mary and John of London, with their cousin Rev. Thomas Parker, and were among the settlers of Newbury, Mass., May, 1635.

Rev. James Noyes, born in England about 1608; matriculated at Brasenose College, Oxford, 22 Aug. 1627, but was not graduated; died at Newbury, Mass., 22 Oct. 1656, æ. 48; married 1633, Sara, eldest daughter of Mr. Joseph Brown of Southampton, Co. Hants, Eng. She died 13 Sept. 1691, at Newbury, Mass. His will made 17 Oct. 1656, proved 26 Nov. 1656, mentions wife Sara and children, brother Deacon Nicholas Noyes and cousin Rev. Thomas Parker. Inventory of estate amounting to £657 11s. 4d. Her will made 11 Nov. 1681, proved 29 Sept. 1691. Inventory of estate amounted to £1108.*

The branch of the Noyes family of East Mascalls, Co. Sussex, England, represented by Thomas Herbert Noyes, B.A. Ch. Ch. Oxford, claim the following arms:†

Coat—Azure 3 crosses crosslet in bend Argent.

Crest—On a chapeau Gules turned up Ermine a dove Argent in the beak an olive branch Vert.

Dr. Marshall is of the opinion that these arms have been wrongfully assumed.

In the Visitation of Berks at Heralds' College, no arms are entered with the partial pedigree of this family.

A cut of the arms of Noyes of East Mascalls from the Archaeological Collections of Co. Sussex, 1857, vol. ix., page 340, is given in the margin.

THE SWORDS OF WASHINGTON.

By Col. THORNTON A. WASHINGTON, of Washington, D. C.

IN an appropriate receptacle, in the library of the Department of State, may be seen the veritable "Battle Sword" worn by General Washington, first as a colonel in the Continental service of Virginia, and afterwards as Commander in Chief of the Army during the entire period of our Revolutionary struggle.

A manuscript history of the sword lies upon it, from which the following extract was transcribed by the writer:

To each of my nephews, William Augustine Washington, George Lewis, George Steptoe Washington, Bushrod Washington and Samuel Washington, I give one of the swords or cutteaux of which I may die possessed, and they are to chuse in the order they are named. These swords are accompanied with an injunction not to unsheath them for the purpose of shedding blood, except it be for self defence or in the defense of their Country and its rights, and in the latter case, to keep them unsheathed and prefer falling with them in their hands to the relinquishment thereof.

This sword was received under the foregoing provision of General Washington's will, by Samuel Washington, and was presented to the United States by his son Samuel T. Washington, Feb. 7, 1843, through the Honorable George W. Summers, member of Congress from Virginia.

The sword whose history is referred to in the above extract, is a handsome, well preserved blade, and is what is known in military parlance as a straight sabre, showing but a slight deviation from a right line. It has a fine hilt, unprotected by a guard, unless a slight "S" shaped piece of metal between the hilt and blade may be so regarded. The hilt is wrapped alternately with bright steel ribbon, and some green material, probably a species of shagreen.

The writer has taken the pains to make a careful examination of the proceedings of Congress in connection with this matter as reported in the Congressional Globe, Vol. 12, 1842-3, Library House of Representatives, and is happy in being able to assert that the record appears to bear indisputable evidence that in the matter of the presentation and gift, both parties were actuated by motives purely patriotic and disinterested.

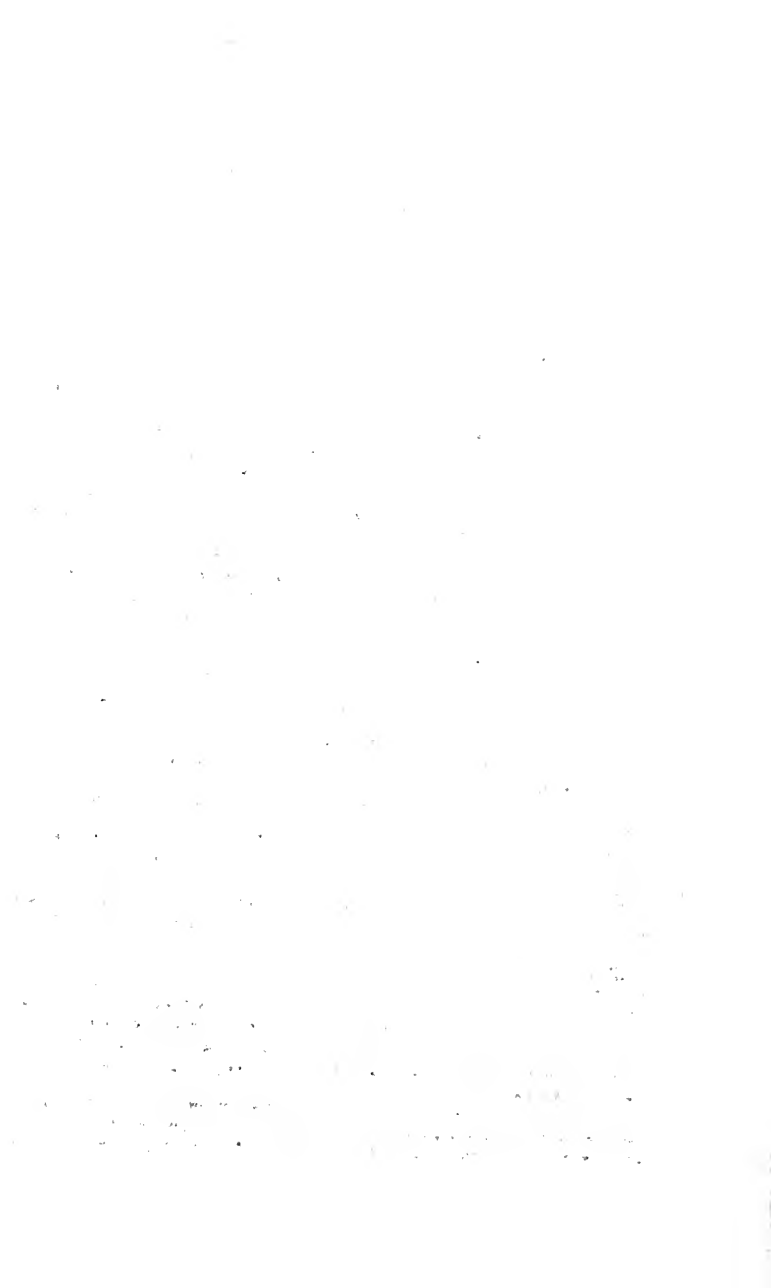

House of Representatives.

Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1843.

* * * * *

Mr. G. W. Summers now rose and addressed the House, viz:

"Mr. Speaker, Samuel T. Washington, a citizen of Kanawha County in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and one of my constituents, has honored me with the commission of presenting, in his name, and on his behalf, to the Congress of the United States, and through that body to the people of the United States * * * * the sword worn by George Washington, first as Colonel in the Colonial Service of Virginia, in Forbes' campaign against the French and Indians, and afterwards during the whole period of the war of Independence, as Commander in Chief of the American Army.

It is a plain cutteaux, or hanger, with a green hilt and silver guard. On the upper ward of the scabbard is engraven 'J. Bailey, Fishkill.' It is accompanied by the buckskin belt and clasp, whereon are engraven the letters 'G. W.' and the figures '1757.' These are all of the plainest workmanship, but substantial and in keeping with the man and the times to which they belonged.

The history of this sword is perfectly authentic, and leaves no shadow of doubt as to its identity." * * * *

Here the speaker quoted the item already given, of General Washington's will bequeathing the swords, and resumed:

"In the disposition of the swords among the 5 nephews therein enumerated, the one now presented fell to the lot of Samuel Washington, the devisee last named in the clause of the will which I have read.

This gentleman, who died a few years since, in the county of Kanawha, and who was the father of Samuel T. Washington, the donor, I knew well. I have often seen this sword in his possession and received from him the following account of the manner in which it became his property in the division made among the devisees.

He says he knew it to have been the side arms of General Washington during the Revolutionary War, not that used on occasions of parade and reviews; but the constant service sword of the great Chief; that he had himself seen General Washington wear this identical sword (he presumed for the last time), when in 1794 he reviewed the Virginia and Maryland forces, then concentrated at Cumberland, under command of General Lee, and destined to coöperate with the Pennsylvania and New Jersey troops, then assembled at Bedford, in suppressing what has been called 'the Whiskey insurrection.'

General Washington was at that time President of the United States, and as such, Commander in Chief of the U. S. Army. It was known that it was his intention to lead the army in person on that occasion had he found it necessary, and he went to Bedford and Cumberland prepared for that event. * * * *

Samuel Washington held the position of Captain at that time himself and served in the campaign, many of the incidents of which he has related to me.

He was anxious to obtain this particular sword and preferred it to all the others, among which was the ornamented and costly present of the great Frederick.

At the time of the division among the nephews, without intimating what his preference was, he jocosely remarked, 'that inasmuch as he was the only one of them who had participated in military service, they ought to permit him to take choice.' This suggestion was met in the same spirit in which it was made, and the choice being awarded him, he chose this, the plainest and intrinsically the least valuable of any, simply because it was the 'battle sword.'

I am also in possession of the most satisfactory evidence, furnished by Colonel George C. Washington, of Georgetown, the nearest male relative of General Washington now living, as to the identity of this sword. His information was derived from his father, William Augustine Washington, the devisee first named in the clause of the will I have just read, from his uncle the late Judge Bushrod Washington, of the Supreme Court, and Major Lawrence Lewis, the acting executor of General Washington's will, all of whom concur in the sentiment that the true service sword was that selected by Captain Samuel Washington.

It remained in this gentleman's possession, until his death, esteemed by him the most precious memento of his illustrious kinsman. It then became the property of his son, who, animated by that patriotism which so characterised 'the father of his country,' has consented that such a relic ought not to be appropriated by an individual citizen, and instructed me, his representative, to offer it to the Nation, to be preserved in its public depositories as the common property of all."

Mr. Adams then rose to submit a resolution and made an eloquent speech thereon, viz:

"Mr. Speaker, I submit the following joint resolution:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, that the thanks of Congress be presented to Samuel T. Washington of Kanawha County, Virginia, for the present of the sword, used by his illustrious relation, George Washington, in the military career of his early youth, in the seven years war, and throughout the war of our national independence. * * * *

That these precious relics are hereby accepted in the name of the Nation; that they be deposited for safe keeping in the Department of State of the United States, and that a copy of this resolution, signed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, be transmitted to the said Samuel T. Washington.

Received, unanimously adopted and returned to the House of Representatives where it was also unanimously adopted."

An eloquent speech was also made in the Senate on the occasion by Senator Archer of Virginia.

It was resolved also by the House that 20,000 copies of the entire proceedings on the occasion be printed for distribution.

Mr. Briggs, House of Representatives, begged permission to amend the journal before that resolution was agreed to. He begged to move an amendment to the journal by the addition of the following letter of Mr. Samuel T. Washington to Mr. Summers, accompanying the sword and cane which was yesterday presented to Congress:

Coals Mouth, Kanawha Co., Va..

Jan. 9, 1843.

My dear Sir:

With this you will receive the war sword of my grand-uncle, General George Washington, and the gold-headed cane bequeathed to him by Doctor Benjamin Franklin.

These interesting relics I wish to be presented through you, my dear Sir, to the Congress of the United States on behalf of the Nation.

Congress shall dispose of them as may seem appropriate, and best calculated to keep in memory the character and services of those two illustrious founders of our Republic.

I am, Sir, with esteem, yours,

To Hon. George W. Summers,
House of Representatives.

SAMUEL T. WASHINGTON.

The motion to amend was agreed to, and the resolution of the gentleman from Virginia was agreed to.

The relics referred to in this joint resolution were the sword of Washington and the gold-headed cane left to him by Doctor Franklin, which was also presented to Congress on the same occasion by Samuel T. Washington, but that portion of Mr. Summers's speech relating to the cane was not quoted, as this article was intended to be confined to the swords.

Concerning the final disposition of the four remaining swords, the authentic records are as follows :

The sword left by General Washington to his nephew, William Augustine Washington, son of his half brother Augustine, and who by the terms of the will had the first choice, was left by him to his son, the Honorable George Corbin Washington, of Georgetown, D. C., and by him to his son Col. Lewis William Washington of "Bellevue," near Halltown, Jefferson County, W. Va., and the same who was captured by John Brown's men at the time of his notorious raid upon Harper's Ferry in 1859.

The sword which was left by General Washington to his nephew Judge Bushrod Corbin Washington, and who had the fourth choice, also passed into the possession of the above-named Col. Lewis William Washington. See extracts from the will of the Hon. George Corbin Washington, deceased, of which the original is of record in the office of Register of Wills, at Rockville, Montgomery County, Maryland.

* * * * *

"I give and bequeathe to my said son, Lewis William Washington, the sword of General George Washington, devised to me by my father (Col. William Augustine Washington), and also the sword and pistol (one of them being lost) of the said General George Washington, devised to me by my uncle Bushrod Washington."

Will proven July 24, 1854, at Rockville, Montgomery County, Maryland.

Extract from Judge Bushrod Corbin Washington's will :

"14th Item. The sword left to me by General George Washington, I give to the aforesaid George C. Washington, under the same injunction that it was left to me."

In order to make the history of the last two above-mentioned swords complete, the writer addressed Major James Barroll Washington, son of the late Col. Lewis William Washington, now associated with the Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co., at Pittsburg, and received a prompt reply. As his letter fully covers the question in point, it is here submitted entire, in so far as it relates to the history of the swords :

Pittsburg, Jan. 3, 1893.

My dear Cousin:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 31st ultimo, * * * * *

The swords of General Washington, of which you write, as having been inherited by my father, came into his possession in 1854, as bequests from his father.

One was the sword sent by Frederick the Great of Prussia, to General Washington, with the complimentary address, "From the oldest General in Europe to the greatest in the world."

My great-grand-father, William Augustine Washington, being given by the General's will the first choice of the swords, selected this one.

This sword was taken by a raiding party of John Brown's men from my father's house near Harper's Ferry in 1859, and delivered to John Brown, who wore it until his capture by the U. S. Marines, when my father recovered it. In 1871 it was sold with other Washington relics to the State of New York, and was placed in the State Library at Albany, where, I believe, it now is.

The other sword, inherited through Judge Bashrod Washington, was the one known as the General's mourning sword and was worn by him upon funeral occasions. All its mountings are black, while the hilt of the other one is of cut and polished steel, giving the appearance of having been studded with diamonds.

The mourning sword, after my father's death in 1871, was given by his widow to her son, my half-brother, and I think is still in his possession * * * and I have no doubt he will gladly give you any further information about it.

* * * * *

Far from having any objection to your using my name in connection with these matters, I think it would add to the authenticity of their history to give the source from which the information was obtained.

* * * * *

Very sincerely, your friend and relation,
J. B. WASHINGTON.

A letter of later date than the above, from Mrs. Ella B. Washington, widow of the late Col. Lewis William Washington, fully corroborates, if such a thing were considered necessary, the above facts as related by Major James Barroll Washington. The "mourning sword" is still in the possession of her son, Mr. William de Hurtbern Washington, now (1893) residing in New York City.

General Washington's nephew, George Lewis, son of his only sister, Betty (Washington) Lewis, who married Col. Fielding Lewis, of Fredericksburg, Va., was the second name mentioned in that clause of General Washington's will devising the swords.

The writer is fortunate in having before him an article which appeared in the Baltimore American newspaper of April 23, 1889, giving an account of an interview had with the Honorable James T. Bristoe of Maryland, formerly Secretary of State, which has every appearance of truthfulness, and in which is related quite a number of historical facts in relation to this sword. From it the following extract is made:

"The children of Colonel Fielding Lewis and his wife, Betty, the only sister of General Washington, were Fielding, George, Elizabeth, Lawrence, Robert and Howell. To his nephew George Lewis, General Washington, in his will, bequeathed one of his swords. The bequest was in these words: [Here appears in full that item of the will relating to the swords.] Major Lewis died in 1821. During his life time he gave the sword bequeathed to him to his eldest son, Samuel. This Samuel Lewis had 4 sons and 2 daughters and he bequeathed the sword to his eldest son George W. Lewis, a prominent lawyer of Westmoreland County, Virginia. In his early life, his youngest brother Henry Howell Lewis, now of Baltimore City, Maryland, being then in the United States Navy, and the only military member of the family, having expressed an earnest desire to possess the sword of Washington, in a spirit of generosity he gave it to him, and afterwards by his last will and testament confirmed the gift."

It would appear that Mr. Henry Howell Lewis, who died in Baltimore, Maryland, March 17, 1893, must have given this sword to his daughter, Miss Virginia Tayloe Lewis, several years prior to his death, as the following copy of a bill introduced into the Senate by Mr. Evarts of New York, March 31, 1888, would indicate:

A BILL

Authorizing and directing the Secretary of War to purchase from Miss Virginia Tayloe Lewis a sword of Washington.

Whereas, General George Washington, by the provisions of his will, bequeathed to certain of his relatives the several swords of which he died possessed; and

Whereas, among these is the sword which is of exceeding historic value, as that worn by him upon the occasion of resigning his commission at Annapolis, and at his public receptions while President: Therefore,

Be it Enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress Assembled, that the Secretary of War be and is hereby authorized and directed to purchase from Miss Virginia Tayloe Lewis, a direct descendant of George Lewis, the devisee under the said will, she being the present owner, the said sword, for the sum of twenty thousand dollars; and that such sum be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, and when so purchased, the same to be deposited in the State Department.

As final action was not taken by Congress upon this bill introduced by Senator Evarts, it is presumed that the sword is still (1893) in Miss Lewis's possession.

George Steptoe Washington of Harewood, Virginia, now in Jefferson County, W. Va., second child of Col. Samuel Washington, oldest full brother of General Washington by his fourth wife Ann (Steptoe) Washington, by the terms of the will had the third choice of the five swords. After his decease the sword selected by him passed into the possession of his son William Temple Washington, who owned a handsome and valuable estate adjoining "Harewood," called "Meg Willie."

A few years prior to the late civil war, Mr. William T. Washington removed with his family from Jefferson County, Virginia, to the vicinity of Falmouth, nearly opposite to the town of Fredericksburg, on the Rappahannock River.

After the beginning of hostilities and the occupancy of the Federal armies of the country in that vicinity, Mr. Washington's residence and plantation fell within the Federal lines, and so remained during the greater portion of the four years struggle.

In consequence, it is thought, of pecuniary embarrassments, due doubtless largely to the vicissitudes of war, Mr. Washington parted with this sword to Mr. George W. Riggs, at that time a member of the widely-known banking house of Riggs & Company, Washington, D. C.

This, the George Steptoe Washington sword, was deposited at Mt. Vernon in 1892, by the heirs of the late George W. Riggs, of Washington D. C., where it may now be seen.

LETTERS OF COL. THOMAS WESTBROOK AND OTHERS,

RELATIVE TO INDIAN AFFAIRS IN MAINE.

Communicated by WILLIAM BLAKE TRASK, A.M., of Dorchester, Mass.

Our not hearing of any very late damages done by the Indians, and Cap<sup>t</sup> Smith's being still detain'd by them after the limited time, gives me some hopes that we shall, in a little time, be so happy as to have peace in our borders, that we may again improve and enjoy our Eastern Plantations. And that which I most build my hopes on is, that I think that the eyes of the Governm<sup>t</sup> seem to be more open now than they have bin formerly, and are more inclin'd to take those measures which may secure the honour and Interest of the province, & the Indians have justice done them, the latter of which, without we have a Tender regard to, we may not Expeckt a lasting peace.

I shall now give you my thoughts on some heads, which I think, very necessary to Establish our Intirest with them Tribes. And the first thing I shall speake to, is the Affaire of the lands they claime, which, I believe, will be the only difficult point, that the Governm<sup>t</sup> will have to Treat with them on. I am very sensible it was the greatest handle the Jesuites made use of, whereby they mov'd them to make Warr, by telling them it was our intent to take away all their Countrey, not only that we bought of them, but what we had not bought, and to make them & their Children, in time, miserable. It's my Oppinion, if there were some measures tacken to Assure them that some Considerable part of that Countrey should allwayes remaine to them & their Children, to plant and Improve, and that no man should be able to bye it, and if they did, it should not be valide, while they or any of their Children were alive, As it is at Natick, and some other parts of our Province, where we have justly made reserves for them. If we put It to our selves & Examine by y<sup>e</sup> golden rule of doing as we would be done by, I think, we should chearfully come into it. And, as I remember, at the last treaty, they had no Assurance that their planting feilds at Nerigwalk, and other Planting grounds, should be allwayes enjoyed by them. Many of them often tould me, that they Expeckted the English would, in a little time, endeavour to tacke them away, as they had done by the Western Indians. We should Consider, they have a Native right to all the lands they have not sould. I have often admired at the Weakness of many People, when they have said, if We should Confirme any land to them they would, emediately sell it to the french, and they would settle it; but no man that is acquainted with that part of the Countrey can think so, when there might be so many reasons given why they would not. Besides, there might be Exceptions made against it. No frenchman, that is a man of any Consideration, who is not under our Governm<sup>t</sup> would venture to lay out his substance near so great a Province when they allwayes lye lyable to be Destroyed & We have an instance to Confirme this in the settlement the french made at S<sup>t</sup> Johns River, where the Indians gave them Liberty to plant & Improve, who, after they were Destroy'd by Capt Southarick, never made any more atempt. Notwithstanding we have had so long a peace with France It must be Confest, the Indians are barbarous & Cruell to us in time of Warr, and God makes use of them as a rod in his hand, and its to be fear'd he uses it with more severity on us because we have not dealt justly by them in many things. I can think of nothing that would sooner macke them easy in this Affaire of y<sup>r</sup> Lands then by letting them know what great caire the Governm<sup>t</sup> has taken to Confirme the lands to the Naticks & other Indians in our Province, and It would not be amiss that some of our Indians, that would maik the best Appearance, be at the Treaty, & there Assure them of the great profit & advantage that they reap by it, whereby they are inabled to raise Corne, sheep and Cattle, & that many of them, that are industrious, live very well.

If the Governm<sup>t</sup> should erectt Traiding houses (which I think very necessary to keep them in our Interest) It's my Oppinion that it would give more satisfacktion not to Confine the traide to them houses only, for they are a jealous people, and love freedome, & if they bought cheaper there then others could afford, and they had not liberty to trye, they would not, so apparently, see their Obligation & Dependance on y<sup>e</sup> Publick. As to letting them have rum, I think it best, it be not wholly restrain'd from them, for there are many amongst them, that maike a Temperate, moderate, use of it, and never Disguise themselves at all, & many of them will not drinke any, believe it best that matter be left to the [pr]udence of them that are interested with the stores, and that they be Exceeding cautious before they are well acquainted with the Indian that they don't let any of them have more than a dram at a time, but, I need not say any thing more on this head, the temptation of selling them any for profit being wholly tacken of from them that have the caire of the stores. If they be men of any principalls of Honour & justice and have the good of their countrey at heart, and I think few or none will sell them rum only for ye Profit they get on it, the Indians giving them so much trouble after they are made drunck which made the most sober, considerate, indians tell me, that nothing would more supress that base Custome than by erecting Publick stores, for it was the temptation of getting profit on other goods that caus'd many people to let them have rum, and many of our quarrells with them arose from their drunken revills. I think it would be best, also, in my Oppinion, that those Truckmasters should have orders not to trust any Indian, for it might be a Temptation to them, as it was in South Carolina, in the last Warr they had. After they are a great deale in debt to make Warr and then ail is paid, besides its an Incouragm<sup>t</sup> to Idleness, and I Observ'd many quarrells with them arose from our demanding what was due from them. And yet there are some of the most Considerate influencing men amongst them which I have Observ'd after they have bin hunting a great while have met with little or no success, and therby their families brought to be very nessesitous, now if it were left to those that are intrusted with the stores, at such times to give them a small matter of Corne or other nessesaries that they stand in need of, the prudent timeing of those gifts would greatly ingage them. As to bringing them over to our Religion, I hope by Gods Blessing, in time, it might be Effectked. And I hope the publick will be so happy in their Choice to have those men whose Conversation will be Exemplary and inofensive, for the indians will be most with them. I Observ'd the Jesuits allways gain'd more on them by their blamless, watchful carage to them then by any other of their artfull methods. Example is before precept wth them, their Religion being all superficiall, & they having but little internal sence of their duty when at their Devotions. If the Governm<sup>t</sup> would give those that have the caire of those houses some rules and methods to use with them, which they in their wisdome think proper to gaine them over to the protestant Faith, I have great reason to think, by Gods Blessing, in time may have a good Effectk, but at present, they are so biggotted to the Romish faith that it will require great patience & strength of Resolution in those endeavours. There might be many things conserted which at present does not Ocur to my minde, which I hope the publick will not be wanting in if they should come into any termes with them. I'me sure if we look into Govern<sup>r</sup> Burnet's last speach, whereby he is laying downe the great and happy Consquence of their keeping in good termes with those Tribes of Indians bordering on him, And the french on the other side of us Assiduously & Artfully plotting and Contriving to keep them in their intrest, it highly concerns this Province to taik some methods to get them into our Interest who have suffered so much & which now groans under the burden of this unhappy Warr.

S<sup>r</sup> if you think my thoughts on these things may be of service desire they may be Communicated.

Sir, His Hon<sup>r</sup> the L<sup>t</sup> Gov. (who is very ill of the Gout) bids me tell you, That you must dispatch the enclosed to Cpt. Smith without a Minutes Delay It being of great Consequence that he sh<sup>d</sup> soon receive it.

His Hon<sup>r</sup> Having promised the Indians enlisted by Cpt. Bourn (being all those of the County of Barnstable) to dismiss them in the Fall that so they attend their Whale Fishing, directs you as soon as you have Opportunity to send them up to Boston in Order to their Return Home & let none of them be detain'd on any Pretence whatsoever. The thirty Indians of Bristol County must be Continued till further Order. Take special Care that the Garrisons be strengthen'd & protected & that Scouts be sent out as often as the Number of the Men will allow. His Hon<sup>r</sup> has sent Orders to Cpt. Grant to march to Norridgewock with his Comp<sup>a</sup> of volunteers. You must take Care that the Design be conceal'd, And give him what Assistance is necessary. In your last List you sent no acc<sup>t</sup> of the Soldiers that were dead, deserted, kill'd or Dismiss'd, W<sup>ch</sup> Honour expects as soon as may be.

To Col. Westbrook. [No date.]

Secretary Willard.]

Mass. Arch. 52: 297.

[Gov. Dummer seems concerned at the Indians delay of Coming in, but directs Capt Thomas Smith to remain at St Georges till further order. The Indians having signified their doubts of being ready in forty days the Governor expresses his readiness to lengthen out the time so far as necessary, without a limitation of fourteen days, "there not being the least Foundation for it in the Transactions of the Govern<sup>mt</sup> with the Indians." And when these Penobscot Indians come in, Capt. Smith is desired to forward them to Boston without delay.]

Mass. Arch. 52: 297.

[The Lient. Governor directs Secretary Willard to inform Col. Pepperrell that his letter of the 29th was received, and that according to the Colonel's desire, he sends a commission for an Ensign, which is enclosed. "As to Breddeanes Debt to you, you have not said that it was contracted before he entered into the Service, W<sup>ch</sup> is the only Case wherein the Law provides for the Dismission of soldiers. However, his Hon<sup>r</sup> hopes he shall soon have Occasion to dismiss him with many others in the service, And in the Mean Time Advises you to secure yourself out of the Man's Wages."]

Mass. Arch. 52: 298.

[Captains Grant and Bragdon are instructed to march to Norridgewock after the enemy, "Taking effectual Care that no Hostility be acted by you any where to the Eastw<sup>d</sup> of the Kennebeck River, but at Norridgewock, And that Nothing be done on that side the River contrary to the Cessation agreed on with the Penobscot Tribe. You must be very exact in your Journal in Noting down every Thing that is worthy of your Observation, & send an Acc<sup>t</sup> of your Proceedings."]

May it Please your Hon<sup>r</sup>

I rec<sup>d</sup> your Hon<sup>rs</sup> Orders from Secretary Willard Esq<sup>r</sup> Dated the 4th Curr<sup>t</sup> at Portsmouth where I had been a day or two. I immediately sent forward Capt Smith and the next morning came to Berwick to forward Capt Grant in his Orders pursuant to your Hon<sup>rs</sup> Directions, but he march'd out four or five days before. I sent Orders to the respective Officers to deliver the Indians Arms and Ammunition to M<sup>r</sup> Mountfort and then send them to Boston by the first Conveyance. M<sup>r</sup> Secretary did not inform me that the Cessation of arms was out, but by your Hon<sup>rs</sup> Orders to Cap<sup>t</sup> Grant it seems to me it is over, however, not being certain, I shall not give any Orders to y<sup>e</sup> Eastward of Kennebec River till I have your Hon<sup>rs</sup> particular Directions. The Officers in general are very urgent to go to Boston to make up their Rolls, particularly Cap<sup>t</sup> Canady whom I have assur'd I wou'd ask your Hon<sup>r</sup> for leave.

I am Your Hon<sup>rs</sup> most

P.S. I am not Certain where Cap<sup>t</sup> Graht is marching, but by what I understand from y<sup>e</sup> People here, he is onely ranging on y<sup>e</sup> heads of y<sup>e</sup> Towns, & will be in again in four or five days I am ut Supra. T. W.

Mass. Arch. 52: 299.

Sir, Since my last to you I have no other Advice from the Penobscot Indians but that they have sent to Canada to call in their People that are there to our Treaty at Boston, And that those of them that come in to S<sup>t</sup> Georges make strong Professions of their Disposition to Peace, & say they wait only for the Return of the Messengers from Canada.

If the War should continue after all these Overtures I shall endeavour by the Help of God to push it on the next Winter with more vigour than ever, And as the Penobscot Indians retire in that Season to a Place near Menis & other Parts of Nova Scotia where they are entertain'd & subsisted by the French, I am thinking to send a Force there to dislodge them. But shall do Nothing in this Affair without your Privy & Approbation, As you have his Maj<sup>ties</sup> Commission for y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>mt</sup> of that Countrey. And I must pray you would take this Proposal into your Consideration & give me your Answer to it as soon as possible.

Mass. Arch. 52: 302.

May it please your Honour,

several Tribes of y<sup>e</sup> Indians in Order for a Peace, I humbly take Leave to acquaint Your Hon<sup>r</sup> That they have one of my Schooners in their Hands, w<sup>ch</sup> they took from me some Time y<sup>e</sup> Summer before last.

The last Time y<sup>e</sup> Indians were at Boston I came up, hoping to have redeem'd my vessel, & accordingly when your Hon<sup>r</sup> met wth y<sup>e</sup> Counsel to have an Interview wth them I prefer'd a Petition, Praying Liberty to purchase herof y<sup>e</sup> Indian who had her in his Keeping who was then at Boston, but it was answer'd y<sup>t</sup> it was not consistent wth y<sup>e</sup> Honour of y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>mt</sup> to buy y<sup>t</sup> of y<sup>e</sup> Indians w<sup>ch</sup> they had unjustly taken away, especially when they were suing for a Peace wth us, And that it was hoped y<sup>t</sup> I & every Body else y<sup>t</sup> had anything in their hands w<sup>ch</sup> they had taken from us should have it frankly restored to us, without buying it of them, when they came to a Treaty wth us. And therefore I would humbly entreat y<sup>t</sup> when y<sup>e</sup> Affair comes in Agitation I may not be forgot.

My Neighbour John Chapman has y<sup>e</sup> like Request, who has a vessel & servant wth them.

I am your Hou<sup>rs</sup> most

Marbth Nov. 15th 1725.

BRITISH OFFICERS SERVING IN AMERICA, 1754-1774.

Contributed by WORTHINGTON CHAUNCEY FORD, Esq., of Washington, D. C.

HAVING occasion to consult the "Army List" of the English army for the period of the French and Indian war, and experiencing no little difficulty in determining the particular officer I wished to locate, it occurred to me that a complete list of such officers and regiments as served on the American continent before the Revolution, would be useful to others. I was fortunate enough to find a complete set of these annual "Army Lists" in the Astor Library, New York, and from these "official" registers the following names have been taken. The arrangement in the "Lists" is by regiments; but I have made it alphabetical, not only for greater convenience for reference, but also as better showing the rise of an officer in rank, and his change from regiment to regiment. The list is intended to be full, and I have taken no risks in confusing names, however similar, or however probable the identity might appear. Whatever error lies in the list, is due to too great fulness; and doubtless it could be compressed in some fifty or sixty instances; yet in the absence of positive evidence, I prefer to enter a name twice, to running the danger of combining the names of what might prove to be of different officers.

This insertion of more than one rank under a name is made comparatively safe by the custom of giving the date of a commission conferring rank in the army as well as in the regiment. For example, at a wide interval the following entries were found :

Lieut 60th 14 September, 1760.
Graydon, Alexander, Lieut. 44th 10 March, 1764.
Army 14 Septem. 1760.

This may be read : Graydon was promoted to a lieutenantancy in the 60th regiment on 14 September, 1760, and received a commission in the 44th regiment, of the same grade or rank, on 10 March, 1764. For general promotion, however, his lieutenant's commission dated from 14 September, 1760. In such cases the identity of the two entries is fully established. Nor can there be any reasonable doubt in the instances of regimental promotion, where in the same regiment a name gradually rises from ensign upwards. It is only where a transfer is made from one regiment to another, in different ranks, that doubt can occur ; or where a promotion occurs in a regiment not serving in America.

In 1754 the only American regiments noted were the four Independent companies of New York, and three Independent companies of South Carolina. In 1755, Braddock's command was added, noted in this list as Br. In 1756 the first numbered regiment appeared on the returns,—the 62d, or Royal American. Beginning with 1758 other regiments were added, and the 62d became the 60th—still known as the Royal American, and remained in service in America till 1773—a longer service than any other regiment. The American life of each regiment, and the names of the respective colonels, will form a useful introduction to the list of officers.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN BRIANT, SEN., OF SCITUATE, MASS.

By Dr. PERCY BRYANT, of Buffalo, N. Y.

THE name Bryant can be traced back to Sir Guy De Briant, who lived in the time of Edward III., and whose descendants had their seat in the Castle of Hereford in the marches of Wales. Arms: the field is Or, three piles meeting near in the base of the Escutcheon, Azure. No connection has been established between this family and the first of the name who came to America with the early settlers of Plymouth Colony, but this will probably be accomplished when the effort is made.

About the year 1640, there were in the Plymouth Colony, four families of the name of Bryant, namely: John Briant of Taunton, John Briant, Sen. of Scituate, Stephen Briant of Plymouth, and Lieut. John Briant of Plympton. It does not appear from any records examined by the writer, that these families were related (except as shown by a deed first discovered by Dr. Lapham, that Lieut. John of Plympton was a son-in-law of Stephen). Tradition, however, gives it that John, Sen. of Scituate and Stephen of Plymouth were probably brothers.

Genealogies of two of these families have appeared in the REGISTER; that of Stephen Briant of Plymouth, Vol. 24, page 315, by Mr. John A. Boutelle, and Lieut. John Briant of Plympton, Vol. 35, page 37, by Dr. William B. Lapham.

In this paper* the writer will confine himself to the family of John Briant, Sen. of Scituate.

He was a prominent person in the early history of Plymouth Colony, and throughout his life was active in public affairs; was a land owner, and was actively engaged in the survey of public lands. He was a member of the General Court at Plymouth in 1657, and again in 1677-78. The date of his arrival in America is not known, though there is a tradition that he came from Kent, Eng. in the Ann. He lived in Barnstable previous to moving to Scituate. The first appearance of his name in the records of the Colony occurs among the list of freemen in 1639, and in 1643 he is mentioned among the list of 105 men of Scituate able to bear arms.

He married three times: first, Mary, daughter of George and Mary (Jenkins) Lewis of Barnstable, Nov. 4, 1643, by whom he had seven children. She died July 2, 1655. He married the second time, Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. William Witherill of Scituate. He married the third time, Mary, daughter of Thomas Highland of Scituate. His will is dated Nov. 4, 1684. ## THE ANCIENT LINE FEILDE OF CHARLESTOWN.

By GEO. A. GORDON, A.M., of Somerville, Mass.

THE extensive territory, partitioned among the early inhabitants of Charlestown, lying without the settlement and accommodations at the harbor, or port, was denominated in common speech and in the public record under several divisions, such as: the east feilde, the south feilde, the high feilde, the line feilde, Cambridge feilde, Mistick feilde, Rockfeilde and Waterfeilde. The names of these fields indicate in a general way their location.

Among the papers pertaining to a suit prosecuted before the Middlesex County Court, during the closing years of the seventeenth century, has been preserved a pen and ink map, which, by the courteous permission of Theodore C. Hurd, Esq., Clerk of the Courts, has been phototyped for the REGISTER, and appears on the preceding page.

Comparison with the descriptions of lots, entered in the Charlestown Book of Possessions (1638), as reprinted in the Third Report of the Record Commissioners of the City of Boston, 1878, shows this to be a plat of the southern portion of the ancient "line feilde." Nothing appears on its face to determine its date; but a column of figures in the lower left hand corner, not here shown, would warrant the assignment of a very early date, perhaps anterior to any known map of the locality. The names of certain inhabitants, admitted in 1637, Thomas Call, James Garrett and Matthew Smith, in connection with the descriptions in the Land book, covering the most of these properties, may assist in the determination, as also the following abstract from the Charlestown Town records:

Charlestowne

The ix month the 13th day

Such as are to fence at newtowne line beyond wenotaimies: doe it with 4 railes, by ye 20th of ye 2<sup>d</sup> month, or loose their Land & goe farth<sup>r</sup>

That A footway bee made over Wenotomies River

Such as have not bought built or fenced to have no pprriety till they have

It was agreed y<sup>t</sup>: for the grownd at New Towne Line beyond Wenotaimies such as fence not to loose their pportions there, & to goe furth<sup>r</sup> for it, the fences to bee finished by the 20th of ye 2<sup>d</sup> month & the fence to bee 4 railes

That A ffooteway bee made over Wenotomies & A way between the Lotts lefte 3 pole wide

And such as have not bought, or built & fenced, not to have pprriety untill they have bought, or built, & fenced.

The territory is entirely within the limits of Arlington, to-day, resting for three quarters of a mile on the western bank of Mystic river, from the pond down to the mouth of Alewife brook. Mystic river and pond, to-day, bear the same names they did two hundred and fifty years ago, but Menotomy river has long been known as Alewife brook and marks the present boundary between Cambridge and Arlington. Agreeable to this map, the strip of land along the margin of this little stream was reserved for a highway, but, if it ever was so improved, no memory or known record thereof exists. The bridgeway, now Broadway and Warren streets in Arlington, extended from the foot bridge to the bridge below Cooke's mills, above the present Arlington cemetery and Gas works. The highway, leading across the lots to "mistick weare," is substantially the line of the present Medford street. The other way, affording an approach to the river, lower down and below the islands, is now River street.

The names, written upon these lots, are all of well known early inhabitants of Charlestown. The lots of the most may be identified, in language corresponding with their position on this map, with entries in the Charlestown Book of Possessions. Some of the lots, even thus early, had been sold, and appear under other proprietors.

Capt. Edward Johnson, the proprietor of the lot at the top of the plat, was a carpenter at Charlestown and a leading citizen. Subsequently he was a promoter in the settlement of Woburn, where he served till his death, as town clerk, and as representative to the General Court, of which he was Speaker. He was the author of the "Wonder Working Providence." His possessions [29], entered in the Charlestown Lands, include his several lots on this map, as follows :

6. ffoure acres of earable land by estimation, more or lesse, scituate in the line feilde, butting southwest upon Cambridge line, northeast upon the bridge way, bounded on the northwest by Nicolas Stowers and on the southe east by A high way.

7. ffoure acres of land by estimation, more or lesse, scituate in the line feilde, butting southwest upon the bridg-way, north east upon mistick pond, bounded on the north west by Ed Carrington and Prū wilkinson and on the south east by Jā Browne.

The lot next adjacent to Edward Johnson on the Cambridge line was that of Thomas Call, and is described in the same Possessions [73], as follows :

3. ffoure acres of earable land by estimation, more or lesse, scituate in the line feilde, butting northeast upon the Bridgway, bounded on the west by Edward Johuson, and on the southeast by Nicolas Stowers, A triangle.

The vacant lot of two acres between Ralph Sprague and Edward Johnson, bordering on the pond, was possessed by Prū : Wilkinson, the sole instance of a female proprietor.

The lot at the southwest corner of the bridgway and Menotomy river was that of John Martin.

The opposite lot of Mr. Wetherell, the school master, was sold to John Stretton, who possessed the vacant lot between Martin and Hermon Garrett.

The list comprises thirty-six names, in modern spelling, viz. :

Thomas Allen	James Hayden	Robert Rand
W <sup>m</sup> Batchelder	Robert Hale	Robert Sedgwick
James Browne	Benj <sup>s</sup> Hubbard	Matthew Smith

THE KELLOGG FAMILIES OF COLCHESTER, CONN.

By JAMES H. FERRIN, Esq., of Lafayette, Indiana.

THE chief sources from which the following is taken are the town records of Hebron, Colchester, Hadley and Hatfield; Judd's History of Hadley; Randall's Colchester Epitaphs, in the REGISTER for 1889; and the Kellogg articles in the REGISTER, xii., 201-6, xiv., xv., 125-32. The last articles mention four early Kelloggs, antecedents unknown :

- i. LIEUT. JOSEPH, of Farmington, Boston, and Hadley, descendants given.
- ii. NATHANIEL, Hartford 1639, removed to Farmington.
- iii. SAMUEL, supposedly brother of the above Nathaniel, settled at Hatfield.
- iv. DANIEL, settled at Norwalk 1655, descendants given.

The present article gives some account of the Samuel falsely supposed to be a "brother of the above Nathaniel." As Nathaniel was adult in 1639, while Samuel was not married until 1664, they seem unlikely to have been brothers, especially as Samuel is not mentioned in the will of Nathaniel.* An account is also given of the descendants of Ebenezer and Jonathan Kellogg, sons of Lieut. Joseph, referred to in the REGISTER for April, 1860, as having removed to Colchester. Pedigrees of allied families have been traced back, whenever possible, to the first person of the name in Colchester.

The writer will be grateful for any information concerning the ancestry of the Samuel Kellogg whose descendants are here given.

A FRESH NOTE ON THE NEW-ENGLAND PRIMER.

By the Rev. B. F. DeCosta, D.D., of New York City.

THE New England Primer is too well known to be described, and yet it has raised very many difficult questions. The origin of the Primer has been a moot question, yet it is now beyond doubt that the world owes the origin of the immortal Primer to the Church of England, and that it was an improvement on the ancient Horn Book; though it is probable that among the Greeks, and even the Egyptians,* the Primer idea had its place, the instruction of children being committed to women. The writer has not been able to carry out the desire to attempt a very much fuller investigation than those who have preceded him; but, in doing so, he would begin with the Egyptians and the Greeks. Before the seventeenth centure, the Primer was being formulated, and it is singular that there should have been so much speculation with regard to the origin of the famous lines,

“In Adam’s fall
We sinned all,” &c.

Those who desire to study the subject, and make needed corrections of some statements of the Hon. J. Hammond Trumbull, in the Sunday School Times, April 29 and May 6, 1882, might turn to a rather obscure book, entitled “St. Augustine’s Manuell,” London, 1577, where I find “Adam’s fall” done up in rhyme. Also an examination of the Lenox copy of the Primer would show the error in regard to the portrait he mentions.

Let me quote as follows from the “Manuell”:

- 1 By Adams sinne.
- 2 Death did begyn.
- 3 And by his fall.
- 4 We perish all.
- 5 But Christ is iust.
- 6 In him haue trust.
- 7 And his iustice.
- 8 Makes thee right wise.
- 9 As you are. So were we.
- 10 As we be. So shall ye.
- 11 So discust, dye thou must.

THE KIRTLAND OR KIRKLAND FAMILY.

By V. C. SANBORN, of La Grange, Ill.

ALTHOUGH from time to time many facts have come to light as to the origin of the Kirkland family, no published collection of these facts exists. The four principal sources of information about this family are:

1. Dr. Lothrop's Memoir of Rev. Samuel Kirkland, in Sparks's "Library of American Biography."
2. Savage's "Genealogical Dictionary."
3. Mr. F. W. Chapman's "Kirtland Family" (REGISTER, Vol. xiv.), and his published "Pratt Genealogy."
4. Lewis and Newhall's "History of Lynn."

Dr. Lothrop's account was the earliest, forming a basis for future researches; and as his account has been very generally accepted, it seems advisable to quote it here, in order, by the genealogy given later, to emphasize the corrections which have been made by discoveries subsequent to 1845, when Dr. Lothrop published his memoir. He says:

"The Kirkland family, as the name shows, is of Scotch descent. In this country it may be traced back to Saybrook, Ct., in 1635. Among the 36 heads of families who were the early settlers of that place, the name of John Kirkland appears, who is said to have come from Silver St., London. He had a son John, who was the father of ten children, of whom Rev. Daniel Kirkland was the youngest but one, and born in 1701."

In fact, John Kirtland was not one of the early settlers of Saybrook, for he did not move there till 1672, nor have I been able to find any authority for the statement that he came from Silver St., London. Mr. Chapman, I believe, discovered in the Saybrook records the connection between John Kirtland of Saybrook and Nathaniel of Lynn; and Mr. S. G. Drake published in his "Founders of New England" (REGISTER, Vol. xiv.) the sailing list of the Hopewell in 1635, with names of the brothers Philip and Nathaniel Kirtland as passengers. Lewis and Newhall's "History of Lynn" gives much fragmentary information about Philip and Nathaniel; and Savage supplements this with many dates and facts. But an essential link in the Lynn records seems to have been overlooked by these authors, namely, that in 1638, when Philip and Nathaniel were but 24 and 22 years of age respectively, there were two Philip Kirtlands in Lynn. This point establishes a connection between the American settlers and a certain John Kirtland of Buckinghamshire, whose will I quote hereafter.

Before tabulating the early generations, let me say a word as to the family name. All the records show that the name of our family was spelled "Kirtland," "Kyrkland" or "Kertland" from 1616 to 1773, both in this country and in England. On what authority rests the present spelling, I cannot say; Dr. Lothrop thought that the family was of Scotch descent; and probably the change from Kirtland to Kirkland, as a supposed original spelling, was made about 1780 by Rev. Samuel Kirkland, and soon after was adopted by his connections. His brother Joseph, writing in 1773 to another brother, John, announcing the death of their father, Rev. Daniel Kirtland, signs his name and directs his letter "Kirtland." This letter is now in the possession of Major Kirkland of Chicago.

The name "Kirtland" is not to be found in English records or pedigrees, so far as I have been able to ascertain. In Essex, in the 13th century, Peter de Kirteling appears as the witness to a grant of land; but no further mention of the name occurs. No family of that name registered its pedigree at the Herald's Visitations of Buckinghamshire or elsewhere. "Kirtland" may be derived from "Curtland" (meaning lack-land), and Burke's "General Amory" describes the arms of Curtland (no location given) as, Or, three cinquefoils pierced gules. The name "Kirkland," however, is an old English name; the family being situated principally in Cumberland, and the "General Armory" gives the coat of—"KIRKLAND": (Kirkland, County Lancaster, Brampton, County Derby; founded by Gamel. Lord of Kirkland, County Derby, and Eastbourne, County Sussex, temp. William I.) Sable, three mullets argent within a bordure engrailed or, quartering KIRKLAND (ancient) Sable, three mullets argent."

A clue to the origin of the American family is furnished by the will of John Kirtland of Newport-Pagnell, Bucks., England, dated 1616. Mr. H. F. Waters printed this will in the REGISTER, Vol. xli., page 60, and I quote his abstract:

"John Kirtland of Tickford in the parish of Newport-Pagnell, County Bucks., Gentleman, 12 Dec, 1616, proved 1 Aug. 1617. To son Nathaniel all that part of my dwelling house in Tickford wherein I now inhabit, sometime called by the name of Emberton's,* adjoining to the tenement in tenure of William Coningham and to the house and ground of me the said John Kirtland, sometime Thomas Horton's. Legacies to Mary Kirtland my now wife, sons Francis and Joseph Kirtland and daughters Abigail, Susanna and Mary Kirtland. To my eldest son John Kirtland the house or tenement sometime Thomas Horton's (next the above) and adjoining a tenement of heirs of William Barton deceased. Wife Mary and her five children as above. To godson John Kirtland, son of my brother Philip Kirtland, 14s 4d, and to the rest of the children of the said Philip 2s 6d each to be paid unto the said Philip for their use. To the children of my brother Fras. Kirtland 2s 6d apiece. To Francis Foster clerk 10s. Wife Mary to be executrix, friends Geo. Hull and Jno. Horley of Newport-Pagnell to be overseers.

"Philip Kyrkland one of the witnesses.

* "Paganus de Emberton, of Tykford Priory, Bucks., 1187," Dugdale's "Monasticon."

From the above it will be seen that the American Kirtland family starts with:—

1. (JOHN<sup>1</sup>?) KIRTLAND,—of whom we know only (from his son John's will) that he had,—

2. i. JOHN,<sup>2</sup> born about 1580.
3. ii. PHILIP, born about 1585.
- iii. FRANCIS, born about 1590, married and had children.

2. JOHN<sup>2</sup> KIRTLAND (John<sup>21</sup>) of Tickford in the parish of Newport-Pagnell, Bucks.. "Gentleman"; his will quoted above, names the following children:

- |                             |                           |
|-----------------------------|---------------------------|
| i. JOHN. <sup>3</sup>       | iv. JOSEPH. <sup>3</sup>  |
| ii. NATHANIEL. <sup>3</sup> | v. ABIGAIL. <sup>3</sup>  |

3. PHILIP<sup>2</sup> KYRTLAND OR KERTLAND (John<sup>21</sup>) probably of Sherrington, Bucks., witness to his brother John's will in 1616, mentioned in that will as having son John and other children. No record of his taking passage for New England. Lewis says Philip Kertland, first shoemaker of Lynn, Mass., came there in 1635. This may have been Philip<sup>2</sup> the father or Philip<sup>3</sup> his son; the latter we know came over in 1635. Probably Lewis confused the two, as have others. The first definite record of Philip Kertland Senior is in 1638, when 10 acres in Lynn were granted to "Philip Kertland Senior" and 10 acres to "Philip Kertland Junior." (Lewis & Newhall). In 1643 the father's signature appears on Goody Armitage's petition, a facsimile of the signatures being given in the REGISTER for January 1879, page 61. (This may have been the signature of son Philip, but I think he was then on Long Island.) Children of Philip<sup>2</sup> by wife unknown,—

1. JOHN<sup>3</sup>, born 1607, mentioned by name in his godfather and uncle John's will, 1616. In 1659 he made deposition as to his brother Philip's estate. Residence unknown; perhaps at Saybrook, where lived his sister Susanna Wastall, who in 1683 gave to her "childless brother John" a small house and lot in Saybrook. Perhaps also this is the John who was supposed by Dr. Lothrop to have been the father of John<sup>4</sup>. No record is found of his death.

4. ii. PHILIP<sup>3</sup>, born 1614.

5. iii. NATHANIEL,<sup>3</sup> born 1616.

- iv. SUSANNA,<sup>3</sup> birth unknown, married John Wastall or Westall of Wethersfield. He was a Deputy there in 1643, Goodwin says, and moved to Saybrook in 1653, says Savage; selectman in Saybrook, a prominent man there, and allowed to keep an Inn in 1663. He died in 1683, and left a good estate to adopted son John<sup>4</sup> Kertland. Susanna Wastall died 1684.

4. PHILIP<sup>3</sup> KYRTLAND OR KERTLAND (Philip<sup>2</sup> John<sup>21</sup>), born in 1614, was too young to be mentioned by name in his uncle John's will in 1616; he was one of the other "children of brother Philip" there mentioned. His earliest definite record is on the sailing list of the ship Hopewell from London April 1, 1635,—“Philip Kyrtland, from Sherrington in Bucks., aged 21; Nathaniel Kyrtland from Sherrington in Bucks., aged 19.” (See under Philip<sup>2</sup> for possible items about him in Lynn records.) In 1638 was granted 10 acres by town of Lynn. In 1640, he and his brother Nathaniel,<sup>3</sup> with many other Lynn people, settled on Long Island, but Philip<sup>3</sup> must soon have returned to Lynn, from the dates of his children's births on the Lynn records. In 1652 he bought from Nathaniel Tyler his house and lands in Lynn. Philip<sup>3</sup> died before 1659, for we find in Salem Court Files July 17th, 1659, the following:

"Deposition of John Kirtland, aged about 52. I often heard my brother Phyllip say oft times that his wife should have all hee had to dispose of so long as she live; and to my best remembrance hee gave £15 to his daughter Mary and £10 to his daughter Sara, £10 to his daughter Susanna and £10 to his daughter Hanna, this to be given to them at ye day of marriag, the land not to be sould so long as she lives."

William Harcher of Lynn, aged about 65, stated that when Philip Kertland was going to sea he told him substantially as above. On October 14th, 1659, Evan Thomas (a vintner who came to Boston from Wales, with wife Jane and four children, in 1640), announces his intention of marrying the widow Alice Kertland of Lynn; and he made conveyance of estate in trust for her children April 24, 1661. By wife Alice, Philip Kertland had the following children, all born in Lynn:

- i. MARY<sup>4</sup>, born June 3, 1640.
- ii. SARAH<sup>4</sup>, born September 27, 1646, married John Davis, October 5, 1664.
- iii. SUSANNA<sup>4</sup>, born March 8, 1652.
- iv. HANNAH<sup>4</sup>,
- v. EBENEZER<sup>4</sup>, } twins, born June 12, 1654.

5. NATHANIEL<sup>3</sup> KYRTLAND or KERTLAND (Philip<sup>2</sup> John<sup>2</sup>), born in 1616. He was an infant (or perhaps unborn) at the date of his uncle John's will. Came over with his brother Philip<sup>3</sup> on the Hopewell and settled in Lynn. Not named in the division of land in Lynn, 1638; in that year was defendant in law suit brought by Isaack Disberowe (REGISTER, 1887, page 361). Went to Long Island with his brother Philip, and, Savage says, staid there some years, marrying Parnell ——— and settling in Southold, L. I. Returned to Lynn before 1658, was selectman there 1678, and died there in 1686 (Lewis & Newhall). Savage gives the following children:

6. i. NATHANIEL<sup>4</sup>, born at Southold, L. I.
- ii. PHILIP<sup>4</sup> (perhaps a son of Philip<sup>3</sup>), probably born on Long Island. Married Ruth Pierce (Query: daughter of Capt. Michael Pierce?) October 14, 1677. Was a soldier in King Philip's war, at Hadley, credited from Lynn, April 6, 1676 (REGISTER, 1887, page 79). In 1685 with other Lynn ex-soldiers, petitioned for a tract of land in the Nipmugg Country, on account of services in the late wars.
- iii. ANN<sup>4</sup>, born in Lynn April 16, 1658.
7. iv. JOHN<sup>4</sup>, born in Lynn, August, 1659.
- v. HANNAH<sup>4</sup>, born in Lynn, April 15, 1662.
- vi. ELIZABETH<sup>4</sup>, born in Lynn, March 20, 1664, married William<sup>2</sup> Pratt of Saybrook, son of Lieut. William Pratt.
- vii. MARY<sup>4</sup>,
- viii. MARTHA<sup>4</sup>, } twins, born in Lynn, May 15, 1667.

6. NATHANIEL<sup>4</sup> KERTLAND or KYRTLAND (Nathaniel<sup>3</sup> Philip<sup>2</sup> John<sup>2</sup>). Fined at Lynn in 1667, with two others for "Prophaining ye Lord's Day by going to William Crafts' house and drinkeing of his Sider and Rosteing of his aples without his or his wife's consent" (Lewis & Newhall). Was a soldier in King Philip's War, credited to Capt.

Manning in 1676 (REGISTER, 1888, page 95). Married Mary Rand (probably daughter of Robert of Lynn), who survived him, and in 1690 married Dr. John Henry Burchsted of Lynn (Lewis & Newhall). Children were:

- i. NATHANIEL<sup>5</sup> born May 3, 1677.
- ii. MARY<sup>5</sup>, born Feb'y 1, 1680.
- iii. PRISCILLA<sup>5</sup>, born April 9, 1683.
- iv. ELIZABETH<sup>5</sup>, born June 22, 1685.

7. LIEUT. JOHN<sup>4</sup> KERTLAND or KIRTLAND (Nathaniel,<sup>5</sup> Philip,<sup>2</sup> John<sup>21</sup>), adopted in minority by his aunt Susanna<sup>3</sup> (Kertland) Wastall. Mr. Chapman in his Pratt Genealogy quotes Saybrook Records, Vol. 1, page 78, year 1672:

"This agreement, between Mr. John Wastall of Saybrook and Mr. Nathaniel Cortland (sic) of Linne in Mattachewsetts. . . Ye said Cortland doth resign up his sonne John to ye disposal of ye said Wastall and his wife Susanna. . . . The said Wastall both promise that ye said John Cortland shall succeed in ye estate of ye said Wastall."

John Kertland married Nov. 18th, 1679, Lydia, daughter of Lieut. Wm. Pratt, an early and influential settler of Saybrook, and upon the death of Mr. and Mrs. Wastall succeeded to a good estate left by them. John Kirtland was somewhat prominent in local affairs, and was appointed Lieutenant of the fort at Saybrook in 1702 and again in 1708. (Colonial Records of Ct., Vols. 4 & 5). He died January 20, 1716, having had the following children:

- i. JOHN<sup>5</sup> born July 11, 1681, married 1st, Temperance Buckingham; 2d, Lydia Belden.
- ii. PRISCILLA, born February 1, 1683, married Thos. Jones.
- iii. LYDIA, born October 11, 1685, married 1st, Mr. Griffin; 2d, ——— Conklin.
- iv. ELIZABETH, born Jan'y 27, 1688, married John Chapman.
- v. NATHANIEL, born Oct. 24, 1690, married 1st, Sara Chapman; 2d, Phœbe De Wolf.
- vi. PHILIP, born May 23, 1693.
- vii. MARTHA, born August 11, 1695, married Rev. H. Wills.
- viii. SAMUEL, born Jan'y 19, 1699, married Martha Whittlesey.
- ix. REV. DANIEL, born June 17, 1701 (Yale 1720), ordained first pastor of Newent church at Norwich, Ct., 1721, married July 15, 1723, Mary Perkins, probably daughter of Jabez Perkins and Hannah (Lothrop), and had five sons and seven daughters, among them Rev. Sam'l Kirkland, Missionary to the Oneidas, and father of President John Thornton Kirkland of Harvard University.
- x. PARNELL, born October 16, 1704, married John Tully.

Mr. F. W. Chapman's "Kirtland Family" (REGISTER, Vol. xiv.), to which I have alluded, gives the family record of John<sup>4</sup> Kirtland, from the point reached above, for several generations; and so this article is merely intended to present a record of the first three generations in this country, and to call attention to their English connection.

The will of John Kirtland, which Mr. Waters discovered and printed (REGISTER, Vol. 41, p. 60) is valuable in the proof it furnishes as to the location of the family in England; and it is to be hoped that further research will be made to trace the pedigree of the English Kirtlands or Kirklands.

Both Sherrington and Newport Pagnell are towns in the northern part of Buckinghamshire, within a few miles of each other.

11. HANNAH<sup>2</sup> SNOW (Nicholas<sup>1</sup>), born probably in Eastham about 1646; "married in 1683, Giles Rickard, son of Giles and Hannah (Dunham) Rickard, and appears by his will to have only had an adopted child, Desire Doten." Davis says Hannah was probably daughter of Nicholas Snow; but, if so, it seems strange that he did not provide for her or her sister, Rebecca, in his will, as they were unmarried. There are some slight indications of a second Nicholas<sup>2</sup> Snow (Nicholas<sup>1</sup>), who may have died before his father; and these might have been his daughters. But if this is so, it seems strange they or he were not referred to in Nicholas<sup>1</sup> Snow's will.
12. REBECCA<sup>2</sup> SNOW (Nicholas<sup>1</sup>) probably born in Eastham in 1648; married Samuel Rickard of Plympton, son of the "2d Giles," in 1689, and had:
  - i. REBECCA,<sup>3</sup> b. 1691.
  - ii. HANNAH, b. 1693.

HIBBINS AND BELLINGHAM.—Mrs. Ann Hibbins, whose will is printed in the REGISTER, vi., 283, was the widow of William Hibbins, a merchant of Boston. As is well known she was executed for witchcraft in June, 1656. Previous to her marriage to Mr. Hibbins she had a husband by the name of Moore, and her sons John, Joseph and Jonathan are named in her will. It has been often stated that she was a sister of Governor Richard Bellingham.

Capt. Charles Hervey Townshend, of New Haven, Ct., has sent us some entries from the Boston, Lincolnshire register, which he copied some years ago from Col. Joseph L. Chester's transcript. From them we infer that it was Mr. Hibbins's first wife (Hester) and not his last wife (Ann) who was a sister of Gov. Bellingham. The entries are:

"William Hibbin and Hester Bellingham married March 4th, 1632-3."

"Child of Mr. Richard Bellingham Recorder bur. April 7, 1626."

Another child Mar. 27, 1628.

ANDRÉ'S EXECUTION.—It is a singular fact that a man is now living whose father saw André hung. That father was Jesse Davenport, of Canton, born 1761, died 1839, a neighbor of my young days. The son is Samuel Davenport, now of Neponset, and possibly his brother Lemuel, of Malden, is also living. That father's children by his first wife are all dead, of whom Jesse, jr., died about three years ago, aged about 90. But that father married, 2d, 1815, and the sons born in 1817-19 show the great length of two generations. The older Jesse kept a journal, and I have a copy of it from 1794 to 1817. Perhaps the older part is in existence. André stood in a cart, which was started away to make his suspension. That journal stated that he went to Boston to attend Gov. Bowdoin's funeral.

QUERIES.

SHERMAN, SOULE, BENNET AND BRALEY.—Edmund Sherman,<sup>6</sup> or Shearman, born 1641, died 1719, in Portsmouth, R. I., son of Hon. Philip<sup>4</sup> Sherman, (Samuel,<sup>3</sup> Henry,<sup>2</sup> Henry<sup>1</sup>) married before May 7, 1674. Dorcas ———. Who was she? According to Austin's Genealogical Dictionary she was mother of all his children. I would like her parents, and date of birth and death. Their son, David Shearman, born Jan. 1, 1680, married Abigail Hathaway in Taunton Dec. 27, 1710; he of Dartmouth, she of Freetown. (See N. E. Hist. and Gen. REGISTER, Vol. xiii., page 254.) Who were her parents and grandparents? Edmund Shearman was of Portsmouth first; afterwards, Nov. 13, 1694, of Dartmouth, "one of those who received a confirmatory deed of Dartmouth" from Bradford, and in list of proprietors printed in the REGISTER is the one printed ——— Sherman. John Sherman was his brother. On these old records the name is generally Shearman.

George Soule,<sup>1</sup> of the Mayflower, had two sons, George<sup>2</sup> and Nathaniel<sup>3</sup> Soule, who received their father's Dartmouth lands, and were amongst the first proprietors. George<sup>2</sup> Soule married Deborah ———. Who was she? and was she the mother of his son William? George Soule made his will March 1, 1697; entered July 1, 1704; speaks of sons William, John, Nathan; daughters Deborah, Mary Davoll, Sarah. His wife Deborah in her will speaks of William, Nathan, Mary dan. of George Soule, daughters Sarah, Mary Davoll, and Lydia Brownell. "Dated 4 Jan. 1708-9." I would like all particulars in regard to Deborah. The oldest son, William, married a Hannah ———. Was she the mother of all his children, especially the oldest son, William? and who was she? and who were her parents?

All these were of Dartmouth. Their son, William, had a wife, Rachel, and lived in Dartmouth the early part of his life, and then removed to Tiverton. Who was she and her parents? Was she the mother of Thankful Soule, who was born the 9th day of February, in the year 1718-19, William's oldest child? She married in Dartmouth John Bennett Jan. 24. 1739-40.

Robert Bennett is found in Newport, 1655-1669, with wife Rebecca and children—Joseph, born 1644; Robert, born 1650; John, born 1652; and Jonathan, 1659. I would like the parenage of both Robert and Rebecca (——) Bennett, and any further particulars in regard to this family, aside from what Austin's Genealogical Dictionary gives. Robert<sup>2</sup> Bennett removed to Portsmouth, and had two wives, Anne Corey and Joanna. Who was she? His son, Robert<sup>3</sup> Bennett, removed to Tiverton, married Almey. Who was she? Was she the mother of all his children, especially John? In his will dated 6 Oct., 1746, he speaks of son John, son Robert, son William, son Jeremiah—all of Dartmouth; daughter Sarah, wife of Thomas Gray; daughter Mary, wife of Joseph Cook; daughter Anne, wife of Job Cooke. Who was James Bennett? who was one of the first organizers of "Church of Christ" at Little Compton, R. I., 1704? He had married Ruth<sup>4</sup> Rogers, daughter of John Rogers, and Elizabeth<sup>3</sup> (Pabodie) Rogers (Elizabeth<sup>2</sup> (Alden) Pabodie, John<sup>1</sup> Alden). In a deed, 1696, he speaks of himself as of Roxbury. I would like his parentage. Did Ruth have any children?

Roger<sup>1</sup> Braley, or Brayley, or Bralec, by wife Alice, had in Portsmouth, R. I. (see Arnold's Vital Record, vol. iv., page 58) Elizabeth Brayley, born June 25, 1697; Roger<sup>2</sup>, born November 15, 1698; Alice, born March 28, 1700; Ambrose, born Dec. 4, 1701; John, born March 26, 1703; Grace, born Feb. 22, 1704-5; Sarah, born March 25, 1707. Ambrose went to Middleboro, married Mary Renolds, and had a family there. John went to Freetown, and he or his son John in Revolutionary war killed. Roger<sup>2</sup> went to Middleborough, married Hannah (who was she?) and had Alice, born July 29, 1722; Roger, born April 6, 1724. He then married Margaret Shearman, born 1711, daughter of David and Abigail (Hathaway) Shearman, of Dartmouth, and had Abigail, born April 1, 1734; David, born Sept. 1, 1735; Russell, March 17, 1737; Solomon, born Nov. 19, 1738. He then removed to Rochester, and had Lydia, born July 29, 1740; Israel, born May 15, 1742; Elijah, born March 5, 1744; Hannah, born Feb. 2, 1746, married Barnabas Hammett, of Long Plain, Mass.; Caleb, born Dec. 16, 1747; Ezekiel, born Dec. 6, 1749; Margaret, born Aug. 18, 1752; George, born Dec. 3, 1754. Any further particulars in regard to this family I would like, but particularly the parentage of first Roger Braley and Alice his wife.

Address:

PAINE.—The undersigned, who is preparing a work entitled "The Signers of the Declaration of Independence, their Ancestors and Descendants," is very anxious to obtain any one or more of the following data:

1. Date of marriage of Robert Treat Paine, the "Signer," to Sally Cobb—the year was probably 1769, not 1770, as various authorities give it, as their eldest child was born May 14, 1770.

2. Dates of birth and death of Mary Ann Smith Paine, daughter of the "Signer's" son, Robert Treat—originally called Thomas—Paine. (She is said to have died in Boston in November, 1802, aged three years and eight months.)

3. Date of birth of Robert Treat Paine, eldest son of Robert Treat—formerly Thomas—Paine, son of the "Signer." (Said to have died in Boston November 12, 1802, "aged one year and two months.")

4. Date of marriage of Robert Treat Paine, the Astronomer—who died June 3, 1885—to Anne W. Stevens. (This Robert Treat Paine was the second son of Robert Treat—formerly Thomas—Paine, above-named).

5. Dates and places of birth and death of Eliza or Elizabeth Baker, whom the said Robert Treat—formerly Thomas—Paine married February 22, 1795.

6. Names of her parents.

7. Date of birth of Olive Lyman, who married Henry Paine, youngest son of the "Signer." (She was a daughter of Theodore and Sarah—Emerson—Lyman).

8. Dates and places of birth and death of Lucy Lyman Paine, daughter of said Henry and Olive (Lyman) Paine, who became the first wife of Russell Sturgis.

WILLIAMS, LONGBOTTOM AND OLDS.—Williams.—In Norwich, Conn., are recorded children of Joseph and Mary Williams as follows: Moses, 1724; Dorothy, 1726; Joseph, 1729; Elijah, 1730; Priscilla, 1732; Sarah, 1734; Mary, 1736; Anne, 1739; Sibol (sic) 1741; Asa, 1744; Hannah, 1746. "Entered Sept. 25, 1750, at desire of Joseph Williams." I would be glad of any information respecting the antecedents of this Joseph Williams, whose children were apparently born in some other town.

Longbottom.—From whence came Daniel Longbottom, who married Nov. 12, 1723, Mary Caswell, and whose children in Norwich, Conn., record are: Elijah, 1724; Elizabeth, 1726; Judith, 1729; Lydia, 1734; Anne, 1736; Daniel, 1740.

Barrett.—Josiah Barrett, born 1688, married 1710, Mary Dill, of Concord, re-married to Littleton. In 1737 was one of first settlers of Hardwick, east of Ware river, afterwards New Braintree, where he was living in 1749, and perhaps removed so Sunderland. Would like to know in what town he was living from 1720 to 1737.

JOHN READ.—In the account of the eminent lawyer, John Read, in Appleton's Cyclopædia of American Biography, it is stated that he was born in Mendon, Mass., but Todd's History of Redding, Conn., states that he was born in Connecticut, without naming the place, and the assertion is borne out by Read's own statement in a letter to Francis Wilks, the Colonial Agent, in 1739, that Connecticut "is my native Country." The history of the Read-Reed-Reede families says that John was a son of Samuel Read, of Mendon, born in 1673. That would make him rather old for those days at the time of his graduation in 1697. There was a John Read born in Norwich, August 15, 1679, son of Josiah, but he apparently lived and died an undistinguished life in Norwich. Can any one inform me where Read was born, and when?

SETTLEMENT OF THE WELSH TRACT.—Can any of the subscribers, or others, give any account of the early settlement of the "Welsh Tract," a grant of 30,000 acres from Wm. Penn, about 1701, to a party of emigrants from Wales?—said land being close by Newark, Del. By what ship and at what date did they come? Was there a man named John Welsh, and Frances his wife, among them? From what port did they sail?

I have worked for a long time to get on the track of this John Welsh and Frances his wife, and my experience often is, that the locality where information is naturally expected is not so fruitful as a distant place.

PHILLIPS AND PRUDEN.—Phillips.—Rev. George Phillips, who came to America with Gov. Winthrop and settled at Watertown, Mass., had a son, Zerubabel, who settled on Long Island (Southampton?). Whom did he marry, and who were his children?

Prudden.—Rev. John Prudden (Harvard 1668) son of Rev. Peter Prudden, of Milford, Conn., became the minister at Jamaica, L. I., 1670, and Newark, N. J., 1674. Whom did he marry, and where was she born and when deceased? I will be grateful for a reply.

MRS. ETHAN ALLEN WEAVER.

COFFIN.—The REGISTER for 1870 contained a short genealogy of the Coffin family, which is sadly deficient in the matter of places. I wish to learn the place of birth of the children of 37, Abner Coffin, p. 311. He was at various dates called "of Exeter," but in what part he lived does not appear. Can any one tell me on what records the births of his children can be found? And whence did Mr. Silvanus J. Macy obtain the dates as printed in the REGISTER?

SPENCER.—Eliphaz Spencer, born April 27, 1738, in Suffield, Conn.; son of William and Hannah (Copeley) Spencer. (See Goodwin's notes, p. 316.) Did Eliphaz Spencer marry, and if so, who? What children did he have? He probably removed with his father to Sheffield, Mass.

COOK.—Will all persons who have facts pertaining to the genealogy of the descendants of Richard, George and John Cook please communicate same to W. Burt Cook, Jr., Ithaca, N. Y. Richard, George and John Cook are known to have crossed to America, circa 1634 from Gloucestershire (?), England, and to have settled, Richard in Cambridge, George in Boston, and John in Salem.

REPLIES.

SOLDIERS IN PHILIP'S WAR: ELIAS STIFF.—In the REGISTER, xli., p. 209, amongst the soldiers credited under Capt. William Turner, June 24, 1678, occurs:

Elias Stiff 02. 04. 06.

The name of Stiff is a very rare one both in England and America, and I was not previously aware of its occurrence in Massachusetts, though cognizant of the fact that there are several families of the name in Virginia. As to the latter the guess may be hazarded that they came from Gloucestershire, though at present the only reason for the suggestion is that the very distinctive name of Jacob Stiff occurs both in Virginia and Gloucestershire. By a parity of reasoning we may suggest that Elias Stiff came from Berkshire. In that county, at least as early as the middle of the sixteenth century, there were several settlements of the name, one of them being at Lamborne. I have several of their wills, and all the entries of the Stiffs in Lamborne parish register down to 1766, and I find the name of Elias Stiff occurring pretty frequently from 1631 to 1762.

Thomas Stiff, of Lambourne, weaver, mentions in his will, 1643, three sons, Elias, Thomas and Francis. Elias Stiff would appear then to have been s. p.

On August 1, 1631, one Elias Stiff (query the son of Thomas, 1643) married Susan Bother (query Bocoer).

On April 14, 1647, was baptized "Elias the sonne of Francis and Margaret Stiff of Lambourne."

On Sept. 24, 1670, we find the burial of Susanna the wife of Elias Steefe, and on Dec. 13, 1685, was buried Ellis Stiffe of Lambourne.

Whether any one of these may be identified with the Massachusetts soldier it is impossible at present to say. But these entries may afford a clue.

It may be well to add that I have a very large number of references to Stiff in other parts of England, Gloucestershire, Northants, Hampshire and Suffolk, the Christian name of Elias only occurs in Berkshire.

Is anything more known of this Elias Stiff, or of others of his surname in Massachusetts?

Benjamin,<sup>5</sup> born May 31, 1752, married Molly Sweat, removed to Rumford, Maine, John,<sup>6</sup> born 1785, married Betsey Abbott, Enoch C.<sup>7</sup> If this is wrong I should be glad of correction, and to learn of all facts relating to the Rolfe family from any one having such information.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

DR. MARSHALL'S GENEALOGIST'S GUIDE, THIRD EDITION.—The second edition of "The Genealogist's Guide; being a General Search through Genealogical, Topographical and Biographical Works, Family Histories, Peerage Claims, etc.," published in 1885, has for some time been out of print. The author, George W. Marshall, LL.D., F.S.A., Rouge Croix Pursuivant of the Herald's College, has determined to issue a third edition, with a supplement containing a large number of additional references, and to add also a complete Catalogue of Printed Parish Registers, and references to extracts from Registers, both printed and manuscript. His new edition of the Guide will be privately printed for subscribers only, and will be limited to 250 copies. The subscription price will be 25 shillings. Subscriptions will be received by Messrs. Belling & Sons, London Printing Works, Guildford, England. Those who desire the work should send in their orders early. The work is in press, and will be issued as soon as the subscription list is complete.

The catalogue of Parish Registers will be much extended from the privately printed work issued in 1891.

DISCOVERY OF THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE APOSTLE ELIOT.—The birthplace of Rev. John Eliot of Roxbury has till last year been unknown, though it has generally been supposed that he was born at Nazing in Essex, where a brother of his and two sisters were baptized, and where his father Bennet Eliot died (ante, REGISTER, 28: 140-5; 39: 365-71). In 1893, a descendant, Ellsworth Eliot, M.D., of New York city (whose address is No. 48 West 36th street), visited England, and made some genealogical searches. He found on the parish register of St. John Baptist at Widford, Herts., a record of the marriage of his parents, viz.: "Bennett Eliot and Lettaye Aggar were married the 30th of October 1598." On the same register is found the baptism of the Apostle, as follows: "John Elliott the sonne of Bennett Elliott was baptized the fyfte daye of August 1604." The baptisms of his sister Sarah in 1599, his brother Philip in 1602, and his brother Jacob in 1606 are also there recorded. Between 1606 and 1610, the family seems to have removed to Nazing. Dr. Eliot has made arrangements through the rector of Widford, Rev. John Traviss Lockwood, to have a memorial window placed in the church in memory of his ancestor, and has issued a circular to other descendants inviting those interested to contribute towards the expense of the window.

LINCOLN COUNTY PROBATE RECORDS.—The Maine Genealogical Society, Portland, Maine, have issued a prospectus for publishing probate records of Lincoln county, Maine, compiled by William D. Patterson of Wiscasset, Maine. Lincoln county, which was organized in 1760, included nearly all the territory north and east of the Androscoggin river. Some of the territory was taken in 1789 to form Washington and Hancock counties; in 1799 Kennebec county; Waldo in 1827; Androscoggin and Sagadahock in 1854; and Knox in 1860. The wills will be given verbatim and an abstract of other records.

The work will be issued in monthly parts of 16 pages, at 25 cents a part, payable in advance. Twenty parts will form a volume, and a title page, preface and index will be furnished. Much valuable historical matter, concerning the early-history of Maine, will be contained in this work.

SOUVENIR SPOON OF THE DENISON FAMILY.—A souvenir or memorial spoon has been issued by the Denisons at Mystic, Connecticut. On the inside of the bowl of this spoon is a view of the first house built in Mystic by Capt. George Denison in 1668, which was taken down in 1883. These dates appear on the back of the handle. The top of the handle represents the Denison coat-of-arms with the motto: DOMUS GRATA, as copied from the tombstone at Ipswich, Massachusetts, and along the handle, extending down to the bowl, are the letters composing the name D E-N-I-S-O-N. It is a handsome, heavy teaspoon, and is admired by those who have seen it. It is not the intention of the originator to offer it for sale as a speculation; but those interested can obtain one by sending three dollars—a price, we are told, which will not cover the cost—to Mr. Charles Hyde Denison, 97 Front street, New York city, or Miss E. E. Cottrell, Greenfield, Mass.

DUDLEY FAMILY RELICS.—Mrs. Elizabeth C. Young, of Medford, whose obituary is printed in this number of the REGISTER, presented, on the 14th of November, 1881, to the New-England Historic Genealogical Society the following relics preserved under glass in a frame: Four caps which were made before the birth of the first child of William and Sarah (Williams) Dudley, who was born June 19, 1774. Several ruffles worked or embroidered by that child when she was thirteen years old for her mother to wear to commencement at Harvard College. A silver tea-spoon, being one of six given to the above Sarah Williams by her brother Henry Howell Williams previous to her marriage to Mr. Dudley. A knitting sheath which had been in the Dudley family through seven generations. Mrs. Young, the donor, was a grandchild of William and Sarah Dudley, being a daughter of their first child above referred to.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of births, marriages, residence and death. When there are more than one christian name they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full names are known.

He has very full records of his immediate ancestors and their descendants, and is very anxious to extend his work further back. Information sent to him at the above address will be thankfully received.

Hitchcock.—The Hitchcock family history which has long been in preparation is now ready for the press, and will be printed as soon as 150 copies are subscribed for. The price will be $5 a copy. The volume will contain 600 pages or more, and will trace the family in its two branches from Matthias of Watertown, Mass., and East Haven, Conn., and of Luke of Wethersfield, Conn., from 1635-1886. Subscriptions and genealogical data should be addressed to Mrs. Mary L. Hitchcock, Amherst, Mass.

KELLOGG—FOOTE.—In the article on the Kelloggs of Colchester which appears in this number, pp. 59-64, under the head of "Disconnected Items," it is stated that Mary, daughter of Aaron Kellogg, married May 31, 1763, Isaac Foote. This is incorrect; the Mary who married Isaac Foote may have been the daughter of Abner<sup>3</sup> Kellogg.

NECROLOGY OF THE NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Prepared by the Historiographer, Rev. EZRA HOYT BYINGTON, D.D., of Newton, Mass.

THE sketches of deceased members prepared for the REGISTER are of necessity brief, because the space that can be appropriated is quite limited. All the materials for more extended memoirs which can be gathered are preserved in the archives of the Society, and they will be available for use in preparing the "Memorial Biographies," of which four volumes have been issued and a fifth volume is in press. The income from the Towne Memorial Fund is devoted to the publication of these volumes.

REV. ANDREW PRESTON PEABODY, A.M., D.D., LL.D., was elected a resident member of this Society January 3, 1883; became a member of the Council in 1889, and took a prominent part in carrying forward the business of the Society until he resigned his seat in the Council in June, 1892. He was quite frequently present at our stated meetings, and contributed from time to time valuable historical papers. His death, on the 10th of March, 1893, removed from us one of the most useful and distinguished of our members.

He was born in Beverly, Mass., March 19, 1811. His ancestry was of the best Puritan stock. He was of the seventh generation from Lieut. Francis Peabody, who came to New England in 1635. His name is enrolled in the following certificate dated April 2, 1635, found in the "Augmentation Office," in Rolls Court, Westminster Hall, London: "Theis underwritten names are to be transported to New-England, imbarked in the Planter, Nicholas Traice, Master, bound thither. The parties have brought certificate from the minister of Great St. Albans in Hertfordshire, and attestacons from the Justices of the Peace, according to the Lords order."

Lieut. Peabody settled at Ipswich, from which place he removed to Hampton, N. H., and later to Topsfield, Mass., where he became one of the most prominent men of the town, both for property and enterprise. He is termed in the early records "Husbandman." Among his descendants have been men distinguished for piety and patriotism. Some have acquired large fortunes. Among these should be counted George Peabody of London, the eminent banker and philanthropist, whose benefactions, amounting to several millions of dollars, have no parallel in history. Others have been distinguished in literature and science, and in professional life.

Dr. Peabody was graduated at Harvard in 1826, when he was only fifteen years of age. He was a private tutor at Meadville, Penn., for some years, after which he entered the Divinity School at Harvard, and was graduated in 1832. He was tutor in mathematics at his Alma Mater in 1832. He was ordained and installed as pastor of the South Church (Unitarian) in Portsmouth, N. H., in 1833, and continued in that office for twenty-seven years. In 1860 he was appointed Plumer Professor of Christian Morals in Harvard College, and preacher to the University. He resigned these positions in 1881. He was acting president of Harvard in 1862, and again in 1868-9. He was editor of the North American Review from 1853 to 1863. He was a frequent contributor to the Christian Examiner, the Whig Review, the New-England Magazine, the North American Review, and to various other publications. He published a number of volumes of lectures and sermons, besides a large number of occasional sermons. His most elaborate work, published in 1887, was his "Lectures on Moral Philosophy."

In his character and personal qualities he was pre-eminently a Puritan of the very highest type, although his theological views were quite different from those of the Puritans. He was, above all else, an apostle of righteousness. As a preacher, and teacher, and author he stood for the things that are true and just. He had great skill in commending the truth to the conscience. He was a very diligent student down to the last year of his life, and his learning was varied and profound. His character was as simple as it was elevated. When he was convinced that he had been mistaken in his judgments, and that he had done injustice to any one, he was prompt and generous in his efforts to make full reparation. He was decided in his religious opinions, but as free as any man from sectarian narrowness. He preserved to a remarkable degree in his old age the fresh feelings of youth. He did not seem to be an old man. During his last years all his powers, except perhaps the memory, seemed to be unimpaired. Dr. Peabody was one of the few men who have been able to bring forth fruit in old age as fine as that of earlier years.

FRANCIS PARKMAN, A.B., LL.B., LL.D., was born in Boston, Sept. 16, 1823, in a fine old house of the colonial period, fronting on Bowdoin Square, and he has always had a home in Boston. Many of his ancestors were ministers. The family line is traced back to Elias Parkman, who came to New England in the early years of the Colony,—was a freeman in Dorchester in 1633,—and afterward removed to Hartford, and finally settled in Boston. The great-grandfather of Francis Parkman was the first minister of Westboro', Mass. His father, from whom he was named, was also a minister, of whom pleasant traditions have come down to us. Harvard College has received the endowment of two professorships from a member of this family.

Mr. Francis Parkman was graduated at Harvard in 1844, and studied law two years after his graduation. He was attracted towards literary pursuits more strongly than towards a professional career, and before completing his course at the Law School he decided to devote himself to historical studies. He went abroad for a time, and after his return he spent several months among the Rocky Mountains, living for a time among the Dacotas and other tribes of wild Indians. His health was broken by the exposure of these journeys, and he was a sufferer for the remainder of his life. His first book was an account of the Rocky Mountain region and its inhabitants. Four years later he published "The Conspiracy of Pontiac and the Indian War after the Conquest of Canada." His third book was a novel, with the title "Vassall Morton." In 1866 he published his "Book of Roses." The same year "The Pioneers of France in the New World" was published. In 1868 he published "The Jesuits in North America in the Seventeenth Century," and in 1869 "La Salle and the Discovery of the Great West." He also published "The Old Regime in Canada" in 1874, and "Count Frontenac and the New France under Louis XIV." in 1877. "Montcalm and Wolfe," in two volumes, appeared in 1884.

Mr. Parkman was a diligent and enterprising student. He made a number of visits to France, and examined the original documents which were the authorities for his histories. He is regarded by some judicious critics as the most philosophical of American historians.

He was elected a resident member of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society Sept. 6, 1865. He was also a prominent member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and for two years its president.

HON. LEOPOLD MORSE, a member of this Society, elected February 6, 1884, died at his residence on Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, December 15, 1892. Mr. Morse had represented the City of Boston in Congress from 1877 to 1885, and from 1887 to 1889. Although the nominee of the democratic party, he was widely supported by those who did not affiliate with that party. He had by his own exertions attained a position as one of the leading merchants of Boston, his house (Leopold Morse & Co.) being among the most prominent and wealthy in the clothing trade. Not alone had he the trust of his brother democrats. There was a confidence extending beyond party ties, among the merchants of Boston, that his sagacity, mercantile intelligence and integrity could serve the general interests and commerce of the city greatly to their advantage. So he did. Boston during the last sixty years has profited much by the ability and comprehension of the merchants who have represented her in Congress, and the names of Lawrence, Appleton, Hooper, Rice and Morse as representatives of her material interests will fill an honorable place in her history. In Congress Mr. Morse served on important committees with credit, and was influential both for his native good sense and keen perceptions and for his generous and courteous spirit. The cause of the humble and the influential of his constituents found alike a prompt and vigorous aid from him. In banking and real estate his judgment stood high among the business men of Boston. Mr. Morse's health became somewhat impaired for two years before his death, which rendered visits to European springs necessary. He was a liberal giver in a good cause, and was prompt to sympathize with distress and misfortune. He founded and endowed the "Boston Home for aged and infirm Hebrews and Orphanage" at West Roxbury, in his life—which continues in successful existence.

Mr. Morse was born Aug. 15, 1831, in the town of Wachenheim in the Rhenish Palatinate, Bavaria, and came to this country in 1848, where he joined an elder brother then in trade at Sandwich, N. H. In the keen struggles of the town meetings and the March elections of that political battle-ground, the American lessons of self-government and constitutional liberty were planted in his breast as the rule of right. Not only did Mr. Morse become a citizen of this republic, but he gave a bond to fate of the permanency of his adoption by wedding an estimable lady descended from the old Puritan stock of Essex County (Miss Ray), who with two of their sons survive him.

After he became of age he soon reached Boston and entered into business which by his tact, ability and integrity was developed into large proportions. In after life he remained grateful to those older merchants who gave him a business credit when his state was small and interested themselves in his progress, and never shrunk from avowing his obligation to them. Mr. Morse had a large heart, a generous hand and a good head, coupled with rare business qualities. An exemplary husband and a kind father, and an unflinching friend. A striking evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Morse was held by all ranks in this city was shown in the composition of the vast gathering at his funeral. The leading merchants, distinguished members of the professions, the magnates of political and city life, were blended with his workmen who had loved him, men and women, the old and crippled whom he had served in some way, and the stalwart citizens whose principles he had represented in Congress. Every race and every religion dwelling amongst us were represented in the great and serious throng who came to look their last on the inanimate remains of one whose honorable, kindly and useful life had endeared him to them beyond the mere affinities growing from a similarity of political principles. Boston has lost in him a public-spirited and able citizen who promoted and sought her welfare with fidelity and success.

By Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury, of Boston.

ASA MILLET, M.D., elected a resident member of the Society August 2, 1865, died at East Bridgewater, Mass., March 21, 1893, in the eightieth year of his age.

Dr. Millet was a descendant of Thomas Millet of London (Southwark), who with his wife (Mary Greenoway) came to New England on the ship Elizabeth in 1625. He settled first in Dorchester, afterwards in Gloucester, where for several generations the name was a common one. Thomas Millet, the grandfather of our member, removed to Leeds, Me. He was a revolutionary soldier, and a mariner on the Hancock, the war-ship ordered by the Continental Congress and built by Massachusetts in 1776. His wife was Eunice Parsons. Their son, Zebulon Parsons Millet, married Deliverance Rich of Sandwich, Mass., and resided in Leeds, where Asa Millet was born, June 22, 1813.

He fitted for college at Monmouth and Waterville Academies in his native state, and took a partial course in Waterville College (now Colby University), in the class of 1836. After a few years spent in teaching he devoted himself to the study of medicine, graduating from the Medical School of Maine at Bowdoin College in 1842. He began the practice of his profession in Mattapoisett, Mass., removing in 1847 to East Bridgewater. From 1854 to 1862 he resided in Abington, and from 1862 to 1873 in Bridgewater, returning in the latter year to East Bridgewater, where he remained to the close of his life. The whole half century of his professional career was thus spent in the Old Colony, where he was thoroughly known and respected.

He was a member, and at one time a vice-president, of the Massachusetts Medical Society. He belonged also to the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Although a man of strong political convictions and connected from the first with the republican party, he never held political office except as a member of Governor Andrew's Council in 1865, to which position he was elected by the legislature to fill a vacancy caused by resignation. He served in the army for a short time as contract surgeon in 1861, until sickness compelled him to return home, but as member of the Surgical Aid Corps he made several visits to the front during the progress of the war.

Dr. Millet was married in 1843 to Miss Huldah Allen Byram of East Bridgewater, daughter of Capt. Branch Byram and Anne Washburn. She survives him with three sons and two daughters. The sons, all graduates of Harvard, are Frank D. Millet, the artist, widely known in connection with the Columbian Exposition, Josiah B. Millet, of the publishing house of J. B. Millet Co., Boston, and Charles S. Millet, M.D., of Rockland.

By Rev. Charles C. Carpenter, A.M., of Andover, Mass.

GEORGE WHITFIELD AVERY, M.D., of Hartford, Ct., a life member, elected Oct. 7, 1868, was a son of David and Rebecca (Morgan) Avery, and was born at Hampton, Conn., Sept. 27, 1836. His grandfather, Rev. David Avery, a descendant of one of the early settlers of Groton, Conn., graduated at Yale College in 1769, served in the Revolutionary War, married Hannah Chaplin, daughter of the founder of Chaplin, Conn., and preached at Wrentham, Mass. and at Chaplin. Dr. Avery's father, born at Wrentham in 1787, graduated at Brown University, and taught for a time in Providence, R. I. He was a student of the classics and of English Literature, and was active in the cause of anti-slavery and of temperance.

Dr. Avery had expected to make teaching his life work, but was led to decide on studying medicine, graduated in 1861 at the Yale Medical school, and was then made house physician at the New Haven Hospital.

At the opening of the war he was appointed, by Gov. Buckingham, Assistant Surgeon of the 9th Connecticut volunteers, and showed great zeal and efficiency in the hospital on Ship Island, where he was first stationed.

In 1862 he went with General Butler to New Orleans, and the following year was put at the head of the St. James Hospital there, and for two years under General Butler he had charge of all the sanitary arrangements of the city. He was appointed in December, 1863, surgeon of the first New Orleans Volunteers, and subsequently held, during his ten years' residence in New Orleans, various important offices, civil and military, among others that of High Sheriff. During his administration of the latter office, the impartiality of his conduct won the approval of very many, even among those who had previously been opposed to him.

During the terrible epidemics of cholera and of yellow fever, he was one of the few physicians who remained at his post, and was on duty night and day for weeks.

He made many friends in the city through his devotion to his patients, and in more than one case he took to his own rooms some northern man, although an entire stranger, and faithfully cared for him.

In November, 1871, he removed to Hartford, Conn., where he held positions of trust. For several years he was surgeon of the 1st Regiment National Guards, examiner for the Soldier's Home, and a member of the pension examining board. He was also a member of the Hartford Medical Society, and from May, 1874, he was attending physician at the American Asylum for the Deaf and Dumb. He endeared himself to the pupils of this institution by his affectionate interest in their welfare.

In his profession he was an enthusiast, and seemed specially gifted for a surgeon and physician. He had trained himself to use either hand indifferently, had quick powers of observation, fertility of resource, great decision and resolution, and keen sympathies. His iron will led him to persist in accomplishing whatever he undertook, and his courage and genial humor inspired confidence and cheer among his patients.

Notwithstanding his strength of character and of body he had an extremely sensitive organization, and his interest and anxiety for his patients told upon him.

He took great delight in standard literature, and "his intellectual hunger seemingly was never satisfied." He was especially interested in military history and the events of our late war were vividly present to his mind. He had a deeply religious nature and thought much and spoke often of the claims of duty and of the future life.

Overwork, with little change of scene or relaxation, wore upon him, and he died at Hartford, February 23, 1893.

Dr. Avery was twice married, first in 1872 to Lydia L. Shipman, of Jewett City, Conn., and second in 1884 to Elizabeth P. Keep, of Hartford, Conn., who, with his four daughters, survives him.

By Francis E. Blake, Esq., of Boston.

ABRAHAM AVERY, A.M., a life member, elected March 1, 1865, was born in Wilbraham, Mass., Nov. 15, 1824. He was the son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Bliss) Avery, and was the fourth to bear the name.

For many years he was a member of the well-known firm of Rand, Avery & Co., printers and publishers, Boston, from which he retired in 1877. He was a man of excellent judgment and decided opinions, but retiring in his habits, exhibiting a quiet dignity of manner and courteous and kindly in his bearing. He never entered public life, his tastes being for literary pursuits. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon him by Wesleyan University in 1879.

He married Nov. 19, 1851, Margaret Cook, daughter of William S. and Margaret Camp of Middletown, Conn., by whom he had three children, two daughters surviving him. His death occurred in Boston April 3, 1893.

By Francis E. Blake, Esq., of Boston.

REV. CHARLES MORRIS BLAKE, A.M., M.D., of San Francisco, Cal., a corresponding member, elected Jan. 7, 1880, was born December 24, 1819, in Brewer, now Holden, Maine. He was the son of Charles<sup>6</sup> and Mary (Winchester) Blake, and descended from William<sup>1</sup> Blake, of Dorchester, through Edward,<sup>2</sup> Jonathan,<sup>3</sup> John,<sup>4</sup> John.<sup>5</sup>

He graduated at Bowdoin College in 1842, and at Jefferson Medical College in 1845. He studied theology under Dr. Albert Barnes, and in 1855 was ordained a Presbyterian minister at Valparaiso, Chili, where, for several years, he was pastor and preacher to the Scotch miners. In 1849 he went to California, and from 1851 to 1857 was the editor of the Pacific News in San Francisco. He received the degree of M.D. from the University of California in 1876.

Upon the breaking out of the war in 1861 he offered his services to his country and was commissioned chaplain of the United States Volunteers, in August of that year. In July, 1863, he received a commission as captain of the 3d United States Colored Troops, and at the siege of Fort Wagner was wounded in the head, from the effects of which he suffered the remainder of his life. Later he again served as chaplain at various hospitals and posts, a greater part of the time being on the frontier.

In 1882 he became a resident of San Francisco, where he died June 3, 1893.

Mr. Blake had a life of varied experience. He was a man of energy and activity, of genial nature, easy and fluent in conversation, and a cultivated Christian gentleman. For many years he was much interested in genealogy, freely expending money and labor in tracing the lineage, not only of the Blakes, but also of other families in which he was specially interested—Winchester, Dupree, Farrington, &c. To him belongs the credit of making known the existence of the records of the baptism and marriage of William Blake the emigrant to New England about 1636, which were found at Pitminster parish, Somerset County, England.

Mr. Blake married August 18, 1844, Charlotte A. Farrington. Of his five children two only survive, Charles E. Blake and Charlotte A. Brown, both of them physicians in San Francisco.

It may safely be claimed, in behalf of antiquarian research, that there is no nobler field for literary labor than that in which is gleaned and recorded—either in the form of Biography, Genealogy, or History—the true nobility of a worthy ancestry. Out of this field, in the beginning of the last year, have come to us two works of such considerable size and value as to render them somewhat phenomenal contributions to the annals of the Colony and State of Connecticut. We refer to Dr. Stiles' Revised Edition of the History and Genealogies of Ancient Windsor,* and to Prof. and Mrs. Salisbury's Family-Histories and Genealogies, connected mostly with the old town of Lyme, Conn.

Both of these towns—Windsor at the head of navigation on the Connecticut River, and Lyme (then a part of Saybrook) near to its mouth, upon the seaboard—were of nearly the same date of settlement; both were peculiarly rich in the inheritance of that "best blood" (middle-class), which gave and still gives to Old England its stalwart strength among the nations of the earth; both were "mother-towns," sending forth colony after colony into the wilderness beyond them; and of both it may be said, even to the present day, that they are abundantly honored in their children in this fair land. Consequently, the simultaneous appearance of two such works as those above-mentioned is an event of no small interest, not only to the many whose descent is derived from these two towns, but as strongly indicative of that wider appreciation of the value of such books which now obtains in the present generation of Americans.

It is, however, more particularly of Prof. and Mrs. Salisbury's remarkable volumes that we wish to speak, in the present instance; since, both as regards their extent, accuracy, minute and loving detail and charming literary style, no less than for the superb luxuriousness of their mechanical make-up, they are, in every respect, remarkable. The five quarto volumes under present notice may be considered as supplementary to the two volumes of a similar character printed by Prof. Salisbury in 1885, and which dealt chiefly with the genealogical lines of his own descent. Together they present a most remarkable instance of similarity of tastes and of felicitous literary co-operation between man and wife; and irresistibly suggest the wish that the same loving hands may, in due course of time, present us with a History of Lyme, Ct., for which, indeed, these volumes seem to form a natural ground-work and preparation.

The wish to which we have thus given expression, and which we are sure will be echoed by all who consult these volumes, is greatly stimulated by the very appetizing Preface and "Introductory Notes on Lyme," in the first volume of these Family-Histories. In this the author aptly remarks that "No one can ever know how much of heroic struggle and devotion to duty and affection, in the lives of the settlers of our old towns, has been hidden and lost in the lapse of time. 'They had no poet, and died.' True! they 'had no poet' then; but in these latter days the Lord hath raised up these 'veracious chroniclers,' who have saved their memories to us and to our children, for our edification and strengthening. And every page of these Genealogies furnishes absolute proof of the fitness of the same chroniclers to give us a history of this grand old Connecticut town.

In the MacCurdy, Mitchell, Buchanan genealogies we are treated to some most delightful glimpses of the characteristics of the Scotch and Scotch-Irish race, whose successive immigrations (beginning about 1720), into America brought to our colonial era a new accession of back-bone, and a little later added to the establishing of our newly-won liberties "the creed, the spirit of resistance and the courage of the Covenanters," fully justifying Lord Montjor's remark (in 1784) that "America was lost to the English Crown by Irish emigrants."

John McCurdy, of a family once prominent in the Isles of Bute, in the West of Scotland, emigrated (æ. 21) in 1745, from Ireland; settled at Lyme in 1752, and married Anne Lord, whose decision of character over-ruled the very natural disfavor with which her father regarded her Irish lover. A man of great public spirit, enterprise and benevolence, an active patriot in the Revolution, McCurdy became one of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of his county. A stout Presbyterian and "always catechising his family on Sunday night, he was wont to include his daughters' suitors, whose visits were at the usual courting-time of the period. This practice could have given little alarm to young men already well drilled in the Catechism; but we can think of nothing which would more effectually disperse the lovers of the present day!" These daughters, educated at New York and Philadelphia, were ladies of elegance and dignity, yet well versed in all practical details of housewifery. They had great beauty. One of them married the famous Rev. Dr. Nathan Strong of Hartford; another was the wife of Rev. Henry Channing of New London, whose nephew William Ellery Channing was taken into his house after the death of his father, and from there sent to Harvard College at the expense of his aunt Sarah (McCurdy) Channing, who had inherited a large estate from her father. Another daughter of Mr. McCurdy, wife of Capt. Elisha Hart, was the mother of seven daughters known as "the beautiful Miss Harts," one of whom was the wife of Commodore Isaac Hull. The biography of Judge Charles Johnson McCurdy, in this monograph, is a carefully considered and most felicitous tribute of filial affection from the pen of his daughter Mrs. Salisbury.

The Mitchell family of Chester, Conn. (descendants of William of Glasgow and Agnes Buchanan his wife, settlers of 1755) derived from an ancestry which suffered much for conscience-sake in Scotland; while Agnes Buchanan was an aunt of the Rev. Claudius Buchanan, the eminent Scottish missionary to India. This William Mitchell was a brother of James Mitchell of Wethersfield, Conn., who was the father of Chief Justice Stephen Mix Mitchell, and great-grandfather of Donald Grant Mitchell, the author.

Among the families commemorated in these volumes is a group of distinguished English origin, namely: Digby, from Elizabeth Digby, granddaughter of Simon Digby of Bedale, executed for high treason in the reign of Elizabeth, and a near relative of John Digby first earl of Bristol; Willoughby, from Deputy-Governor Francis Willoughby, who settled in Charlestown, Mass., in 1638; Newdigate, from John Newdigate, settled in Boston 1632; Ogden, from John Ogden, the pioneer settler of Elizabeth, New Jersey; Marvin, from Reinold Marvin of Lyme; Clarke, from Hon. Daniel Clarke of Windsor, Conn., and his brothers; Lord, from Thomas Lord of Hartford, 1635; Pitkin, from William Pitkin of East Hartford; Locke, Cole, Bond, Swayne, Lee, Drake, Griswold and Wolcott, most of them from well-known heraldic families of landed proprietors in England. The three last-named families have also received new examination and enlargement in Dr. Stiles's Windsor History; and may well congratulate themselves that they have been thus simultaneously and so thoroughly exploited from two such competent sources of authority. In regard to the English connections of the Griswold and Drake emigrant ancestors, both these authorities seem, in the main, to agree; though the Salisbury book presents for the Drake ancestry a stronger claim of direct social distinction in England than is, perhaps, claimed for it in the Windsor book. While we have no absolute information as to the social position and pecuniary means of John Drake, the emigrant in England, our best assurance that he possessed both is to be found, perhaps, in the fact that, in the little Windsor community—thoroughly imbued, as it must have been in that generation, with respect for social position and rank as it existed in the land of their birth*—John Drake seems to have been an honored citizen, with good means for the period; and his son Job, a shoemaker,†

* The line of descent of John Drake of Windsor, Connecticut, given in Dr. Stiles's History of Windsor, is identically the same as that given in the Salisbury book, but in the latter it is amplified. The Plantagenet descent of John Drake is given, and the marriages of these Drakes with the Grenville or Granville, Prideaux, Champenon, Gilbert, Deny, Raleigh, Fortescue, the Duke of Marlborough and many other ancient families and persons of distinction are mentioned. John Drake of Windsor was great nephew of Queen Elizabeth's famous commander Sir Bernard Drake; and he was related to many other of her most distinguished naval and military men. The pedigrees used were furnished to Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury by Sir William Richard Drake and Rev. W. T. Tyrwhitt Drake, present representatives of the family in England, the latter of whom wrote: "It will give me great pleasure to be useful in the genealogy of the American branch of the family."

† It is well known that in the time of the early generations of the settlers there was little call for the learned professions, except that of the ministry, while there was a constant demand for the various trades which sustain social life. Many of the settlers, previously unused to handicrafts, learned them before they came over, to fit themselves for the necessities of their new conditions as colonists. Others were obliged to learn them here. The Drakes ranked with the best Windsor families.

esteemed a worthy husband for the daughter of Mr. Henry Wolcott, who was Windsor's most eminent and wealthiest man.

We have, also, in these Family-Histories, a most interesting group of families of European Continental origin, such as Diodati—(Deus dedit), a high family tracing back through English and Swiss lines to the Italy of the Middle Ages—and first in America in 1715 or 1717; Mei, of the Mei family of Lucca; De Wolf,* from Balthazar of Wethersfield, Ct., 1664, and Lyme, 1684, whose child was "bewitched to death" by Nicholas and Margaret Young—according to extant records of the Particular Court of Connecticut, a branch of which family removed from Lyme to Nova Scotia, 1760; and another branch to Bristol, Rhode Island; Parmelin, since Parmelee, probably of Swiss origin, from John Parmelin, a first settler of Guilford, Ct. 1639, who was of Rev. Whitfield's party from Counties Surrey, Kent, and Essex, and who went with Gov. Eaton to New Haven; Lynde, of Dutch origin (probably the Belgic family of Van der Linden), a family which gave to Massachusetts Colony a famous succession of Judges and Chief Justices, and which is a markedly legal family to the present day; Hoo, which to us appears to be of Dutch origin, though our authors credit it to an old English (Saxon—locale, Kent,) stock †—perhaps afterwards identical with the name of Hoves, and Hoves.

All these genealogies are abundantly fortified by notes and references to authorities; and interspersed with such a delicious infinity of minor details of biography, personal characteristics and antiquarian commentary, as to render them of interest even to the general reader. They are (Vol. III.) further illustrated by the twenty-nine (folded) Pedigree-charts of the above named and other families (including two Pedigree-charts of Combined Descents), bearing the coats-of-arms of the respective families, and elegantly printed on bank-note paper. Prefixed to Vol. III., as a motto, are these words of Prof. Goode on the Scientific Value of Genealogical Facts: "The time is coming when the sociologist and the historian will make an extensive use of the facts so laboriously and systematically classified by genealogists."

Of the external appearance of these volumes it can be truly said that they are sumptuous. With a personal knowledge of nearly all of the many hundred family-histories published in the United States, for the past fifty years or more (many of which have been elegant and costly), we hesitate not to place these volumes at the head of the list, as specimens of the "Art Preservative" of all arts. After launching upon the sea of Literature two such noble vessels as the Histories of 1885 and 1892, we may venture to renew the expression of a hope that Prof. and Mrs Salisbury will not "rest upon their oars". The Life of George Mason, 1725-1792. By KATE MASON ROWLAND. New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons. The Knickerbocker Press, 1892. Two volumes, 8vo. Vol. I. pp. 454; Vol. II. pp. 527. Price 88.

These two volumes present the main facts in the career of an eminent American statesman and patriot of the Revolution. A Virginian by birth and training, he was the immediate neighbor of Washington. Their estates joined in part, and both fronted on the river Potomac. They were friends from youth, Mason being seven years the elder. There was a bond of sympathy between them in respect to social position and business activities, and also in principles of conduct and standards of life. In the inception and prosecution of the war of the Revolution they were in full accord, and while they were at variance politically late in Mason's life, as to the adoption of the Federal constitution, this circumstance did not disturb their amicable social relations. Mason's Virginian contemporaries in public affairs, seemingly without exception, have borne testimony to his excellence in those qualities which make up the ideal of a statesman: to his learning, and his zeal and fidelity in the public cause. He is known in the record distinctively as "George Mason of Gunston," or, sometimes, more specifically, "of Gunston Hall," the one appellation being that of the estate and the other that of the mansion where he dwelt. The loss of many manuscripts, letters, and, in some instances, public records by fire, or otherwise, has prevented the preparation of what, in strictness, might be called a complete biography of him. But diligence and friendly zeal have rescued much in the way of data that is perfectly authentic and clearly adequate for the proper limning of his character and life work, and thus, in the hands of his present biographer, he has been made to appear to this and the succeeding generations a distinct and impressive historical figure. The volumes bear evidence that the search has been thorough, and there appears to be no reason to suppose that anything important can ever be added. For this reason, and because of their literary merit and general historical instructiveness, they will have rank in their proper category in American standard literature.

* A William de Wolfe was witness to a deed in England in 1066. Arms are given, by Burke, to a De Wolfe family in England. Belthazar De Wolf established himself with the early English settlers in Lyme, wrote a good English hand, and took part with them in town affairs as one of them. There is no evidence that his family were of recent foreign origin, though some of his descendants have that impression.

† The Saxon family of Hoo, described in "Family-Histories and Genealogies," which settled in Kent, are traced from the time of Henry I. In the reign of Henry III. they are mentioned as seated in Suffolk; in 1286, in Bedfordshire. In 1292 Robert de Hoo, the supposed ancestor of the Hoo's in this work, who married Beatrix daughter of Alexander Earl of Anderville in Normandy, held lands in Herts., Bedford, Cambridge and Oxford. His grandson, Sir Thomas de Hoo, through his wife the heiress of John Lord de St. Leger, held large estates in Sussex, Northamptonshire and Herts. He was followed by a succession of descendants who held large possessions in many counties, including Norfolk and Suffolk. In the line of the Suffolk branch descended Joane Hoo, the mother of John Newdigate of Boston.

Considerable space is given in the first volume to the ancestry of the subject, whose great-grandfather was also George Mason, a colonel in the army of the king at the battle of Worcester. That defeat prompted Mason's flight to America. In Virginia the heads of the family, from the beginning, appear to have been men of large proprietorship in land, and in each generation were public characters in the councils of peace or war. The first George Mason was manifestly a sturdy monarchist. His descendant of the fourth generation was not less distinctively a republican in his political doctrines and theories, and, as the narrative shows, became a republican in action and eventually one in the party sense. He is described in his early manhood as a planter and philosopher, a recluse rather than a politician, and as having reluctantly gone into the public arena. He had, for the period and the situation, an extensive library, in which among the works mentioned were those of Locke, Sydney, Montesquieu, Machiavelli and Junius. The presence of others of the great doctrinaires may be inferred. He was not a man to buy books for the mere ornamentation of his rooms, and, therefore, when the political crisis approached, was duly prepared to become, what he is described to have been, "the pen of the Revolution in Virginia."

Another phrase of panegyric applied to him, and deservedly, was "the Constitution maker." The Virginia bill of rights and the first draft for a constitution of the State (which latter was but slightly modified by the convention), were unquestionably of his authorship. The bill of rights was written by him probably earlier than May 17, and certainly earlier than May 27, 1776. In either case it antedates all others in the history of the United States. Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence repeated its cardinal maxims and adopted many of its phrases. That the Massachusetts bill of rights is framed upon the model of that of Virginia is the statement of Bancroft, the historian; and Mason himself, in enclosing, in 1778, a copy to a friend in London, avows the authorship and remarks, "This was the first thing of the kind upon the continent, and has been closely imitated by all the States." It has been continued without change at the head of each of the three Constitutions which Virginia has adopted. The original constitution is also preferred, at this day, by many Virginians, to either of its successors. When the first revision was made by a convention in 1829 John Randolph of Roanoke, a delegate, appeared in each day's session with crape on his hat and sleeves, "in mourning," as he said, "for the old constitution."

In the Convention of 1776 which adopted that constitution Mason was the master spirit, though Patrick Henry is to be reckoned in many respects his peer. Madison, who was also a member, was then but 25 years of age. In some sense Mason was in the public service of Virginia, as member of the Legislature or otherwise, during the interval between that date and the assembling of the Federal constitutional convention in 1787. In becoming a member of this latter body he found himself to be, as he distinctly intimates, in a company of luminaries. In a letter written soon after the opening of the sessions, he says, "America has certainly, upon this occasion, drawn forth her first characters; there are upon this convention many gentlemen of the most respectable abilities, and, so far as I can discover, of the purest intentions." The word "respectable" as thus used had, at that date, as is well known, a stronger significance than present usage gives it, and the phrase has all the force of that preceding, "first characters." It is manifest not only that Mason had great weight in the convention, but that he went hand in hand, cordially, with the majority till near the end of the proceedings, and was as much a "Federalist" as any. Certain changes made in the constitution in the closing stage aroused his opposition, which he never afterwards forebore; and he was one of the three delegates in the convention who refused to sign the document when finally engrossed.

This opposition was nominally a defence of "state rights," and the matter is so set forth in the biography. The author is at some pains to show that the political principles herein avowed by Mason were identical with those with which the secessionists entered upon the war in 1861. She goes farther and ranks many of the leading Virginians of 1787 in the same category with Jefferson Davis and his coadjutors, naming especially Mason, Henry, R. H. Lee, Jefferson and Madison. While it is admitted that in 1787, and later, Madison was a Federalist, it is claimed that eventually he took the side of state rights. This phrase "state rights" is used, however, in a broader than the literal sense, and in one connection the author supplements it with another which brings out nearly the full meaning, where she speaks of certain words of the constitution as having been perverted to serve "as an argument against state rights and the doctrine of secession." While in the formal declarations of the leaders of secession and in certain utterances and writings of the Virginians above named there may be an identity of phraseology, it may be held to be an unwarrantable inference that these men of 1787, who were subject to a particular condition of things and a particular set of apprehensions, as to dangers then threatening, would approve the action of those who began war in 1861, surrounded by quite other conditions and apprehending perils and losses of quite another sort. But whatever opinions the reader may hold as to the merits of the political controversy involved in the civil war, the relation here given of the action of George Mason and others, in the formative period of the Federal constitution, is highly instructive, and will be helpful in making clear the progress of events as more broadly stated in the pages of general history.

Collections of the Connecticut Historical Society, Vol. IV. The Talcott Papers: Correspondence and Documents (chiefly official) during Joseph Talcott's Governorship of Connecticut. Vol. I. 1724-36. Edited by MARY K. TALCOTT. Hartford: Published by Conn. Hist. Soc: 1892.

It is very unsafe to pronounce any space of local history dull or unfruitful in advance. Connecticut antiquarians themselves have always regarded the period after the close of the French-Jesuit aggressions early in the 18th century, and before the French and Indian war, as little more than a time of material expansion, with few salient or pregnant incidents. The very Society which issues this volume thought it unlikely to prove of great importance. It turns out to be of a great deal, and of curious interest and even novelty in a variety of ways. Nowhere can one gain a clearer view of the springs which swelled into the torrent of the Revolution. The reader winces with a sense of personal humiliation in seeing men of as great ability, acuteness, force and resolution as any in England itself, compelled to pass their whole political careers in dexterous skulking and elaborate diplomatic "filibustering," with never a hope of relief in open defiance or even sincere oburgation. Being human, they must inwardly have raged over the meanness, as they certainly worried night and day over the insecurity, of the position; and they gladly seized the chance of ending it. A mass of fresh documents and correspondence on the famous Winthrop-Lechmere land-title case brings this into the clearest relief. The whole future of the colony hinged on this case; the first adverse decision, making the British primogeniture law also the law of Connecticut, would have been highly disastrous but for the cool and wary judgment, patience and skill with which the executive of the colony kept the intestate estates unsettled for many years, or got them settled by compromise, in hope of a reversal; and the final reversal after a Massachusetts case had been decided for the colony, though it brought a long sigh of relief, did not undo the alienation of feeling so long cankering in silence. Along the same line was the steady and unfaltering, but very anxious and often despondent effort to keep the transoceanic government from reviewing the colonial laws. Talcott's correspondence with the agents in London makes one share his nervous apprehensions even now; neither of them concealed from themselves the fact that the general government could at any moment, and were quite likely to, declare the charter a mere revokable contract. Politics with them was the art of lulling and steering off a perfectly irresistible but rather clumsy and short-sighted set of masters. The later enforcement of the navigation laws, which lost England the colonies, is plainly prefigured here. Of internal matters, much the most important and novel is the conclusive testimony, in great mass, that the Connecticut government and people not only meant honestly to guard the fair interests and improve the mental and spiritual condition of the remnant of Indians, but that they worked strenuously and steadily to that end. The slurs cast on their good faith are wholly undeserved; some scamps sold the Indians liquor, and others trespassed on their land or stole their crops, but the bulk of the people were neither hypocrites nor robbers. Among other things, the interminable boundary dispute with New York is not more unreadable than the other writings on the subject; the abortive efforts to supply the pressing need of currency are interesting, and the abjectly apologetic letter of the Bishop of London to the Governor, asking that Episcopalians may not have to pay taxes to the Congregational Church, is curious and notable; and the letter of that village Machiavelli, Capt. James Packer of New London, on taking advantage of Massachusetts' "hard times," is worth the price of the book. The personal element is of great interest. Talcott himself wins high respect; not a man of surface brilliancy, but much of Washington's stamp, an upright, laborious, solid, skilful administrator, seeking the best counsel and able to profit by it. Wilkes and Belcher are what they are elsewhere; the former an honorable, kindly, capable man of business; the latter a coarse-natured and bragging politician, with a strong tinge of the blackmailer in him—truculent half-disguised threats are forever cropping out. Much of the most valuable matter in the book has been gathered by the editor, Miss Talcott, in addition to that previously in possession of the Society; and her extremely thorough and copious annotation has added greatly to its usefulness, making it intelligible to every reader without further research. Its coming accords most happily with the Winthrop Papers of the Massachusetts Historical Society. The second volume will be welcomed.

History of the Handel and Haydn Society, of Boston, Massachusetts, Vol. I. From the foundation of the Society through its seventy-fifth season, 1815-1890. Chapters, I.-III. By CHARLES C. PERKINS. Chapters IV.-XV. By JOHN S. DWIGHT. Boston: Alfred Mudge & Son, Printers, 1883-1893.

The authors of this work, Mr. Charles C. Perkins and Mr. John S. Dwight, have produced a carefully written and valuable addition to musical literature. The great work accomplished by the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston is well known and recognized. The members love music not only for its own sake, but for the great good that it can do in ennobling and uplifting human nature, and ever strive to give the best work of the great composers to the public, knowing that to be the best way to elevate the public taste.

The following passage from "Luther's Table Talk" is quoted at the beginning of the Introduction to the book before us: "Next unto theology I give the place and highest honour to music, for thereby all anger is forgotten, the devil is driven away, unchastity, pride, and other blasphemies are expelled."

High words of praise indeed, but none too high. Rightly does Luther rank music next to theology as a means of purifying human nature. In the world, where there are continual temptations to turn aside and labor too much for the meat which perisheth, even perhaps for the useless and hurtful things of life, the mind, the heart of man needs to be frequently reminded of the higher things (the only tangible things) of life, of eternity itself. Men take, and should take, due care for their temporal affairs, but in the incessant rush and hurry of life, the constant demands upon us, is there not grave danger that we may dimly see, perhaps, alas, even lose of sight of, the spiritual life?

As Christianity plainly teaches that there can be no sound and enduring basis for right living without right thinking, in a word that belief precedes action, so the emotional nature, another great source of the spiritual life, needs to be fed and stimulated as well. The ideal life is the only real life. All other phases of life are as perishable as the vapor that vanisheth. Religion is a matter of the heart as well as of the head. And properly-guided emotion, enthusiasm, is absolutely necessary to its highest, fullest development. Surely next to right belief comes fervor and warmth of heart. Christian feeling and aspiration may not reach its goal through the reasoning faculties alone, but rather through the quicker and surer means of the religious affections. Thought is often complex, not so impulse. No great movement for the benefit of mankind was ever carried to a successful issue without this underlying, all-permeating principle of enthusiasm. No force in the world, no power of darkness, can cope with rightly-grounded enthusiasm. Emotionalism crystallizes thought into action, and makes it the most powerful force in the present and for all time. And to this grand faculty sacred music ministers unceasingly. It makes for all that is true, beautiful and enduring, even for righteousness itself.

Good Old Dorchester. A Narrative History of the Town, 1630-1893. By WILLIAM DANA ORCUTT. Cambridge: Published by the Author. John Wilson & Son, University Press. 1893. 8vo. pp. 497. Price $4 in maroon cloth, or $5 in white vellum cloth, gilt top. For sale by George E. Littlefield, 67 Cornhill, Boston.

This work, as the title indicates, is a narrative history of Dorchester during its entire existence. The author has done well to cause the book to be printed in its present form. Although there must be, necessarily, much that has before seen the light, he has introduced many new points. These will be readily recognized by those familiar with Dorchester history. The matter contained in four of the chapters of the book are designated: "Colonial Times, 1630-1688"; "Provincial Times, 1689-1783"; "The Revolution to the Rebellion, 1784-1860"; "Modern Times, 1861-1893."

In this brief notice it is unnecessary to hint to the readers of the REGISTER the importance of a book, in design and execution containing so much vital to the historian, especially in regard to the incipency, history and progress of our free schools, as also our municipal and ecclesiastical governments. These subjects of themselves are sufficient, one would think, to recommend a careful re-reading and recital; for Dorchester lays claim, as is well known, to the free school, a model town government, early mills, &c., from Israel Stoughton, in 1634, down to the present time, including the famous chocolate mills of Walter Baker & Company.

The History of Dorchester, published by a committee of the Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society, in 1859, largely in the shape of Annals, is nearly out of print, and the price is enhanced. It was intended, in a great measure, for a book of reference rather than for consecutive reading; a repository of facts, names and dates. The late Hon. James Savage used to say, "books are not made to read, but to be used for reference." Taking this view, the Dorchester history of 1859, as far as it goes, would perhaps be considered quite as valuable as the book of 1893, while the latter might be thought more attractive, in the general acceptance of the term, and not the less readable. All this may be said without the least disparagement to the former volume. Both have their place, and may each properly stand side by side on the shelves of the students of American history.

Mr. Orcutt has furnished for his book portraits of Richard Mather, William Stoughton, Capt. John Percival, Edward Everett, Thaddeus Mason Harris, John Codman, Nathaniel Hall, Ebenezer Clapp, Jr., and Lucy Stone. The anecdotes, reminiscences and biographical sketches presented serve as a counterpart, to some extent, to the dry details, if they may so be called. The histories of the early homes are interesting and entertaining. The illustrations, about fifty in number, include portraits, views, churches, old houses, &c., fac-simile signatures to the school document of 1641, and other autographs of individuals of former times. The cut entitled "A view of the Watering Place at Tinian," in the East Indies, on page 412, taken from an old work called "The World Displayed," printed in Dublin, Ireland, in 1779, suggests the probably correct spelling of a familiar point of land in Dorchester, looking seaward.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study of the history of the United States. It is argued that a knowledge of the past is essential for a full understanding of the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors that have shaped the development of the United States, including the role of the government, the influence of the economy, and the impact of the culture. The paper concludes by emphasizing the need for a continued study of the history of the United States in order to ensure a bright future for the nation.

It gives us pleasure to commend this volume to the favorable attention of the public. The paper, print, and fine margins of the book, coming from the well-known University Press, are all that the most fastidious lover of nice books need desire. It has also a good index.

Customs and Fashions in Old New England. By ALICE MORSE EARLE. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons. 1893. 12mo. pp. 387. Price $1.25.

The author of that interesting and instructive book, "The Sabbath in Puritan New England," needs no introduction to the American public. So far as may be inferred from a necessarily rather hasty examination of Mrs. Earle's latest work, it would appear that it fully sustains her reputation for careful and extensive research in the annals of our dearly-loved New England. This book will be gladly welcomed and eagerly read by New-England people, and by all whose honest pride it is to trace their descent from New-England forefathers.

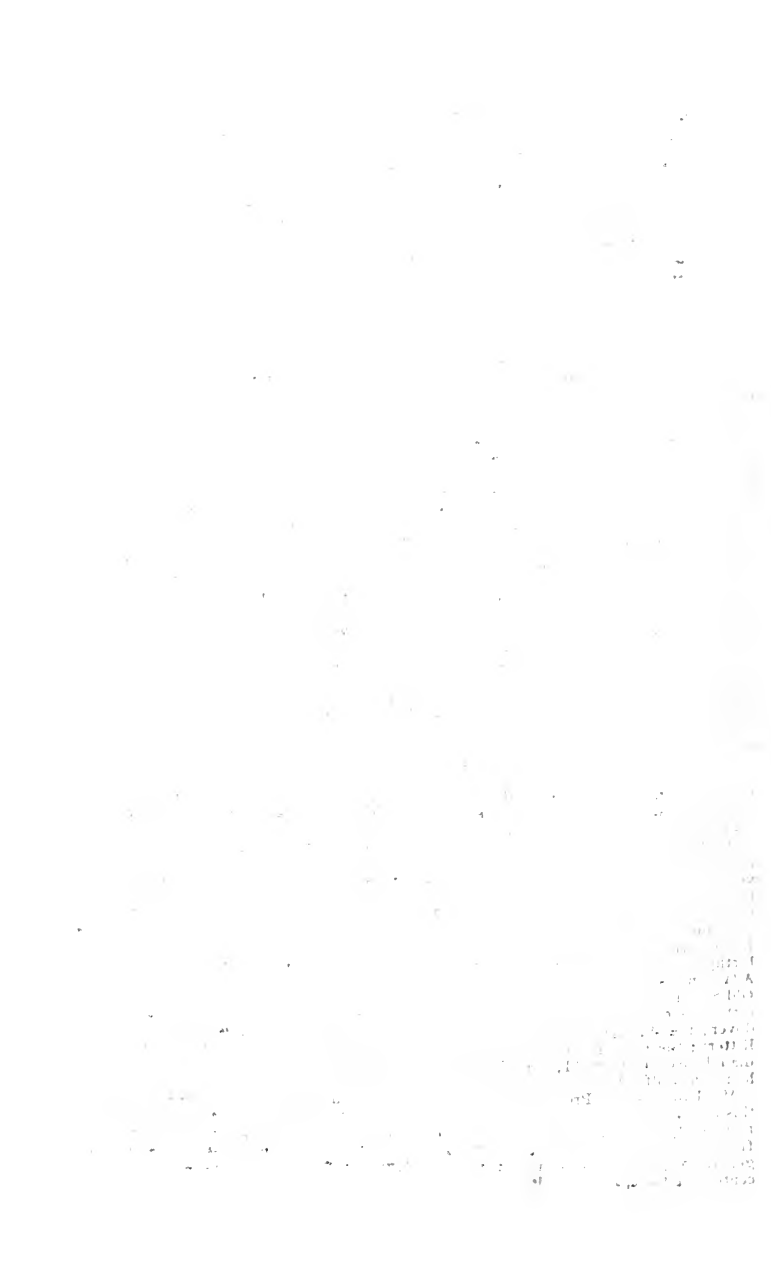

There will be a difference of opinion in regard to the value set by the author on the influence of Puritan belief and action on the history of our native land. While evidently meaning to be just in her estimate, there yet permeates her writings a spirit altogether too common at present among many of our writers, a spirit of depreciation of the grand work wrought by our Puritan ancestors in laying the foundations of our great Republic here in the wilds of the new world. No one can have carefully read our colonial history, at least have carefully measured its results, without making due allowance for the powerful influence of the Puritan spirit in New England and in Old England. It is not too much to say that no other force in that period of history can for a moment compare with the mighty influence for religious and political freedom exercised by this the then dominant English spirit. Without excusing its excesses, surely we must admit that the reign of Puritanism was necessary in England at a time when the Crown was weak and incapable of protecting its subjects at home or abroad. Puritanism with its stirring note aroused England from her lethargy and restored to the English-speaking race their ancient privileges which they had well-nigh lost; it restored England to her former position of prestige among the European nations; it made possible the building-up in our western world a strong and enduring system of government "of the people, by the people, for the people." No nation can ever cope with the tenacious, the staying qualities of our English race as long as it retains its old-time vigor; no race has so well carried out the idea of civil and religious liberty at home and abroad. The American spirit, the English spirit, stands for loyalty to truth and duty, for firm faith and trust in God.

Our Colonial Homes. By SAMUEL ADAMS DRAKE. Boston: Lee & Shepard, Publishers. 1894. Royal 8vo. pp. 211. Cloth, full gilt, gilt edges, $2.50; full leather, gilt title, gilt edges, $4.50.

Mr. Drake, who has won an enviable reputation by his previous works as an accurate and graceful writer on antiquarian subjects, has brought forth a timely volume on a subject that is now engrossing much interest among the descendants of American colonial families, particularly the members of the Societies of Colonial Wars, and the Societies of Colonial Dames. They will gladly welcome it. The homes here described are the Hancock house and the home of Paul Revere in Boston; the Cradock house and the Royall house in Medford; Edward Everett's birthplace and the Minot homestead in Dorchester; the Quincy mansion, the Adams mansion and the birthplace of the two Presidents Adams in Quincy; the Old Ship in Hingham; the old Witch house in Salem; the Collins house and the birthplace of Gen. Putnam in Danvers; the last residence of James Otis in Andover; the Wayside Inn in Sudbury; the home of Sir William Pepperrell in Kittery; the early home of John Howard Paine in East Hampton; the old Indian house in Deerfield; the Leonard house in Raynham, and the old Stone house in Guilford.

Mr. Drake, in his Preface, says: "One end which I proposed to myself in this book, besides presenting house and home historically, was to gather up as many distinct types of the colonial architecture of New England as possible, from the rude farm house of the first settlers to the elegant mansions of a later generation; as it seems to me nothing could give half so clear a picture of a century and a half of colonial life."

King's Handbook of New York City: an Outline History and Description of the American Metropolis. With over One Thousand Illustrations from Photographs made expressly for the Work. Planned, Edited and Published by MOSES KING. Boston, Mass.: Second Edition. 1893. 12mo. pp. 1007. Price $2. Sold by Moses King, No. 4 Post Office Square, Boston.

This handsome volume of over one thousand pages, with more than a thousand original engravings direct from photographs, is the second edition, revised, enlarged and improved, of a very useful and handy book. The first edition of the work was published in 1892, and the whole of an edition of ten thousand copies was, we are informed, sold in less than six weeks. This edition consists of twenty thousand copies.

Mr. King has had much experience in preparing such works, and this is decidedly the best that he has produced. Every visitor to New York, and those who wish to study its present condition and its history, should have a copy of the book. The life-long resident of the metropolis of our country can learn much from its pages that it would be difficult to obtain without its aid. It is an admirable hand-book in every respect.

Souvenir of the Sherburne Centennial Celebration, and Dedication of a Monument to the Proprietors and Early Settlers, held Wednesday, June 21, 1893; also Sketches of Families and other Historical Data. Published by MARCIUS D. RAYMOND. Tarrytown, N. Y. 1893. Large 8vo. pp. 111. Price $5. Address, M. D. Raymond, Publisher of The Argus, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Washington at Tarrytown. A Paper read before the Tarrytown Historical Society, Tuesday Eve, December 16, 1890. By MARCIUS D. RAYMOND. Published by the Author by Request. Tarrytown, N. Y. 1893. 8vo. pp. 18.

The centenary of the settlement of Sherburne, N. Y., was celebrated in a fitting manner on the 21st of last June by the dedication of a monument in honor of the early settlers. Mr. Raymond of Tarrytown was chosen the historian of the occasion, and has given us in the volume before us a full report of the proceedings. The edition was limited to 126 copies. After distributing copies to the subscribers to the Forefathers' Memorial Fund, only fifty copies were left for sale, and of these not more than half remain unsold. The book is printed in the best style, and many fine portraits and other engravings illustrate it. There are twenty-three portraits. Those of six of the eleven proprietors have fac-similes of their autographs as they appear on an old deed. The celebration was a very interesting occasion, and the proceedings are fully detailed in this book. The Centennial Oration was by Rev. Lewis R. Foote, D.D., the Historical Address was by the editor, Marcius D. Raymond, and the Centennial Poem was by Philo L. Hatch, M.D.

The second book, whose title is given above, is an account of Washington's connection with Tarrytown, N. Y., from his arrival there in the campaign of 1776 to his last visit to the place in 1783. Much of romantic interest is found in this narrative, which is an interesting addition to our local history.

History of Westminister, Massachusetts (first named Narraganset No. 2), from the date of the Original Grant of the Township to the Present Time—1728-1893. With a Biographic-Genealogical Register of its Principal Families. By WILLIAM SWEETZER HEYWOOD. Lowell, Mass.: Vox Populi Press, S. W. Huse & Co. 1893. 8vo. pp. xvi.+963. Price $4.50.

This bulky volume of nearly one thousand pages, by one of the members of our Society, is a vast storehouse of information relating to the history of Westminister. All the topics which are looked for in a town history are taken up and satisfactorily treated of. The wars with the Indians, with the French, the mother country, and the seceding states, are fully narrated, as are also the ecclesiastical, educational, literary and social history of the place. The biography of natives and residents receives due attention. Much statistical information is given. Genealogy has a liberal share of the book, about four hundred and fifty pages, nearly one half of the volume, being devoted to a "Biographic-Genealogical Record." The work seems to be compiled with care, judgment and good taste, and is well indexed. The engravings are of a high order and are numerous, consisting of two maps, seventeen portraits, and twenty-five landscapes, dwellings, etc. We congratulate the citizens of the town on having so satisfactory a history.

The Poor-Poore Family Gathering at Peabody, Mass., September 10, 1890. Salem: Printed at the Salem Press, 1893. Pamphlet, 8vo. pp. 52.

This was the fourth triennial re-union of this family, and its proceedings are recorded in these well-printed pages, which contain, besides, obituaries of deceased members and a list of attendance, exhibiting relative kinship.

The secretary, Dr. Alfred Poore, of Salem, has been gathering, for the last fifty years, material for a Poor-Poore Genealogy, of which the first volume was published in royal quarto, entitled John Poore and his Family. Salem: 1881. The industrious devotion illustrated in long travels and much correspondence expended in the preparation of this initial volume, suggested the formation of an association, as likely to prove valuable in accuracy of statistics, and agreeable in bringing into personal acquaintance widely-scattered individuals of the race. Such an association was formed in 1881 and its benefits have been apparent. The fruits of organization are distributed after every meeting in printed records like the present.

Dr. Poore, in 1858, published Researches of the Merrimack Valley, chiefly presenting the genealogy of Richard Bailey, of Rowley, a maternal ancestor. To that was added a department of Notes and Queries relating to the Merrimack Valley, and double-columned pages of Passing Events, Marriages, Deaths, etc. The enterprise deserved a better success than it received, antedating, as it did, all similar publications, except the REGISTER.

The Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, with the National and State Constitutions. 1893. Printed by the Rockwell and Churchill Press, Boston, Mass. 1893. 8vo. pp. 172. Copies of this volume can be purchased of William B. Clarke & Co., 340 Washington Street, Boston, price $2; by mail $2.12.

The Massachusetts Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, who issue this volume, is a branch of the National Society of Washington. The constitutions of both societies are given. Brief sketches of the ancestors of members of the Massachusetts society are given, with the descent of each from "some ancestor who with unflinching loyalty rendered material aid to the cause of American Independence, as a soldier or as a seaman, or a civil officer in one of the several colonies or States, or of the United Colonies, or States as a recognized patriot."

The book is handsomely printed, and is illustrated by fine engravings.

Brampton Sketches: Old-Time New England Life. By MARY B. CLAFLIN. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. 1893. 12mo.

Brampton is another name for the town of Hopkinton, Mass., and the sketches are of events transpiring in that locality. The author reproduces the old-time meeting house, school house, doctor, lawyer, minister, peculiar characters and queer people. The pen pictures are pleasantly drawn. The illustrations, together with the excellent typography, make it an attractive contribution to the literature of a by-gone period in New-England life.

By Hon. Charles Carleton Coffin, A.M., of Boston.

A Slight Sketch of the Life of Caleb Davis Bradlee, D.D., Pastor (pro tem.) of Christ Church, Longwood. By E. R. L., a graduate of Boston University. Boston: Printed, not published. 1893. 8vo. pp. 18.

Dr. Bradlee, whose life is here sketched, has held the offices of corresponding and recording secretary of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, and is the author of "Sermons for All Sects" noticed by us in January, 1889, and other publications. His life has been a very useful one, and his ministerial, literary, historical and philanthropic labors are well told in the pamphlet before us. The author, we are informed, is Miss E. R. Lynch of Boston.

Christ Church, Cambridge: Some Account of its History and Present Condition. Especially prepared for Visitors. Cambridge. 1893. Fcp. 4to. pp. 88.

This historical account of Christ Church in Cambridge is by Mr. Samuel F. Batchelder of that city. It contains much valuable and interesting matter relative to this church which was organized in 1759. It is printed in due style and seems to be carefully compiled.

Records of the Reformed Dutch Churches of Hackensack and Schraalenburgh, New Jersey. With the Registers of Members, Marriages, Baptisms and the Consistories to the beginning of the Nineteenth Century.

Part I. Being the Records in possession of the Church of Hackensack, N. J. Printed for the Society. 1891. Royal 8vo. pp. xxiii.+349.

Part II. Being the Records in possession of the (South) Church of Schraalenburgh, N. J. Printed for the Society. 1891. Royal 8vo. pp. vi.+387.

The two handsome volumes are the first issues of the Collections of the Holland Society of New York, founded in 1885. Soon after the organization of this Society, we are told in the Preface, "The attention of the trustees was called to the importance of securing copies of the records of the ancient Dutch churches of the country. If only for the purpose of tracing the lineage of the descendants of the early Dutch settlers, these records are of great value. The practice of baptizing their children within a very few days of their birth, was almost universal with members of the Dutch Church; and as the baptismal records usually contain, in addition to the father's name, the maiden name of the mother, they afford peculiar aid to the genealogist. Additional value is given to the marriage records by the fact that they frequently mention the birth-places of the several parties."

"Family names," we are told in the Introduction, "were not common among the Dutch immigrants. Persons of the same baptismal names were distinguished from each other in various ways." Sometimes by their trades, as Jan Kuyper (John the cooper); sometimes by the place of birth or residence, as Jan Van Wyck (John from Wyck); and at other times by affixing the father's baptismal name with the addition of s. se, or sen, indicating the relationship, as Jan Pieters or Pietersen (John the son of Peter). This makes the study of Dutch genealogy very difficult.

The Holland Society has acted wisely in devoting the two parts of the first volume of the Collections to the records of baptisms and marriages of two of the early Dutch churches, of which fortunately a large portion are preserved to the present time,

The books are well printed, on fine paper, and are thoroughly indexed.

The Story of Mt. Benedict. By B. F. DeCOSTA. Somerville Citizen Press. 8vo. pp. 14. Pamphlet.

The author writes of scenery familiar to his boyhood and of events in which a member of his family was associated. The narrative very clearly shows the steps taken to suppress this early attempt to establish a convent under the very shadow of Bunker Hill; the community, in its rage against popery, incurring a debt for a succeeding generation to pay with interest. A view of the convent building is reproduced with an impossible background. The site, historically known as Ploughed Hill, will soon be level with the adjacent streets, and the convent with the canal will live only in history. This little pamphlet, for its accuracy and faithfulness, will possess a greater value to the future antiquarian than its modest dimensions would warrant.

Some Old Puritan Love-Letters—John and Margaret Winthrop, 1618-1638. Edited by JOSEPH HOPKINS TWICHELL. New York: Dodd, Mead & Company. 1893. 12mo. pp. 187. Price $2.

These letters of Gov. John Winthrop and his wife Margaret, daughter of Sir John Tindal, give us a good idea not only of the love letters of the Puritans at the time of the settlement of the Massachusetts Colony, but they also furnish much insight into the social condition of the Puritans of Old England and New at that period. Mr. Twichell has performed a good work in collecting, editing and printing these letters for the instruction of the New-England people of to-day. They make a handsome volume.

Personal Recollections of John G. Whittier. By MARY B. CLAFLIN. New York: Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. 1893. 18mo. Price 75 cents.

It is a small but beautifully printed volume. The poet Whittier was a frequent visitor in the home of the author, who has brought together her recollections of many pleasant hours. It is a welcome contribution.

DEATHS.

Mr. WILLIAM WINTERS, of Waltham Abbey, in Essex, England, a writer on local and family history, and perhaps the best known inhabitant of that ancient town, died there on Sunday, July 23, 1893, in his 59th year. His father, an agricultural laborer, died when he was two years old, and he was bred under the most discouraging circumstances. Some time before Mr. Winters died he prepared an autobiography, extracts from which are printed in "The Weekly Telegraph for Waltham Abbey, Chesham and Districts," July 28, 1893. This obituary is chiefly compiled from that newspaper. The ancestors of Mr. Winters's father, he thinks, settled at Cambridge, and were known chiefly as humble, godly people. About the close of the last century his grandfather removed to the village of Walkern, Herts. In this village Mr. Winters was born on Tuesday morning, August 31, 1834. When he was four years old his mother married Mr. W. Perry of Waltham Abbey. In this town he attended school till he was eight years of age, when he went to work in a silk printing factory in Waltham, for some time alternating between the factory and school. Afterwards he obtained employment in the Enfield Gun Factory, where he worked two years and a half. From Enfield he went to work for a neighboring farmer, and for five years was employed in looking after cattle, during which time he never had one day's holiday.

When he was about twenty years of age he obtained employment in the Royal Gunpowder Factory at Waltham Abbey, where he remained twelve years. While thus employed he devoted himself to study, and endeavored in some degree to make up for the deficiencies of his early years.

In 1876 he became pastor of the "Ebenezer Baptist Chapel, Fountain Square, which was founded on strict and particular Baptist principles." He had previously been a member and a deacon of this congregation, and he served as pastor until within a few months of his death, when the disease which ended his days first developed symptoms of paralysis. He became a member of the Essex Archaeological Society in 1871, and a Fellow of the Royal Historical Society in 1874.

On the 26th of June, 1857, he married Miss Mary Maynard, the eldest daughter of James and Mary Maynard, then of London. Later on he purchased the bookselling and stationery business of his wife's grandfather, Mr. W. Maynard, who carried on that business for forty years under the shadow of the Old Abbey Church, Waltham, where the remainder of his life, up to within a few weeks of his death, was passed. His success in this business was so great that in a few years he was able to give up his connection with the Gunpowder Factory. Much of his time during the latter part of his life was devoted to literary and antiquarian studies. He contributed to the REGISTER for April, 1874 (vol. 29, p. 170), an article on "The Pilgrims of Nazing," and to the number for October, 1885 (vol. 39, p. 365), one on the "Eliot Family." The articles contain much genealogical matter relating to families which emigrated from Nazing to New England, particularly that to which John Eliot the Apostle to the Indians belonged. In 1882 he published a pamphlet entitled "Memoirs of the Pilgrim Fathers John Eliot and his Friends of Nazing and Waltham Abbey" (8vo. pp. 88). In 1885 he published "Our Parish Registers of Waltham Holy Cross" (12 mo.). He also wrote: Visitors' Handbook of Waltham Holy Cross, 1870; Visitors' Handbook of Cheshunt; The Life and Writings of A. M. Toplady, 1872; an account of the musical talent of the Wesley family, 1874; Biographical Notes on John Foxe, the Martyrologist; Boy Life or Early Struggles of Great Men; a small work on the Immortality of the Soul; and many other books and pamphlets.

Mr. Winters was buried, not in the Churchyard of the Abbey near which he had so long lived and labored; but this having been closed to all burials, his body rests, in hope, in the New Cemetery, a short distance south-east of the town, yet within sound of the bells of the old Abbey, as they peal forth the hours and quarters, or summon worshippers within its walls.

There is an excellent likeness of Mr. Winters in a periodical entitled "The Earthen Vessel and Gospel Herald" for January, 1891, of which he was the editor. Ellsworth Eliot, M.D., of New York city, to whom we are indebted for some of the facts in this obituary, visited him last year, and he writes me: "I could not but notice the great respect which was shown him by numerous persons."

HON. WILLIAM WIRT VIRGIN, Judge of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, died in Portland, Maine, January 23, 1893, aged 69 years, 4 months and 5 days. His wife and one son, Harry R. Virgin, Esq., of the Cumberland Co. bar, survive him.

Mrs. ELIZABETH C. YOUNG, of Medford, Mass., died in that city August 21, 1893, aged 88 years and 8 months. She was a daughter of Thomas and Sarah (Dudley) Rumrill, and the widow of George Young. Her mother was Sarah, daughter of William<sup>1</sup> and Sarah (Williams) Dudley.<sup>5</sup> William Dudley was descended from Gov. Thomas<sup>1</sup> Dudley, through Gov. Joseph,<sup>2</sup> William,<sup>3</sup> and Thomas,<sup>4</sup> his father.

Stephen Hart, named in this will, came to New England (it is said in 1632,) and settled at Cambridge (then Newtown). He removed soon afterwards to Hartford and thence to Farmington. A volume was published in 1875 entitled "Genealogical History of Deacon Stephen Hart and his Descendants by Alfred Andrews." Published by Austin Hart. The compiler states that Stephen Hart was born about 1605 at Braintree in Essex county, England. Simon Stoue, also named, settled at Watertown, Mass. See Bond's History of Watertown, pp. 584 to 591, for an account of him and his descendants. FRANCIS DOUGHTIE of Hampstead in the parish of Oldsbury and County and Diocese of Gloucester, gen<sup>t</sup>, 16 May 1634, proved 31 October 1634. To my sou Francis my white horse or nag. To Spencer Achley, my daughter Frances' son, twenty shillings, to be paid by my executrix within six months next after my decease. To John Danyes, the son of my daughter Margaret, ten shillings, to be paid in like manner. To the three children of my son Francis, that is to say, Mary, his daughter, and Francis and Eliah, his sons, thirty shillings, to be paid in like manner. The rest of my goods, moveable and unmoveable whatsoever, I give and bequeath to my daughter Elizabeth (excepting what I have passed by my deed bearing date 15 May 1634, made to certain uses to Humfrey Hooke, alderman of the City of Bristol, Thomas Lloyd of the same, Adam Baynham of Yate gen<sup>t</sup> and William Maye of Cherfield gen<sup>t</sup>, this excepted) and I make my daughter Elizabeth my whole and sole executrix &c.

Seager, 86.

[The above will and the deed to Humfrey Hooke and others, to which it refers, gave rise to a great contention in New England, as appears from Lechford's Note-Book, pp. 133-5, 137, 171-3 and 256 (I refer to the pages of the printed book). Elizabeth Doughtie, the daughter and sole executrix of the above testator, became the wife of William Cole of Sutton in the parish of Chew Magna, in the County of Somerset, gentleman (as he calls himself in a bill of complaint to the Gov., Council and Assistants of the Jurisdiction of Massachusetts Bay) and brother of John Cole of Farrington, Somerset, yeoman, who made a deposition about Hamstead Farm in 1639. William and Elizabeth Cole were then in New England, as was also her brother Francis Doughty, who at that time called himself a planter of Dorchester in New England. He was called a clerk in the bill of complaint by William Cole and his wife, and seems to have been a minister at Taunton (Mass.), and afterwards to have removed to Long Island.

Archd. of London, B. 7 L. 62.

Against this is entered, on margin, Parish of St. Michael Bessingshawe. Married at St. Saviours Southwark, 13 August 1622, Zachery Simmes and Sara Baker.

[Zacharie Simes, named by the testator as a cousin or nephew, and as executor of her will, was evidently the Rev. Zechariah Syms or Symmes, who was the minister of Charlestown, Mass., from Dec. 22, 1624 till his death Feb. 4, 1670-1. He was the son of Rev. William Symmes, whose father, William Symmes, was a firm protestant in the reign of Queen Mary.

Rev. Zechariah Symmes was born in Canterbury, Kent, April 5, 1599, was educated at Emmanuel College, Cambridge University, and received his A.B. in 1620. In 1621 he was chosen lecturer at St. Antholin's in London. About 1625 he removed to Dunstable, Beds., where he was rector for eight years. He came to New England in the Griffin, which arrived Sept. 18, 1634. He had a brother William who was living, probably in England, in 1664, as he names him in his will of that date.

The William Syms who had sons Zacharye and Willam, according to the preceding will of Timothy St. Nicholas, 1606; as well as the Mr. William Simes named by the above Margaret Fulalove, was, I presume, the father of our New England minister. See The Symmes Memorial, by Rev. John A. Vinton, Boston, 1873.—EDITOR.]

THOMASINE OWFIELD (vol. 47, page 498) :

[In the note to the will of Thomasine Owfield at the above reference, Mr. Waters says: "This will binds all the foregoing wills to that of Thomasine J: ansen already given." As the wills are arranged in the REGISTER, this is an error. Mr. Waters arranged the wills in the April, July and October numbers of the REGISTER in groups, but in printing them they got disarranged, so that an explanation is necessary. The will of Thomasine Owfield and those following it on pages 498 to 505 were placed by Mr. Waters between those of Roger Owfield and Abell Makepeace on page 289. The wills referred to in the note above quoted as bound to the will of Thomasine J: ansen are those of Richard Walter (p. 285), John Moore (p. 286), Elizabeth Walter (p. 286), Margaret Gardiner (p. 288), John Gardynier (p. 288) and Roger Owfield (p. 289).

There is also an omission in the editorial note, vol. 47, page 499. The Roger Williams and Pemberton matter in the REGISTER, vol. 43, pages 299 to 301, should have been referred to. The will of Roger Pemberton, the father of Robert, the testator, will there be found, and much other genealogical matter relating to the Pembertons. We find there the baptism at St. Albans of Robert Pemberton, Dec. 23, 1586, and his burial there May 29, 1628: also the baptisms of his sisters Elizabeth and Tecla, the latter of whom is mentioned in his father's will and his own as the wife of Mr. Robert Wooley. He is omitted in the pedigree copied from the Visitation of Hertfordshire, 1634, on page 295 of vol. 43, but is named in the will of his father.—EDITOR.]

LUDLOW (ante, vol. 42, pp. 181–184):

[On page 183 of Vol. 42 of the REGISTER, in the English Ludlow genealogy published by you, with special reference to Roger Ludlow of Massachusetts and Connecticut, I find the following foot-note appended to the name of Gabriel [Ludlow], of Frome, bapt. at Warminster, 27 Aug. 1634:—

“He is said to have been the ancestor of the New York Ludlows.—G. D. SCULL.”

I do not know whether the exact connection of the New York Ludlows with the English genealogy can be a matter of interest to any of your readers. If so, here it is:—

The New York Ludlows, together with the Philadelphia branch of the family, to which belonged the Rev. John Ludlow, D.D., Provost of the University of Pennsylvania from 1834 to 1852, and his sons John Livingston Ludlow, M.D., and Judge James Ryley Ludlow, are descended from Gabriel Ludlow, who landed in New York, in his 32d year, on Nov. 24, 1694, and on April 5, 1697, was married in New York to Sarah, a daughter of the Rev. Joseph Hanmer, D.D.

In a memorandum-book belonging to Gabriel Ludlow, the entries in which are in his handwriting, which book is in the possession of Alfred Ludlow Carroil, M.D., of New York, appears the following note:—

“Gabriel Ludlow, son of Gabriel Ludlow, was born Novr. the 2<sup>d</sup>, 1663, which was on Monday night at 12 o'clock, at Castle Cary.”

The next note in the memorandum-book chronicles the birth of a brother, M. Ludlow, at “froom” [Frome], on Dec. 2, 1666.

A letter written early in 1883 to the Vicar of Castle Cary, enquiring whether any record survived of the baptism in his parish of Gabriel Ludlow, son of Gabriel, in 1663, brought the satisfactory response that the record does survive, and the following certified copy of it:

“Copy of the baptismal certificate of Gabriel Ludlow.

‘Christenings in the year 1663.

December.

The first day of this month Gabriell the sonne of Gabriell Ludlow of froome and of Martha his wife was Christened.’

I hereby certify that the above is a true copy of an entry in the Register of Baptisms for the Parish of Castle Cary in the County of Somerset.

REVENUE
STAMP, 1d.

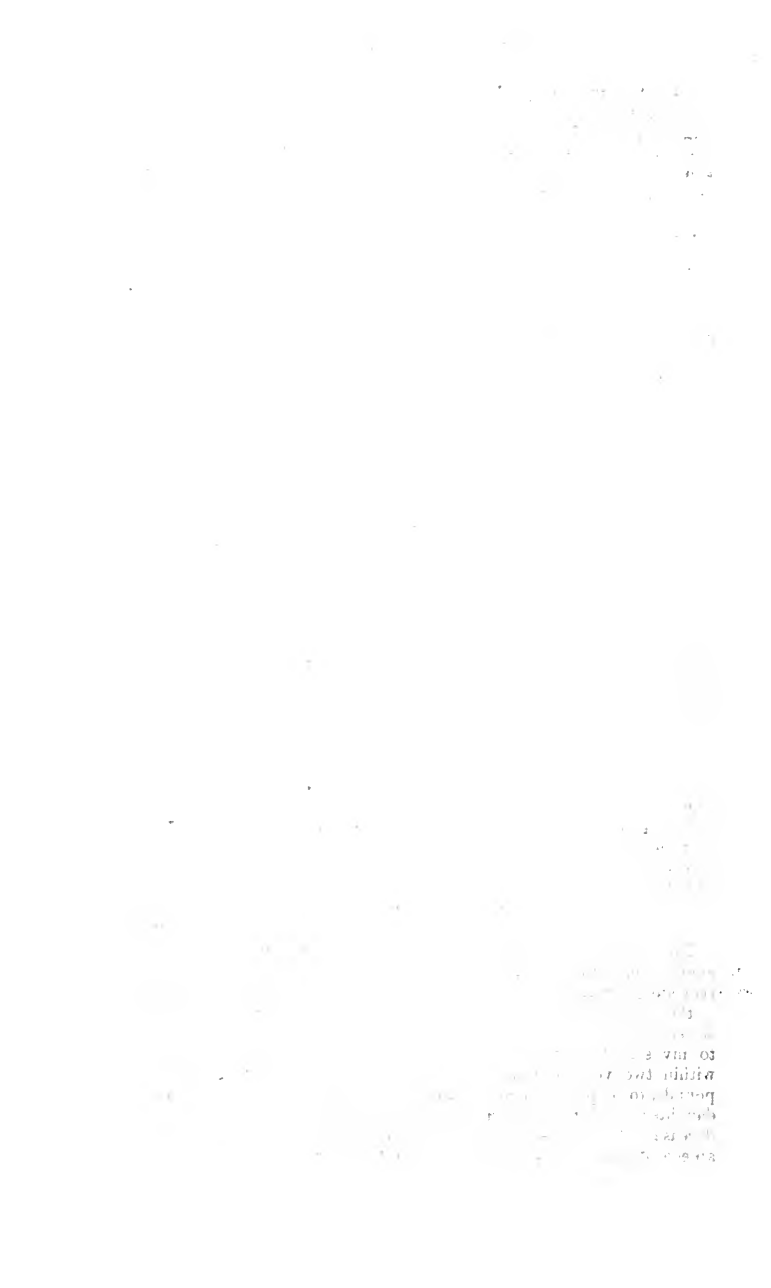

As witness my hand this 10th day of March, 1883.

Evelyn, 115.

[The cousin Sara Symmes, described as "now in New England," was, I suppose, the "Mrs. Sarah Symmes" who had a grant of land in Cambridge, 1639, and died there 10 June 1653 (Savage). She was undoubtedly one of the daughters of the Randolph Symmes referred to in the preceding wills. Her relationship with these parties must have been, I think, through the Burtons and not through the Scrogges line. The march of Sir Thomas Stanley with the widow Scroggs is shown in the Stanley pedigree, printed in the Visitation of Cumberland for 1615 (Harleian Society's Publications.) A very imperfect pedigree of Scrogges may be found in the Visitation of Hertfordshire, also published by the Harleian Society. It may prove an interesting piece of genealogical work to attempt to enlarge and amend that pedigree with the help of the notes I have here given.

The reference to "Randall Symmes" and his wife in the following will would seem to make that worthy of preservation in connection with the foregoing wills.

HENRY F. WATERS.

Anne Scroggs, the daughter of Edward, whose will precedes hers, had a sister Smith or Smithee who married William Harlakenden, son of Thomas and Dorothy (Cheney) Harlakenden. William, who was executor of his sister in law's will, died 18 March 1674. His wife Smithee was buried 23 June 1651, as we find by the diary of Ralph Josselin, who preached her funeral sermon, published in 1652:

"26 June 1651. Mrs Harlakenden died; ye 28, Mrs Smitha Har. buried. 4 Justices wch had each bur'd a wife carried her to ye grave, 2 Thess. iv. 13, 13."

This Ralph Josselin is of the same family as John, the author of Two Voyages to New England and New England's Rarities (whose pedigree is printed in the REGISTER, Vol. xl., p. 290, and in Josselyn's Voyages, ed. of 1865), and of Henry who was identified with Capt. John Mason in New England. He is the beneficiary mentioned for the sum of forty shillings. In his diary is also to be found "Roger Har. ob. in New England 1637, or thereabts." This refers to Roger Harlakenden, who came in the Defence, 1635, with wife Elizabeth, who at his death married Herbert Pelham. For will of Roger Harlakenden see REGISTER, ii., p. 181. In the Defence also came Rev. Thomas Shepard, of Cambridge, who had been at Earles Colne; as is evidenced by the ghost story in which he is mentioned, in Richard Baxter's "Certainty of the world of Spirits fully evinced."

Richard Harlakenden, mentioned in the will, was brother of Roger of New England; he married for a second wife Mary, daughter of Sir Edward Denny.

The sister of Roger and Richard, Mabel, married Gov. John Haynes of Connecticut. As suggested by Mr. Waters, we find Sarah Simes of Cambridge died 10 June, 1653. Her will, dated 4 April, 1653, mentions "brother John Stedman" and "brother William French" (born in Halsted, Essex County, Eng.), but no relative of the name of Simes. French was one of those who came in the Defence, and is put down as servant to Harlakenden, probably to avoid detection. The age of Sarah Simes, who was also of the party, was given as thirty.

(See Topographer and Genealogist, Vol. i, pp. 228-258, edited by John Gough Nichols F. S. A., for a full pedigree of Harlakenden families; also REGISTER, Vol. xv., pp. 327-329). W. K. WATKINS.]

To my said wife Elizabeth my manor or grange of Sherrox in the county of Nottingham or York or elsewhere, now in the tenure or occupation of John Raines and others, to hold for her life, remainder to my son Henry &c. Others mentioned, among whom, cousin John Wyghte's wife, Jasper Wraye and Mrs Wraye of Edmundton and Thomas Wraye her son. John Browne and his wife &c. My daughter Staper's four children now living. Mr. William Saye of Yesnam and my cousin Robert Saye his eldest son. Mr. Edmund Burton. My very friend Mr. Boswell of the Court of Wards. To my son William one hundred pounds over and besides his portion. I make and ordain my dear and well beloved friend and cousin Mr. Edward Osborne, alderman, and Henry Hewett my son my executors, and give to the said Mr. Edward Osborne, for his painstaking, twenty pounds. And I make and ordain my loving friends William Dummer and John Browne my overseers to see this my last will and testament in all points performed, as my special trust is in them. And I give to each of them six pounds thirteen shillings four pence.

told of his leaping into the Thames from London Bridge to save from drowning the only daughter of Sir William Hewett, then Lord Mayor, to whom young Osborue was at that time apprenticed. The damsel afterwards became the wife of her preserver with the full consent of her father, who is reported to have refused her hand to certain of the nobility and others, and to have bestowed it, together with a great dower, upon his former apprentice with the declaration that "Osborne saved her life and Osborne shall have her." Richard Staper who married the daughter of Thomas Hewett, was probably the father of the Hewyt Staper who married Elizabeth, daughter of Roger Owfeilde.

MEMOIR OF DAVID CLAPP.

Communicated by WILLIAM BLAKE TRASK, A.M., of Dorchester, Mass.

NICHOLAS CLAPP, the first ancestor of David in this country, and the son of Richard, was from Dorchester, Dorset, England. On the 23d of August, 1636, he signed the Church Covenant of our New England Dorchester, drawn up by Rev. Richard Mather and others.

The Clapp family settled, originally, in Salcombe Regis, county of Devon, where Roger, cousin to Nicholas, was born. This place is situated about twelve miles from the city of Exeter, and a little to the eastward of Sidmouth.

David was of the sixth generation in descent from Nicholas,<sup>1</sup> through Nathaniel,<sup>2</sup> Jonathan,<sup>3</sup> David<sup>4</sup> and David.<sup>5</sup> Fac-simile autographs of his first, second and fourth ancestors, in this country, are here given.

It is understood that Nicholas Clapp settled on land in Dorchester between what is now Upham's Corner and Cottage street, the present Boston street being on the east; where three generations of the family were born. In the year 1754, David, of the fourth generation, moved his residence to the north-easterly side of Jones's hill, in Dorchester, what is now Stoughton street bounding it on the north. For this tract of land of twelve and a half acres he paid £146. 13. 4. Said land was conveyed to him the 12th of May, 1755, by Thomas Kilton and wife Sarah, of Dorchester. On the 6th of February, 1806, in the house built by his father David<sup>5</sup> in 1794, on the portion of land inherited by him, David,<sup>6</sup> second son and third child of the said David<sup>5</sup> and Azubah (Capen) Clapp, was born.

David,<sup>5</sup> father of the subject of this memoir, in the eighteenth year of his age, was engaged with his father, David,<sup>4</sup> in throwing up the fortifications on Dorchester Heights, in March, 1776. He was, also, a substitute for his father, who was drafted in the Dorchester company the next year, and as a member of that company was stationed at Cambridge to guard General Burgoyne's army, then prisoners of war. They continued there five months. Soon after his return home from Cambridge he was drafted as one of nine privates, who with a sergeant and corporal were sent to Noddle's Island (East Boston) to guard the fort at that place. "At the time I was at the Island," he says, in his diary, "there were only two dwelling houses and two families, the inhabitants, I think, no more than twelve." "At several times in the years 1779, '80 and '81 I enlisted," he writes, "as a soldier and served under Captain Champney and Captain Clapp twenty-two months at Dorchester Heights." See "Clapp Memorial," pages 223, 247; Hist. Dorchester, page 348. The above David<sup>5</sup> died May 15, 1846, in his 87th year. About three acres of land left by him on "Jones's Hill" came into possession of his son David<sup>6</sup> who retained it intact until the year 1889, when the upper portion of the estate was sold in house lots. "A street through the centre from Cushing avenue is laid out, to which it is proposed to give the name of Salcombe street, thereby associating this estate, which has been occupied by four generations of Clapps, with the old family estate in England."

A fac-simile of the autograph of David,<sup>6</sup> born in 1759, is here given.

David Clapp

At the present time little can be gathered in relation to the early life of Mr. Clapp. Presumably, with other boys, his companions and school-fellows, he coasted down Jones's hill, skated on Royal's pond, and attended the dame school of his native district, as was almost universally the case, the teacher receiving the customary fee from each pupil of nine pence (twelve and a half cents) a week. Like other lads he doubtless was familiar with the tall trees, shrubs, fruits and flowers of his neighborhood; on Sundays with his parents he probably sat, forenoon and afternoon, under the preaching of Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris, whom, later in life, he designates as "one of the most faithful and affectionate of pastors and best of men," "a man of overflowing sympathies," who "had a kindness and tender-heartedness towards all." The family afterwards became connected with the Second Church, of which Rev. Dr. John Codman was pastor.

From the "woman's" school to the "master's" would be the next step in his educational progress, the "brick school house" being a short distance only from his home. The following, to the point, is the substance of an interview held a few months since by a member of the family, with an aged female acquaintance and school-companion of our friend:

In calling upon a school-mate of my father's, after his death, the first thing she said about him was, "He was a good boy; he was never known to do anything wrong." She described him, as all his later friends have known him, as being conscientious and studious, as well as a lovable character. In his studies she referred to his excellence in spelling, in which he took a prize when quite a small lad.

The school they attended was on what is now Boston street, near Deacon Clapp's tannery, and opposite the old burying-ground. It was a small one-story building, and in the one school-room were gathered together both boys and girls. The room in the winter was heated by a large, open fireplace, and, although the wood was piled on generously, the cold often penetrated the open cracks in the floor, much to the discomfort of those troubled by cold feet. It was not a luxurious room, nor was the life of those who daily gathered there one of ease and luxury. Those were plain and simple homes from which they went forth, and the school-life was of the same character. They studied the common branches, plain, elementary, but solid; thorough as far as they went. There was a religious element in the instruction given; hymns were taught, and the Assembly's Catechism. Two instructors were well remembered by the names of Bennett and Gould.

Holidays were few in those days of Dorchester schools, and excursions for pleasure by the students were unknown. Two weeks a year would nearly cover all the vacations enjoyed.

This school-mate of Mr. Clapp's referred to above, although in her ninety-first year, has recalled clearly to her memory those early days, and described them thus to us with warm praises of him with whom they are connected. Of the above students she remembers the names of Nazro, Dowuer, Moseley and Humphreys.

John Everett, a younger brother of Edward Everett, though several years older than Mr. Clapp, was for a short time, as he relates, a school-mate in the old brick school-house. This John, a "bud of promise early blighted," died suddenly, Feb. 12, 1826, aged twenty-five years. He delivered an oration before the Washington Society in Boston, and an ode before the same society, of which he was a member, July 4, 1824. See Loring's Hundred Boston Orators, page 407. Another school-mate was Foster Thayer, afterwards a Congregational minister. Still another, James Bailey, has been discovered. On the 21st of April, 1820, David received from his teacher, Warren Goddard, a reward of merit, "for his persevering diligence, rapid improvement in the various branches to which he has directed his attention, and truly unblemished deportment."

Our friend did not enjoy the privilege of going to school the year round. On the 15th of April, 1819, when thirteen years old, according to his journal he went to work in the tannery of Deacon James Humphreys, where he had for wages seven dollars a month.

On the 24th of May, 1820, in the fifteenth year of his age, he engaged to serve Mr. James White for five dollars a month, which was a reduction in price, but the labor probably was less. Mr. White had his summer residence in what is now the Holbrook house, Crescent avenue, Dorchester. Many years before that, he carried on the book-store in Court street, Boston, which bore the sign of Franklin's Head.

The juvenile diary of young David, now extant, commenced this day, May 24th. Though not intended for the public eye, it is entertaining and instructive to the general reader; the spelling, punctuation and composition remarkable; much of it suitable to be put in print without alteration or correction.

June 17th, the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, "Mister White gave me," he says, "this writing book," in which the fact is entered, "one quire of paper, and half a dozen pens," the old-fashioned goose quills, which occasionally required mending, for this was long before the introduction of metallic pens.

He left Mr. White November 1st, and renewed his schooling December 7th, now under the tuition of "Master Pierce," the next May returning to Mr. White's, where he remained until the 5th of November; but to school again, December 26th, the day after Christmas.

At length his seat in the old brick school-house became vacant, the studious tenant and left to learn a trade, as was the custom among boys of those days after finishing their studies at school. On the thirteenth of May, 1822, at the usual age of sixteen, he commenced his apprenticeship at the printing business, with Mr. John Cotton, Junior, of Boston, who had served his time with Munroe & Francis; David boarded with Mr. Erastus Bartholomew, blacksmith and engine-builder, in Water street. (See "Bartholomew Family," 173-175 for sketch and portrait.) Mr. Cotton's building was then known as in Marlborough street, Number 47; a few years later it became 184 Washington street.

Mr. Clapp, writing in his diary of September 6, 1822, thus remarks: "We have left off printing the Christian Register." This was volume second, number four of the Register, edited by David Reed. Robert M. Peck, No. 4 Spear's Buildings, Congress street, then commenced printing the Register. He was succeeded, June 13, 1823, by John B. Russell, of the same place. On the 29th of May, 1823, he writes: "R. M. Peck has begun to print the Boston Medical Intelligencer, at our office." "We shall in future print books, I expect. We have now begun one entitled 'Parental Monitor.'" "Nov. 3. Finished the 'Parental Monitor,' the 'Orphan,' and the 'Revenge,' and begun the 'Uncle and Nephew.'" Nov. 24, 1822, he states that "Mr. Cotton has dismissed his other apprentice, and I am now left alone, with neither master, journeyman, nor apprentice to work with." A little later he writes: "I still continue to work alone, with nobody but the mice, who scamper around the silent office as if they thought it had been deserted on purpose to oblige them." He was at that time in the seventeenth year of his age.

He continued working on the Intelligencer, for Messrs. Peck and Cotton. There were about 260 subscribers to this periodical, which was edited by Dr. Jerome V. C. Smith, afterwards mayor of Boston, assisted by Dr. George Parkman. He relates some pleasant reminiscences of Dr. Parkman "whose name is so tragically connected with that of Professor Webster." "It fell to my lot for a year or two during my apprenticeship to become well acquainted with Dr. P.," while assisting Dr. Smith in editing the first two or three volumes of the Medical Intelligencer. Dr. Parkman gave Mr. Clapp instruction in the French language, evenings, at his house in Cambridge street.

June 17, 1823. Mr. John Cotton has bought the Medical Intelligencer of Mr. Peck. I expect to print it alone, for the present.

July 20. Mr. Crocker has begun to print a new publication at our office, entitled Evangelical Repertory.

Feb. 10, 1824, at 18 years of age, he writes :—

I have had the kine pox at last, after being inoculated, once by Dr. Parkman, three times by Dr. Smith, and once by myself, the last of which took.

Importance is attached to this subject, as, according to his account, the small pox then prevailed in the vicinity of Boston, and he, by vaccination, may have been instrumental in warding off the disease from himself.

Mr. Cotton made an arrangement with Francis Y. Carlisle to work in the printing-office, Mr. Cotton to find type, paper, etc., and Mr. Carlisle to have half the profits; Mr. Clapp, who was then engaged alone on the Medical Intelligencer, to exchange work with Mr. Carlisle. Soon, however, the latter having an opportunity of becoming foreman of the Christian Register office, left Mr. Cotton for the above purpose, which Mr. Clapp regretted, for he was thus left again entirely alone. Messrs. Carlisle, Crocker and Oliver, before leaving Mr. Cotton, were engaged in printing a small book for Mr. John Barnard, of about one hundred pages, 18mo, entitled "The Sparrow," which was finished about the middle of December following, Mr. Clapp assisting in the work.

Mr. Cotton has purchased the Athenaeum or Spirit of the English Magazines, of Munroe & Francis, and intends for the future to publish it in his office. We commenced the first number of this volume last month. Samuel Clap Jr., my cousin, came as an apprentice to Mr. Cotton about the beginning of March, so that my long career of printer's deviltry has at length terminated, but as John Cotton Jr. will be the foreman of the office I shall be less my own master than I have been during most of the time for two years past.

It appears that John Cotton senior was not a practical printer, but carried on the ship and house painting business in Batterymarch street, and was also engaged in the manufacture of painted carpets, so that the affairs of the printing-office were delegated to the junior member, but the care and labor fell upon his industrious and faithful journeyman, Mr. Clapp.

In the words of another :—

He early assumed pressing and important responsibilities in the printing-office which he had entered as an apprentice at the age of sixteen years. Owing to a peculiar combination of circumstances, in less than two years after he commenced his apprenticeship he found himself in such a position that the chief responsibility of the office devolved upon him; and such was his strict attention to business, his unswerving integrity, his ambition to excel in his profession, united with his faithfulness to his nominal employer, and the rare tact which he even then showed in harmonizing the disagreements of differing parties, that he was found to be equal to the demands of this difficult and responsible position. It is exceedingly interesting to gather from the journal facts showing how steadily and surely, in the course of two years or less, he worked his way upwards in spite of his native diffidence and his ignorance of men and of business, to a position as master printer, for in reality before he was eighteen years of age, very much of the chief responsibility of the office rested upon his shoulders. And it is very pleasant and gratifying to observe, in his modest account of himself during this period, how his successful performance of many most difficult and delicate tasks won for him the confidence of those whom he regarded with highest respect and esteem.

He quietly remarks :—

If I have been of service to him [John Cotton senior] in conducting the affairs of the office with faithfulness and fidelity, as he has been pleased to acknowledge, it has been entirely the effects of the kind treatment which I have invariably received from him, and the confidence which he has in so gratifying a manner reposed in me.

May 14, 1826. Last week Mr. Cotton commenced printing a new edition of Thatcher's Modern Practice. He has procured a new press (one of Smith's patent) and has employed two pressmen in order to keep the press going all the time while printing the above work. He has, also, employed one more compositor. The appearance of the inside of the office is rather different from what it was two or three years ago, when all the work that was done in the office, both at case and press, was done by me. The new press cost about $230.

This was a superior article to the old Ramage press used during the early part of his apprenticeship, when "the printing of each sheet, on both sides, required four separate impressions, or four 'pulls' as they were called, with the bar working of the screw. While one pressman was engaged in this process, a companion attended to the inking of the type by the two leather-faced balls then in use." He writes :—

Feb. 6, 1827. This is my freedom day; twenty one years of age; my apprenticeship ended and manhood attained. Though I am, at present, considerably out of health, the occasion calls for an expression of gratitude to the Giver of every good, for so large a share of health as I have thus far enjoyed, and for the many other blessings with which I have been favored. I shall stay with Mr. Cotton for the present, at the rate of eight or nine dollars a week, and go on in much the same manner that I have done.

After working a while for wages at the same place, Mr. Clapp formed a partnership, in 1831, with John Cotton senior and Henry S. Hull, under the firm name of Clapp & Hull, which was soon dissolved. Mr. Clapp and Mr. Cotton then became partners, the firm name being D. Clapp Jr. and Co., till the year 1834, when Mr. Clapp bought out the business and continued printing and jobbing on the old corner, 184 Washington street, until 1861, when Franklin street was widened on the north side, and the building taken down, Mr. Clapp having been a worker there thirty-nine years. The business was then removed to No. 334 (afterwards re-numbered 564) Washington street. In 1864, his eldest son, John Cotton Clapp, was taken into partnership with his father, and in 1882 they removed to 35 Bedford street. In July, 1889, the Bedford street building being taken down, the firm went to their present location, 115 High street.

The Boston Directory was printed in this office from 1829 to 1846, and the New-England Historical and Genealogical REGISTER from January 1866 to the present time. Much pamphlet and book work has been done by the firm of David Clapp & Son, an especial attention having been given then and now to genealogical and historical productions. Among them may be mentioned volumes of the Dorchester Antiquarian and Historical Society, including the History of Dorchester, the "Clapp Memorial," &c., &c. The latter, compiled by Ebenezer Clapp Jr., was published in 1876. As one of the committee of publication of that valuable work—Messrs. Otis and David Clapp being associates—it is fitting and just for the only survivor to bear witness, from personal knowledge, to the fact that a large amount of matter was added through the untiring efforts and labors of the modest and unassuming printer, in text and notes, judiciously compiled, of a biographical, genealogical, historical and illustrative nature. Several visits for this purpose were made to Newport and Warwick, in Rhode Island; Scituate, Massachusetts, and perhaps other places; to the first and last mentioned the writer had the pleasure of accompanying Mr. Clapp. From Warwick, by interview and correspondence, a large amount of original matter was obtained concerning the family of George Gilson Clapp. See page 283 and onwards of the "Clapp Memorial" volume. The same general fact may be mentioned as to his prompt assistance in reference to other parts of the book.

As a historian, he was thorough, counting no time spent in patient research for the verification of data as lost, and his published papers, of which there have been many, have been accepted as reliable.*

The publication before mentioned, the Medical Intelligencer, printed by Mr. Clapp, commencing in 1823, edited by Drs. Smith and Parkman, in its early days; succeeded by Dr. Chandler Robbins Jr., who took the place of Dr. Parkman as joint editor with Dr. Smith, in 1824, was subsequently merged with another periodical, and called the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal; continued in octave form, edited at first by Drs. John C. Warren, Walter Channing, and John Ware. It became the property of Mr. Clapp in 1834, and was issued from his press without the omission of a single number until December, 1874, on reaching its ninety-first volume, when the work was purchased by a company of medical gentlemen and removed to another publication house, Mr. Clapp having been connected with its issue for about fifty years.

* See "Ancient Proprietors of Jones's Hill, Dorchester," pp. 63, printed in 1883; and "Morton and Taylor Estates in Dorchester," pp. 8, printed in 1892.

Francis Minot, M. D., of Boston, who for a time edited the Journal, writes :—

My acquaintance with Mr. David Clapp began in the early part of 1855, when an effort was made by several of the younger members of the medical profession in Boston to revive the standard of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, which for some time had fallen into a condition of decrepitude. Although doubtful of our success, Mr. Clapp cordially seconded our efforts, and before long the subscription list contained the names of a large number of our profession, not only in Massachusetts, but in almost every part of the country; and its reputation as a scientific journal has steadily increased, until it has become one of the most valuable medical periodicals in the United States.

It was impossible to be associated with Mr. Clapp without being impressed with his character as a man of honor, as well as with his kindness and courtesy towards all with whom he came in contact. Modest and retiring in his disposition, he was one of the most intelligent of men, while his ability and knowledge in every department of his art, and his familiarity with the requirements of medical journalism, contributed greatly to the success of his undertaking.

About the year 1828 or '29, he made proposals for establishing in Dorchester a circulating library. To this end he wrote a pleasant letter to the Rev. Mr. (afterwards Dr.) Harris, his earliest minister, asking advice on the subject, thinking he should soon be obliged to resign his printing business on account of ill health; but the project, probably, was not carried into effect.

Mr. Clapp never held a public office, or seldom went from home for any purpose until the infirmities of age compelled him to retire.

St. Matthew's Church was the first incorporated religious society in South Boston, dating back to June 24, 1816. The connection of Mr. Clapp with this Church began in 1843, in which year his wife and himself were confirmed. He was chosen junior warden in 1846. In 1858 he became senior warden, which office he held until his death. He wrote for publication a number of articles concerning "The Early Days of St. Matthew's." These were printed in a paper called the St. Matthew's Echo. They contain a valuable summary of the history of the Church for several years, with some account of its rectors.

Mr. Clapp was made a member of the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association in Boston, in 1839, and subsequently a life member. On the 7th of March, 1866, he joined the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, and was connected with the Boston Old School Boys Association for a short time before his death.

On the 9th of April, 1835, he married Mary Elizabeth Tucker, a daughter of Atherton Tucker, of Milton, where she was born the 25th of August, 1808. They had six children, all living, namely: Mary Susannah; John Cotton, married Julia Curtis Crane; Elizabeth Atherton; David Capen, married Constance Leocadie Pierrelée; Caroline Tucker, married Albert A. Chittenden; Sarah Ellen, married Samuel Newman Chittenden.

He retired from active business in 1892, gradually failing in health until his decease, May 10, 1893, at the advanced age of 87 years, 3 months. The funeral services took place at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, on Sunday afternoon, May 14th, at one o'clock, in the Church where he had been warden nearly fifty years; the present rector, Rev. Albert E. George, Rev. Dr. James I. T. Coolidge (a former rector), Rev. Alfred F. Washburn, Rev. John T. Magrath, and Rev. Frederick M. Brooks, officiating. In the morning the rector preached a sermon appropriate to the occasion, which was printed. The interment took place in the old cemetery at Dorchester, corner of Boston and Stoughton streets. His estimable wife followed soon after, passing away Oct. 2, 1893, aged 85.

Mr. Clapp was a remarkable man. Having been acquainted with him nearly a half century, we can safely say there are but few among our acquaintances of whom we should dare to use language applicable to him. His great diffidence and modesty curtailed somewhat his status with the public. The golden rule was to him, we doubt not, a standard of duty in his business transactions: conformity thereto his aim and object. His religious views were well defined and positive. He was straight-forward, upright and honorable. During his apprenticeship, early life, and later manhood, he seemed to have had a commendable degree of firmness and self control, based, as we believe, on principle, with a sincere desire to do his whole duty, as he understood it, in his dealings with his fellow men.

Let others speak, as we are pleased to know they do, in commendation of our friend.

Albert H. Hoyt, A.M., for many years editor of the REGISTER, uses the following language:

My acquaintance with Mr. Clapp began in 1867 or 1868, and during the eight years of my service as editor of the REGISTER I met him very frequently, sometimes daily. The acquaintance thus begun was continued to his death. I was impressed with his quiet disposition, his strict sense of justice and fairness, and his intelligent mind. He was, of course, a master of his craft and art. But he was more than this; he had a very full knowledge of some important periods of New England history, while the history of many of his contemporaries in Boston, and of events which occurred during his active life, was at his ready command. In this way he was of constant assistance to contributors to the history of our local affairs. He had a clear and terse style of expression, and his suggestions were often helpful to those whose writings came under his eye. He touched nothing with his pen, as proof-reader, that he did not improve. His own frequent contributions to the "Notes and Queries" of the Transcript are of permanent interest and value. No one who had dealings with Mr. Clapp, or who met him socially, could have failed to be impressed with his modesty, his refinement of feeling and manners, and his unfailing kindness.

Mr. David W. Lothrop, of West Medford, for many years connected with Mr. Clapp's office, furnishes the subjoined estimate of his associate :

When, in 1842, I first saw and became connected with Mr. Clapp in his office, I was struck with the gentle, spiritual glow resting on his countenance, so rarely seen among business men. Then his modesty; his simple, unpretentious manners seemed to sit so easily upon him, and so to become him, that I regarded him as a man of remarkably happy elements. Not long after, on a particular matter of business which I thought I might explain to him, he seemed much pleased at what I had to say, and I was gratified; but I soon found he knew more about it than I did.

In business, Mr. Clapp was industrious, frugal, and remarkably faithful and prompt to his patrons—which latter did much to win him success. His manner was quiet, with little talk. Noisy and blustering men he dreaded; yet was frequently obliged to meet them, and at times suffered from them. Mr. Clapp's aim was not to do a great or showy business, for which he was not well fitted, but a moderate and honest one.

Although Mr. Clapp was not ambitious, in its broadest meaning, he took a reasonable pride in his business, and studied to give a respectable stamp to his typography, particularly to the books from his press relating to history and genealogy. His proof-reading, which he always attended to himself, was very careful and thorough, though often trying to the nerves. He was too conscientious to delegate it to others, and would seek to correct errors in quotations and dates when he thought they might be wrong; also to make the sense clear by proper punctuation. Consequently, authors were frequently under great obligations to him for the accuracy of their productions. In reading proof he employed no one to go through the manuscript while he looked at the printed matter, but glanced from one to the other, with a result remarkable for correctness. In this way, during his long term of service in the printing business, the amount of his labor was prodigious.

In one sense of the word, Mr. Clapp was a timid man—not born with the frowning brow or club of Hercules. I have thought sometimes he felt and regretted his deficiency in this regard. In moral courage, however, he had much to compensate therefor. His was the courage of right, the timidity of wrong. His opinions he deliberately formed, and held to them with reasonable tenacity.

Another noticeable characteristic of Mr. Clapp was his reticence. He said little to others of his opinions or business; enough to him was his own. He rarely spoke of religious subjects, especially during the business hours, though his veneration for the Deity was evidently profound. Apparently, as a consequence, he ever seemed happy to make the acquaintance of and respect persons of a religious character. To him a Christian was the highest style of man.

Intellectually, Mr. Clapp had a very fine head and brain, and this latter was well cultivated by his own efforts. He never aspired to become a noted writer, yet his productions were clear. In his early life he was a respectable French student.

During an unbroken term of forty-six years (save a few months absence) with Mr. Clapp in the Medical Journal office, from 1842 to 1888, I trust we respected and appreciated each other. Our tempers seemed to fit remarkably well for what we had to do, and we never passed an angry word.

John Ward Dean, A.M., editor of the REGISTER, says :

My acquaintance with Mr. Clapp began in the autumn of 1864, when he contracted for printing the Historical and Genealogical REGISTER. I, being a member of the publishing committee, saw him frequently. In October, 1875, I became the editor of the REGISTER, which had just completed its twenty-ninth volume. My predecessor was Col. Albert H. Hoyt, who had edited the work for the eight preceding years.

At my first acquaintance with Mr. Clapp he impressed me as a man of sterling integrity, who was conscientious in all his business transactions; a longer acquaintance confirmed the impression. He took a deep interest in the success of the REGISTER, and in fact he was one of the original members of the Register Club that for a few years bore the pecuniary responsibility of this periodical. I am glad of this opportunity to acknowledge the literary assistance which I received from him during upwards of seventeen years that our connection continued. He was a careful proof-reader, but was not content with the ordinary work of proof-reading. He scrutinized the articles carefully, and often detected errors in the manuscript that had escaped the eye of the editor. In a periodical so largely composed of names and figures, this was an important assistance.

It gives me pleasure to recall his friendship, and I shall long honor his memory for his many noble qualities.

The Rev. John Wright, D.D., of St. Paul, Minn., once a rector of St. Matthew's Church, writes :—

David Clapp was one of the whitest souls I ever knew. His friendships were strong, his spirit gentle, and his piety sincere and unobtrusive. He was wonderfully self-contained, and when he expressed himself uttered the wise and the right word. He disliked contention of any kind, and was always foremost as a peace-maker. And when I preached a sermon from the text "Love is the fulfilling of the law," he came to me to ask for the manuscript that he might publish it at his own expense. While I declined to comply with his request, the incident shows how large-hearted was his love for his fellow men. For thirteen years I was associated with him in the work of St. Matthew's Church, and in all that time I never witnessed in him other than attractive traits of character.

Mr. Oliver B. Stebbins of South Boston, a near neighbor to Mr. Clapp, uses the following language :—

He was a good citizen, kind friend, an able and conscientious adviser in all that pertained to the welfare of the community in which he had spent so many years of his life. His gentle manners, kindliness of disposition, wise counsels, unassuming deportment, ready willingness to render assistance when required, his virtuous life and high character, all rendered him a man worthy to be honored, respected and beloved.

The Rev. James I. T. Coolidge, D.D., a former rector of St. Matthew's Church, in two communications to the children of Mr. Clapp, thus expresses himself:—

I loved your father almost with a child's love from the first. I sought and relied upon his advice, and believe I never went wrong when I followed it. Sometimes when I have tried to speak the word of our blessed Lord and my heart began to fail me, as I looked over the congregation the reverent and believing attention of your father has been an inspiration, for I knew that I had at least one whose sympathy was all my own.

As the rector, so also the parish, of St. Matthew's has every reason to remember and honor him with deepest gratitude. It was not possible for one to be more devoted to its best interests. His long service as its senior warden was the sincere work of disinterested desire for its best growth and prosperity. No one was a more generous supporter of all its burdens. Every appeal for labor or money received from him a ready answer up to and beyond his proportion. He loved his Church, and as often as the Sundays came it was his welcoming smile which made all feel that we were brothers one of another in the Household of God. Especially was he thoughtful of strangers; and so quietly and simply was his service rendered that I believe many wist not who it was that made them welcome. I always felt that when the offerings were gathered the gifts were more abundant because the plate was presented by him.

The present rector of St. Matthew's Church, the Rev. Albert E. George, remarks:—

Anyone who had intimate acquaintance with this good man will bear me out in the statement that his life was as nearly the ideal one of humanity as any thing human could be. He had that attractive simplicity which naturally evolved itself from his heart because he had a deep love for all that was good and true. Simplicity must be accompanied with other characteristics. Modesty and sweetness of temperament will soon make themselves known. He had these, and because they were his in a marked degree no one ever could be his enemy, much more no one desired to be his enemy. He never met you in a way which would convey any other impression except that of love and kindness. There was a depth to his spirituality. His long service as senior warden of St. Matthew's Church, through many periods of anxiety and discouragement, was never broken by any disloyalty to his Church or tyranny over those who served as rectors. There is not a rector living who is not ready to declare that the inspiration of his life was an honor to the parish and a stimulation to the joy of being a Christian. He never used his office for any other purpose except the glorification of the highest objects. Always peaceable, kind, courteous, discreet and loving, he sought the opportunity where these could be shown. Men never mistook his motives. You knew him before he acted upon any measure; you found in him the same gracious, tender and pleasing disposition afterwards. He was a model warden, and stands out before the Episcopal Church in this city as such.

Above all, he was a Christian in the best sense. He lived the life he professed; no false notes were ever heard. He did not go to Church out of mere sentimentality. He went because he knew it to be more than a duty. It was his real pleasure. His venerable form adorned the sacred place. Always generous, always seconding any noble undertaking, he identified his zeal to the very last with those works which would show forth the Lord's praise.

GOV. SIMON BRADSTREET'S ANCESTRY.*

By ISAAC J. GREENWOOD, A.M., of New York city.

A MANUSCRIPT volume of personal memoranda by the Rev. Simon Bradstreet of New London, Conn., second son of Gov. Simon Bradstreet, contains this entry :

"March 12, 1670-71. I baptized my child. He was named Simon, it being my own and my Father's name and Grandfather's."

Going back another generation, we learn from Mather and Hutchinson, that the governor's grandfather was "a Suffolk gentleman of fine estate," whose son Simon was, under Dr. Chaderton, * See REG. I., 75; viii., 313; ix., 113; xxxviii., 206.

one of the earliest fellows of Emmanuel College, Cambridge. Afterwards, he was a minister of Lincolnshire, and a non-conformist at home, as well as when preaching abroad, at Middleburgh. The latter's son, Simon, born in Horbling, Lincoln, March, 1603, was also for a brief period at Emmanuel College, whence he removed to the family of Theophilus Clinton, fourth Earl of Lincoln, serving as his steward, and living subsequently, in the same capacity, with the Dowager Countess of Warwick.

Thomas, Earl of Lincoln, father of Theophilus, died in January, 1618-19, æ. 48. He was father of eight sons and nine daughters, of whom the Lady Arbella, together with her husband Isaac Johnson, sailed for New England in the Spring of 1630, on a ship named in her honor; Bradstreet himself being a passenger on the same vessel. Johnson's mother, Elizabeth, was daughter and heir of the Rev. Laurence Chaderton, D.D., Prebendary of Lincoln, above alluded to; who was also one of the translators of King James's Bible, and the first master of Emmanuel College. This institution was built in 1584 by Sir Walter Mildway, whom the Queen greeted, on his coming to Court, with the remark, "Sir Walter, I hear you have erected a puritan foundation."

The Horbling parish register, not beginning till 1653, has heretofore barred further investigation, as to the family in that locality. Fortunately the Bishop of Lincoln's transcripts have been recently examined with the following results:

Baptisms.

From the 4 Aprill 1602 to the 24 Aprill next.

- 1.—(1602,) Samwell sonne of Simian Brodestrete, Septem<sup>r</sup> 19.*

From the 24 day of April . . . (torn) . . vnto the eyght of April 1604.

- 2.—(160 $\frac{3}{4}$ .) Simon sonne of Simon Bradstret, March 18.

From (Lady Day) the 25 March 1605 to the 25 March 1606.

- 3.—(160 $\frac{5}{8}$ .) March 9. Mercie† daughter of Simon Bradstreet.

From the 25 March 1606 to 25 March 1607.

- 4.—(160 $\frac{7}{8}$ .) Februarie 8. Johu† sonne of Simon Bradstreete.

The transcripts from which these four extracts have been taken are each signed by the Vicar, Simon Bradstreet; the earliest found during his incumbency dates "from the 3 daie of October 1596 vntil the 3 of the same in the year 1597"; it is signed "Symon Broadstreet Vicar' ibm."

His own burial occurs in the transcript, running "from the 25 of March 1620 vnto the 25 March 1621."

(162 $\frac{1}{8}$ .) Simon Bradstreete, Minister (Friday), Februarie 9.

* The baptisms all took place on Sunday; the years are inserted according to the computation then in use.

† The infant was buried two days later.

‡ Was he ancestor of the Barons Bradstreet of Ireland?

The name Simon has long continued in the family, and is still preserved in the line of the Irish Baronets, whom Hutchinson alludes to as connected. However, contemporary with Simon, the Vicar of Horbling, was the Rev. Symon Bradstreet of Hasset, co. Suffolk, living 1630,* and Symon Bradstreete, citizen and grocer of London, who died in February, 1627–8, as we learn from his proof of will given in Mr. Waters's Gleanings.† The latter leaves all his property to his nephew and executor, Samuel Bradstreete, and apparently discards his daughter Margaret, who, without his "love, leave or consent," had married Edmund Slater, citizen and mercer of London. Slater, in his license of 23 May, 1625, for a marriage at Lamborne or Birchanger, Essex, is called of St. Magnus (London); his wife of Bishop's Stortford, Herts., and her father as of Brainford, Middlesex, brewer. Four years later, 7 May, 1629, Edmund Slater, gent, of Bishop's Stortford, Herts., widower, aged 30, has license of marriage at St. Bennet, Paul's Wharf, to Grace Glascocke, aged 21, with consent of her father, Henry Glascocke, gent, of Farnham, Essex. Bishop's Stortford lay some thirty miles north of London, close to the westerly border of Essex, with Farnham and Birchanger just above it.

If we may judge from what can be gathered in the MSS. of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, the family name of Bradstreet is of pure cockney origin, originating in Bread Street, that locality in the metropolis where was anciently established a bread market. Thus in 1273 Master Thomas de Bread Street, clerk, received the grant of a quit rent issuing from a tenement in the parish of All Hallows, Bread Street. His name also occurs as "de Bredstrate," and "de Bradstrat," till in 1294 we find him Rector of Tollesbery, Essex, acting as deputy of the Bishop of London, for collecting from the neighboring church of Heybridge, the tenth lately granted King Edward I. at Ely. In 1293 Walter de Bredstrete received a tenement in the parish of All Hallows de Bredstrete, under the will of Peter, son of John le Long (see Cal. Husting Wills); and William de Bredstrate, bokeler, had a grant in 1243 of land in Wood Street, parish of St. Alphege.

REV. STEPHEN PEABODY AND WIFE, OF ATKINSON, NEW HAMPSHIRE.

By WILLIAM C. TODD, A.M., of Atkinson, N. H.

Read before the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, February 7, 1894.

IN the general attention now given to the men and customs of a century ago, an old-time pastor and his wife deserve special recognition.

Rev. Stephen Peabody, the first settled minister of Atkinson, N. H., was born in Andover, Nov. 11, 1741. He was a descendant of Lieut. Francis Peabody, who came to this country in the "Planter" in 1635. He was the son of John and Sarah (Ingalls) Peabody. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1769, a classmate of Theophilus Parsons. He was a poor boy, and used to tell in after life of his struggles to obtain an education, earning his board at college by waiting on the table, and carrying with him from home the linen he needed during the term, which his loving sisters had laundered. He was twenty-eight years old at graduation, the pater omnium of his class, and it was not a little to his credit that his age did not alter his resolve to obtain an education. Having fixed upon the ministry for his profession, he studied in the family of a minister, for it was before the day of theological seminaries, and defrayed his expenses by working on a farm and teaching school.

He was ordained at Atkinson as pastor Nov. 25, 1772. This town was a part of land purchased of the Indians by the inhabitants of Pentucket, now Haverhill, Mass., and set off into New Hampshire as a part of Plaistow, and had been separated from that town and incorporated Sept. 3, 1767, five years before the settlement of Mr. Peabody. It seems strange to this generation to learn that the reason for the separation was that the people might have their own church and minister. In their application to the legislature for an act of incorporation, the petitioners state: "That by reason of the great distance of their dwellings from the meeting-house they undergo many and great difficulties in attending the public worship of Almighty God there, and that the said meeting-house is not large enough to accommodate more than half the inhabitants of said town." At that period, as is well known, the church was an institution of the town; the town as a corporation was holden for the support of the minister; and each citizen was assessed for the support of religious worship, as for other expenses.

The small salary offered Mr. Peabody well illustrates the economy of the times. The record is as follows: "Voted, To give Mr. Stephen Peabody one hundred and sixty pounds, lawful money, as a settlement, upon condition that the salary begin at sixty-six pounds, thirteen shillings and four pence, lawful money, the first year, and add on forty shillings per year till it amounts to eighty pounds per year."

"Voted, To give Mr. Stephen Peabody ten cords of wood per year so long as he carries on the work of the ministry in Atkinson." No increase was ever made in this salary during his long ministry.

The people used to settle their tax individually with the minister, with most of whom he had running accounts for articles furnished, or services rendered, and at the close of the year his cash receipts were often very small, as can well be imagined. He was settled for life, as was the old custom, and remained with his people forty-seven years. In Hampstead, an adjoining town, a contemporary, Rev. John Kelly, whom many now living remember, was pastor of his church fifty-six years. The ministerial itineracy of a later period was unknown. Soon after his settlement the Revolutionary war began, and he entered Poor's regiment as chaplain, for he was a brave man and a patriot.

And it may not be out of place here to say, that in praising and honoring those who fought in the war of 1861-65, we should not forget the soldiers of the Revolution who endured hardships to which soldiers now are strangers, with no motive but pure patriotism to draw them into the service. At the beginning of the Revolutionary war the Continental Congress sent the following circular for signatures, which deserves to be more generally known to this generation: "We, the subscribers, do hereby solemnly engage and promise that we will to the utmost of our power, at the risk of our lives and fortunes, with arms, oppose the hostile proceedings of the British fleets and armies against the United American Colonies." Every male citizen of Atkinson, ninety-seven in all, signed this pledge. In the last war the town in filling its quota was obliged to pay many soldiers eight hundred dollars each, as bounty, to induce them to enlist.

On his return to his people Mr. Peabody discharged faithfully all the duties of his pastorate, and they were many and varied. He must preach two sermons on the Sabbath, for in those days of few books and papers the sermons gave food for thought and discussion during the week. They were long sermons, too, and the people were not tired of listening, though seated in a cold church never warmed, and on hard seats with no cushions. All attended church, for it was not respectable to do secular work or seek amusement on the Sabbath. The prayer meetings at which he was expected to be present were more numerous and better attended than now, and more pastoral visits must be made.

Mr. Peabody kept a diary, simply a record of what he did each day, without a reflection or any statement that did not relate to himself, written in a fine hand and condensed. That for 1783 has been preserved, and throws much light on the life of a clergyman at that period. Some entries will be given.

"Oct. 3. Catechised the children at John Dustin's." All the children must be taught the Westminster Catechism, and from Sunday to Sunday the pastor would give notice what families would be visited during the week "to catechise the children," and question them on the points of doctrine found in that little book, once so revered, now hardly known. At the appointed time the children would be gathered in the best room, dressed in their Sunday clothes, with clean faces, to receive their spiritual teacher, and when each child answered readily every question, beginning with "What is the chief end of man?" and the pastor commended the faithfulness of both children and parents, all eyes sparkled at his words of praise. Parents were proud of their children, and children proud of themselves.

"April 13. Wrote John Little's Will." This entry shows that a pastor's duty was not confined to religious instruction. He was the scholar of the town, and must give advice, and write documents where some education and legal knowledge were required, and he felt as willing to aid his people as they felt free to call on him. There were but few lawyers, so abundant now.

"July 16. Went to Commencement." No clergyman of that day neglected to visit Cambridge on that occasion, if only from religious motives. The strict Puritan theology of the time then prevailed at Harvard. It was regarded as the nursery of the church, where they could receive large draughts of spiritual life as well as mingle with the scholars of New England. For many weeks after his return the minister would tell his people what he had seen and heard, and they were no more tired of hearing than he was of telling.

"Married Jonathan Johnson to Molly Follansbee; Moses Atwood to Judith Wadley, all of Hampstead for a dollar a piece." Again, "Married Major Moore to widow Little for two dollars." These entries show how little it cost to get married a century ago, and explains in part why so few then led single lives. As a "Major" was quite an important personage years ago, and from regard for his dignity would pay the highest price where his happiness was so deeply concerned, it would seem that two dollars were a big fee. With no knowledge on the subject, it is to be hoped our clerical friends are now more liberally rewarded. One can certainly afford to pay well for a union with a good wife, and if he gets a poor one he may as well begin first as last to pay dearly for his folly.

"Nov. 6. At Mr. Dow's mill raising." Even in the youth of many now living it was quite an event to raise a building. The timbers were large, some of them big enough to give timber for a modern house, and all the men of the town must assemble to aid. The minister went, too, for he could see the people and talk with them. Prayer was generally offered before the work began. Refreshments were provided in abundance, and New England rum was never wanting, of which the minister would take a little with the rest—only a little. It was long before the days of temperance; it was a pure liquor, not the often poisonous mixture now drunk, and if the people became a little excited their heads were clear the next day.

"Dec. 26. Got my wood." Most pastors of that day were settled for so much money and so many cords of wood, and so it was, as has been stated, with Parson Peabody. Word would be given out that on a given day, all must bring the minister's wood, and a merry time they had of it, for it was a labor of love, and all rejoiced to take part. No one could work too hard, and the heart of the pastor was not more glad than those of his people at the big pile before his door. No sworn surveyor measured the allowance, no short sticks were slyly put in—the minister must be kept warm, for they well knew how welcome they were to his fireside.

To add to his means of support he had bought a little farm. He did much of the work on his land with his own hands, and in his diary he speaks of "getting in the corn," and "husking it," "killing the hog and cow," and other such necessary farm labor. The out-of-door exercise kept him in robust health, as it would clergymen now. He was a large man, over six feet in height, of great strength, with a keen black eye, swarthy complexion, and curling, bushy hair. He could do every kind of farm work, for which his early life had prepared him, and whether holding the plough, hoeing corn, wielding the scythe, harvesting, or gathering his fruit, about which he was very select, bearing in mind his guests, no one of his neighbors could surpass him. He knew no fear, and in his youth he had been a famous wrestler, and, it was said, bad men had not unfrequently experienced his "muscular Christianity" in a way they did not forget, when they had excited him to holy anger. His farm work was a bond of union between him and his people. He was one of them, worked as they worked, did as they did, and in all his labors, in time of need, their willing hands were ever at his service. It was the advantage of a long pastorate, that the minister knew all his people. The population was then stationary, with no foreign mixture, and as the years rolled on the children and grandchildren of his first charge grew up around him, their history was familiar to him, and they seemed like a part of his own family. At funerals Mr. Peabody could drop a sympathetic and sincere tear, for a friend had departed, and at weddings he was the life of the company, giving loose to his exuberant spirits, and interspersing good advice with the cheerful talk befitting the occasion.

Mr. Peabody was very hospitable, and his diary gives evidence of the amount of company he entertained. Almost every day he speaks of persons who have dined or lodged with him, and when the labor of giving names was too great he would write, "full of company."

Before the introduction of railroads it was the custom of the farmers of Vermont and New Hampshire to bring their produce in their own conveyances to the seaport towns, and exchange for groceries and other needed articles. These journeys were usually made in winter, as it was their season of leisure, and in sleighs for ease of transport. Often, however, the snow would suddenly disappear, so that the farmers made all possible expedition, travelling much in the night. So well known was Mr. Peabody's hospitality, that many of them would stop at his house, and they were welcome. His doors were left unfastened at night; the big back-log gave heat to his sitting room; and they would enter, warm themselves, chat with the good pastor in his adjacent bed-room, and depart, their faces unseen, and, perhaps, as in the old days of chivalry, their names unasked.

He was a gentleman in his appearance, and paid full regard to the proprieties of dress demanded at that period of a clergyman. If when at work in the field, in a plain farmer's dress, it was announced that polished visitors had come to see him, he would quickly prepare to meet them, in his best dark garb, with his white cravat, his silk stockings meeting the breeches at the knee, and the silver buckles worn then by gentlemen.

He was a man of large views, and one of his first anxieties was to provide for his people better means of education, and aided by a few friends he established Atkinson Academy in 1787, though it was not incorporated till 1791, the oldest in the state after Phillips at Exeter. Money was scarce, and to raise the necessary funds was no easy task, and from his own limited resources he expended freely, and incurred debts that embarrassed him to the end of his life. One of the means then common to secure money for such objects was lotteries, for there were no moral scruples in regard to them. In the year 1791 a petition was presented to the New Hampshire legislature, in which it was stated: "That lotteries are now established in Massachusetts for raising funds to support academies, and for various other purposes, by which considerable sums are daily drawn from the citizens of this state." And after enlarging upon the benefit to be obtained from the lottery, the petition prays: "That we might have liberty to raise one thousand pounds, or such other sum as may be thought proper, to be disposed of for the accomplishment of the above purpose." Massachusetts was authority then as now in morals.

The petition was at once granted Feb. 17, 1791. Then, as the town was so near the boundary, a petition was presented to the legislature of Massachusetts for permission to sell tickets in that state. It was refused, not on moral grounds, but the thrifty Old Bay State wished to reap fully all the advantages to be obtained from the cultivation of its own territory—it believed then as now in a "Home Market." The good man had made several journeys to Boston on this errand, and it was with a sad heart that he turned his horse homeward from his unsuccessful mission.

The lottery scheme was a failure, for but few tickets could be sold in a section so sparsely settled as New Hampshire. His efforts, however, in favor of the infant institution were not relaxed, and were rewarded by success. It soon gained a wide reputation, and students flocked thither from far around, many of whom, as Levi Woodbury, Gov. Kent, Jonathan Cilley, President Brown, in after years gained a national reputation. Grace Fletcher, wife of Daniel Webster, was one of the pupils, and an old lady, one of her schoolmates, told me she was a pale, delicate, modest girl, whom all loved. It was, I think, the first academy in the country to admit ladies to its privileges. The tradition is that "Polly" Peabody told her father she was going to the academy. He was amazed at such a proposition, for up to that time but few girls had received more than an elementary education, but he could deny his only daughter nothing, and she and some of her companions were admitted, sat with the boys, joined their classes, and co-education was established. The advocates of women's rights should give merited credit to "Polly" Peabody and Atkinson Academy for this advance movement in the higher education of women. Parson Peabody received many pupils into his family, as he had erected a large house, and they were ever after grateful for the instruction and refining influence of his home, largely due to his wife, of whom will be spoken later.

One of these pupils, the late Rev. Dr. Samuel Gilman, has told how his mother, left a poor widow with four children, had taken him, her only son, a little boy of seven years, to Mr. Peabody's home, and related her condition and anxiety for the child's future. "Madam," was his reply, "leave your little boy with us. He shall be one of us, and enter the academy. If Providence blesses your efforts to secure for yourself a livelihood, well and good; you may remunerate us in the usual way. But, if you are doomed to struggle with adversity, be not anxious about your son; be sure he shall have a home and an education." His wife was sitting near knitting, and smiled approval of her husband's words. Was not this practical Christianity? It can well be imagined with what a light heart that mother drove back the next morning to her home in Gloucester. It should be added that the debt was fully paid in after years, so far as money could pay it. It is an illustration of the kindness, unselfishness and hospitality of this clergyman during his whole life.

Not content with the establishment of the academy, in his wish to cultivate the people generally he started a library, with the leading citizens its shareholders, which was continued long after his decease, and had a marked influence in forming an intelligent community. The books were carefully selected, every one instructive, in marked contrast to the volumes burdening so many shelves of our modern libraries. It was before the day of cheap fiction.

With all these traits that could not fail to be appreciated, it is not to be wondered at that he had a strong hold on the respect and affections of his people. No child passed him that did not take off his hat, or make a courtesy, and it may be said that at that period every child was taught at home and at school to show this civility to the passing stranger, and punished for disobedience. In far off Hammerfest, in Norway, a few years ago, the writer was struck with this attention to a stranger, recalling the instruction of his boyhood. Are our children better now for its disregard?

In the church at the close of the service, the congregation rose, and remained standing till Mr. Peabody had left the house, bowing on each side as he passed down the aisle followed by his wife. He was never spoken of, or to, lightly, but usually as "Sir Peabody," or "Parson Peabody."

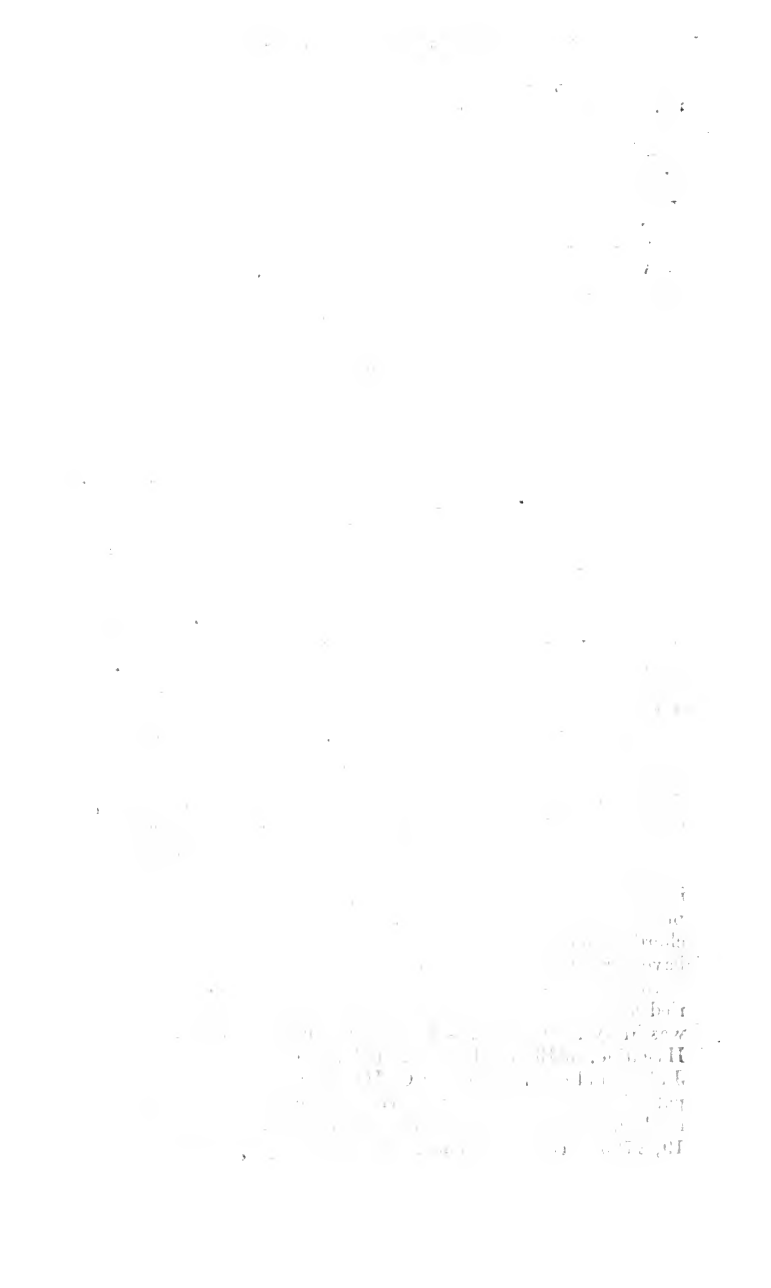

He was not a learned man, and his theological library was said not to have contained more than fifty volumes, yet his talents were certainly very respectable. He was not unfrequently called upon to preach at the ordination exercises of his brother clergymen, and once preached the annual sermon before the New Hampshire legislature. His sermons were written in a fine hand, on small sheets of paper, for economy was required even in small things. Sermons then were divided into many heads, but he rarely went beyond "fifthly." He had the attention of his hearers, of the older portion from interest, and the younger people seated in the large galleries were kept in order by tithingmen, regularly appointed by the town at their annual meetings to look after unruly boys. Mr. Peabody did not hesitate himself to stop in his sermon and rebuke any impropriety in the house of God. After the religious exercises had been finished, it was the custom of the town clerk to read the intentions of marriage, when all, especially the young, were eager listeners. It was certainly a proof of his ability that his people were for so long a time united under his teachings. But it was a period of faith, of adherence to time-honored views, before the "divers and strange doctrines" that have since divided the churches had crept in. It was a sufficient ground of belief that "Parson Peabody" and the Bible said it. An unbeliever in the old Orthodoxy was looked upon with suspicion, and suffered in his social intercourse as a dangerous associate, especially for the young. An old Boston teacher who had taught Edward Everett came to spend his declining years in the town, but found it prudent to conceal his Unitarianism, and when asked his religious belief would evade a direct answer by saying: "My wife is a Methodist." He attended the service, and contributed as did his neighbors.

Mr. Peabody had a happy temperament and joyous nature, and was fond of a joke. He was quick to see the humor of any incident, and told a story or anecdote with much glee, often rising and using action to add to the effect, and joining heartily in the laughter that followed. He was a fine singer, revelled in music, and often the first thing heard in his house in the morning was his loud melodious voice in some song, like "The bright rosy morning peeps over the hills," arousing the sleeping inmates. When riding alone, or at home, the impulse would seize him, and he would break out in some favorite tune. He joined in the singing at the church, and if there was any deficiency he supplied it, sometimes taking the place of the choir. He played the violin, and would draw from its chords exquisite music, and it was thought that he would gladly have danced but for his profession.

In his domestic relations Mr. Peabody was fortunate. He married his first wife Jan. 19, 1773, soon after his settlement. She was Mary Haseltine, daughter of Deacon John and Mary (Ingalls) Haseltine, of Bradford, Mass., and an aunt of the missionary Mrs. Judson and of Miss Abigail C. Haseltine, so long the able principal of Bradford Female Seminary. She was a devoted wife and mother, whose chief happiness was in her family. She died Sept. 19, 1793. Becoming a widower at an early age, according to the custom of that class he began to look for another wife, and in due time married Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, widow of Rev. John Shaw, pastor of the First Church of Haverhill, Mass. Her history was specially identified with that of Mr. Peabody and his Society, and it is not easy to speak too strongly in her praise.

She was one of three remarkable sisters, daughters of Rev. William Smith, of Weymouth, Mass., and was said not to have been inferior to either of her sisters. One of them married President John Adams, and the third married Richard Cranch, and was the mother of the late Judge Cranch, of Washington, D. C. Her father had educated her with great care, and as the wife of Mr. Shaw she occupied a prominent social position. The clergy of that period mingled much with each other, to discuss theological and other questions continually arising in their parishes, and to talk about new books, then rarely appearing, and give to themselves and their families the benefit of the best social intercourse. It was a custom then, long since passed away, to hold protracted meetings for three or four successive days, in aid of a revival, at which all the ministers of the surrounding towns with their wives were gathered. As few events but death caused a change of pastorate, the clergymen became very intimate with each other and their families, and so rare a woman as Mrs. Shaw was well known and admired, not the least by Mr. Peabody. As a widower he consulted her about the new wife for whom he was in search. "What kind of a woman do you want?" she asked. "One just like yourself," was the gallant and sincere reply. Soon after Mr. Peabody mounted his horse, and was on his way to visit the lady recommended, when he heard of the sudden death of Mr. Shaw. Other thoughts at once took possession of him, and he turned his horse and went home.

As might be expected, others besides Mr. Peabody were anxious to console the interesting widow in her bereavement, and among them the Rev. Isaac Smith, a cousin and youthful admirer. He was preceptor of Byfield Academy, the oldest in the state, and which has been one of the most useful. But Parson Peabody was only six miles from Haverhill, and Mr. Smith was fifteen, and naturally the former went oftener and staid later, in his visits to the lady, and the result was then as now to be expected—he won. Mrs. Shaw's domestic, with her eyes and ears open to passing events, a trait by no means lost now in that class, kept herself well informed. She favored Mr. Smith, had regretted his early disappointment, and had encouraged him to renewed efforts. The evening when the momentous question was settled, it rained hard, and for that reason, probably, each had selected it, thinking he would have a clear field and no interruption. But the distance had told, and when after dark Mr. Smith presented himself at the door Lydia said to him sharply: "You are altogether too late, sir; Parson Peabody has long ago dried his coat by the kitchen fire, and has been sitting with Mrs. Shaw a whole hour in the parlor." Mr. Smith turned home to Byfield and never married. His face was said ever after to have worn a melancholy expression, his mind no doubt filled with the thought of what "might have been."

A word should be said of this domestic Lydia Springer. She spent her life in the service of this one family, regarded more as a friend than a servant. On the death of her mistress, she was retained by her daughter. Her wages were fifty cents a week, the ruling price then, from which she saved a considerable sum.

No greater blessing could have been bestowed on the people of the little town and on the infant academy than the advent of Mrs. Peabody. She became to them as a superior being. With a cultivation and refinement to which they had not been accustomed, her whole appearance was an inspiration, for her person was very pleasing, and she did not neglect the attractions of dress. By her visits to Boston and Quincy, where she met the best society of the day, she could bring back information of new books and authors, not neglecting the latest fashions for her own benefit and that of her friends. There was a charm about her conversation and a kindness and sweetness in her smile and whole manner that won every heart. She had many students of both sexes in her family over whom she tenderly and carefully watched, who idolized her, and would never in her presence do or say a rude thing. Everything connected with her lifted them up to something purer and better, and even when they left her home she followed them by her correspondence, giving them needed advice, precious from such a source. She always turned the conversation at the table, and elsewhere, to instructive topics. Familiar with the best literature, she would quote from such authors as Shakespeare, Pope, Addison, and would interest them by reading such books as Hannah More's Tracts, then recently published, which had such a wonderful and healthy circulation.

With all these accomplishments, she was not above attention to the common duties of a large household and the requirements of a poor clergyman's wife. She aided her solitary maid in her work, mended the stockings and attended to the clothing and appearance of the little boys in her family, and was above no labor; but, however engaged, or however dressed, she was always a lady to those around her. Careful about her attire, an elaborate "queenly head dress," as one who remembered her styled it, seemed to have impressed itself as peculiar to her, and it is represented in the portrait of her by Stuart still in existence. It is safe to say that no other lady in that vicinity ever exerted such an influence, or was so widely remembered.

She died suddenly April 9, 1815, in the 66th year of her age. John Quincy Adams, then in London, wrote to his mother, under date of June 30, 1815, as follows: "My aunt Peabody was, next to you, one of the earliest and kindest friends and guardians of my childhood. Since that time every recollection that I have of her is of acts of kindness to myself and to my children. The news of her decease, therefore, could not but painfully affect me, and the sentiment was deepened by that of the impression with which I knew you must have been affected by the event." Mrs. Abigail Adams, wife of President John Adams, wrote of her: "Few persons held so eloquent a pen, or could find such ready access to the heart. I scarcely ever received a letter from her which did not draw involuntary tears from my eyes. Her imagination was brilliant, her affections pure and ardent, her wit and playfulness full of good humor, unalloyed with acrimony. To know her was to love and respect her. How many owe to her the good seed which she planted in their infant minds, and which, I doubt not, will be her crown of rejoicing."

Two children by Mr. Shaw survived her, a son and a daughter. Her son, William Smith Shaw, was graduated at Harvard; was private secretary of his uncle, President John Adams; studied law and was clerk of the United States District Court. He was one of the principal founders of the Boston Athenæum, to which he gave his valuable collection of coins, tracts and curios. He died in Boston, April 25, 1826.

The daughter, Elizabeth Quincy Shaw, became the wife of the late Joseph B. Felt, well known as an historian and antiquary, whose acquaintance she had made while he was a student at Atkinson Academy, and an inmate of her mother's family.

The death of his wife was a severe blow to Mr. Peabody, already beginning to feel the approach of old age. The sunshine of his life was gone. He could not sing and joke as of old. He was feeble in the discharge of his parish duties, and rarely wrote a new sermon, but would read from Henry's or Scott's Commentaries. To the last he retained the affection of his people, charitable to all omissions in one who had served them as pastor so long and so faithfully. He died May 23, 1819.

Mr. and Mrs. Peabody sleep side by side in the burying ground in the center of the village, over three hundred feet above the sea-level; where can be had a view, on which they loved to look, of the Monadnock and other mountains to the west and north; and of the spires of many villages extending for miles south and east to the ocean at Newburyport. A few years ago a loving grandson erected a handsome monument to replace the old broken stones, preserving the original epitaphs that record none too strongly the merits of the departed. Those who knew them cherished warmly years after their decease the memory of "Sir" and "Ma'am Peabody," and spoke to their children and their children's children of their many virtues and hallowed influence.

Mr. Peabody left two children by his first wife, a son and a daughter. The son Stephen (Harv. 1794), born Oct. 6, 1773, was judge of the Court of Common Pleas, of Hancock County, Maine, and died April 12, 1851, at Bucksport. He had four sons: Stephen, George, William and Leonard, all deceased, of whom only Leonard left children. Leonard married Mary, a daughter of Hon. William Todd of St. Stephen, New Brunswick. His son, Harry Ernest Peabody, was graduated from Harvard in 1887, and from the Yale Divinity School in 1891. He is now a Presbyterian clergyman of Trinidad, Colorado.

Mr. Peabody's daughter Mary, usually called "Polly," married Stephen Peabody Webster of Haverhill, N. H., but left no children.

For this sketch of Mr. and Mrs. Peabody the writer is indebted to the recollections of aged people, and, specially, to a magazine article of the Rev. Dr. Samuel Gilman, written nearly fifty years ago, from a heart full of gratitude for youthful training in their home. Mr. Geo. A. Gordon, my personal friend for fifty years, commencing in school-boy days, also, has supplied important facts in regard to Mr. Peabody and his family.

[NOTE.—The plundering was interrupted by Mrs. Foster's apology for the disorder of her household caused by her attention having been directed to the care of her children suffering from the small-pox. The abrupt departure of the looters saved also various articles of value brought to her by her neighbors, who probably thought that her house might be spared, because she came from Massachusetts.

The maiden name of Mrs. Robert Foster was Elizabeth Bartlett. She was a daughter of Dorothy Wadsworth, and was first cousin to the General Wadsworth (of the Revolution), who was grandfather of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Through the Wadsworths the poet traced his descent from the heroine of Miles Standish's Courtship. Mrs. Foster's father was grandson of Benjamin Bartlett, who married Sarah Brewster, and great-grandson of Robert Bartlett, who married Mary Warren, the daughter of Richard Warren. Collateral lines of the Bartletts in this country and in England are well known.

In 1792, the year after the return of the Foster family to this country, Miss Elizabeth Foster married Captain Morton of Plymouth, a soldier of the Revolution in Col. Bailey's regiment. Through her some mementoes of earlier days have come down:—some articles of female finery, pieces of rose-colored brocade, some quaint bits of jewelry, and, perhaps the most characteristic, a representation of George III. (Frye pinxit), and one of Queen Charlotte dated 1773. They are before me as I write, and seem to be hand-colored mezzotints not badly done. They come from the shop of Carington Bowles, St. Paul's Churchyard.]

[NOTE.—The Thomas Foster whose death is recorded is probably the uncle of Robert Foster. His uncle Thomas was born in 1705, according to Mr. Davis, in the "Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth." He (Thomas Foster) is evidently the loyalist mentioned on page 113 of this book. There is an error of two years in his age, and the "graduate of Harvard 1745" there mentioned may be his son Thomas, born 1727, but probably not the father as stated.

These Fosters came from John Foster of Marshfield, who married about 1664, Mary Chillingworth of Lynn. John Foster was son of Thomas Foster of Weymouth about 1640.]

My Brother John Foster Departed this Life July 5th 1758 (1785?) John Brit of Newbury informed me on the Island of Cape Britton.

February the 12th 1785 the Worst Storm in the Winter. It began in the Evening and Continued till the next Day.

LETTERS OF COL. THOMAS WESTBROOK AND OTHERS,

RELATIVE TO INDIAN AFFAIRS IN MAINE.

Communicated by WILLIAM BLAKE TRASK, A.M., of Dorchester, Mass.

Sir,

The Peace being concluded with the Delegates of the Eastern* Indians, I have determined upon a Reduction of the Forces on that Frontier, And therefore I desire you would repair to Falmouth in Casco Bay with all convenient Speed, & reduce the Soldiers according to a List of the Numbers I shall allow to each respective Place w<sup>ch</sup> you have herewith dd you. The Rest of [the] Men must be forthwith dismiss'd. And in their Dismission you must have a just & impartial Regard to those that have been longest in the Service, who are on that Acc<sup>t</sup> first entitled to this Benefit. And more especially the Men contained in the other List, who must be immediately discharged. The Garrisons at Fort George & Fort Mary must stand according to their last Establishing. And if there be wanting Men at either of those Forts, you must supply them out of the Forces before their Reduction.

You must Notify the sev<sup>n</sup> Places in that County that the Peace is concluded, And give Directions in Writing, as from me to the sev<sup>n</sup> Commanding Officers for the Observation of it & also, That they see a faithful Duty perform'd, And that they be not off from their Guard, The Danger not being wholly over till the Ratification, But in the mean Time, If any Indians come in, cultivate a good understanding with them [and] Friendship. After you have fully perform'd the sev<sup>n</sup> Articles of this Instruction, and are return'd Home to your Family you will look upon your self Dismiss'd from his Majesties Service as Commander in Chief of the East<sup>n</sup> Forces. Thus Giving you hearty Thanks for your Faithfulness, Diligence

* On the next page he writes, "Western as well as Eastern."

& Good Conduct in that Important Trust, I hereby Dismiss you & your Company (whom you must forthwith Disband) from his Majesties Service.

May it Please your Honour,

I have been East as far as Falmouth, and dismisstt the forces agreeable to your Honours orders, and have given directions to the Commanders of Each party Remaining (Pursuant to Yo<sup>r</sup> Honours order) to observe the Peace made with the Delegates of the Eastern Indians.

I am Your Honours

May it Please your Honour,

Pursuant to your Honours Orders I made the best Dispatch I cou'd to land the Indians at this place, but not finding any Indians here We fir'd two Gunns and the next day six Indians came to us who inform'd that the Tribe was at Mount Desert. We thereupon made sail and went up into a large Bay on the Back of Mount Desert where we found them. When they had done trading they Consented to our Departure, and the twentieth of Jan<sup>ry</sup> we sail'd for S<sup>t</sup> George's. Night coming on We harbour'd in Agemagen expecting next day to have gain'd S<sup>t</sup> Georges, but contrary to what the Indians told us & our own Expectations we were wholly debarr'd moving by reason of Ice. The Weather continuing extream cold at times we are still detain'd but the first oppertunity I shall make all possible Dispatch home. Sundry of the Indians came seven or eight miles on the Ice to trade with us, and as far as we can discover there is only Ice to be seen. I have no news to Communicate to your Hon<sup>r</sup> so Conclude and am

These Serve to Enclose a Letter deliv'd me by the Cheifs of the Ind<sup>ns</sup> for your Hon<sup>r</sup>: And as we are frozen up here I tho't it proper to send it by the first Opportunity not knowing but it was of importance. The Indians seem to be very well Satisfied in y<sup>e</sup> Trade (but by perswasion of the Jesuit.) disapprove of some Artickles in their Submission, but Capt. Beane being present found y<sup>t</sup> he misinterpreted them, & he inform'd you of the true meaning y<sup>r</sup> of w<sup>ch</sup> was to their Satisfaction. The weather hitherto has been very Cold and all the bays are so frozen y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>rs</sup> no moving by water unless on to the Sea. Having nothing farther at present to Add I Conclude & Am

May it please your Honour, y<sup>e</sup> 26 of february theire came in fourteen Indens to St Georges and brought the express which accompanyes this, and I as soon as posibel brought it to faltho, but, through some Difficulty, for wee drew our boate ten miles on y<sup>e</sup> Ice. for I was obliged to make our number of men smaller by reason of our Stores being spent. Wee have not had anything but bread above this month and but little of that, for we depended on Capt. Saunders and he being disappointed Capt. Gyles sent his Leut. to take charge of the garison, but I thought it not proper to deliuer it by reason of so much Ice in y<sup>e</sup> river that I could not bring of y<sup>e</sup> men and my things. I hope it will not be long before Capt. Gyles will bee down with y<sup>e</sup> sloop, and I shall deliuer y<sup>e</sup> Garison to his sattisfaxshon and shall hasen to Boston to waitt upon your Honour.

Letter to the Lords of Trade &c.
March 25 [1726?]

My Lords,

Some few Months after the Departure of his Excy Governo<sup>r</sup> Shute for G<sup>t</sup>. Britain I did myself the Hon<sup>r</sup> to write to y<sup>r</sup> L<sup>ds</sup> Giving you some Acc<sup>t</sup> of the Difficulties of this Province with Respect to the Ind. War, which has bin [in]cited by the Govern<sup>r</sup>. of Canada, who has supplied the Salvages with all Stores of War & has shelter'd them within his Governm<sup>t</sup> from our Pursuits, & has received them in Triumph with the Scalps of his Majesties Subjects slain by this barbarous Enemy: W<sup>ch</sup> conduct of the said French Gov<sup>r</sup> (as I suggested to your Lordships in my former Letter seems to me to be a notorious Violation of the Treaty of Utreicht, and in some Respects makes the War with the Indians more difficult than if the French were our declared Enemies; For by our Successes in the last eight Months We have driven them from their Settlem<sup>ts</sup> in our Neighbourhood to the French Territories from whence they make their Incursions upon us in small sculking Parties & after Mischief done retire thither again, where I am cautious of allowing any of our Companies to pursue them till I can know his Majesties Pleasure in this Respect. And I must further inform your Lordships That notwithstanding the advantages we have lately had over the Enemy, and the Distress & Circumstances We suppose they are reduced to, The Expence of the War is so great & insupportable to this Province that Unless it shall Please God to put a speedy End to it, It will inevitably ruine us; w<sup>ch</sup> I humbly offer to your Lordships Consideration that you would please to make such a Representation thereof to his Majesty as you shall think necessary for His Majes<sup>ty</sup> [to] know [for] the Safety & protection of these His Provinces.

I should not trouble your L<sup>ds</sup>ships any farther but that the French Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada has given me to understand that Hee shall Address a Complaint to His Master on the Acc<sup>o</sup> of the Death of a Priest who was killed by our Forces in the Fight at Norrigawalk of w<sup>ch</sup> please to take y<sup>e</sup> following account. In the Action at Norridgewock, within this Province, w<sup>ch</sup> was in Aug<sup>t</sup> last, our Forces destroy'd a great number of the Indians & broke up that Settlement, among whome was Sebastian Ralle a Jesuit & Missionary to that Tribe, and the great Incendiary of this War, who was slain in Fight, Making actual Resistance to the Forces, at the same time attempting to kill an English Captive in his Hand and refusing to give or take Quarter, To which Acc<sup>t</sup> of ye Death of the s<sup>d</sup> Ralle Coll. Harman, the Commander of the Forces at Norridgewock made solemn Oath before me in Council. As appears to y<sup>r</sup> L<sup>d</sup>s by the Minutes of Council transmitted to you by the Secy of the Prov. * This Jesuit had all along pushed the Indians upon their rebellious Marching at the Head of Two Hundred arm'd Salvages through one of the Frontier Towns of this Province, before the War was declared, threatening Destruction to them If they did not speedily quit the said Town. Of all w<sup>ch</sup> & more to y<sup>e</sup> purpose His Excy. Gov<sup>t</sup> Shute is well knowing. This I thought proper to hint to y<sup>r</sup> Lordships in Order to obviate any Complaints that may be made by the French Gov<sup>t</sup>, whose Conduct in Exciting & Supporting the Indians in this War & Drawing down many remote Tribes, with whom We have no Concern. to their Assistance, y<sup>e</sup> truths of which I have sufficient Testimonies to support and shall lay them before y<sup>r</sup> Lordship, If it be necessary, for y<sup>r</sup> Satisfaction Should rather have put Him upon offering an apology then a Complaint, all which I humbly Submit to your L<sup>d</sup>ships, & am with the greatest respects y<sup>e</sup> Lordship[s] Most Obed<sup>t</sup> & humble serv<sup>t</sup>

[The action of the Massachusetts Council on this subject, at an earlier date, to which allusion is made by Gov. Dummer, may properly be inserted here, copied from the Council Records, volume 8, pages 71, 72.]

At a Council held at the Council Chamber, in Boston, on Saturday, August 22, 1724.

Present

Captain Johuson Harman being arrived from the Eastward with twenty seven Indian Scalps, together with the scalp of Sebastian Ralle, the Jesuit and Missionary among the Norridgewock Indians, and the Standard of y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> Tribe of Indians, was directed to attend in Council, And there gave a short Narrative of his March to Norridgewock (with four companies of Soldiers under his command) & of his Action at the s<sup>d</sup> Place, the twelvth instant, where he destroyed a great number of the enemy, many of whom being slain or drown'd in the River, he could not recover their bodies.

His Honour the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Governour, in consideration of the extraordinary Service of the s<sup>d</sup> Captain Harman, presented him with a Commission for Lieu<sup>t</sup> Colonel of His Majestys Forces Eastward under the Command of Coll<sup>o</sup> Thomas Westbrook.

made Lieu<sup>t</sup>
Colonel.

Coll. Johnson Harman made solemn oath that the Twenty seven Scalps above ment'd (which were produced in Council) were the Scalps of Rebel or enemy Indians slain by him and the Forces under his Command, and that they had taken Four Indian Prisoners.

Coll. Harman
sworn as to 27
Scalps of the Indian enemy and four Prisoners.

* The French governor and others, who had taken sides with the Indians, alleged that Ralle's death was contrary to the amity between the two nations, the French and English, and that cruelty had been used towards him; whereas Ralle was "slain in this Province," says Gov. Dummer, "fighting against his Majesties subjects."

He removed to Harwich in 1706. Captain Jonathan Bangs, John Freeman, Thomas Freeman, John Grey and Nicholas Snow "having been appointed to settle the bounds between this town (Harwich) and Eastham—the matter being in controversy," and having been joined by Samuel Knoyles, Samuel Mayo & Joshua Doane on the part of Eastham, the matter was amicably arranged, & to the agreement were affixed the signatures & seals of the agents, the 16 day of October in the 4th year of the reign of our gracious Lady Queen Anne." On March 14, 1714, he was chosen proprietors' clerk, and was also chosen one of the persons to divide the lands of Harwich. He removed to Rochester near 1729, and was one of the proprietors there. Snow Pond was named after him, and his homestead was on its banks.

He married Lydia Shaw, daughter of Jonathan and Phebe (Watson) Shaw, on the 4 April, 1689. In taking a hasty abstract of his will from Bk. 13, page 304, Plymouth Probate Records, I did not notice the name of his wife—so infer she died before him—or the name of his son Mark, but as the estate was divided into eight parts,

REV. WILLIAM ADAMS OF MADISON SQUARE CHURCH, NEW YORK CITY, WITH HIS ADAMS AND BRADFORD LINES OF DESCENT.

By EMILY WILDER LEAVITT, of Boston.

THE ADAMS LINE.

1. HENRY<sup>1</sup> ADAMS is said to have come to New England about the year 1634, and in February, 1641, he received a grant of forty acres of land in Braintree, Mass., from the town of Boston, of which it then was a part. In the petition for the formation of the first church in Braintree, we find the names of Henry Adams, Thomas Adams, Henry Adams, Jr., John Adams, Christopher Adams and Samuel

Adams. Henry Adams, Sen. died October 6, 1646; his will was probated 8, 4, 1647; his children (so far as definitely known) were:

- |                        |               |               |
|------------------------|---------------|---------------|
| i. HENRY. <sup>2</sup> | iv. JONATHAN. | vii. JOSEPH.  |
| ii. THOMAS.            | 2. v. PETER.  | viii. EDWARD. |
| iii. SAMUEL.           | vi. JOHN.     |               |

ix. URSULA, who was mentioned in his will.

2. PETER<sup>2</sup> ADAMS. In his will of 1646, Henry Adams mentions his son Peter; in 1652, Peter Adams with his wife and son John appeared at Medfield, Mass., where, in 1652, he is recorded as having a family of three persons. In the Indian raid of 1675 his house was burned, and he was one of the signers of a petition to the Great and General Court for aid. He died in 1690, and the inventory of his estate was taken October 23, 1690. His children were:

3. i. JOHN.<sup>3</sup>
- ii. PETER, b. April, 1653.
- iii. HANNAH, b. June 16, 1655.
- iv. MARY, b. March 1, 1661.
- v. JONATHAN, b. July 11, 1663; d. May 13, 1664.
- vi. RUTH, b. June 20, 1665.
- vii. JOSEPH, b. August 25, 1668.
- viii. SAMUEL, b. April 2, 1671.
- ix. HENRY, b. January 6, 1673.

3. JOHN<sup>3</sup> ADAMS, son of Peter and Rachel Adams, was brought to Medfield when a boy. The first mention of his name on the town books was his appointment to the office of "hog-reave" in 1686. This needful-but rather undesirable office was as a joke usually given by the towns-people to the newly married man, and here serves as the first point of identification of this John Adams, as he was married in 1685. From this time he is always recorded as "John son of Peter Adams," to distinguish him from his two cousins of the same given name who were holding offices at the same periods, namely, John Adams the Miller (son of Henry Adams), and John Adams the cordwainer (son of Edward Adams). As his occupation was never mentioned he was probably a yeoman or husbandman. In 1692 John Adams of Medfield sold to Robert Harrington of Watertown, Mass., six acres of land in Watertown butted by the land of Richard Bloyce, and his wife Michal Adams relinquishes her right of dower.

In Canterbury, Conn. town books, vol. 2, page 21, John Adams of Medfield, Mass., on December 8, 1708, bought four hundred acres of land at Canterbury of William Johnson (one of the first proprietors of the place). March 16, 1718, the town of Canterbury confirmed to John Adams and to Samuel Adams, Jr. (his son), three hundred acres of land by Rowland's Brook, the bounds beginning at a heap of stones on the top of the hill on the west side, ran by Paine's land and that of Eleazar Brown; and another parcel of forty acres of land. John and Samuel Adams being settled inhabitants by the vote of the inhabitants of the town June 15, 1718. In April 30, 1723, John Adams received one and a half shares in the common and undivided lands.

March 10, 1720, Joseph Adams of Medfield, Mass., bought of John Cady secundus, a mansion house and eighty acres of land in Canterbury. This was a brother of John, who was then settled in that town. March 12, 1720, John Adams deeded to his son Richard

It is shown that the structure of the atom is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the atom is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the nucleus is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the nucleus is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the molecule is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the molecule is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the crystal is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the crystal is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the liquid is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the liquid is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the gas is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the gas is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the plasma is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the plasma is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

It is shown that the structure of the solid is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics, which are based on the principle of the uncertainty of the position and momentum of the particles. The structure of the solid is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

The structure of the polymer is therefore not a fixed one, but it is determined by the laws of quantum mechanics.

land by that which he had before given to his son Isaac, which he had previously purchased of William Johnson. On the same day he deeded land to his other son, John Adams, Jr.

John Adams married at Medfield, Mass., April 2, 1685, Michal, daughter of Richard and Michal (Jennison) Bloyse, also spelled Bloyce and Bloice, of Watertown, Mass. They had children:

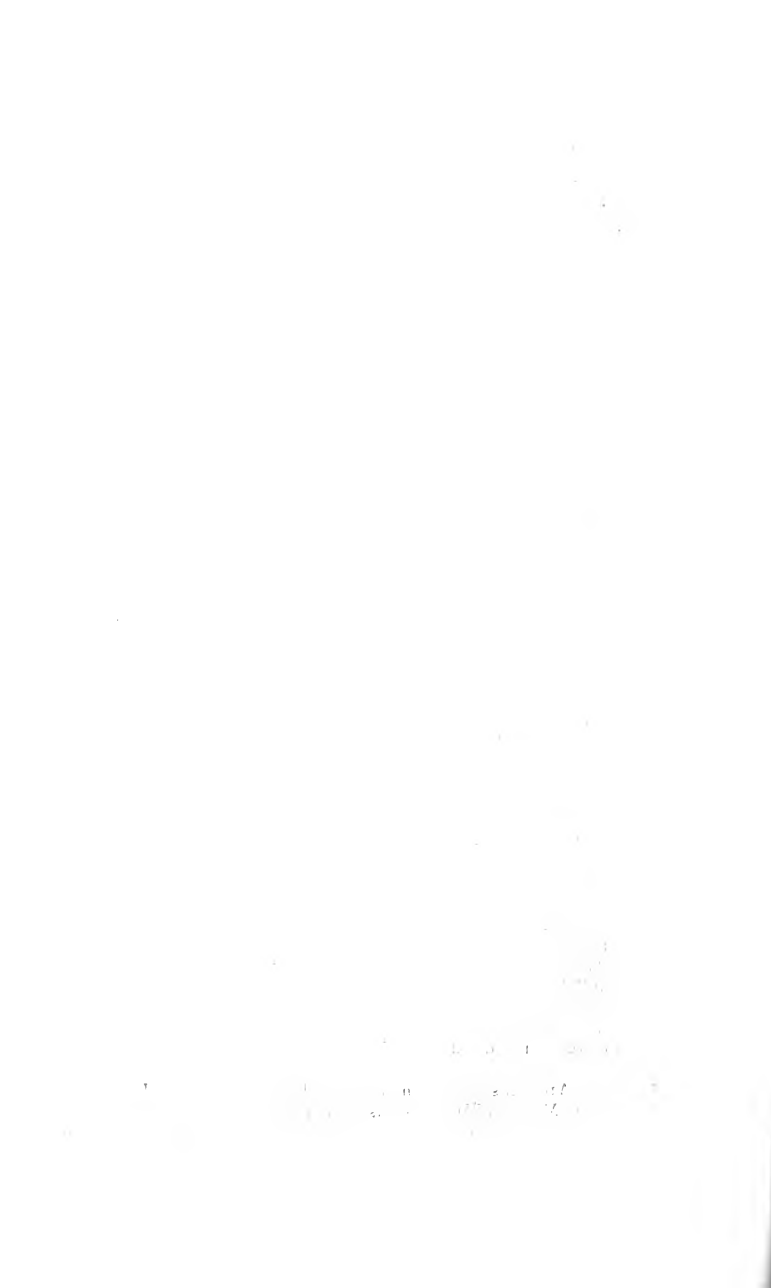

- i. SAMUEL,<sup>4</sup> b. February 25, 1685.
- ii. MARIE, b. March 11, 1687.
- iii. PATIENCE, b. March 21, 1690; d. May 28, 1698.
- iv. RUTH, b. December 10, 1691.
- v. JOSIAH, b. October 4, 1693.
4. vi. JOHN, b. December 14, 1695.
- vii. ISAAC, b. January 30, 1697.
- viii. RICHARD, b. September 28, 1699.
- ix. JOSHUA, b. July 22, 1701; d. April 1, 1706.
- x. ABIGAIL, b. April 23, 1703; d. May 14, 1706.
- xi. BETHIA, b. February 8, 1704-5; d. April 13, 1706.
- xii. MICHAL (son), b. March 1, 1706-7.

All these births are recorded at Medfield, Mass.

This John Adams's will was drawn February 14, 1724; in it he provides for his wife Michal and for his daughter Mary, who was to live with her mother; he gave his son Samuel a quarter part of his "wearing clothes"; leaves to his three sons "who now live with me" his home lot to be equally divided between them, which lot is bounded south by "my son Richard Adams's land, west by my son Samuel's land, east by the hundred acres I purchased of William Johnson; also three fourths of the forty acres more lying northwest of the said home lot which I bought of William Johnson and Mr. Paine for the convenience of a saw mill. To my cozen (i.e. niece) Ruth Adams who now lives with me, five pounds provided she continues to live with my wife during the whole time," that is during her minority; he also mentioned his daughter Ruth Paine and his youngest son Michal Adams.

John Adams died February 26, 1724; his widow Michal Adams died April 14, 1752. The settlement of his estate is recorded in the Canterbury books, vol. 5, page 393, where we read: "Whereas Mr. John Adams of Canterbury late deceased, died seized of about one hundred acres of land bounded by that of Isaac Adams on the north, west by the land of the heirs of Mr. John Adams, east by the land of Elisha Paine, and John Adams gave the said land to his four sons Samuel, John, Isaac and Richard, who were the then surviving sons of the said John Adams, and the said heirs held the land in common until about 1734, when Richard died and left one only child, Lucy, whereupon she held the land in common with the other heirs until 1743, when Samuel died leaving only two daughters, Amy, late wife of Thomas Nowling, dec., and Mehitable, late wife of John Smith, dec., whereupon his share descended to these daughters; Mehitable died in 1750 and left four children; whereupon these heirs held the land in common, it is now desired to make a more natural division, etc."

4. JOHN<sup>4</sup> ADAMS, son of John and Michal (Bloyce) Adams, born at Medfield, Mass., in 1685, seems to have resided quietly on the large estate which his father had bought in Canterbury all the earlier years of his life, and it is not until the father was advanced in years that the children began to have any public mention. As one of the patriarchal families of the olden times, they appear to have lived in one community and to have cultivated the lands together. March 12, 1723, the elder John, the first of that given name in the town, made over to his son John, then about twenty-eight years old, fifty acres of the land "together with one quarter part of the land which I bought of William Johnson." This was near the close of the father's life, and the brothers went quietly on their way; Samuel and Richard marrying and then dying young, leaving only daughters; Isaac marrying and then removing from the town; so, in 1752, when the final settlement of the whole estate was made, there was the one only son John left "on the old place," as country people always term the original homestead. This John Adams's life is wholly made known to us by the few deeds which he gave from time to time. January 16, 1752, Isaac Adams of Canaan, Litchfield county, Conn., makes over to his brother John all his rights given by our father John Adams. April 17, 1752, John and Abigail (his wife) Adams acknowledge the receipt of a legacy from the estate of their father Josiah Cleveland of Canterbury, which had been bequeathed to them in a clause in his will of December 28, 1750, in which Josiah Cleveland mentions his daughter Abigail Adams and his grandson Benjamin Brown. In 1746, John and his wife were of the people who formed the Separatist Church in Canterbury which gave rise to so much dissension in that village. John Adams was made a member of the early church in 1741, and his wife Abigail in 1745. His own will was drawn May 4, 1762, and the estate was administered that same year; in it he mentions wife Abigail Adams. Mrs. Abigail Adams's estate was administered February 19, 1782, and mention is made of her "eldest son Benjamin Brown."

In precisely what year John Adams and the widow Abigail (Cleveland) Brown were married has not yet been ascertained, but the Canterbury town records give the births of the following children:

- i. LOIS,<sup>s</sup> b. November 17, 1741.
- ii. MARY, b. June 23, 1743.
5. iii. JOHN, b. February 12, 1744.
- iv. LYDIA, b. June 12, 1746.
- v. CORNELIUS, b. March 21, 1748.
- vi. EBENEZER, b. October 6, 1749.
- vii. ABIGAIL, b. June 13, 1751.
- viii. SAMUEL, b. May 16, 1753.
- ix. RUTH, b. March 13, 1757.

In a little graveyard in the northern part of Canterbury the tombstones of both John and Abigail Adams have recently been found: "Here lies the body of Mr. John Adams who died January 16, 1762-3, in his 66th year." On that of his wife is inscribed: "Here lies the body of Mrs. Abigail, wife of Mr. John Adams who died December 15, 1782.

tain. He married 1st, at Putney, Vt., October 5, 1769, Mary, daughter of Deacon Joshua and Jemima (Davenport) Parker, who was born at Needham, Mass., September 23, 1747, died at Canterbury October 11, 1798; he married 2d. November 2, 1802, widow Hannah Faucet. He died December 10, 1818. Children, all by the first wife:

6. JOHN<sup>6</sup> ADAMS, son of John and Mary (Parker) Adams, born September 18, 1772; was graduated at Plainfield, Ct. Academy 1795. After which he formed a private school in the north part of Canterbury, and showed such skill in both management and development of his scholars as to at once make it a marked success. "In the spring of 1796, he was induced to remove his school to Canterbury Green, where it was immensely popular. Canterbury was never more flourishing than during the continuance of this school. He had in a large degree the art of calling out the best in a pupil, and awakening enthusiasm for school studies and master; he was especially kind to indigent young men, and often assisted them peculiarly."*

"In 1800 he was appointed rector of Plainfield, Conn. Academy, and in 1803 preceptor of Bacon Academy of Colchester, Conn.; June, 1810, "he was chosen principal of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., in which office he continued twenty-three years. In 1833, he resigned this position and removed with some of his family to Illinois, where he invested his property in the new lands. Possessed of a constitution of unusual soundness, he discovered in his seventy-second year he had both the power and opportunity of doing great good. Always interested in the young, he volunteered his services for their advantage, and after he had passed the period allotted to man, organized in the state of his adoption several hundred Sabbath schools, many of which have grown into churches. While resident in Andover he took part in the organization of several of the great national charities. The degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by his alma mater in 1854. His three sons are graduates of Yale College in the classes of 1821, 1825, 1827. He died in Jacksonville, Ill., April 24, 1863, in his 91st year, retaining to the last the full possession of his faculties, a sound judgment and a most cheerful Christian hope."†

John Adams married 1st, May 8, 1798, Elizabeth, daughter of Gamaliel and Judith (Perkins) Ripley who was born March 12, 1776, died February 23, 1829; he married 2d, August 30, 1831, Mrs. Mabel Burrett; he died April 24, 1863. His children, all by the first wife, were:

7. WILLIAM<sup>7</sup> ADAMS, son of John and Elizabeth (Ripley) Adams, born at Colchester, Conn.: was prepared for college at Andover by his father, and entered Yale, whence he was graduated 1830, one of the foremost among men who have achieved high reputation as scholars and divines. He returned to Andover and took the theological course; then was first settled over a church in Brighton, Mass. At the end of three years he removed to a pastorate of the Broome Street Presbyterian Church in New York. After nineteen faithful years of work, his people built the Madison Square church, whither they all removed.

Of a courtly, dignified, graceful presence, ready of speech, his affable manners and polished deportment rendered him a marked man in all assemblies. A scholar of more than ordinary accuracy, variety and elegance, he, more than most, was called upon on occasions of public interest in church and state. In 1873, he was chosen to speak the welcome to the American Evangelical Alliance, "and none of all the thousands present will ever forget the majestic grace, fervor of imagery and eloquence of his address of welcome to the learning and genius of the church beyond the sea; he spoke extemporaneously, but his words were the keynote of the whole series of meetings."* He delivered the address at the Centennial celebration at Lexington, Mass.; and was one of the few who at their own charge were sent to ask of the Emperor of Russia liberty of worship for the dissenters from the Greek church in the Baltic provinces. He was made a member of the New York Historical Society, June 18, 1844. In the spring of 1874 he resigned the pastorate of the Madison Square church to accept the presidency of the Union Theological Seminary of New York, which he had been instrumental in forming.

Rev. William Adams married 1st, July 13, 1831, Susan P., a daughter of Thatcher and Mary (Bradshaw) Magoun of Medford, Mass., who died May 22, 1834; he married 2d, August 12, 1835, her sister, Martha Bradshaw Magoun, who was born October 17, 1812, died June 13, 1885; he died August 31, 1880. #### THE BRADFORD LINE.

1. WILLIAM<sup>2</sup> BRADFORD, son of William<sup>1</sup> and Alice (Hanson) Bradford, was born March, 1588. His father died in 1591, when his grandfather, William Bradford, took him; but the grandfather died in 1596, and he then went to live with his uncle Robert Bradford, who resided in the little village of Scrooby, a place five miles from Austerfield and near the estate of the Brewsters, in Nottinghamshire. He joined the church where Rev. Richard Clifton and Rev. John Robinson preached, and was soon numbered among the "Separatists," and became a leader among them. His early educational advantages were apparently very limited, but he so applied himself to study that he became proficient in Dutch, Latin, French and Greek; he also devoted himself to the study of Hebrew, as he desired to read the scriptures in their native tongue.

He went with the community which migrated to Holland, and was one of the most influential amongst them. On coming of age he received a considerable property from his father's estate, but did not succeed in some commercial undertakings; he learned the art of "fustian or frieze weaving." November 15, 1613, William Bretfoort, fustian worker, a young man from Osterfeldt, Eng., was affianced to Dorothea May from Witzbutz (Wisbeach, Cambridge, Eng.). The banns were published in Leyden, but the marriage took place elsewhere, as on December 9, 1613, William Bretfoort, aged 23 years, was married to Dorothea May, aged 16 years, in Amsterdam, Holland.

They embarked for England July 22, 1620, and after many mishaps and troubles, on September 6, 1620, set sail from Plymouth, Eng., with the first company of Pilgrims in the Mayflower, and reached Cape Cod harbor, N. E., on the following November. While they were at anchor, and when he was absent from the vessel, his wife Dorothea fell overboard and was drowned.

From this time onwards William Bradford's part in the fortunes of the community was important and powerful. Soon after the first governor, William Carver, died, Bradford was elected to that office, which he held by annual election until his death, excepting the years 1633, '34, '36, '38 and '44. He took a prominent part in all the councils, which were held at his house, and in all the affairs civic, political and military; from his house at the foot of Burial Hill each Sabbath morning the little company of worshippers, who all assembled there, marched in procession up the steep ascent to the fort at its top, where the religious services were held. As he lived the history of the times he wrote them, and this history, so long missing, is now that which gives his posterity the best pictures of the lives and events of those who so valiantly and bravely lived and died.

William Bradford married 1st, Dorothy May, who died December 9, 1620; he married 2d, Mrs. Alice, daughter of Alexander Carpenter of Wrentham, Eng., and the widow of Edward Southworth, who died March 26, 1670; he died May 9, 1657. His children were:

- i. JOHN,<sup>3</sup> son of his first wife, who was of Duxbury, 1645; deputy to the General Court, 1652; lieutenant of Marshfield, Mass., in 1653; m. Martha, daughter of Thomas and Martha Bourne of Marshfield, and then removed to Norwich, Conn., where he d. in 1678, s.p.
- ii. WILLIAM, b. January 17, 1624.
- iii. MERCY, m. Benjamin (or Joseph) Vermages.
- iv. JOSEPH, b. 1630; m. May 25, 1664, Jael, daughter of Rev. Peter Hobart of Hingham, Mass.

2. MAJOR WILLIAM<sup>3</sup> BRADFORD, son of Governor William and Alice (Carpenter, Southworth) Bradford, born June 16, 1624, in Plymouth, Mass.; removed to Kingston, Mass.; he was appointed Assistant; was deputy governor; one of Governor Andros's council in 1687; chief military officer of the Plymouth colony. He married 1st, Alice, daughter of Thomas and Welthean Richards of Weymouth, Mass., who died at Plymouth, December 12, 1671; he married 2d, the widow Wiswell; he married 3d, Mrs. Mary, daughter of Mr. John Atwood of Plymouth, and the widow of Rev. John Holmes of Duxbury, Mass., who died June 6, 1714-15; he died February 20, 1793, aged 74 years. His children were:

3. HANNAH<sup>4</sup> BRADFORD, daughter of Major William and Alice (Richards) Bradford, who was born in Kingston, Mass., in 1661-2; married Joshua Ripley, a grandson of William Ripley who with his wife and four children came from Hingham, County Norwich, Eng., to Hingham, Mass., in 1638. His son John married Elizabeth, daughter of Rev. Peter Hobart of Hingham, and their son Joshua, with his wife Hannah Bradford, lived in Hingham until 1689, when they went to Norwich, Conn., whence they removed to the upper part of that state, where he bought of Isaac Magoun, the first settler, sixty acres of land on both sides of Merrick's Brook. The first town meeting of Windham was held June 11, 1692, when Joshua Ripley was appointed town clerk; he was also town treasurer. "He was a man widely known and respected, as of sterling sense and judgment; he was one of the first justices of the peace in Connecticut, and was appointed May, 1698, when that office was first instituted; was the first representative sent by Windham to the General Assembly, appearing there May, 1699." He was also one of the seven pillars or counsellors, and justice of the quorum in 1726. His wife was "a noble and useful woman, remarkable not only for intelligence and accomplishments, but for her skill in the art of healing. She was the first, and for a long time the only physician in the settlement, and it is said that the first male physician, Dr. Richard Huntington, received much of his medical knowledge from her." Joshua Ripley married November 28, 1682, Hannah Bradford, and their children were:

CONNECTION OF THE FAMILY OF EDISON, THE INVENTOR, WITH DIGBY, NOVA SCOTIA.

By Judge A. W. SAVARY, of Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia.

AMONG the Loyalists from New York who settled in and near Digby at the close of the Revolutionary war, were quite a number of Dutch, and some of German extraction. Among these Loyalists appears JOHN EDISON, of whom, and of SAMUEL and Moses Edison a little later, the following records were compiled for me by the late William H. Taylor, clerk of the Vestry of Trinity Church, and town clerk of Digby, from the "Grant of confirmation of the township of Digby," the "deed of partition of the 'Hatfield Grant,'" same township, from town meeting records, and records of cattle marks, and from the records of Trinity Church, Digby.

John Edison owned lot No. 15 in the North Range of the Hatfield Grant, 200 acres; No. 49, Middle Range, 200 acres; and half of lot No. 25, South Range, 100 acres.—(These were wilderness lots, five to ten miles from the town or village of Digby and shore settlements.) A tax was levied Sept. 21, 1789, to defray the church expenses, and therein the name of John Edison appears without any amount opposite. Another tax was levied Dec. 5, 1796, in which he was assessed 5<sup>s</sup>. 6<sup>d</sup>. At a town meeting held April 1, 1799, he was appointed one of the directors of the town marsh at the head of St. Mary's Bay, and continued such in 1800 and 1801. He was appointed assessor of poor rates at a town meeting held April 4, 1803.

SAMUEL EDISON, grandfather of the inventor, purchased the possession of pew No. 36 in Trinity Church, Sept. 26, 1792, and in the assessment for church expenses Dec. 5, 1796, he was rated 2<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup>. He was granted a sheep mark May 3, 1803, which, evidently because he had removed away, was transferred to James Budd, Nov. 3, 1812. He was appointed overseer of the marsh, April 4, 1808.

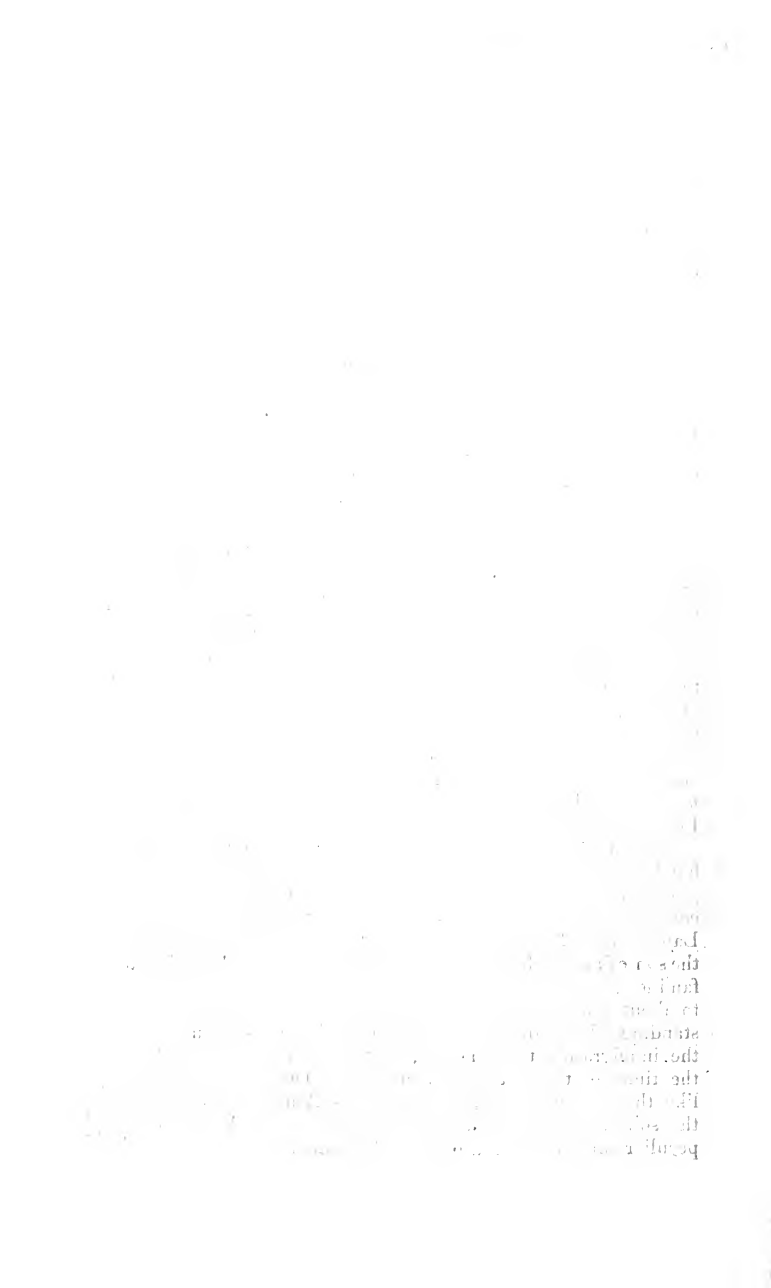

Moses Edison, at a town meeting April 6, 1801, made an agreement to fence the marsh.

Nov. 11, 1864

The first decade of the century had not closed before the superior fertility of the prairie and alluvial soil of Upper Canada had begun to attract the attention of the struggling settlers of Western Nova Scotia, and a strong stream of migration from Digby and vicinity to that land of promise set in, and flowed for many years. With that stream early went Samuel and Moses Edison; the former taking with him a young family, among whom was SAMUEL EDISON, Jr., the father of the inventor. The latter became afterwards a resident of Ohio, in which state Thomas A. Edison was the first of his line who was born under the American flag.

The late Charles Budd, who, born in the last century, long represented Digby in the Nova Scotia legislature, gave me approximately the date of Samuel's migration, corresponding with that of the transfer of the sheep mark, and with the result of a published interview of Mrs. M. L. Rayne with the inventor's aged father, at Port Huron, Michigan, last summer. It was in the year 1811, when the younger Samuel was 8 years old. Mr. Budd also informed me that the first Samuel's wife was a Miss Roop; of a family now numerous in Digby and Annapolis counties, and also claiming a New York German or Dutch extraction. A descendant of this family, Miss Maria Roop, a clever newspaper correspondent, a few years ago married a (maritime) Capt. Dow Roop, of Nova Scotia. Her brother informs me that the wife of Samuel Edison was Ann, half-sister of his father; and if so she was dau. of Major Isaac Roop, of New York loyalist forces, or N. S. Militia. I can find nothing on the other church records, registry of Probate or of Deeds, to verify this, or to show that John was the father of Samuel and Moses, except that he had lots in the Hatfield grant and they had not, raising the presumption that they were under age when the loyalists came over, and that he was head of a family. There are descendants of Edison women in Digby, but the only representatives of the name are colored people, descendants of a negro whom the first Edison brought with him from New York.

It is hard to conceive that John Edison, the pioneer, whose hardy hands felled the first tree, rooted out the first stump, and guided the plow that turned the first furrow on those wild "Hatfield grant" lots, could ever have been a "banker of high standing," as stated by Mr. Lanier in the December number of the "Review of Reviews," nor the son of any such banker; and as tradition in unhistoric American families generally post-dates the advent of the immigrant ancestor to about the third or fourth generation back, I suspect (notwithstanding Mr. Lanier's suggestion of 1730 as about the year of the immigration to America), that the ancestors of Edison from the times of the first settlement of the Dutch colony, have been, like those of many another illustrious American, worthy tillers of the soil, toiling in contented obscurity, until his genius shed a peculiar and undying glory on the name.

MARTIN'S OR MARTHA'S?

WHAT IS THE PROPER NOMENCLATURE OF THE VINEYARD?

Whitfield, The Light Appearing (1651).

By CHARLES EDWARD BANKS, M.D., of Portland, Me.

IN the REGISTER many years ago (xii. 33), the question propounded in the sub-title of this article was asked by the Editor of that volume, and as far as known to the writer it remains unanswered.

Without any knowledge that this subject was ever under discussion, the writer of this had observed on an old map of New England the title Martin's Vineyard applied to the ancient Isle of Capawock, and upon a desultory search to ascertain whether this name had ever been similarly attached to the Vineyard by other cartographers, was not able to find upon any chart of the seventeenth century, one only excepted, where the topography and local nomenclature of the coast became mutually intelligible, that the name Martha's Vineyard had ever been applied to the island now bearing that name.

An examination of contemporary literature of that period, printed books, letters, public records, legal documents, etc., confirmed this curious fact, and as a result of this extended search the writer feels safe in saying that in the public and private records of the seventeenth century, the name Martin's is applied to the Vineyard, to the practical exclusion of Martha's, and this phenomenon has the repeated sanction of Mr. Thomas Mayhew himself, the "Governor and Lord of Capawock," in public and private papers.

The records of the Vineyard, registries of deeds and wills and court books, as examined for me by B. T. Hillman, Esq., of Edgartown, do not bear out this general statement however. Mr. Hillman writes to me: "I have examined a large number of deeds recorded in this volume (Vol. I. Deeds), and only find one in which the name of the island is given as Martin's Vineyard. There may be others, for I have not examined every deed in the volume. The name Martha's Vineyard seems to have been used both in the Court records and in the Deeds." I am indebted to him for valuable assistance in the investigation of this subject, and in this connection I might also refer to his statement to me in this same letter that the adjoining island is called "Nomans Land" in the first record of conveyance, instead of "No Mans" as sometimes written.

That an island south of Cape Cod was called Martha's Vineyard by the explorer Gosnold in 1602 is well known (3 Mass. Hist. Coll., viii. 75), and it seems certain that he applied it to the small isle, now called No Man's or Noman's Land, lying directly southwest from the Vineyard of to-day, at a distance of three miles. That this prenomem was finally transferred to the present Martha's Vineyard seems equally certain; but that the name Martin's was used up to about 1700, even by the residents of the Vineyard, by local historians and catographers, by public officials throughout New England and New York, must be accepted by the reader upon the array of authorities which follows. What gave rise to this confusion in the seventeenth century, for in the next it was settled by the colonial government of Massachusetts as "Martha," is not easily explained. Such a difference of names, so long persisted in, must have had some substantial basis in fact, for it is not credible that accident or chance or mistake will account for all this mixture. In the following tables is appended a list of references to documents, etc., which show when, where and how the two names were used:

It should be said that the "Novi Belgii" map of 1671 gives the name of Martha's Vineyard to the present No Man's or Noman's Land, and "Texel" is applied to the present Vineyard, a name that first was given to it in the Carte Figurative (1616), and is repeated in the West Indische Paskaert (1621), the Arcano del Mare (1646), and in Blaeu's (1662, 1685). As a curiosity of development of nomenclature it may be noted that "C. Wack" in the Novi Belgii map, meaning Cape Wack, is an effort to render Capawock into English. In Drake's Old Indian Cronicle (p. 51), a unique title appears, "Nope or Marthas Vineyard." No other occurrence of this singular word has come to the notice of the writer.

As to the probability of evidence in favor of either name, the case for "Martin" must overcome the statement of John Brereton, the historian of Gosnold's voyage, that an island, generally considered to be Noman's Land, received in 1602 the title of "Marthaes Vineyard." It is known that a Capt. John Martin was with Gosnold in this voyage, and later figures as an associate of Gosnold in the early settlement of Virginia. The suggestion that it was this companion's name, John Martin, which was intended to be honored by the baptism, is quite within the probabilities; as much so as Point Gilbert, which was named by him for Bartholomew Gilbert, another companion, and Tucker's Terror, which he applied to a shoal or reef for another voyager.

Brereton's relation is not above criticism, for many errors as to sailing courses, longitude and other kindred subjects, and he may be, perhaps, successfully impeached on the subject of "Marthaes Vineyard."

SOME DESCENDANTS OF THE REV. JOHN ROBINSON OF LEYDEN, HOLLAND.

Communicated by HON. ARIEL STANDISH THURSTON, of Elmira, N. Y.

A SHORT time before the death of Gov. Lucius Robinson I received from him the enclosed genealogy, showing him to have been a lineal descendant of the Puritan divine John Robinson of Leydon, —the friend of my ancestor Myles Standish, whose will contains a bequest to his son Isaac's daughter "Marcye," whom "I tenderly love for her grandfather's sake." Of course, I know nothing of its authenticity.

The Genealogy of the Family of John Robinson, of Church at Leyden, who died 1625, March 1.

His sons, John and Isaac, with their mother came to America. John settled at, or near, Cape Ann; Isaac settled first at Scituate, Mass., afterwards moved to Barnstable in 1639. [There is but little doubt that this is a mistake. See note at the end of the article. Isaac came, but probably no other member of the family.]

1. Peter, a son of Isaac, lived at Windham, Ct. (Scotland Society) in 1735, with seven sons and two daughters.

2. Peter second, married Ruth Fuller 1725, had eight sons and four daughters. Eliab was Peter second's seventh son; Ralph was Eliab's first son; and Eliab Weeks was Ralph's first son, and lived at Lisbon, Ct. in 1850, and had one son.

3. Israel, son of Peter, married Sarah Sabin 1724, and Deborah Chapman 1737. Sarah Robinson had three sons, and Deborah C. Robinson one daughter.

4. Thomas, son of Peter, married Anna 1724, had three sons and three daughters. Died March, 1783, aged 85 years.

Reuben, son of Thomas, born Jan. 17, 1725, married Esther Palmer Jan. 1749.

Asa, son of Thomas, born Oct. 17, 1726, married Mary French Oct. 1749, died 1811, aged 86.

NOTE BY THE EDITOR OF THE REGISTER.—The late Rev. Henry M. Dexter, D.D., contributed to the REGISTER for April, 1866, an article entitled, "Did the Widow of John Robinson emigrate to America?" In this article Dr. Dexter gives strong reasons for believing that she never came to New England.

The settler at Cape Ann was Abraham Robinson, not John. (See Babson's Gloucester, page 134.) I have seen no evidence that Rev. John Robinson had a son by the name of Abraham. The list of his children in 1622 gives the names of his children as James (or, as Mr. George Sumner reads it, John), Bridget, Isaac, Mercy, Fear and Jacob. (REGISTER, vol. 15, p. 30).

Rev. John A. Vinton, in his Giles Memorial (Boston, 1864), devotes ten pages (pp. 363 to 372), to the "Family of John Robinson of Leyden." The reader who wishes to know more about this family is referred to that book. The children of Gov. Robinson's father and grandfather are not given there.

Judge Sewall had an interview with Isaac Robinson probably at Barnstable, in April, 1702, and was told by him that he was then 92 years old, and was "y<sup>e</sup> son of Mr. Robinson, pastor of y<sup>e</sup> ch. of Leyden part of w<sup>ch</sup> came to Plim<sup>o</sup>. But to my disappointm<sup>t</sup>" adds Judge Sewall, "he came not to New England, till y<sup>e</sup> year [1631] in w<sup>ch</sup> Mr. Wilson was returning to England after y<sup>e</sup> settlem<sup>t</sup> of Boston." See REGISTER, vol. 14, p. 13.

THE MAVERICK FAMILY.

By ISAAC JOHN GREENWOOD, A.M., of New York city.

SOME twenty years since, looking over the late Col. Joseph L. Chester's MS. catalogue of Oxford graduates, my attention was drawn by him to the name of "John Maverick, 1595, Exeter College, from Devon, Minister."

Foster's Catalogue, much fuller in details, reads as follows :

"Maverick, John of Devon, cler. fil., Exeter Coll., matric. 24 Oct. 1595, aged 18; B.A. 8 July 1577; M.A. 7 July 1603; then in orders, rector of Beaworthy (s.w. of Hatherly), Devon, 1615. (See Foster's Index Eccl.)."

This was undoubtedly "the godly Mr. Maverick," whom Roger Clap, born on the Devonshire coast, at Salcomb (between Sidmouth and Branscomb), speaks of as living "forty miles off," and who, after establishing a congregation at Dorchester, N. E., died Feb. 3, 1636-7, being, according to Wintthrop, "near sixty years of age."

Though we hear nothing of his wife, she is alluded to in 1665, by Col. Cartwright, in his "Memorial* concerning the Massachusetts," who observes :

"If any of the commissioners think it more convenient for them to stay in those parts, that they may have leue to do so. For Mr. Maverick hath his mother, wife, children & brothers living there, and nether estate, nor employment here."

And Samuel Maverick, writing from Rhode Island Oct. 9, 1668, to Secretary Sir William Morice, says that his mother "presents her humble service." (See Sainsbury's Calendar of Colonial Papers, vol. 3, p. 415, No 1288). This Secretary Morice, who died in

Dec. 1676 aged 74, was son of Jevan Morice, fellow of All Saints College, Oxford, of an ancient Welsh family, doctor of laws and chancellor of Exeter, Devon, in 1594, and ancestor of the extinct Baronets Morice of Werrington, Devon, on the borders of Cornwall, a few miles s.w. of Beaworthy.

The widow Maverick, in 1668, must have been well advanced in years, since by his own deposition,* taken in December, 1665, her son Samuel was then "aged 63 yeares or therabouts."

Samuel, the eldest son of the Rev. John Maverick, born about 1602, had settled in New England as early as 1624,† near the confluence of Charles and Mystic Rivers, where with the help of his neighbor, David Tomson,‡ he had built a small fort. He was an episcopalian and loyalist, and frequently embroiled with the colonial government; finally, after one of his several voyages to the old country, he was, in April 1664, appointed one of the four Royal Commissioners to visit the colonies and inquire into grievances. For his services he received from the Duke of York, through a grant from Gov. Lovelace, a certain house and lot in New York City, on the Broadway. This gift he acknowledges in a letter of Oct. 15, 1669, to Col. Rich. Nicolls, his associate in the Commission, and we hear not of him again till in a deed of Mar. 15, 1676 (recorded Albany, L.1, p. 133), his trustees, John Laurence and Matthias Nicolls, of New York, confirm to William Vander Scheuren this same property on Broadway, which the latter had bought from the Deacons of the City, by whom it had been purchased at a public sale made for the benefit of Maverick's daughter, Mary, wife of Rev. Francis Hooke of Kittery. Neither the time nor place of Maverick's death, nor the depository of his will have been, as yet, ascertained. No records of so early a date are preserved by the Dutch Church, who evidently held the lot for a short period, but, after a careful examination of conveyances in the City Register's office, the writer has satisfactorily located the position of the Maverick Lot. May 30, 1667, Gov. Nicolls granted a lot on Broadway to Adam Onckelbach, which is described in later deeds as bounded south by house and lot of William Vander Scheuren, and which finally in Oct. 1784, when known as No. 52 Broadway, was sold to John Jay, Esq., the future governor, who here erected a fine stone mansion. At this time the lot adjoining to the south was in the tenure and occupation of John Slidell, save some 64 feet on the easterly or New Street end, which had been sold in 1683 by Vander Scheuren to William Post (L. 13, p. 8; L. 35, p. 170). Slidell's sons in 1819 sold the greater portion of the lot, facing on Broadway, with a frontage of  $21\frac{1}{2}$  ft., and a depth 110 ft., to ‡ Thomson's widow, Amias (Coles) is supposed to have married Maverick.—Reg., v. 47, p. 76.

Robert Lenox; while the remaining few inches, with a lot adjoining to the south, known as No. 48, was sold by them on the same date to David Gelston. From the foregoing facts we gather that the original Maverick Lot was 26½ feet wide, located on the easterly side of Broadway, running through to New Street, and beginning 125 feet south from the Church Street (afterwards Garden Street, and now Exchange Place); and that it corresponded with the present No. 50 Broadway.

Though extinct in the New England States, the Maverick family has existed for the past one hundred and fifty years in New York City, where Andrew Maverick, a young painter, 24 years of age, was admitted a freeman July 17, 1753; his name occurring on the Poll List of Feb., 1761. He was baptized at the New Brick Church, Boston, Feb. 9, 1728-9: one of the numerous family of John<sup>1</sup> Maverick (Paul<sup>2</sup>, Elias<sup>3</sup>, Rev. John<sup>1</sup>,) an importer of hard woods on Middle Street (now Hanover St.), at the sign of the "Cabinet and Chest of Drawers," John's grandson Samuel (son of Samuel deceased), an apprentice of Mr. Isaac Greenwood, ivory turner &c., was mortally wounded, March 5, 1770, in the Boston Massacre. Andrew, who came to New York, married about 1754 Sarah, dau. of Peter and Bethia Ruston or Rushton, and Mr. Rushton, in a will of 1765, proved Aug. 14, 1767 (L.25, p. 534), leaves his entire estate, after the death of his wife Bethia, to his grandson Peter Rushton<sup>6</sup> Maverick.* The latter, born in the city April 11, 1755, a silver-smith, etcher and engraver, was in Aug. 1775 an Ensign in Capt. M. Minthorn's Co., of Col. John Jay's 2d Reg't of N. Y. Militia, and on July 23, 1788, represented the Engravers in the N. Y. Federal Procession; he died in Dec. 1811, and was succeeded by his three talented sons, Samuel,<sup>7</sup> Andrew<sup>7</sup> and Peter.<sup>7</sup>

The name Maverick, one of unusual occurrence, is akin doubtless to Morris, Morrice, or Maurice; we get nearer to it in the original Welsh Mawr-ryce, "a valiant hero."

Nath. Maureick,† chief clerk of the Town Clerk, London, died 24 November, 1630, and John Mavericke was a settler located in Charleston, S. C., in 1672.

One other entry to the name is given by Foster:

"Maverick, Radford,‡ of Devon, pleb., Exeter Coll. matric. 17 Nov. 1581 aged 20; rector of Trusham (n. of Chudleigh), 1586, and vicar of Islington, Devon(?) 1597. (See Foster's Index Eccl.)."

* Dr. John Greenwood of N. Y. writing in Nov., 1803 to P. R. Maverick, alludes to a lot on Middle St., Boston, belonging to estate of his late father, Isaac G., and which adjoined land of Maverick's grandfather.

† Smith's Obituary, Camden Soc. Pub.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

WEEMS, TOWSON, WALLACE, PAYNE, OF VIRGINIA.—“I wish to protest in the REGISTER against some of the mistaken deductions” of Hayden’s “Virginia Genealogies.” In it there are “some pedigrees for which there is not the least foundation in fact.”

First, on p. 350, Hayden gives the descent of the Weems family of Maryland as follows: An Earl of Wemyss’ youngest son, James, who was slain at the battle of Preston Pans (in Sept. 1745), was the father of David Weems who was brought to Maryland and was the father eventually of five sons, progenitors of well-known Maryland and Virginia families. I have not quoted the exact words of Hayden’s “unreliable deductions,” but give only the substance in brief.

In Wood’s Douglas’ Peerage of Scotland, under “Earls of Wemyss,” it will be found that the only “Earl of Wemyss” who “had a younger son James” that would come anywhere near the dates required by Hayden to make his assertion have some semblance of truth, was James Wemyss, fourth Earl of Wemyss, b. 1699, d. 1756. He had a younger son James Wemyss, b. 1726, who instead of being slain at Preston Pans in 1745, d. in 1786 at Edinburgh, forty-one years after the battle. This youngest son James was, just as Hayden says, the father of a David Wemyss who was b. 1761, but who, although he was considerable of a traveller, was never in Maryland nor America. However, this does not matter, since he d. s.p. and unm. in 1783, at Madura.

Second, on p. 274, Hayden gives a glorious descent for the Towson family of Maryland and Virginia from that great historical character, Oliver Cromwell, the Lord Protector, briefly as follows: Oliver Cromwell, the Protector, had Henry, who had Richard, whose daughter was the mother of Gen. Nathaniel Towson, U. S. army, father of Thomas Towson, of Williamsport, Md. As originally the surname of the Protector was Williams, the locating his alleged descendant at “Williamsport” was a very pretty idea from the fertile imagination of the Rev. Mr. Hayden, but genealogists require better evidence of descent than this. However, this is only a small matter, for there has been recently published a work that upsets Hayden’s distinguished lineage of the Towsons and Cromwells of Maryland: this is Weyland’s House of Cromwell. From it I learn that Richard Cromwell, a grandson of the Lord Protector, d. in 1759, and his only daughters were: 1, Elizabeth, who d. at Hampstead in 1792 (see Gent. Mag., Nov. 1792); 2, Anne, d. at Berkhamstead in 1777; 3, Eleanor, d. infant; 4, Letitia, d. at Hampstead in 1789. All were unmarried and without issue, so no daughter of Richard Cromwell (son of Henry, son of the Protector), could have been the mother of Gen. Nathaniel Towson, of Maryland, nor does the name of Towson, nor Cromwell of Maryland, appear in any connection in the account of the descendants of the Lord Protector.

Third, p. 689, &c., Hayden deduces the descent of a Virginia family named Wallace from the “Wallaces of Galrigs,” Scotland, and then gives these latter a long line of distinguished ancestors, reaching into A.D. 1100, namely, the “Wallaces of Ederslie.” Briefly, Hayden’s scheme of descent for the Wallaces of Galrigs from the more prominent Wallaces of Ederslie, in order to give the Virginia Wallaces a very long line, is William Wallace of Ederslie (whose lineage is traced back to A.D. 1100), d. 1554, had William of Ederslie, had John, had William, had William, a Glasgow merchant, d. 1713, father of William Wallace of Galrigs, d. ante, 1734, a Commissioner for Ayr. 1714–1720, who was the alleged ancestor of the Virginia Wallaces. “There is not a scintilla of evidence for all this.” In giving this descent for the Commissioner of Ayr, Hayden refers to Paterson’s History of Ayr and Wigton. Evidently he personally never saw this valuable work, as he evidently has not taken pains to verify references; if he had he would have found out how the Wallaces came into possession of Galrigs, and the true lineage of the alleged ancestors of the Wallaces of Virginia.

In Paterson’s work, vol. I., p. 486, his deductions are disproved as follows:—"William Wallace, the Commissioner of Ayr, had susine of Galrigs as heir to Robert Wallace, his great-grandfather (not John, as Hayden states), and to the deceased William Wallace, his grandfather, of the eight marks of land of Robertland, 8 May 1714." According to Paterson the Commissioner's father was "William Wallace of Galrigs the younger," a tutor (not a Glasgow merchant: William the merchant was an entirely different person), brother to Hugh Wallace, who had susine of an annuity in 1708, son of "Mr. William Wallace of Garrieks, 1652," who d. in 167-, son of "Robert Wallace in Galrix, 1609," and subsequently "of Galrix (Galrigs), who d. in Sept. 1642, son of "William Wallace of Gariggs, granted susine in 1578," &c., &c.

Fourth. p. 256. Here Hayden wrongfully makes Dolly Payne, wife of President Madison, of descent from a Scotch earl. He says Mrs. Madison was a granddaughter of John Payne, and his wife Anna Fleming granddaughter of "Sir Thomas Fleming of New Kent, Co. Virginia, temp. 1616, second son of the Earl of Wigton." There may have been a "Sir Thomas Fleming," and "Dolly" may have been descended from him, but no Earl of Wigton ever had a son "Sir Thomas." According to Wood's Douglas's Peerage of Scotland, the first Earl of Wigton, so quoted in 1606, was John, sixth Lord Fleming, who d. in 1619. He was twice married, and had by first wife, Lillias Grabaur; 1, John, 2d Earl; 2, James, of Boghail, d. 1622; 3, Malcolm, of Gilberton; 4, Alexander, and six daughters; and by his second wife, Sarah Maxwell, he had only two daughters. John Fleming, 2d Earl, d. 1650, had only John, 3d Earl, and Sir William, who d. s.p., his grand-niece, Countess Passmore, was proved as his heir. Hayden's noble descent for Mrs. Madison is "made out of whole cloth."

1. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the symptoms and the context in which they are occurring.

REV. THOMAS DAVIES.—I have in my possession a pamphlet, which for some reason appears to be excessively rare, entitled: "A Biographical Sketch of the Rev. Thomas Davies, A.M., Missionary of the Society for Propagating the Gospel in Foreign Parts, in Several of the Towns of Litchfield County, Conn., from the year 1761 to the year 1766. By a Minister of the County. New Haven: Printed by Stanley & Chapin. 1843." It is a duodecimo of fifty-nine pages with an engraved portrait of Mr. Davies, said to have been taken from a likeness made "in England at the age of 25." As a literary performance, this biography is unusually creditable, and I should be glad to know who was its author.

It appears from this work that on Christmas day, 1764, Mr. Davies preached a sermon at the dedication of the Church at Great Barrington, Mass., respecting which his biographer says: "It was printed at the Providence press soon after its delivery, and some copies of it are said to be still extant. Those who remember to have perused it speak of it as having been characterized by much neatness, simplicity and purity of style in its composition, and to have set forth a statement of the order and form of worship prescribed by the Episcopal Church, defended with much clearness, candor and force of reasoning." I have sought in vain to find a copy of this printed sermon in any of our large libraries and collections. In a letter written to the Society in December, 1764, Mr. Davies wrote: "If the honorable Society desire, I would transmit an exact detail of proceedings in that town [Great Barrington] since I united the people as a Church, together with a copy of my sermon which I shall preach at the opening of their Church." But no copy of the sermon is now to be found in the archives of the Society in London, nor in the British Museum. Any information of the existence of a copy of this production would be highly appreciated.

QUERIES.

THE PARENTAGE OF DR. JOHN BISHOP OF BRADFORD AND MEDFORD, MASS.—Dr. John Bishop appears in Bradford about 1718-19. Bradford Church records give: Sarah, w. of Dr. John Bishop, adm. Feb., 1719-20.

Sarah, of John & Sarah, born ———, 1720.

John, " " " " bapt. March 18, 1721-22.

In April, 1723, Dr. John Bishop moved to Medford, and died there about 1739, leaving widow Sarah and children Sarah and John. John Williams, the early settler, and wife Jane, had a son John, who married Rebecca Coleby, daughter of Anthony Coleby and wife Susanna. This John was the father of Sarah Williams who was the wife of Joseph Bond and mother of Sarah Bond the wife of Dr. John Bishop.

Joseph Bond, the husband of Sarah Williams and father of Sarah Bond wife of Dr. John Bishop, was son of John Bond and Hester Blakeley. Joseph Bond was of Haverhill, Mass. The date of this daughter's marriage to Dr. Bishop is desired.

Savage, Wyman and others make Dr. Bishop the son of Samuel Bishop, who was the oldest son of Thomas Bishop, merchant, of Ipswich, Mass., who appeared there as early as 1636, and died in 1670. "The Cogswells in America" make Samuel Bishop's son John (after emigrating from Ipswich, Mass.) a resident of Connecticut and give him a wife not of the Bond family.

If this be true Dr. John Bishop could not have been of the line of Thomas Bishop of Ipswich, 1634-1670.

From whence did he come? From the old country direct, or from some other line of American Bishops?

In the historical sermon delivered at Bradford Dec. 20th, 1820, by Rev. G. B. Perry, we find: "The following are the names of physicians who have resided in this place. It is not known that they stand in order of life: ——— Bailey, John Bishop, from Ireland, Ezekiel Chase, &c."

The authority for Mr. Perry's statement was the oral evidence given him by a laboring man, about one hundred years after Dr. John had left Bradford. The laboring man was about ninety years old when he conversed with Mr. Perry. Will this point to a foreign parentage for Dr. Bishop?

Dr. John Bishop's daughter married Benjamin Leathe, both of Medford, April 26, 1738.

The doctor's son, John, married Abigail Tufts, daughter of Dr. Simon Tufts, the physician of Medford.

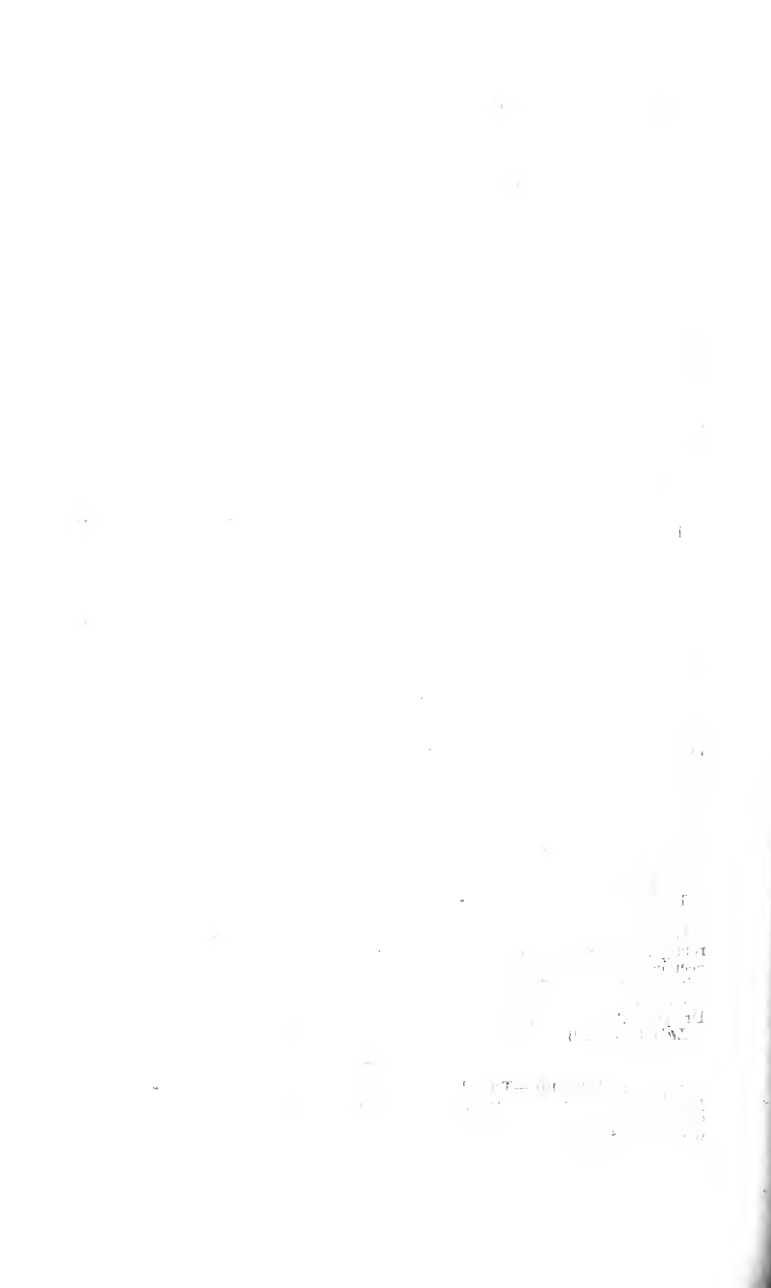

If the descendants of the Leathe, Bond and Tufts families have any records relating to Dr. John Bishop, will they kindly address the subscriber, who has been collecting Bishop and Holmes genealogical material for thirty years past, with the intention of contributing the same, without charge, to the public?

I will cheerfully give twenty-five dollars for the proof of the parentage of Dr. John Bishop, of Bradford and Medford, Mass.

Lake George, Warren County, New York.

NATHANIEL HOLMES BISHOP.

THOMAS HUBBARD.—The distinguished Thomas Hubbard, whose obituary you have re-published in the REGISTER, vol. 47, p. 480, from the Massachusetts Gazette, was a great-grandson of Richard Hubbard of Salisbury, concerning whose emigration an entertaining tradition is preserved in Eaton's history of Candia. His wife was probably a daughter of the patriarchal Richard Goodale, as Mr. Goodale had a daughter of that name, and their son Richard (the Hon. Mr. Hubbard's grandfather) spoke in two deeds of "my grandfather Mr. Richard Goodale." Any doubt on this point arises from the fact that the wife of the younger Richard Hubbard was a granddaughter of Mr. Goodale, née Martha Allen, sister of Peter Ayer's wife, both being daughters of Mr. William Allen, whose wife was Ann Goodale.

The second Richard Hubbard was a blacksmith, and lived in Salisbury most of his life. During a short period, including the years 1697-1700, his residence was in Boston. He was born in 1645 and lived to old age in Salisbury.

In 1718 he executed an interesting conveyance to four of his grandchildren:

"Richard Hubbard son of my son John Hubbard.

"Richard Langdon son of my daughter Mary Langdon.

"Thomas Hubbard son of my son Joseph Hubbard.

"Hubbard Stevens son of my daughter Dorothy Stevens."

The land conveyed was in Amesbury, and in the year 1727 Messrs. Langdon and Thomas Hubbard joined in a deed conveying away their half interest. Both were residents of Boston at the time, one described as a merchant and the other as a gentleman, and their wives Thankful and Mary joined to release their rights of dower.

John Hubbard early settled in Kingston, N. H., and the son Richard was grandfather of Dr. John Hubbard, governor of Maine. A sister of Richard, named Anna, married Rev. William Tompson of Scarborough, and was blessed with three children—William Tompson, Esq. of Scarborough; John, the urbane Parson Tompson of South Berwick; and Anna, wife of Joseph Gerrish, who numbered among her grandchildren Governor Goodwin of New Hampshire.

Mary Langdon was the progenitor of the distinguished Portsmouth family of the name.

Joseph Hubbard was a blacksmith in Boston. The records show his marriage, Aug. 4, 1693, to Thankful Brown of Sudbury, and the birth of their distinguished son in 1702.

It occurs to me that a thorough genealogy of the posterity of Mr. Richard Goodale would show a great many men of active minds and commanding characters.

KING, HYDE, STOWELL, SAWYER.—The Boston Marriage Records contain the intention of marriage of John King of Boston and Mary Stowell of Newton, Mass., published April 2, 1718. Papers on file in the probate office, Cambridge, show that John Stowell, of Watertown, administered on the estate of Benjamin Stowell, of Newtown, in 1729. He certifies to having given notice to heirs Samuel Stowell, Ruth O—— and Mary King.

Richard King, of Watertown, Mass., with John Stowell and Samuel Stowell, were, in 1735, among the sixty grantees of township No. 4, afterwards known as Paris, Maine.

Samuel Hyde, of Newton, married Mary King of Cambridge in 1763, and became a grantee in township No. 4 on the right of Richard King, of Watertown.

Joseph Sawyer had a son, Richard K. Sawyer, born June 25, 1779.

1. Is anything known of the ancestry of John King?
2. Who were the parents of Mary Stowell?
3. Is there any record of the names of the children of John and Mary (Stowell) King?
4. Who was Mary King who married Samuel Hyde and what relation was she, if any, to Richard King of Watertown?
5. Was Richard K. Sawyer's middle name King, and was he related to Richard King of Watertown?

In 1797 Eliza Southgate, a granddaughter of Richard King, just mentioned, wrote to her mother, Mary (King) Southgate, as follows:

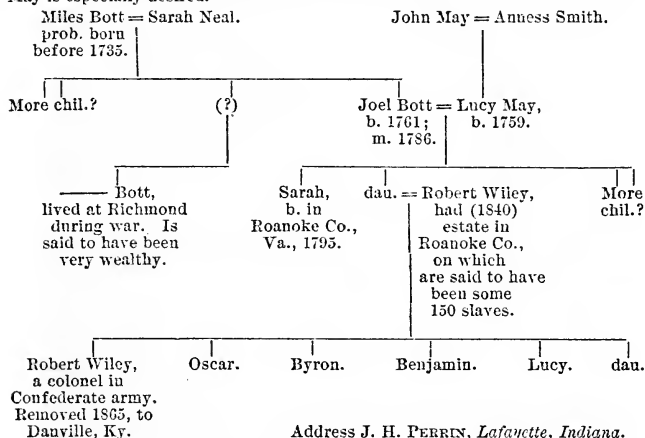

"I believe I have got some news to tell you, that is I have found one of your acquaintance and relation; it is Mrs. Sawyer; before she was married she was Polly King and she says you kept at their house when you were in Boston."

BOTT, MAY, NEAL, SMITH AND WILEY.—Further information about any of the following persons will be paid for, and the ancestry of Miles Bott or John May is especially desired.

BALL.—The following note has been prepared by a descendant of John Ball, a Concord freeman. Does any person bearing the name of Ball, or any reader of the REGISTER, know any facts concerning the personality or history of any individual named below? Such information will be thankfully received.

1. John Ball, a Concord freeman, brought with him from England, where he lived in Wiltshire, his two sons, Nathaniel and John. He died in Concord Oct. 1, 1655.

2. John Ball married Elizabeth Pierce of Watertown, Mass., and had five children. By a second marriage with Elizabeth Fox he had one child. He (John Ball) was killed by Indians at Lancaster, Mass., Sept. 10, 1675.

3. John Ball, born 1644, and married Sarah Bullard, a daughter of George Bullard, of Watertown. They had seven children. He was by trade a weaver, and died May 8, 1722.

4. James Ball, born in Watertown 1670. He married Elizabeth Fisk, and died in 1729 or '30. Number of children not known, except that there were at least two.

5. John Ball, born in Watertown 1697. He married Lydia Perry, and removed to Worcester, Mass., where he died in 1756. At least four children, two of whom, with the mother, were the executors of his will.

6. Joseph Ball, born in Worcester in 1730, and married Lucretia Stearns. He removed to West Bloomfield, N. Y., in 1796, and died there in 1817. He had eight children.

7. Isaac Ball, born in West Bloomfield 1785, and died there in 1850. Was twice married and had six children. The sixth child, Samuel A., was by his second wife Lucinda Adams Ball.

FAMILY RECORD OF CAPT. JOHN R. RUSSELL.—There is in my possession the tattered family record, in his own excellent penmanship, of Capt. done prior to the present century. The record further states that he married, first, on June 10th, 1778, Lois, daughter of Capt. Samuel Hooper of Marblehead, and that she died in April, 1801.

Among the list of children by his second marriage is interpolated this statement, in his handwriting: "Lois Nicholson was born Aug. 15, 1732—her son Samuel Hooper was born Nov. 23, 1764."

A gravestone in St. Michael's churchyard at Marblehead reads thus: "Lois wife of Samuel Hooper, died 1772, aged 30." What was the kinship between the above Hoopers, and between them and "Merchant John" Hooper and his wife Eunice, who was daughter of Samuel Hooper?

Also who were the parents and other ancestors of Capt. John Russell, Senr., who died in 1811 aged 83? The Hoopers and Russells were prominent families there from the earliest settlement. The early church and town records of Marblehead should be put into print for preservation and public enlightenment.

HALLETT—FONES.—Can any one inform me when William Hallett married Elizabeth Fones-Winthrop-Feke? She was the daughter of Thomas Fones of London, Eng. and Anna his wife a daughter of Adam Winthrop of Groton, Eng. April 25, 1629, she married Henry Winthrop, second son of Gov. John Winthrop of Massachusetts, who was a son of Adam Winthrop above-mentioned. Henry was accidentally drowned at Salem, Mass., on the day following his arrival in New England, July 2, 1630; his wife, with the only child of this marriage, Martha Joanna, and Margaret the wife of Gov. John Winthrop of Mass., arrived in Boston, Mass. in November, 1631. Elizabeth Fones-Winthrop married secondly in New England (probably Boston), before the year 1636, Lieut. Robert Feke (Feake, Fekes, Feecx, Feac), who in conjunction with Capt. Daniel Patrick, both having been in John Underhill's troop, invested largely in lands in Connecticut, chiefly in and about Greenwich. Early in 1647 Robert Feke went to England, leaving his lands in charge of William Hallett (born about 1616 in Dorsetshire, Eng.), and Mrs. Feke. In August, 1647, we have a hint at an improper intimacy between Hallett and Mrs. Feke; this is again mentioned in March, 1648; in April, 1648, Mrs. Hallett is with child, and in July of the same year there is again some mention as to the validity of her marriage with Hallett. (See Proc. Mass. Hist. Soc., 2d ser., vol. 6, pp. 2-13; Winthrop's New England; Some Old Puritan Love Letters, pp. 53, 95, 131, by J. H. Twichell; N. E. Gen. and Bio. Record, vol. 11; Doc. Col. Hist. of N. Y.; Cal. N. Y. Hist. Man.) Any information that might lead to the discovery of the date of this marriage would be very welcome; also any information regarding the life of William Hallett previous to 1647.

CONSTANTINE PHIPPS.—We all know that the peerages long printed the ancestry of Sir Constantine Phipps (Lord High Chancellor of Ireland, 1810), as derived collaterally from our Sir William Phipps. His grandson was the first Baron Mulgrave, an Irish peerage, ancestor of the Marquis of Normandy. But in Notes and Queries for Oct. 9, 1875, (5th S. IV. 287), Alfred S. Gatty wrote that he had some papers connected with a family of Phipps of Highgreen, in the parish of Ecclesfield, Co. York, dated 1777.

Therein it appeared that George Phipps of Highgreen was a brother of Sir Constantine P. and that George had a daughter Eliza who married Dr. Thomas Fairfax, and left daughters Frances Cotton and Elizabeth Middleton, who sold certain lands to their cousin Samuel Phipps of Lincoln's Inn.

Has this genealogical clue ever been followed up, to ascertain the true line of Sir Constantine Phipps and the possible origin of our Sir William?

SAMUEL SHARPE.—Bancroft, in his History of the United States, vol. 1st, page 279, referring to the Company of Massachusetts Bay, writes: "The passengers for Salem included six shipwrights, and an experienced surveyor, who was to give advice on the proper site for a fortified town, and with Samuel Sharpe, master-gunner of ordnance, was to muster all such as lived under the government, both planters and servants, and at appointed times to exercise them in the use of arms." I would like to know more of this Samuel Sharpe; where he lived, maiden name of his wife, names of his children, date of their birth, and who and when they married. #### HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

HERALDRY.—The Société Belge de Librairie, Bruxelles, Belgique, will publish the Dictionnaire des Figures Héraldique, par le Comte Théodore de Renesse, membre Suppléant du Conseil Héraldique. It is practically a dictionary of heraldic figures with the names of the bearers, somewhat similar to the "Papworth Ordinary of British Armoriais," but founded on the famous "Armorial Général" by the late J. B. Rietstap, in which the surnames are arranged alphabetically; these two volumes, containing about 105,000 coats of arms, are at present the most important work on general European heraldry; and the forthcoming dictionary, which may be considered a companion, will fill a much needed place in European heraldic bibliography.

The society will issue this work in about fifteen numbers, each number containing about one hundred two-column pages, with one plate of arms; the cost of each number being four francs. Subscription, will be received by Monsieur Oscar Schepens, Director of the Society at Bruxelles.

A. D. WELD FRENCH.

THE LIST OF BRITISH OFFICERS SERVING IN AMERICA, 1755 TO 1774.—This list has called out information from the descendants of these officers. It is to be hoped that this may lead to a regular compilation, giving more in detail the services and army records of these officers, both in America and elsewhere.

The compiler of the list has expressed the wish that any person who can contribute such information will send it to him for record and preservation. The address is Mr. Worthington C. Ford, Metropolitan Club, Washington, D. C.

Trumbull's paper on Algonquin Geographical Names; Papers on the Church Controversy, Hartford, 1656-59; Correspondence of Silas Deane, 1774-76. The Society will be pleased to know of other historical societies and libraries which lack this volume.

The second part will give, amongst others, Downing of Suffolk and New England; and the third part Burroughs of Suffolk and New England. Many of the pedigrees in the first and second parts will be altogether new to genealogists. The address of Mr. Muskett is 11 Talbot Road, South Tottenham, London, to whom subscriptions and remittances should be addressed.

We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of births, marriages, residence and death. When there are more than one christian name they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full names are known.

Lamborn.—The Genealogy of the Lamborn Family, which has been in preparation for the past seven years, is now in press and will be ready for delivery in July of the present year. The large number of descendants filling prominent public and private positions of honor in all parts of this country will make this a desirable book of reference in public libraries. Price, $6.00.

NECROLOGY OF THE NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Prepared by the Historiographer, REV. EZRA HOYT BYINGTON, D.D., of Newton, Mass.

THE sketches of deceased members prepared for the REGISTER are of necessity brief, because the space that can be appropriated is quite limited. All the materials for more extended memoirs which can be gathered are preserved in the archives of the Society, and they will be available for use in preparing the "Memorial Biographies," of which four volumes have been issued and a fifth volume is in press. The income from the Towne Memorial Fund is devoted to the publication of these volumes.

HON. CHARLES HENRY BELL, A.B., A.M., LL.D., a life member, elected June 3, 1868, was born in Chester, N. H., November 18, 1823, and died in Exeter, N. H., November 11, 1893.

He came of Scotch-Irish ancestry. His paternal ancestors were among the early settlers of Londonderry, N. H., from which colony a large number of eminent men have descended. He was prepared for college at Pembroke Academy and Phillips Exeter, and was graduated at Dartmouth 1844. He studied law with Bell & Tuck, and with his cousin Samuel D. Bell. He was an active and successful lawyer for a little more than twenty years, when his tastes led him to retire from the practice of his profession, and devote his time to other pursuits. He had a long and eminent career in the public service. In 1858 he became a member of the legislature of his native state. He was afterwards speaker of the house of representatives; a member of the state senate, and president of that body. He was a member of the senate of the United States in 1879, and in 1880 was elected governor of New Hampshire by a large popular majority, and during his term of two years he discharged the duties of the office with fidelity and ability. His father and his uncle had preceded him in this office. He resided for forty years in Exeter, N. H., and was president of the Board of Trustees of Exeter Academy and a trustee of Robinson Female Seminary. He was an industrious student of New-England history, and was for several years president of the New-Hampshire Historical Society. He was the author of a number of historical works, among which are the "Historical Sketch of Phillips Exeter Academy," "History of Exeter," "Memoir of John Wheelwright," and "The Bench and Bar of New Hampshire"; which last was published after his death.

Gov. Bell was a facile and vigorous writer. He had leisure for thorough investigation, and he has contributed very much toward the history of his native state. He had a large and well-selected library, which was especially rich in works relating to the history of New England. He is spoken of as the model American gentleman, with cultivated tastes, gentle, dignified and courtly. His powers were remarkably well balanced. His judgment was seldom mistaken. It is a matter of congratulation that in this country there is already a large number of men of culture, who have leisure to do thorough work outside the range of the ordinary duties of professional men.

Gov. Bell was twice married. In 1847 he married Sarah A. Gilman of Exeter, who died in 1850. In 1867 he married Mrs. Mary E., widow of Joseph Taylor Gilman, and daughter of Harrison Gray of Boston, who survives him.

HON. JOHN JAMES BELL, A.M., LL.B., a resident member, elected June 3, 1868, was the son of Samuel D. Bell, LL.D., chief justice of New Hampshire, and a grandson of Samuel Bell, LL.D., a justice of the Superior Court in that state, governor of the state, and United States senator. The honors that have been crowded upon the members of this family for three generations are almost without a parallel in New England.

John J. Bell was born in Chester, N. H., October 30, 1827, and died in Manchester, N. H., August 22, 1893. He received a thorough academical education, and was graduated from the Harvard Law School in 1827. He received the degree of A.M. from Dartmouth College.

He was president of the New-Hampshire Historical Society and a member of the American Antiquarian Society. He was a man of books, and read with an eye to utility. He had a great fondness for historical studies, and he delivered a number of valuable historical addresses.

He was an able lawyer, though his tastes led him to turn aside from his profession at various times, and to devote to other pursuits the powers which would have given him a high rank in his profession. He was for some years a prominent member of the legislature of New Hampshire, and also a member of the constitutional convention of that state. He was president of a number of railroads and a director in several business corporations. He was an able, faithful and ready man, one to whom his friends looked for counsel.

He married April 13, 1831, Cora L. Kent of Exeter, who survives him.

GYLES MERRILL, Esq. of Haverhill, Mass., was a Resident Member of this Society, elected Dec. 4, 1878. He was born in Haverhill, Mass., March 13, 1816, and died in Haverhill, Jan. 23, 1894.

Mr. Merrill belonged to an old New-England family, which has been traced through seven generations to Nathaniel Merrill, who came from England in the early years of the Bay Colony. He was a resident of Newbury in 1635, and he died in 1655. His son Donald was born in Salisbury in 1642. Dea. Moses Merrill was born in Newbury in 1683. His son of the same name, also a deacon, was born in 1707. Rev. Gyles Merrill of the next generation was born in 1739. He was for a long period the pastor of the Congregational Church in the North Parish of Haverhill. Moses Merrill was his son, born in 1776, and he was the father of Gyles Merrill who has just passed away. Mr. Merrill traced the history of his family back to the emigration from England. All his ancestors were of English blood. There has been no admixture of foreign blood in any generation. All his ancestors came to this country before 1650.

For three generations at least the family have resided in the North Parish of Haverhill, on the same place. The house was erected more than a century ago.

Mr. Merrill received a good common-school education, and spent his early years on the farm, teaching school in the winter season. In 1840 he became the bookkeeper of a firm that was engaged in building the Boston & Maine Railroad. In 1847 he removed to Roxbury, and took a position in the office of the Norfolk Lead Company. In 1852 he became an officer of the Sullivan Railroad of New Hampshire. In 1859 he was chosen superintendent of the Vermont Central and Vermont & Canada Railroads, a position of very great labor and responsibility, which he held until 1873, when impaired health compelled him to relinquish the arduous duties of the position. The company whose general manager he was built and leased a number of railroads. At the time of his resignation the system included nearly 800 miles of railway, extending through Vermont and Massachusetts, and into Connecticut, New York and Canada. More than five thousand men were employed by this Company. Mr. Merrill was the directing head of this system, and managed it with great efficiency and wisdom. Twenty years ago he was well known all through northern New England.

On relinquishing the business, he removed to the old home of the family in North Haverhill, in March, 1874. He remodeled the old homestead, and gathered into it the old heir-looms of the family. He was pleasantly occupied with his private business, and with the affairs of the Church of which his grandfather had been the pastor. He was fond of reading, and of historical investigation, and he was a successful antiquarian. He made a tour in Europe in 1878, with his wife, visiting England and Scotland and a number of the Continental countries. He also traveled extensively in the Southern and Western States of this country. Most of his later years have been spent in his home in the country, amid the scenes familiar to him in his childhood. It was a typical New-England home; such as a man of abundant means, with simple and cultivated tastes, would love to provide for his declining years.

The writer of this sketch has been acquainted with Mr. Merrill for more than thirty years. He was a good man, singularly modest and unassuming in character, of strict integrity, and broad benevolence. It has been said of him that he "counted as friends all who knew him, but never made an enemy." He married Nov. 28, 1849, Eliza Watson Newbury, a teacher in Roxbury. She died in 1899. They had four sons, two of whom survive. One of them occupies the old homestead.

HENRY WHEATLAND, A.M., M.D., a corresponding member of this Society and president of the Essex Institute, died at Salem, after a lingering illness, 27 February, 1893, in his eighty-second year. He was the sixth child and fifth son of Richard and Martha (Goodhue) Wheatland, and was born at Salem, 11 January, 1812. His father, son of Peter and Bridget (Foxcroft) Wheatland, born in England, at Wareham, in the county of Dorset, 20 October, 1762, went early to London, and thence, soon after, to sea. After serving three years in the British navy,—being stationed principally in the West Indies during the period of the Revolutionary war,—he came to Salem, upon the conclusion of peace in 1783, and there continued to reside until his death, 18 March, 1830. Until about the year 1800 he followed the seas, in the East India trade. Afterwards he engaged in mercantile business at Salem, from which he retired not long before his death.

Dr. Wheatland's mother was his father's second wife, his first wife Margaret Silver of Salem (who bore him no children), having died 9 June, 1789. His second wife, Mrs. Martha (Goodhue) Wheatland, was the daughter of Stephen, son of Benjamin Goodhue, and his wife Martha, daughter of Benjamin Prescott and Rebecca Minot his wife. Stephen was brother to Hon. Benjamin Goodhue, first member of Congress from the Essex district under the Federal Constitution. Through this line Dr. Wheatland was descended from Rev. Francis Higginson, the first minister in Salem, and was fourth cousin to William Hickling Prescott, the historian, and more nearly related to the descendants of Hon. Roger Sherman, who married his grand-aunt Rebecca Prescott, the grandmother of Hon. William M. Evarts and of the Hons. Ebenezer Rockwood Hoar and George Frisbie Hoar.

By the death, one week earlier, of his brother George (H. C. 1824) in his nineteenth year, Henry became the last survivor of his father's children. Early deprived of the companionship of his mother, who died 13 August, 1826, aged 53 years, 6 months, 11 days, he became for a time a member of the family of Benjamin Goodhue, his bachelor uncle, at Salem. At the age of sixteen he entered Harvard College, graduating there in 1832, two years after the decease of his father. He studied medicine under the noted surgeon, Dr. Abel L. Peirson of Salem, and received his medical degree at Harvard in 1837. His studies of the animal organs and tissues attracted him to deeper research in comparative anatomy and biology, and thus led to the abandonment of any purpose to practise his profession.

He acquired a wide and minute knowledge of animal life and organisms, and to this he added such acquisitions in botany, geology and mineralogy as made him a useful instructor and guide to the young in every department of natural history, and the welcome companion of men renowned for high attainments in natural science. By his methodical and industrious habits, he gained time to improve the opportunities which his social position and his familiarity with the public records afforded, for the study of local history and genealogy. By this means he accumulated a fund of interesting facts, of many of which he became the sole repository, and no small part of which, it is feared, has been lost by his decease.

The great work of his life, however, was the upbuilding of the Essex Institute, which was formed by uniting the Essex Historical Society and the Essex County Natural History Society. This union was effected in 1848, chiefly through his instrumentality. Since then, as before while a member of the older societies abovenamed, he continued assiduous in his efforts to promote the study, and to diffuse a knowledge of science, history and art; particularly, though not exclusively, in his native county. His labors to this end were pursued with equal zeal and self-denial. He not only gave his entire time and energy to this service gratuitously, but he devoted to it his modest patrimony and whatever else he acquired or saved by his frugality. He had the satisfaction of seeing his devotion repaid by the firm establishment and steady growth of the Institute, and by the foundation of the Peabody Academy of Science (an institution intimately related to the older corporation), as well as of feeling that his life work would be surely carried on by successors who have grown up under his eye and tutelage, who fully appreciate his labors, and who cherish for him the sincerest affection.

Dr. Wheatland was made a corresponding member of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, April 7, 1846. He was vice president and one of the original trustees of "The Peabody Academy of Science for the County of Essex"; a trustee of "The Peabody Museum of Archæology"; a member of "The American Antiquarian Society" and of "The American Historical Association"; and a member and one of the founders of "The American Association for the Advancement of Science," &c., &c.

Dr. Wheatland married 3 February, 1858, Mary C., daughter of Hon. Elisha and Catherine (Orne) Mack of Salem. She was born 25 September, 1816, and died there 13 February, 1862. They had no children. His remains were deposited in Harmony Grove Cemetery, Salem. In a sermon preached at the North Church on the Sunday following his death, a tribute was paid to his character and life work by his pastor Rev. Edmund B. Willson, and memorial addresses in his honor were delivered by members of the Institute, at a special meeting on the evening of 17 April, 1893. AUGUSTUS RUSS, A.M. was elected a resident member of this Society 1 November, 1882, and died in Boston, 7 June, 1892.

He was born in Boston, on Hawkins street, 6 February, 1827, and was thus sixty-five years old at his death. His parents were Daniel Russ, born at Damariscotta, Maine, and Sarah Bakeman, born at Castine, Me. Mr. Russ spent his boyhood in the city near the place of his birth, and attended school at the old Boylston School on Fort Hill, and also the school on East street, until near twelve years of age, when, from some trouble with his eyes, he was obliged to give up his studies, and his only education afterwards was gained from general reading and contact with the world. His parents were poor, with a growing family, and like other lads thus situated he was expected to be self-supporting as soon as able. He was employed for some time in the hardware store of "Oliphant Brothers" on Pearl street, where he gained some knowledge of old-time business ways, and learned book-keeping. In 1851, at the age of twenty-four, he went to California, across the Isthmus, and joined Mr. Moses Ellis in business. Some time after he went with a cargo of merchandise to the Sandwich Islands, and established a business there at the port of Honolulu, remaining about two years, when he returned to San Francisco and joined Mr. Ellis again. Later on he came back to the East, again crossing the Isthmus, with the purpose of purchasing goods for the California house, but, while in Boston, was persuaded by his friend, John C. Danforth, then the law partner of Hon. John C. Park, to leave his business career and enter upon the study of the law. He decided upon this course, studied in their office, and was admitted to the bar. Subsequently he became a partner of Mr. Danforth. This connection lasted several years, when Mr. Russ opened an office alone at No. 14 Tremont street. From there he removed to Pemberton square, No. 15, and then No. 26, but finally located at No. 20, where he has been for many years, having rooms in the upper stories in which he kept house, with his brother Mr. Charles E. Russ and his sister Miss Lucy Russ. From time to time he has been associated in his law business with R. W. Nason, Hon. J. W. McKim, Judge J. M. F. Howard and W. G. Pattee. Some seven years ago he united in business with Hon. M. O. Adams, with whom he continued. About the same time he removed his apartments to Hotel Bellevue, Beacon street, where his unmarried sister still made his home for him. During the summer months he lived upon one of the "Brewsters," an island in the lower harbor, which he had improved and built a commodious house upon. Going back and forth to and from the city each day in his fine yacht, entertaining friends in his cordial and simple manner, it is probable that some of the happiest hours of his life were passed in this free "sea-girt island." All who have enjoyed his genial hospitality there have surely seen him at his happiest. Surveying his course, and summing up the character and result, we must look upon him as, in the best sense of the term, a "self-made man." With limited educational advantages in youth, he was one of the best read men in the profession; and not only in the literature of law, but in nearly every branch of human science. He early began the practice of buying a new book each week, and thus became possessed of an immense and varied library. The method of his business and the perfect system of his office have been for years the admiration of his associates in the profession. His clientage was extensive, permanent, and of the best class. Great interests and important trusts were left to his administration and counsel. Some of the most important cases tried before the courts of Suffolk in the last thirty years have been conducted by Mr. Russ. He was a prominent member and officer of the Boston Bar Association. But he was widely connected in varied concerns beyond his profession; one of the founders and promoters of the Boston Yacht Club, president of the Old School Boys Association, a trustee of the Warren Street Chapel, a conscientious worker in the city politics, though never seeking or accepting office, his life was full of the best and highest activities of his day. Dartmouth College honored its own records in conferring upon Mr. Russ, in 1886, the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

Mr. Russ never married, but has kept the old ties of home unbroken with his brother Charles and sister Lucy, who, with another sister, Mrs. Nancy Hearsey, survived him. He was a man of simple tastes and manners, direct of speech and address, straightforward in dealings, loyal to the cause of his clients, devoted to friends. His loss in all these relations will be deeply felt and widely deplored.

Oxford Men: 1880-1892. With a record of their schools, honors and degrees. By JOSEPH FOSTER, HON. M. A. OXON, author, &c. (as above). Oxford and London: James Parker & Co. 1893. Illustrated. 4to; pp. 686. Price £1. 11. 6.

These two superb volumes are alike in size, type and binding, and are similar in the manner of illustration. They are a continuation and completion of the author's series of volumes of fame, entitled Alumni Oxonienses. The latter of the two is avowedly a supplement to the series, and contains the matriculation register from 1880 to and including 1892. The former may be described as the capital, of which the series, thus brought down to date, is the Corinthian column. It contains a historical sketch of each of the colleges and halls constituting the University, setting forth the main facts pertaining to the particular institution from the beginning. For distinction it may be called the historical volume. The illustrations of both are profuse and artistic; and by "artistic" is meant that the work is faithfully and fitly done, not that every picture is an esthetic gem. There are plenty of that sort, while many are copies of the quaint conceits of designers and limners who lived when the art of engraving was in its infancy. But what the artist of to-day has attempted in the one sort or the other, whether by the use of the graver or by the photographic process, he has achieved, leaving nothing to be desired in his proper province.

The first impression of one who should hastily glance through these pages might easily be that the author's intent was mainly to exhibit the various architecture of the university buildings, an impression arising from the fact that the views of facades and interiors of existing structures are not only numerous, but usually, if not invariably, a full quarto page is given to each. But when the reader reverts to the text of the historical volume this impression is quickly dissipated, and to his mind one vista opens into another, almost without number, disclosing facts pertaining not only to architecture but to biography, archaeology, portraiture, the vicissitudes of dynasties, ecclesiastical turns and overturns, the expansion of college curriculums, and to changes in the domestic life, the table-fare, the permitted diversions and the college discipline; and all this, whether broadly stated or hinted forth by instances whence a rule or usage may be inferred, extends over a period of more than six hundred years. On one page the dimness of Oxford's remote antiquity is made tangible by the picture of a time-worn structure entitled "Hall, name unknown;" and on two pages of the companion volume are photographed groups representing the "University Eight" and the "University Eleven" for the year 1893. The frontispiece of the historical volume is a fine portrait of the present chancellor or chief officer of the University, Lord Salisbury, whose lineaments are familiar to readers of American newspapers and periodicals as those of a contemporary man; and one soon encounters, as he turns the pages, the visages of Edward II., Henry VIII. and Elizabeth, who in their respective reigns did something for the University. Many engravings appear of grotesque heads and figures comprised in the architecture of the college buildings; also of designs in ornamental string-courses, parapets and battlements, of coats of arms, of specimens of antique furniture and table-ware, and one of the identical brazen-nose door-knocker—of date A.D. 1334—whence “Brasenose College” gets its name. The full-page illustrations of existing architecture are usually, and perhaps in every instance, done by a photographic process which yields a tinted impression. This faint haze of color adds much to the effect, especially in interiors.

Accompanying these pleasing reminiscences of by-gone days are pages of dry facts, or, if the cynics of literature please, “dry-as-dust.” To the historian these are invaluable and indispensable, as are the pages of the ledger and city directory to the man of business. No historian may ever desire to know, for example, who was principal of Balliol College in the year 1282, but should it so happen he wants the exact fact and not a tradition or surmise of it. This book supplies that fact, with thousands like it, extending through the six centuries. Lists are given of all the masters of the colleges of the University from the beginning to the present time, with an outline in brief of the public career of each, setting forth his college of matriculation, honorary degrees, offices of dignity in church or state, with mention of any remarkable achievements, exact dates being supplied in each case. A complete list of the officers in each college in the year 1893 is also a part of the record. The historical sketches of the colleges are but brief, considering the period covered, but reference is made in each to any more complete narrative which may exist. Nearly all of them have been condensed from fuller narratives, in some instances by the authors of such narratives, and all but a very few of the sketches have been prepared by Oxford historians. The record has, therefore, the stamp of authenticity, and offers to the student or inquirer the unique advantage of opening the whole field to his view at once. In their special ways both volumes are standard works of reference, and the historical volume is also a definite contribution to good literature.

A variety of excerpts of pleasant antique flavor might be made from these pages did space permit. A note as to the antiquity itself may be ventured. It would be difficult at this distance, and perhaps also on the spot, unless some precise definitions were agreed upon, to decide which college has priority in that particular. The writer of the sketch of Merton College says: “Merton, the earliest of English colleges, and the model of all the rest, dates its pedigree from the year 1264, having been founded by Walter de Merton, chancellor to Henry III.” The writer for Balliol says: “The origin of Balliol College is traced to certain payments made by John Balliol, not long after 1260, for the support of poor students at Oxford.” He adds that in 1282 it was “placed upon an established footing,” the method or plan of organization being that of Merton College. The writer for University College says, in substance, that that institution has its origin in a bequest in the will of William of Durham who died in the year 1249. The first application of the gift, so far as known, was in 1253, when a house and land were bought, the deed for which still exists. This first house stood on land now occupied by the north-east corner of Brasenose College, the removal of University College to its present site being of date 1343. He follows his statement with this remark: “Anyhow, the college is the oldest foundation in the University, although it was organized as a college, in the sense in which we understand that word, later than Balliol and Merton Colleges.”

The fact seems to be that several of these earliest colleges grew out of existing monasteries, and that a monastic regimen was maintained for a while. Merton was, however, founded as a secular college, and the founder provided that “no monk or friar should be admitted on his foundation at all”—that is, admitted as a student or fellow. Under this strict definition the oldest collegiate building at Oxford—the choir of a chapel erected in the latter part of the 13th century—is claimed for Merton, with the proviso, “if we exclude fragments of monastic buildings afterwards converted to collegiate uses.”

The prestige derivable from antiquity is curiously illustrated by the language of the writer for Worcester College, his phrase here italicized being probably without parallel in the written histories of eleemosynary institutions. Having stated that in 1753 and 1773 the college quadrangle was rebuilt in part, he adds: “Fortunately, funds ran short for further reconstruction, so that the old Benedictine tenements still form the southern side of the quadrangle”—that is, tenements occupied by Benedictine monks, dating, apparently, from the year 1283. Whatever are the merits of this dispute (if there be one) the point for readers on this side of the ocean perhaps is, that, giving the three colleges first named an average date, the world had yet to wait two centuries and the third part of another to have it announced that such a place as America existed, and to wait 128 years more for the landing on Plymouth Rock. From the date of the bequest of William of Durham to the date of that of John Harvard, which founded America's oldest collegiate institution, is a period of 389 years. There is authority in the text for saying that "Hertford is the youngest college of the University." It was chartered, after a reorganization, in 1740, but traces its origin to Hert or Hart Hall, of date about 1280. Nevertheless, the last chapter in the book is entitled "Keble College," and describes that institution, which was chartered in 1870. No college was chartered at Oxford between 1740 and 1870. Keble College appears to have substantially the same dignities and privileges as the others; but there is a technical or legal distinction which doubtless warrants the statement of the writer for Hertford. That technicality is indicated by the writer for Keble, who says: "The charter [of Keble] authorized the incorporation of this college within the University of Oxford; but this incorporation has not been carried out, and its constitution differs from that of the other colleges."

Notes on the Surnames of Francus, Franceis, French, etc., in Scotland, with an account of the Frenches of Thornydykes. By A. D. WELD FRENCH, F. S. A. Scot. Boston: Privately Printed. 1893. 8vo. pp. 109.

The writer of this volume is already well and favorably known in Great Britain and this country as the author of the "Index Armorial." His first work, however, on armory was on the coats of arms of the surname of Williams. The present title does not fully indicate its antiquarian and historical importance, for this volume goes far back to the very foundation stones of history. Much of the earliest information has been gathered from the ancient abbey archives in England, Scotland and Normandy. And although there are a few gaps in the historical records, yet practically this original search begins at the very end of the 11th century and continues down to the dawn of the 17th century, a period of more than 500 years. No one but the historical and genealogical author can fully realize the amount of work, perseverance and study necessary to have completed this volume. Dissecting the work, we classify it under the following four headings:—

First. SURNAMES, on which subject the preface is particularly interesting. Nor does the interest fail on this theme in the body of these records. As an illustration, we cite an instance as found in the Family of Ayton, where, starting with Francus, we have Franciscus, Franceis, Franceys, Francys, Francays, Frances, Franches and finally Franche.

Second. HISTORICALLY. The translations of the ancient unpublished Norman charters specially indicate the then prevailing custom of individual donation to the abbey, the existing system of land tenure, historic and genealogical information, as well as early prototypes of some French and Anglo-Norman surnames; similar illustrations by charters are given for Scotland. Many historical events crop out in different parts of this work in connection with the surnames in Scotland, of which the following is a partial synopsis:—

In the year 1296, Roll of submission of King John Baliol to his liege lord King Edward the First of England.

Arrangements in 1302 for the defence of Kirkintilloch castle.

Third. GENERAL NOTES on the surname; beginning at the end of the 11th century, we find "Robertus Franceys, one of the few recorded knights of the 2d Robert de Brus in English history." The earlier Norman charters recorded give the Latin form of the surname; they are all identified with the Valognes district of the Cotentin, the Normandy home of the Bruces, in which locality are many records of the surname of Franceis, which at a later period appears in the Annandale of Scotland as feudatories of the Bruces. Besides the last named feudality there are many associations of the name in connection with the old Earls of Dunbar, even before the recorded charters of the Frenches under these Earls.

There are indications that William Franceis under the different orthographical changes of this surname, so often found as a witness to the abbey charters as well as those of the Braces, may have been the same personage. In continuation we find much genealogical information about the Francis of Ayton and Linlithgow, the latter family being specially distinguished as having furnished the second master mason to the Crown of Scotland.

Fourth. LAIRDS OF THORNYDYKES, which comprises Part Second of this work, is the unpublished records of that family for more than 200 years, beginning with the latter part of the 14th century and continued to the opening of the 17th century; this was during the reigns of Kings, Robert the 3d, the five Jameses, Queen Mary, and ending with the reign of King James the 6th of Scotland, who became in 1603 the first Scotch King of England. This period comprises many interesting epochs in Scotch history, including the Reformation. Several members of the family of French of Thornydykes held positions immediately under the last named sovereign.

Although this work is privately printed and limited to the small edition of 300 copies, this disadvantage to the general public is somewhat overcome, from the fact that Mr. French has donated copies to the leading Historical, Genealogical, and Free libraries of our country.

Memoir of the Hon. Josiah Gardner Abbott, LL.D., read before the Old Residents Historical Association. By CHARLES COWLEY, LL.D. With the Proceedings of the Bar, &c., &c. Boston: Little, Brown & Co. 1892. 8vo., pp. 92.

A volume of more than passing interest—albeit designed primarily for private circulation—is a memoir of the late Hon. Josiah Gardner Abbott, LL.D., whose lamented death took place at his summer home at Wellesley Hills, Mass., June 2, 1891. Its contents consist of a eulogy originally prepared for and delivered before the Old Residents Historical Association of Lowell—where Judge Abbott “won his spurs” in the legal profession, and passed many honorable and happy years—by its author, Hon. Charles Cowley, LL.D., who was a law-student in the office of Judge Abbott, and hence wrote con amore; tributes from Senator Hoar, Gov. Russell, Congressman Stevens, Gen. Butler and other eminent personal friends; proceedings of the Bar of the County of Middlesex, in view of the death of their distinguished associate, and similar proceedings of the Bar Association of the City of Boston; and an appendix, giving Judge Abbott’s draft of a proposed address to the people of the United States, protesting against the decision of the Presidential Electoral Commission (of which he was a member) in 1877, and his letter declining the Republican nomination for Attorney-General of Massachusetts in 1861; the whole prefixed with an admirable portrait of the illustrious subject of the work.

Amid this wealth of material in moderate compass—there are less than 100 octavo pages in the book—its chief interest centres in the discriminating and eloquent pages of Judge Cowley. The career which he has here sketched so succinctly was one of more than ordinary brilliance, even for New England in its heroic days; and this volume cannot fail to be of value as an inspiration to those who are yet “in the gristle” of early manhood, as well as a pleasure to all who take pride in our American institutions, which have developed such men.

American Colonial History, illustrated by Contemporary Medals. By the late C. WYLLYS BETTS. Edited, with notes, by WILLIAM T. R. MARVIN, A.M., and LYMAN HAYNES LOW. New York: Scott Stamp and Coin Company Ltd. 1894. 8vo., pp. 332. Price $3. The book can be obtained of Messrs. T. R. Marvin & Son, 73 Federal St., Boston.

As the first essay into this field by American Numismatists, who have followed in its plan the model set by the British Museum, this work is particularly deserving of attention. It will prove of great value to collectors and students of American Colonial history, in which so much interest is manifested at the present time. The late Mr. Betts was an enthusiastic student of American history as exemplified by contemporary medals, in distinction from coins, and this work is the result of his labors.

The medals described, engravings of many of which are given, were mostly struck in Europe, and the legends they bear are in various languages—Latin,

German, French, Dutch, Spanish, etc.: translations of these have been uniformly supplied; to many readers this will greatly increase the interest with which they will study these pieces. The queer macaronic legends on the medals satirizing John Law have been discussed in the notes, and the minute distinctions in the almost endless series of the Vernons carefully tabulated for easy reference. By "America" the author seems to have intended to include the New World of the western hemisphere, otherwise pieces like those on Cook's voyages, and the like, could have no proper place in the volume.

The editors, Messrs. Marvin and Low, have added much to the value of the work by their copious notes.

1815-1832. Joseph Bonaparte en Amérique. Par GEORGES BERTIN, accompagné d'un Portrait d'après une Gravure de M. Rodolphe Pignet. Paris Librairie de la Nouvelle Revue, 18 Boulevard Montmartre, 1893. (Droits de traduction et de reproduction réservés) 12mo., pp. xv + 423. Prix, 3 francs 50.

The frontispiece is an interesting and little known portrait engraved from one by Gombaud, taken at Bordentown in 1831, in the Mailliard collection. This work of research, among the living, in MSS. and printed authorities, both French and American, is dedicated to a well-known Philadelphian and man of letters, Admiral Macaulay. Its information, beside that obtained from this source, was derived from the son of Joseph Bonaparte's confidential secretary and friend, M. Mailliard. Many old Philadelphia families opened their treasures to its agreeable author, M. Bertin, who has had the advantage, beside speaking excellent English, of residing some time in Philadelphia, where his energy in pursuing this subject commended itself to his many friends in the Pennsylvania Historical and American Philosophical Societies.

The arrangement is good, the authorities given, and an easy fluent style describes every phase of Bonaparte's career while a sojourner here, his domestic life, his residence, its furniture and its numerous works of art, his circle of foreign exiles and his American friendships, which included Daniel Webster, his correspondence, and the many anecdotes and incidents which give color to the life of one who was perhaps the most popular foreigner who dwelt among us at a time the nation was peculiarly sensitive to strangers. This interesting book, a useful addition to American history, is completed by a good index.

Town of Weston. Records of the First Precinct 1746-1754, and of the Town 1754-1803. Boston: Alfred Mudge & Son, 1893. 8vo. pp. 553.

These records are printed at the expense of the town of Weston pursuant to a vote passed by the town March 28, 1892. They have been copied by Mary Frances Peirce, under whose charge they have been printed. She has taken great pains to have an accurate copy, and has done her work in a very satisfactory manner. She has prefixed an historical and explanatory Preface, and has added an Index. Three important documents are given in an Appendix. We are told in the Preface that "by a vote of the General Court in 1746, the north part of Weston was united with parts of Lexington and Concord to form what was called the Second Precinct. The remaining part of Weston was then called the First Precinct, and records of the same were kept from 1746 to 1754. At that time, the Second Precinct was incorporated as a town under the name of Lincoln, and the records of the First Precinct were no longer kept separate from those of the town. Those of the latter, after 1754, were kept in what had been the precinct book."

It is encouraging to find that so many of the towns of Massachusetts are printing their records, and thus placing them beyond the reach of loss by fire and other causes. We hope that their example will be followed by other towns and cities, till the local records of the whole state are safe from destruction by accident or malice.

The book makes a handsome volume.

We continue in this number our quarterly notices of works lately published relating to genealogy.

The Treat Family, the first book on our list, shows great research in England and America. The author states that he has devoted ten years of constant labor to the preparation of this work, and the book itself shows that the labor has been well expended. The surname seems to have been originally Trott, and in this country it was spelled by the early settlers Trat, Trot, Tret, Treat and in other forms. The first settler was Richard, who settled at Wethersfield, Ct. His son Robert was governor of Connecticut. The family has been a prominent one in New England history, and the author has done a good service to family history by tracing it out so thoroughly and preserving it in print. The book before us is well indexed, handsomely printed, and is illustrated by engravings of a high order of merit.

The History of the Doggett Family is also very thoroughly traced in America, and considerable matter is given concerning the English families. The author has devoted to this work his spare time since the year 1876. He has produced a very valuable book, which he has brought out in a handsome style, illustrated with fine engravings, such as portraits, views of buildings, etc. It has full indexes. The family is to be congratulated on having so good a record preserved in print.

Miss Sharp's book on Ufton Court and the Perkins family is valuable for the historical and genealogical information preserved in it. The Perkinses of Ufton were an old Catholic family who owned the manor of Ufton from 1411 till nearly the close of the last century. The present mansion of Ufton Court, a picturesque house in Berkshire, dates from the time of Elizabeth, and has been standing for more than three hundred years. The book shows thorough research, and much interesting and instructive historical matter of bygone times can be gleaned from its pages. The Appendix is devoted to genealogical matter relating to families of the name of the Perkins, Parkyn, etc. One chapter is "A Roll of the Pioneers of New England of the name of Perkins." The volume is "printed on fine paper, fully illustrated and tastefully bound in roxburgh binding." "Although the book is mainly concerned with Ufton Court itself, much valuable information is given concerning the parish and the neighboring district with the ancient families formerly holding property in Berkshire."

The book on the Warren-Clarke Genealogy is something new in this kind of literature. The author says that "in a rough way [it] may be said to include all those related within the sixth degree to the children of Samuel Dennis Warren and Susan Cornelia Clarke." The book seems to be carefully compiled, and makes a handsome volume. Mrs. Warren is a daughter of the late Rev. Dorus Clarke, D.D., a historiographer of this Society.

The next book, on the More family, makes an elegant volume, profusely illustrated with fine views and portraits. The Historical Committee of the More family deserve great credit for their work in bringing out the book in so creditable a style. Messrs. David F. and Charles C. More are entitled to praise for their work in compiling the volume. The genealogical portion is well done, and many well-written biographies are found here. This family is of Scottish descent, and an account of the Mores of Scotland is given. The book has a good index.

The book on the family of Schier de Vermandois gives a good account of this ancient French family, an offshoot of which is found in America. A large folding tabular pedigree is given. The book makes a handsome volume.

The volume on the Plumbs is a second edition of the work noticed by us in July, 1891. It is much enlarged, and will be found very interesting, particularly to those bearing the name. A good index is given.

The Granger book is another noble contribution to American family history. The author has been unusually successful in collecting his material and tracing out the scattered branches of the family. He has carefully arranged the full and precise details which he has collected, and has furnished a full index to the work. The book is handsomely printed on superior paper, and is illustrated by numerous portraits and other engravings.

The Kendall book is another fine volume, for which the author deserves great praise. Much genealogical matter relative to Josiah Kendall and his descendants is preserved here. It is illustrated with engravings of a high order of merit. The book has a good index.

The next book is on the Banta family. The American family is descended from Epke Jacobse, who "came from Friesland, Netherlands, to New Amsterdam, February, 1659," and subsequently removed to Bergen, N. J. His children bore the surname of Banta. The book is handsomely printed on fine white paper, and is illustrated by fine portraits and other engravings. The family in this country is well traced, and much interesting matter has been gathered concerning the family in Holland. It is well indexed. A folding chart gives the ancestors of the author in various lines for six generations.

The Chapman book is by the Rev. Jacob Chapman of Exeter, who has done much for New England family history. He has spent the best part of fifteen years in this work, and has published five valuable volumes, namely, the Folsom, the Philbrick, the Weeks, the Lane and the Chapman genealogies. This book is well compiled, well printed and well indexed. It is embellished with portraits.

The Hammond book gives the descendants of Benjamin Hammond, an early settler on Cape Cod, concerning which family an article by Mr. Philip Battell was printed in the REGISTER for January 1876 (vol. 30, pp. 28-32). It shows great industry and judgment in the collection and arrangement of the materials. The book is well printed and indexed, and is illustrated with fine portraits.

The Savary book is by Judge Savary of Annapolis, N. S., who has been long engaged in collecting materials relating to the several families, as our readers are aware, the results of some of his researches having appeared in the REGISTER. The work is now completed, and can be obtained by those interested at a moderate price. It contains many points outside of a mere genealogy. It is well printed and indexed, and is embellished with portraits and other engravings.

The book on the ancestors of Ex-President Harrison makes an elegant volume. The large folding chart, 24 inches by 32 inches, shows much labor. The author states that "all the known ancestors who lived in America are mentioned in this chart." The introduction to the book contains much interesting matter. Several pages each are devoted to the following families: Arnistead, Bacon, Basset, Bedell, Burwell, Cary, Harrison, Irwin, McDowell, Rausey, Symmes and Tuthill. A good index is furnished.

The book on the Mauran family contains the result of the labors of the late Mr. James Eddy Mauran of Newport, R. I., with those of Rev. Dr. Stockbridge. Mr. Mauran spent much time and money in collecting materials illustrating the history of the Maurans, which can be traced into France and Italy. The American family is descended from Giuseppe Carlo (Joseph Charles) Mauran, born June 3, 1748, in Villafranca, in the province of Nice (then in Italy), who came to New England, and settled in Rhode Island. The family is one of much distinction in that state.

The book on the Felt family is a work of much merit. Mr. Morris, the author, has succeeded in collecting details of the various branches of the descendants of George Felt, an early settler at Casco Bay in Maine. The book is well arranged, and has good indexes.

The book on the Allison family, by the Hon. Leonard Alison Morrison, gives an account of the family "in Scotland, England, Ireland, Australia, Canada and the United States." Mr. Morrison is the author of the "History of Windham, N. H.," and several other meritorious works illustrating local and family history. The genealogy is well traced. The book is illustrated by portraits and other engravings, and has an index.

The book on the Gallup family seems to be carefully compiled, and is well arranged. The immigrant ancestor was John Gallop, who was prominent in early New England history. An Appendix gives valuable historical and genealogical matter relating to the family. The book has a good index.

The wills illustrating the ancestry of Harriot Coffin illustrate the history of several early New England families. The book has "two very good points. It puts into print a number of early wills, thus securing them from loss in case of accident to the originals; and it shows in small compass all that is known of the ancestry of one person," namely, the author's grandmother, Harriot Coffin. The book has an index.

The Tompkins book gives the ancestors and kindred of the children of Edward Tompkins, senior, on the paternal and maternal sides. It is well compiled, and is illustrated by tabular pedigrees.

The book on the Hamiltons of Olivestob, by the Rev. Mr. Eaton of New York city, author of "The Church of England in Nova Scotia." "Acadian Legends and Lyrics," etc., is an interesting account of an interesting family.

The book on the Ingersolls of Hampshire County, Massachusetts, contains a full record of that family. It is well compiled.

The book on the Crane family is a reprint of the articles on that family in the forty-sixth and forty-seventh volumes of the REGISTER, with important additions. A tabular pedigree is given. It is well printed, and illustrated by engravings.

The book on Owen Biddle contains a memoir of that patriot of the Revolution, and also other matters historical and genealogical. It contains a record of the descendants of Mr. Biddle, and an account of the Parke family, with which he intermarried. The book is well printed.

The Poole book gives the descendants of Edward Poole, an early settler of Weymouth, Mass. The author, Mr. Poole, of Ithaca, N. Y., has made a book deserving of much credit.

The Notes on the King Family are a reprint from the "Notes and Queries for Somerset and Dorset," of which periodical the author, Rev. Mr. Mayo, is one of the editors. Much interesting genealogical matter is preserved.

The next book is on the Parker family, descended from William Parker, an early settler of Connecticut, with some account of the Pond and Peck families. It is well compiled.

The Cowles family tree is a reduced copy of an original made about 1853, and now in the possession of Mr. William A. Cowles. It is printed for Capt. Calvin D. Cowles, Adjutant General U. S. A., who is preparing a genealogy of the family. The tree shows several generations of the descendants of John Cowles, an early settler of Connecticut.

The Barclay-Allardice pedigree gives the ancestry of Robert Barclay-Allardice, Esq., University Club, Edinburgh, Scotland, a native of Hamilton, Canada, through the Graham and Stuart families to Robert II. of Scotland.

The Turner pamphlet is in the form of a letter of A. J. Turner of Portage, Wisconsin, to Dr. F. J. Turner of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, giving an account of his line of the Turners.

The book on the Barber and Eno families furnishes brief accounts of those families. It is by George R. Howe, Esq., of Newark, N. J.

The pamphlet on the Waite family gives a brief account of Thomas Waite of Portsmouth, R. I., and his descendants. It is a good beginning for the full history of that family.

Mr. Sharpe of Seymour, Ct., still continues the publication of his monthly periodical, "The Sharpes." Eight new numbers have been received since our last notice. It is a good form for preserving genealogical materials.

The Trotman pamphlet is a collection of matter from wills, parish registers and other sources, illustrating the genealogy of the family of that name. Mr. Phillimore has collected a large amount of material that will be indispensable in compiling a genealogy of the family. It is illustrated with a portrait of John Trotman, inventor of the "Trotman Anchor."

The Kirkland pamphlet and the "Noyes Inscription and Memoranda" are reprints from the REGISTER for January 1894.

The pamphlet on the Fuller family is a reprint from the "Dedham Historical Register" for October 1893. It gives a record of the early generations of the Dedham family.

The ninth number of Mr. Dudley's "History of the Dudley Family" is issued. This number, with another which will soon be issued to be devoted entirely to an index, will complete the work, and make a volume of over a thousand pages. This number contains genealogical and biographical matter relating to several families descended from Governor Thomas Dudley, and is illustrated with portraits. In the whole work a mass of information is preserved relative to the Dudley family and its kindred.

[The Pynchon family, though closely connected with London, had long held lands in Essex. In A. D. 1277-8, in sixth year of King Edward 1st, Richard Pinchon, citizen of London, owning property at Latton, County Essex, bequeaths it to his daughter Agnes. In 1476, and eleventh year of King Edward IV., John Pynchon of Writtle, in Essex, purchased land in that village. Henry Pynchon is one of the witnesses to the deed. In 1479, in nineteenth year of King Edward IV., John Pynchon, father and son, are witnesses to a deed of land, situated at Brumfield, County Essex. The name also appears in connection with lands in the eastern and southeastern parts of the same county. There are also traces of the family as living from time to time in the city of London. According to Stow's Chronicles, p. 708, the Clothworkers' Hall in the city of London, in which Queen Elizabeth entertained the Dutch Ambassadors in 1585, was situated in Pynchon Lane in the heart of the city, near Tower street. In 1576 there was a John Pinchin living in London, an attorney of the common law, some time of the Middle Temple, and owning a house at Westminster.

There are also traces of the family in Northamptonshire. Thomas Chichelè of Higham-Ferrers, in that county, married Agnes, the daughter of William Pynchon, Esq., whose arms are the same as those of the family at Writtle. This Agnes Pynchon was the mother of Henry Chichelè, Archbishop of Canterbury during the reigns of the Lancastrian Kings, Henry IV., V. and VI., and Founder of All Soul's College, Oxford.

The first appearance of the name in England, however, is found in connection with the manor of Tattershall, county Lincoln, which was granted to Endo together with one Pinco, his sworn brother in arms, though otherwise not allied, Eudo to hold immediately of the King, Pinco hts of St. Cuthbert of Durham. The son of Pinco was Hugh, fi's Pinconis. Hence the name Pincon—Pinchon. From this point the family would seem to have drifted into the adjoining county of Northampton and thence to London and Essex.—T. R. PYNCHON.]

[The Warden's chamber mentioned above was probably the official home of the Warden of the College of St. Mary, of Winton, commonly called New College, Oxford, on the occasion of his business visits. A part of the endowment of New College consisted of the landed property of an alien Priory, located in Writtle, whose estates were scattered through Essex, more particularly toward the east, and in the neighborhood of Bradwell on the Sea, about twenty miles distant on the English channel. These buildings and lands at Writtle were purchased by William of Wykeham, Bishop of Winchester, and founder of New College, Oxford, and, together with the livings of Writtle and Roxwell, given to the College. The chapel, chantry and obit are specified in the text. As one of the principal functions of these Priories was to look after the poor and to entertain strangers, it is not unlikely that a hostel was maintained for this purpose after the Priory estates came into the possession of the College, and passed into the hands of the Pynchons, who seem from these wills to have been for several generations the lessees of large portions of the College property. That for several generations they took a special interest in New College, Oxford, as is shown by gifts and the education of their sons, is evident from the succeeding wills. About four miles west of Writtle there is another property called the Warden's House, probably on College land. Writtle lies a mile west of Chelmsford, a place of some importance, upon the Eastern Counties R. R., twenty-six miles from London. The church, which is pleasantly situated upon the village green, is very beautiful, and bears the impress of the architectural genius of William of Wykeham. The chancel is nearly filled with the monuments and memorial tablets of the Pynchon family.

Springfield is situated nearly a mile to the north-northeast of Chelmsford. This also is a picturesque village, and has a very ancient church with a low, square tower, inscribed beneath the battlements: "Prayse God for all the good Benefactors." There are some fine brasses in the interior commemorative of the Tyrrel family. There is a tablet on the wall of the vestry-room with the name of William Pynchon inscribed upon it as one of the Church Wardens, dated 1624. This is the William Pynchon who was one of the original patentees of the Massachusetts Bay Company, and who six years later assisted, in 1630, in bringing that charter to America, a memorable and somewhat hazardous undertaking.—T. SIR JEROME WESTON, knight, of Roxwell, Essex, 28 December 1603, proved 21 November 1604. To my son William Weston one annuity of fifty pounds out of my manor of Barwick Hall in Essex, during his life. To my daughter Winifrede Weston eight hundred pounds at day of marriage or eighteen. To my daughter Margaret Weston eight hundred pounds at day of marriage or eighteen. I forgive my son in law John Williams such debts as he oweth unto me. And for that there are divers "unperfect" reckonings between my son Sir Edward Pincheon and myself, the perfecting whereof might unhappily be a cause of breach of love and concord which I most of all other things desire to preserve between my son Sir Richard and him, I have therefore by this my will declared what course my will is shall be taken herein for the better preservation of peace between them &c. Then follows the appointment of auditors of the account and referees to decide the matter; their names Henry Glascock, William Loveday and William Courtman, gentlemen. My executors to be Sir Richard Weston my son and Sir Edward Pincheon my son in law. A further devise to Anne Williams, his daughter, wife of John Williams Esq., of an annuity of ten pounds to be paid out of one annuity of twelve score pounds which he received yearly of Sir William Lee of Newman Regis in the Co. of Warwick, during the life of the said Sir William Lee.

Proved by the two joint executors.

[Sir Richard Weston mentioned above, afterwards Earl of Portland, of Skreens, Roxwell, married Elizabeth, daughter of William and Rose Pynchon, and a sister of Sir Edward. Arms of Weston and Pynchon impaled at Skreens.—T. R. P.]

JOHN PINCHON of Springfield, Essex, gent. 29 August 8 James, proved 12 September 1610. To the poor of Springfield forty shillings. All my houses, tenements and lands in and near Weeke Street in the parishes of Writtle and Bromefield, now in the tenure &c. of Thomas Eve and John Drane shall be conveyed unto Robert Robinson for such price and upon such conditions and covenants as the said Robert Robinson and myself have lately heretofore agreed upon. Provision in case of the bargain coming to nought. The money accruing to go for the payment of my debts and the advancement of my daughter in marriage and the performance of this my will.

And I charge my son William Pinchon, upon my blessing, that so soon as he shall come unto his lawful age, or within short time after, that he either join with my executrix in the conveyance thereof or else consent unto the conveyance thereof either unto the said Robert Robinson or unto any other person or persons that will purchase the same of my executrix. Furthermore I will and devise that during the natural life of Frances my wife my two sons William Pinchon and Peter Pinchon shall have, receive and enjoy for their maintenance the yearly rents and profits of all my lands and tenements lying at or near Cookesaull Greene in the parish of Writtle, now in the tenure and occupation of William Crowe, William, my son, to have twenty pounds a year of the rents and profits thereof and Peter fifteen pounds to his own use. And after the decease of the said Frances my wife I give and bequeath all my said lands and tenements at or near Cooksaule Green, both freehold and copyhold, unto my said son Peter Pinchon and to his heirs and assigns forever. I give and bequeath unto the said Frances my wife all my houses, lands and tenements in Springfield during her natural life; and after her decease I give and bequeath them unto my said son William Pinchon and to his heirs forever. My said wife to keep, maintain and bring up all my six daughters decently in good education until they and every of them shall have and receive the legacies and portions to them by me given in this my will. And I give and bequeath unto every of my said daughters, viz<sup>t</sup>. Annes Pinchon, Frances Pinchon, Jane Pinchon, Alice Pinchon, Isabell Pinchon and Susanne Pinchon. the sum of two hundred pounds apiece out of and with the moneys which shall be raised upon the sale of my said lands and tenements lying in and near Weeke Street aforesaid and out of all the rest of my goods &c. not devised in this my will. Twenty shillings to Andrew Gilbert my servant. The residue to the said Frances Pinchon, my well beloved wife, whom I name, constitute and make sole executrix of this my last will and testament, requiring her, of all love, to see the same performed and my children decently brought up, as my trust is in her that she will. My friend Humfrey Baldwin of Springfield to be overseer, unto whom, for his pains, I give ten shillings.

Hamer, 57 (Consistory Court of London).

[This John Pynchon of Springfield was the father of William Pynchon the founder of Springfield, in New England, upon the Connecticut river, in Massachusetts. He was educated at the University of Oxford. Matriculated at New College Dec. 20th, 1577, and took his B.A. degree April 6th, 1581.—T. R. P.]

Memorandum, that in the month of October Anno Domini 1611 WILLIAM PINCHON late of Writtle in the Co. of Essex gen<sup>t</sup>., being sick in body but of good and perfect mind and memory, did make and declare his testament and last will nuncupative in form following, or in words of the like effect, viz<sup>t</sup>. my will and desire is that my brother Sir Edward Pynchon shall pay all my debts and bring my body to the earth, and the overplus I give and bestow upon him, for he hath "bin" a kind and loving brother unto me and is best worthy of it.

"Sententia pro valore test<sup>i</sup>. William Pinchon" &c was pronounced 23 May 1612, in a suit between Sir Edward Pynchon, knight, natural and lawful brother of the deceased, on the one part, and Jane Hone als Pynchon and Henry Pynchon, who claimed as administrators of the goods &c. of the said deceased.

Commission issued 20 June 1618 to Edward Pynchon, brother of the deceased, to administer according to the tenor of the will &c.

And also I do give to Jane my wife one other piece of gold of twenty two shillings, with the residue of my goods which she hath already carried away. To the poor of the town of Chelmsford forty shillings which is in the hands of Richard Browne, Bailiff of Chelmsford.

A Sententia pro valore of the above will was pronounced 13 November 1616 in a case between John Porter and Matthew Lyther, the executors named in the will, on the one part; and Anne Brett als Chapman, natural and lawful daughter of the said deceased, on the other part.

[A noble monument was erected to the memory of Sir Edward by his wife Dorothea Weston, the sister of Sir Richard Weston, afterwards Earl of Portland, upon the north side of the chancel of Writtle Church, within the rails, on which are emblazoned the Pynchon arms, quartered with the Empson. This establishes the connection between these two families beyond all doubt.—T.R.P.]

friends in New England can give a better account than I of William Pinchon himself and of his family connections in New England. As to his connections in old England and especially with the Pinchon family of Writtle the wills I have given speak pretty clearly. My friend Dr. Marshall writes me from Heralds' College that in both the Visitations of Essex now in the College (that of 1614 and that of 1634) in which the pedigree of this family is entered it begins with John Pinchon and Jane his wife. So too does the Visitation of London of 1633-34, see Harl. So. Pub.). But the Visitation of Essex of 1612 published by the Harleian Society gives Nicholas Pinchon of London as the father of John. This cannot be true, as any clear headed reader will see who shall carefully examine and compare the wills I have given. Nicholas Pinchon undoubtedly belonged to the Writtle family for he ordered that a priest should sing in the church of Writtle for his soul and the souls of his father and mother &c. for one whole year; and he mentions his "cousin" John Pinchon dwelling in Writtle. For "cousin" the most probable reading, in modern language, is nephew; so the reference may be to that very John Pinchon with whom the pedigree starts in the Visitations now in the College of Arms. John died in 1573, and of his will I have given a large abstract. Let any one read it and compare it with the will of William Pynchyn of Writtle who died in 1552 and he cannot have the least doubt that John was the eldest son and heir of William. The latter calls himself "ye-man," while the son, who had risen in the world, calls himself gentleman. William Pinchon, I suspect, was an inn-keeper who owned and occupied the Swan, in which there was a room called the Warden's Chamber, probably because the Warden of New College, Oxford, was in the habit of lodging there when he visited Writtle to look after the landed property of his College in that neighborhood. John Pinchon, the son, I would suggest, acted as bailiff or land steward for the Warden of New College and held the lease of East Hall in Bradwell, the windmill and other properties of the College. William Pinchon named a daughter Denny's Pinchon. John Pinchon referred to his sister Dennis as the wife of George Mansfield. William Pinchon gave to his son Edward certain property called Skyggs and Turnors, with remainder to John. John Pinchon bequeathed Skyggs and Turnors to his son Edward. William Pinchon, after making bequests to two married daughters and their children, bequeathed to Elizabeth Pinchon, the daughter of John and Helen Pinchon, certain lands in Roxwell called Cookes or Cokes. John Pinchon gave his daughter Elizabeth five hundred marks upon condition that she should release her title to Cookes land in Roxwell and to all the profits and rents due since the death of John's father. William Pinchon also gave to the same Elizabeth certain real estate then occupied by John Newton. John Pinchon also required his daughter Elizabeth to surrender to John Newton all the interest which she might claim, by legacy or gift "of her grandfather," in certain tenements which John Pinchon had sold to the said John Newton. All this, I claim, abundantly proves my proposition that the John Pinchon who heads the pedigree in the Visitations of Essex in the College of Arms, as well as in the Visitation of London 1633-4, was not the son (a younger son at that) of Nicholas Pinchon, but was the eldest son and heir of the William Pinchon of Writtle who died in 1552, and that the nearest relationship which Nicholas Pinchon bore to him could have been that of uncle only.

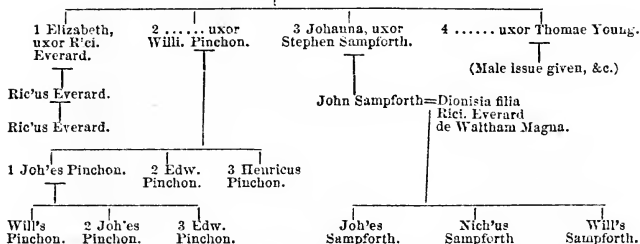

Another statement which I dispute is that Nicholas Pinchon was of Wales. I find not the least evidence to support this statement. On the contrary the evidence of his will points to Writtle as his early home and that of his parents, and this family name is found in Essex, and in the very next Hundred to Writtle, fully a century earlier. In Morant's Essex (vol. 1, p. 305 &c.) I note that certain lands in the manor of Barrow Hall in Wakering Magna were conveyed in 1407 to John Pyncherne, that in 1426 Robert Warenor and others granted their "manor of Barwe Hall" to Thomas Pynchon and Alice his wife, and that in 1458 Thomas Pynchon, son of the last mentioned, and Elizabeth his wife granted this manor and certain lands and tenements in Prittlewell, Canvey Island &c. to William Lawzell gent. &c. Bradwell juxta mare, where the Pinchon family afterwards held the manor of East Hall by lease from the Warden and Fellows of New College, Oxford, was, again, in the very next Hundred North of the last and North East of the Hundred in which lies Writtle. In my opinion this is the neighborhood where one should look for the earlier generations of our Pinchon family.

JOH'ES STEPHEN = ..... filia & heres Joh'is Atheward
(or Altheward).

Ric'us Stephen = ..... filia ..... Campyn.

No dates are given in this pedigree, but from another source I learn that the Richard Everard who married Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Stephens gent., died (or was buried) 29 Nov. 1561. It might be worth the while for an expert specialist to follow this matter up. It looks as if the pedigree had been constructed to show the descent of certain property of the Stephen family through * The Stowe MSS. in the British Museum contain, in my judgment, one of the richest and most valuable heraldic and genealogical collections in the Museum. My attention was first called to them nearly ten years ago by Mr. Kensington, one of the well known officials in the MSS. Department. There was no index to them. The only guide to their use was a bound Catalogue such as was made up for the auction sale of these MSS. This as a rule, simply indicated that such and such numbers were genealogical and heraldic, giving but the slightest indications of the real nature of their contents. Only quite recently have the authorities begun to put these collections in order and, as I have understood, with a view to indexing them. The numbers of both books and leaves have been changed. Those given above are the new numbers. According to the old numbering they were MS. 656, L. 56<sup>b</sup>. Up to the present time the only way to arrive at a knowledge of the contents of these volumes has been to go through them leaf by leaf, as I have done with most of them. I have yet to find the antiquary who knows much about them; on the contrary, I have had the gratification of making known to most of my friends their genealogical value. Among them I found a pedigree of John Rogers the martyr which Col. Chester knew nothing about, and which differs somewhat from the pedigrees already known to that distinguished antiquary. Here also I found an account of the Dummer family which I regret that I could not have come across in Col. Chester's lifetime that I might have called his attention to it. It was a petition of Edmund Dummer of Swathling in the parish of North Stoneham in Southampton, with a pedigree attached, setting forth his claim to a descent from the ancient family of Dommer of Dommer and indicating the line of descent. I made it known to Prof. and Mrs. Salisbury, and take it for granted that it has been noticed in their new volume of Family Memorials, which I understand has been recently published but which I have not yet had the pleasure of examining. I found too an excellent pedigree of the family of Moodie of Garsdon and one of Dunch of Wittenham showing the ancestry of our Lady Deborah Moody and her husband. A grant of arms to Hopefor Bendall of Milend, Middlesex, at once suggests Boston and Bendall's Dock. A pedigree of Fairfax shows the intermarriage of Ann Fairfax with Major Lawrence Washington and afterwards with Col. George Lee. The Arms of Sir Richard Temple of Stow in the Co. of Bucks, K. B. and Bart. would interest some of our Boston friends, as would also a beautiful collection of arms, without pedigrees, probably indicating Temple matches. There is a rough, torn and incomplete Pinckney pedigree. The best pedigree of Jekyll I have found I hope soon to make use of in my account of the family of John Jekyll of Boston, Massachusetts. I have extracted also a large pedigree of Tindall, beginning with Henricus Comes Lutzenburgh (father of Henricus Imperator Germanie) and including the family of Sir John Tindall, one of whose children is thus described, vizt. "Margareta uxor Johis Wintthrop ar. qui migrauit in novam Angliam." One of the curiosities in this collection is a roll of very rude and ancient wall paper, showing on the back of it the ancestry of Jesus Christ and of King Josiah. Another curious pedigree is that of the Greek Gods and the Titans.

HENRY F. WATERS.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science. It is a problem which has attracted the attention of philosophers, scientists, and the general public alike. The paper is divided into three main parts. The first part is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science. It is a problem which has attracted the attention of philosophers, scientists, and the general public alike. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various theories which have been advanced to explain the origin of life. These theories are divided into two main classes: theistic and atheistic. The theistic theories are those which maintain that life was created by God. The atheistic theories are those which maintain that life arose from non-living matter. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the evidence which has been adduced in support of the various theories. It is shown that the evidence is very meagre and that the problem remains one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science.

the male issue of the four daughters and co-heirs of Richard Stephen. At any rate it agrees finely with my theory of the descent of the Pinchon family of Writtle from William Pinchon, and is itself confirmed by the will of William Pinchon, who mentioned a brother Richard Everard. If true, however, it shows that the wife Elizabeth mentioned in that will was not his first wife and the mother of his sons, for she was evidently an Allen and had sisters Agnes wife of Edmund (or Edward) Church and Joan wife of Robert Grove.

Besides the pedigrees of this family published in the Visitations of Essex and London, the only others I have seen here in print are those in Morant's Hist. of Essex (II-65), Gyll's Hist. of Wraybury and F. G. Lee's Hist. of Thame. Morant deduces the family from Nicholas Pinchon of Wales, one of the Sheriffs of London A. D. 1532, but gives no evidence in favor of it, only referring to a pedigree which he describes as "now before us." He speaks of John Berners, Esq. as having sold the manor of Turges probably to the Pinchon family. If so there is not slightest evidence that Nicholas Pinchon had anything to do with it. In fact I have not found a bit of evidence to show that he owned any land at all, whether in Essex or elsewhere; and I would ask why, since he made a will, did he not make a testamentary disposition of real estate if he had any? William Pinchon of Writtle, who was undoubtedly a kinsman of Nicholas and possibly his brother, did possess considerable landed property; and this, as we have seen, descended chiefly to his sons and especially to John, his eldest son and heir. The latter doubtless made large additions, and probably through leases from the Warden and Fellows of New College of their manor of East Hall and other estates which we know he held. These leases we have traced, through the eldest male line, to his great grandson John Pinchon who died in 1654.

The pedigree given in Gyll's History of Wraybury also shows Nicholas as the father of the John Pinchon who married Jane Empson and died 29 Nov. 1573. This was undoubtedly taken from Morant. It then continues the line through John's son William who married Rose Redding and died 13 Oct. 1592. We are told that William and Rose were the parents of Sir Edward (of Writtle) "who died 6 May 1625," Henry, who is described as of Wraybury, Christopher and a Nicholas, who is also described as of Wraybury in 1653. This Nicholas is given as the father of William Pinchon who went to Connecticut and returned and was buried 7 Nov. 1662. William's son John, we are told, was of New England and had a daughter married to Henry Smith.

This, surely, is the wildest of guesswork. Some of the statements deserve to be called sheer nonsense. In the first place, Henry Pinchon is shown by the record to have been of St. Andrew's Holborn. In the next place William and Rose Pinchon had no son named Nicholas. According to the epitaph in Writtle church (see Morant) they had six sons, and we know just who they were, vizt. Peter, who was eldest son and heir at the death of his father, John, who was eldest brother and heir of Peter at his death, Sir Edward, who was eldest brother and heir of John, at the latter's decease, Henry, William and Christopher. There was no Nicholas among them. Thirdly, William Pinchon of New England and Wraybury could not have been a grandson of William and Rose Pinchon, for he was too old. He was three score years and ten at his death in 1662. Now Peter, eldest son and heir of William (and Rose) died in his minority without male issue. John, the next brother and heir, also died a minor and without male issue, and at his death (1 June 40th Elizabeth) his brother Edward, who succeeded as eldest brother and heir, was then a lad only seventeen years old. His young kinsman William Pinchon of Springfield (afterwards of New England) was then living a boy of six. Moreover Sir Edward Pinchon of Writtle who, we are told, died 6 May 1625, must have come to life again to make his will (q. v.). We have only to note and compare these facts to show how ridiculous such guesses are.

Merely noting that Dr. F. G. Lee's History of Thame contains the same old error (borrowed I suppose from Morant) of the descent from Nicholas Pinchon, let me now suggest the true line of ancestry of our William Pinchon. He was, I believe, that William Pinchon of Springfield to whom Sir Edward Pinchon bequeathed a piece of plate of ten pounds (see his will). This William was undoubtedly Sir Edward's cousin german, the eldest son and heir of John Pinchon of Springfield (who died 1610). We have seen that he named in his will two sisters, Jane and Susan, which were the names of two of the daughters of John and Frances (Brett) Pinchon, and we know that he gave to that beautiful town which he founded in Western Massachusetts the name of Springfield, undoubtedly in memory of his old home in England. His father, John Pinchon, was clearly the second son of John and Jane Pinchon of Writtle, as is shown by his possession of the lands &c. in Wike Street (see the wills of himself and his father).

It may be well just here to insert certain notes gathered years ago in the Public Record Office, Fetter Lane. From my notes of Lay Subsidies in Chelmsford Hundred, Co. Essex, I find that in the 39th of Eliz: (1597) John Pynchon gent. was taxed for lands in Springfield, while Rose Pinchyn, widow, and Edward Pinchyn junr. gent. were also taxed for lands in Writtle. Later I find that in the 23<sup>d</sup> of James (I) the name of William Pynchon appears on the Subsidy List of Springfield, instead of his father's, and for the same amount (eight shillings), and again on the list taken the 4th of Charles (I).

Turning to my notes of Fines I get much more valuable information. In the Fines of Hillary Term 35 Eliz. (1592) I find the following:—

Thomas Wale quer. and Henry Pynchon, gen. and Margaret his wife deforc, for certain premisses in Radwinter (Essex), with a warranty against the heirs of Margaret.

This must be Henry the son of William and brother of John Pinchon of Writtle, whom his niece (by marriage) Mrs. Rose Pinchon referred to in her will (1599) as then living.

In the Fines (for Essex) of Michaelmas Term 37-8 of Eliz: (1595) I find:

John Pynchon gen. quer. and Jasper Vessy and Margaret his wife def. for one messuage, one garden, one orchard, 30 acres of land, 6 acres of meadow, 20 acres of pasture and 4 acres of woodland &c. in Danbury. Consideration 100£ sterling.

Paschal Term 38 Eliz: John Pynchon gen. quer. and Robert Pease gen. and Martha his wife, def. for one messuage, one garden, one orchard, 20 acres of land, 4 acres of meadow, 16 acres of pasture &c. in Springfield. Consideration 80£ sterling.

Hillary Term 5 Car (1) Thomas Horne quer. and William Pinchon gen. and Ann his wife, deforciant, for one messuage, one garden, one orchard, 26 acres of land and 10 acres of pasture in Springfield. Consideration 60£ sterling.

Here we learn, first, that Henry Pinchon was married (a fact not known before), and we get the Christian name of his wife; secondly, the exact year when John Pinchon of Springfield acquired his estate in that town; and thirdly, the year when William Pinchon, his son and heir, sold that estate, and we get, in addition, the Christian name of William's wife. These last facts are of immense value; for I note that in that very Term (Hill. 5 Car.) our Governor Winthrop was making conveyances of real estate, and we know that in that very year Gov. Winthrop made New England his home, and with him went a gentleman of some importance named William Pinchon who founded our Springfield, and he too had a wife named Ann. All this, in connection with the mention, in his will, of two of his sisters (to which I have already referred) makes our case about as strong as circumstantial evidence can make it.

We are now therefore prepared to construct a pedigree of the family, and have prepared a table which will be found on the next page.

It will be noticed that I do not, in this pedigree, indicate the exact relationship which Nicholas Pinchon of London bore to William Pinchon of Writtle, for, I confess, upon further consideration, it seems too doubtful. The question of their exact relationship hinges entirely upon the identification of that "cousin John Pynchon dwelling in Writtle" mentioned in Nicholas Pinchon's will. John, the son of William Pinchon, was probably living at the time (1528-9). Nicholas Pinchon made that bequest, since, as we have seen, he was old enough to be married and have issue before July 1551, when his father's will was made. But is it so probable that he was anything but a mere child in 1528-9, and, if so, is it very likely that a mere child would be described as

---------------------	---	--

"my cousin dwelling in Writtle"? To my mind such a description rather suggests a grown man or, at least, one nearly approaching maturity. On the other hand I have not seen elsewhere the slightest evidence of the existence of any other John Pinchon "dwelling in Writtle" than this very John, the son of William Pinchon. Of course it is possible to assume that William Pinchon had two groups of children by separate matches and born a considerable interval apart, John Pinchon being the eldest born by the first wife. In the absence of certain knowledge I must leave the whole matter as an open question. For the same reason I do not show on the pedigree the exact maternity of William Pinchon's children, although the little extract from the Stowe MSS. shows pretty clearly that John, Edward and Henry at any rate, were his issue by the daughter of Richard Stephen.

Nor have I gathered any evidence to confirm the statement that Jane the (second) wife of John Pinchon of Writtle was a daughter and co-heir of Sir Richard Empson, knight. I take that statement from the visitations. By the way, I notice that while Morant says that Sir Richard Empson was beheaded 17 August 1509, Dr. F. G. Lee says he was executed 18 August 1510, a discrepancy of a year and a day.

The marriage of the widow, Mrs. Jane Pinchon, with Secretary Wilson, Morant seems to doubt. And we should not gather from the will of the Secretary any evidence at all of a connection with the Pinchons, while his widow Mrs. Jane Wilson, though she describes herself as his widow, does not refer to his children or family in any part of her will. Now in September 1891, when I accompanied my friend Mr. Frank F. Starr into the County of Essex on a hunt after Goodwins, I was able to secure the following from the Parish Register of Terling:—

Married

Mr. John Pinchon of Writtle in his will named a brother in law Mr. Peter Osborne and his widow, Mrs. Jane Wilson, referred to the Right Worshipful her loving brother Mr. Osborne of the Exchequer. Just how the relationship came about I cannot now say. Morant's Hist. of Essex (vol. i. p. 323) under So. Fambridge, gives some account of the Osborne family (whence the Osbornes of Chicksands, Bedfordshire) from which it appears that there was a Peter Osborne, born A. D. 1521, active and zealous for the Reformation, Keeper of the Privy Purse to K. Edw. VI, who granted to him and his heirs the office of Treasurer's Remembrancer in the Exchequer. In Qu. Elizabeth's reign he was one of the High Commissioners for Ecclesiastical Affairs.

According to Morant, Edward the son of John Pinchon was knighted and died s. p. His father left him Skyggs and Turnors, but that may have been only a reversionary interest, since his uncle Edward, the brother of John, who inherited this property from his father (with remainder to John) outlived his eldest brother, as is shown by the will of Mrs. Rose Pinchon, who referred to him as "uncle Edward" and still living and having a wife then living. In connection with this I have noted elsewhere that an Edward Pinchon is said to have married Catherine daughter of Thomas Bolstred.

I have followed the Visitations in giving to John and Jane Pinchon two daughters, viz<sup>t</sup>. Elizabeth, the wife of Geoffrey Gates, and Jane the wife of Andrew Paschal. I believe however that Elizabeth, at any rate, was that daughter of John by his first wife (Helyn) to whom her grandfather left Cookes lands &c. in Roxwell, while as to Jane it is noticeable that we do not get any mention of her in wills, especially that of her assumed mother. Nor have I evidence to confirm the statement that Elizabeth, one of the daughters of William and Rose Pinchon, became the wife of Richard Weston, afterwards Earl of Portland, though I see no reason to doubt it.

What relation Raffe Evered bore to this family and who the Elizabeth Pynchion was whom he called "my mother" I cannot say.

Hannah, wife of John Pinchon, whom Dorothy Davies (1634) called "uncle" in her will, was, I have found, one of the daughters of Edward Elliot of Newland by Jane, his wife, one of the three daughters and co-heirs of James Gedge of Shenfield and Newland Esq. She had three brothers, Thomas (afterwards Sir Thomas Elliot), Edward, on whose goods admon. was granted to his sisters Dorothy and Hanna, 14 May 1602, and John Elliot. Mrs. Pinchon's sister Dorothy was, I suppose, the wife of John Colien of Writtle, gent., and another sister, Elizabeth, was married to Mr. John Yonge or Young of Roxwell.

The Inquisitiones post mortem in the Public Record Office concerning the estates of this family I have not personally examined, but in Add. MSS. 19985-19989, British Museum, being Jekyll's Collections for a History of the Co. of Essex, I find (B. 3, L. 119) that by an Inquisition held 4 Sept. XVIII Eliz: it was found that John Pinchon Esq. died 29 Nov. A<sup>o</sup>. 17 (?) Eliz: and William Pinchon was his son and heir and of the age of twenty years on the 23rd day of April last.

By an Inquisition held 19 Dec. 35 Eliz: it was found that William Pinchon died 13 Oct. last and Peter was his son and heir and of the age of fifteen years.

By an Inquisition held 4 July 40 Eliz: it was found that John Pinchon, brother and heir of Peter Pinchon, son and heir of William Pinchon, Esq., died in Ward of the Queen 1 June last and Edward was his brother and heir and of the age of seventeen years.

Stowe MS. N<sup>o</sup>. 93 (old number) also contains an Alphabetical Table of Post Mortems, Essex Co., arranged in different groups according to the different reigns. The first (small) group covers the reign of Henry VII, though I noted one which was taken 22 E. IV. Then comes a large group headed "Temp. H. Octavi, Virtute Bris." Next "Escaetriae Virt. Officii temp. H. Octavi." Then "Inq. capt. in Com. Essex temp. Ed. VI Virt. Bris." The next was headed "Maria et Ph<sup>us</sup> et Maria." In none of these lists did I notice any Pinchons. In the next list following (a long one) which was headed "Inq. capt. temp. R<sup>nae</sup> Eliz:" I found the three referred to above, i. e. that of John in the 18th year, William in the 35th year, and John in the 40th year of that reign. Then follow two "Inq. Capt. temp. R. Eliz: Virt. Officii" (no Pinchons). The next list, headed "Inq. Virt. Bris. temp. Jacobi Rs," contains one, that of John Pinchon, Anno 9 of that reign. This must be an Inquisition held after the death of John Pinchon of Springfield, the father of our William Pinchon of Massachusetts.

All these Inquisitions (especially the first and last) should in my opinion be carefully examined by any one who purposes to make an exhaustive study of the history of this family.

From my notes taken a few years ago from the Calendars of Fines I learn that in Hillary Term of 1653 William Pynchon Esq. was a plaintiff ("quer.") against Andrew Kinge and others "deforc." for real estate in Wyrardisbury, Co. Bucks., and again in the same Term against Jo. Bland Esq. and others, for real estate in the same place. This means of course that he was a grantee and the others were grantors of such property. I have not examined the Feet of Fines themselves in these cases, but think it well to call attention to them. It was probably in that year (1653) that he settled down in Wrasbury. I have no note of any Nicholas Pinchon purchasing land there in that year. I question the statement in Gyll.

In conclusion I would say that I have spent a great deal of time, from first to last, over this problem, and my notes, I find, cover a good deal of space in these Gleanings, but I have by no means made an exhaustive study of the whole family. That I leave, as in all such cases, to the special enquirer, my own attention being limited to one or two doubtful links in the direct chain of ancestry of our New England family. I trust that in this respect the careful reader will admit that if I have not absolutely proved I have at any rate shown it to be altogether probable that our William Pinchon was that William Pinchon of Springfield (Essex) eldest son and heir of John Pinchon of Springfield, who died in 1610, that I have shown conclusively that this John Pinchon of Springfield was the second son of John Pinchon of Writtle, who died in 1573, and, finally, that I have absolutely proved that this John Pinchon of Writtle was the eldest son and heir of William Pinchon of Writtle, who died in 1552, and not a son of Nicholas Pinchon of London.

HENRY F. WATERS.

William Pynchon of Wrasbury, whose will dated October 4, 1662, is printed on page 255, was the oldest son of John Pynchon of Springfield, and grandson of John and Jane Pynchon of Writtle. He was educated at Oxford, matriculating at Hart Hall, afterwards Hertford College, Oct. 14th, 1596, when he was eleven years old. It was then the custom to send boys to the Halls of Oxford at an early age. It was, no doubt, here that he acquired his familiarity with Latin, Greek and Hebrew, and accumulated those stores of theological and patriotic learning that he drew from later in life in writing his various works. He was in 1624 one of the church-wardens of Springfield parish in England. Married Anna Andrew, daughter of William Andrew of Twiwell, County Northampton. One of the principal projectors of the settlement of New England. A patentee and assistant named in the charter of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, granted by Charles 1st, March 28th. 1628. Very active in the organization of the Company, and present at all the meetings in London; also at the great meeting at Cambridge Aug. 26, 1629, at which many of the assistants agreed to remove to New England "in case the whole government, together with the patent, were legally transferred and established to remain there." Sailed from the Isle of Wight March 29th, 1630, in the fleet of three vessels that carried the charter over. In the same year the founder of Roxbury; in 1636 the founder of Springfield on the Connecticut river, upon the great Indian trail leading from the Narraganset and Pequot country, via the Westfield river, to the Mohawk country above Albany, so that parties of Indians were constantly passing his door in both directions. It was in this way that he became widely known and very influential among the various Indian tribes of the West, as well as those of New England.

It was to him, and not to the Connecticut people, that the Mohawks sent, as proof of death, the scalp and hands of Sassacus the Pequot sachem who had fled to them for refuge after the destruction of the fort at Mistick. For many years, the name in common use among the Mohawks for the New Englanders, was "Pynchon's men," out of respect for their nearest New England neighbour at the mouth of the Agawam on the Connecticut River, just as they named the Dutch "Corlear's men" out of respect for Antony Von Corlear, the first of the Dutch with whom they were brought into intimate relations. And, so deeply rooted was their esteem for him and his family, more than a hundred years after this, in 1751, the chiefs of the Mohawks requested the Massachusetts Government: "that Brigadier Dwight and the Colonel Pynchon in particular they urged their acquaintance with his ancestors and their experience of their integrity." Sole magistrate and administrator of Indian affairs for all Massachusetts west of Wachusett mountain. In 1650 the author of the book entitled "The Meritorious Price of our Redemption." In 1652 returned to England. In 1653 bought lands in Wraysbury, County Bucks, near his Bulstrode relations in the adjoining parish of Horton, and directly opposite Magna Charta Island in the Thames, and the field of Runnymede. Died Oct. 29th, 1662, and was buried in Wraysbury church-yard. His gold seal ring with the Pynchon arms engraven upon it is still in existence and the possession of one of his descendants in the line of primogeniture. His only son John Pynchon remained in New England, and from him are descended all who bear the name in America. —T. R. P.]

RICHARD FRYER, citizen and fruiterer of London, 15 December 1686, proved 26 February 1687. He mentions lands, messuages, tenements and hereditaments in the parish of Staines and in the parish of Raisbury, in County Bucks, which he had lately purchased of John Pinchon, the elder, and John Pinchon, the younger, of New England, gentlemen. His legatees are wife Frances Fryer, son Peter Fryer, daughter Susanna Peake, son-in-law William Peake, Mary, Johanna and Elizabeth Fryer, daughters of brother Robert Fryer, late of Old Winsor, County Berks, fisherman, deceased and sister Elizabeth Whittle, of Old Winsor, widow. [Abstracts of the wills of Sir Thomas Mowlson and Lady Ann Mowlson were given in the REGISTER for January. 1893. The former will was written in 1636, the latter in 1657. These two wills have been the only sources up to date from which the family connections of Lady Mowlson could be ascertained. The death of her brother Anthony in 1625 necessarily precluded mention of his name in either of the above-mentioned instruments. Mr. Waters, in furnishing the above abstract of the will of Anthony Radcliffe, has therefore added another name to the list of relatives which has been gleaned from his contributions to the REGISTER relating to this subject. It will be observed that the testator leaves a bequest to his "sister Anne Moulson," and that he appoints his "well beloved brother in law Mr Alderman Moulson his sole and only executor." Three sisters are mentioned in this will—Dorothy, married to a Gerard. Elizabeth, married to a Harvey, and Ann, Lady Mowlson. The Sir Gilbert Gerard, legatee in Lady Mowlson's will, is the son of Dorothy. Mr. "Cary Mildmay otherwise Harvey," mentioned in the same will, probably furnishes the connecting link with Elizabeth. Anthony Radcliffe seems to have taken an interest in the parish of St. Christopher's, for he leaves a bequest to the poor of that parish. His designation of the parish church of Harrow as the spot where the bodies of his father and mother and others of his friends lie buried, fixes with sufficient accuracy the home of the family.—ANDREW McFARLAND DAVIS.

Lady Mowlson was related by marriage to prominent Puritans and patriots of her day. Her nephew, Sir Gilbert Gerard, married Mary, daughter of Sir Francis Barrington and first cousin of Oliver Cromwell and of John Hampden. Sir William Masham, in whose family two of our New England divines, Roger Williams and John Norton, were chaplains, though at different times, married a sister of the wife of Sir Gilbert Gerard. Lady Joan Barrington, the wife of Sir Francis Barrington, was a daughter of Sir Henry Cromwell, and consequently an aunt of Oliver Cromwell, the Protector. JOHN T. HASSAM.]

dred marks. I would only have my sisters and brothers in law and their children and all my servants to have mourning suits of black cloth. My manor of Stondon and all my lands in Essex I give to my nephew Nathaniel Riche, when he comes to the age of one and twenty years; in the mean time my executor to receive the rent and to allow him four score pounds per annum for his education for some time at the University of Cambridge and then at Lincoln's Inn, it being my desire that he should study and profess the Law. I give the profit of seven of my shares in the Bermudas, now called the Soffier Islands, to my sister Grimsdiche and her husband during their lives, if they will go and inhabit upon them, and one hundred and fifty pounds in money for the transporting of themselves and such of their children as they shall think fit to carry with them. I give one other share to my nephew Robert Browne now residing in the said Soffier Islands, he having one other share there already, upon the gift of my sister Wroth lately deceased. I give one other share there to — Browne, one other of the sons of my sister Browne deceased, who hath been hitherto educated by my noble friend the Countess of Leicester, mother to Sir John Smith. The residue of my shares there, being five, I give for the maintenance of a free school in those Islands, which my desire is should first be erected out of the profits of the said five shares and then laid forever to the said school, the schoolmaster to be nominated and chosen by my executor and his noble lady and, after their decease, by such religious and discreet feoffees as they shall appoint; and my desire is that some of the Indian children to be brought either from Virginia or New England, or some other continent of America, such as my executor shall think fittest, may be brought over there to be instructed in the knowledge of true religion. In case my said brother in law Mr. Grimsdich and his wife will not, within one year after my decease, go thither, in their own persons to live there then I will not that either of them have any benefit by this gift, unless by the hand of God they shall be hindered &c. &c.

I give to Nathaniel Browne, now in New England with Mr. Hooker, the two hundred pounds which by my sister Morgan's will was bequeathed unto him and fifty pounds more, as my own gift; which two hundred and fifty pounds I would have Mr. Hooker employ during the minority of the said Nathaniel Browne for and towards his education, paying himself for his charges. I give unto Samuel Browne, one other son of my said sister Browne, one hundred pounds in money, the same to be employed during his minority for his benefit as my executor shall think most fit. The Rectory of Neverne in Pembrokeshire in Wales to my executor in trust to make sale thereof and dispose of the money for the performance of this will. I give to Thomas Grimsdich, the eldest son of my brother Grimsdich, who is now in the Isle of Providence, the forty pounds per annum annuity which my Lord of Warwick is to pay during the life of the said Thomas. To Thomas Allaby my servant one hundred pounds. To Jonas Anger ten pounds per annum for life, and ten pounds in money. To William Jesopp, more than formerly in my life time I have given him (fifty pounds) I give all my wearing linen and apparel. Whereas there is in M<sup>r</sup> Goffie's hand (that was sometime steward to my Lord of Warwick) a statute taken in his name, for a thousand pounds, debt due to my said Lord and myself, whereof one half belongs to me, I do hereby give unto that my dear and noble Lord the said five hundred pounds as a testimony of my humble affection to him and thankfulness for his love and favor towards me. To the Right Hon. my very noble lord the Earl of Holland one hundred pounds and another hundred pounds to his noble lady, part of the money which his Lordship oweth me. The diamond ring which I usually wear, it being my sister Wrothe's legacy to me, I give to my brother Wroth. (Other gifts to friends). My Library, books and papers, I give to my said noble Lord the Lord Mandevill, the sole executor of this my last will and testament, praying him that at least with part of them he would furnish a library to be set up in the free school at the Somer Islands, as formerly I have appointed. The late Lady Warwick's picture I give unto my lord Riche, her son. To my worthy friend Mr. Wharton, minister at Felsted in Essex, thirty pounds as a testimony of my special love unto him and thankfulness for his care bestowed in the education of my nephew Nathaniel Riche. To my dear friend M<sup>r</sup> John Pym my best gelding and a ring of twenty pounds. To my very loving cousin Mrs. Martha Wilford twenty pounds.

..... Browne, educated by the Countess of Leicester, widow of Robert Sydney, 1st Earl of Leicester of the Sydney family; his name supposed to be Wm. as a Wm. Browne was out in the Providence Islands.

When I was preparing my memoir of Rev. Nathaniel Ward, the compiler of the Massachusetts Body of Liberties and author of the Simple Clobber, I ascertained that the patron of the living of Standon Massey, Essex, when held by Mr. Ward, was Sir Nathaniel Rich. Col. Joseph L. Chester, who had assisted me much in my researches, kindly sent me an abstract of the will of Sir Nathaniel, which I had printed in the Historical Magazine for April, 1867, pp. 206-7.

In 1882 the late G. D. Scull, Esq., then residing at Oxford, England, prepared a book entitled "Sir William Browne, knight. 1536-1610; and Sir Nathaniel Rich, knight, 1636," which he presented to the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. The book, which still remains in manuscript, is before me.

Sir Nathaniel Rich was prominent on the patriot side, and was active in American colonial enterprises. A biographical notice of him will be found in Brown's "Genesis of the United States," vol. 2, pp. 979-80; but Mr. Scull's memoir is longer and gives more details.

The Nathaniel Browne mentioned in Sir Nathaniel Rich's will as "now in New England with Mr. Hooker," is also named in the preceding will of his aunt Lady Morgan. Miss Mary K. Talcott states that he married Dec. 23, 1647, Eleanor, daughter of Richard Watts. In 1654 he removed from Hartford to Middletown, Ct., where he died in 1658. He had sons—Thomas died young, Nathaniel of Middletown, John of Middletown, and Benoni. The pedigree at the head of this note is from Mr. Scull's book.

What is known of later descendants of Nathaniel Browne of Hartford, Ct.?—

Meade, 85.

[Next preceding the above will is the registered copy of the will of his cousin Henry Ravens to whom he refers. He also made his will on board of the Hope, as Master.
H. F. W.]

[Many references to Capt. Christopher Newport in "The Genesis of the United States" will be pointed out by the Index. There is a sketch of him on pp. 956-958, of Sir Thomas Smith pp. 1012-1018, and of Mr. Matthias Springham p. 1022. Glunfield, I take to be Glanfield, i.e. Glanville. Sir Francis and Richard Glanville were members of the Va. Co. of London.—See p. 898. Mr. Melson may be the Mr. Melshawe mentioned in the Va. Records, p. 178. Dr. James Meadows, Medust, etc., p. 946, 982. In September, 1609, Henry Ravens, master's mate, and Thomas Whittingham, cape merchant of "The Sea Venture," were sent after "The Tempest" from "the still-vex'd Bermoothes" for Virginia, and were never heard of again (p. 1053) in our records. He was probably of the same family as Henry Ravens, master of "The Hope"; or as our earliest records are so incomplete, he may have survived the Bermudas voyage—and the master's mate of 1609 may have been the master of 1617.

Mr. John Newport, the only son and heir of Capt. Christopher Newport, attended the meetings of the Va. Co. of London, from time to time, during 1619-23, probably before and after.

On November 17, 1619, he desired the Virginia Court to lay out some of his land in Va. for him, and they wrote to Gov. Yeardley to do so. In the following February his mother sent six men to Virginia, at her charge, on board "The Jonathan." July 10, 1621, "upon the humble petition of Mrs. Newport, widow, the Va. Court ordered the Governor and Council in Va. to set out thirty-two shares of land in Va. heretofore bestowed upon Captain Christopher Newport, her late husband, deceased, in reward of his service, with an addition of three whole shares for the six men sent in "The Jonathan," in any place not already disposed of, which is commended to the care of Capt. Hamor, to see it done according to Mrs. Newport's desire."

On May 14, 1623, the Virginia Court confirmed the "32 shares to Mr. John Newport, descended unto him by the death of his father, Captain Christopher Newport, which confirmation having been read and approved in the preparative court, as also in the morning by the committee, was now put to the question and ordered to be sealed."

The exact location of these lands in Virginia is, I believe, still doubtful. As to New Port Newse, as yet I have seen no reason for changing the opinions expressed in The Genesis, pp. 956, 958.—ALEXANDER BROWN, of Norwood, Va.]

LAWRENCE HAMPTON of London, taylor, 9 November 1627, proved 12 February 1627. To the poor of Tickenham (Twickenham) Middlesex twenty shillings. To my sister Philadelphia Hampton twenty pounds. Item, I give and bequeath unto my brother William Hampton ten pounds of lawful money of England to be paid unto him within twelve months after his return from Virginia in the parts beyond the seas. And if my said brother shall happen to die or depart this life before his return from Virginia in this realm of England then I give and bequeath the said ten pounds unto my sister Philadelphia if she be then living. To Thomas Garret my father in law twenty shillings. To and among the servants of my brother Henry Rand, citizen and joiner of London, forty shillings to be divided amongst them &c. All these legacies to be paid out my lands in Twickenham. To my said brother Henry Rande and my sister Anne his wife all my lands, tenements &c., freehold and copyhold, in Twickenham, Middlesex. The said Henry to be executor. One of the witnesses was Keneline Winslowe. Archd. of London, B. 7, L. 17.

[The present "Hampton" River was named by Lord De La Warr in 1610 "Southampton" River for Henry Wriothesley, Earl of Southampton, the early friend of Shakespeare. On May 17, 1620, the name of Smythe's Hundred (extending on the north side of James River from "Tanks Wayonoke down to the mouth of the Chichahomine River") was changed to Southampton Hundred. The "Chichahomine" River was then called "Southampton" River, and the name of the original river of that name was soon after contracted into "Hampton" River. William Hampton settled in that region about that time, and that fact may have had something to do with the change in the name of the river. There is some confusion about the first settler of the name. Hotten apparently gives the names of two Wm. Hampton's, each coming on the Bona Nova, and each having a wife Joane (see pp. 253, 261); one, "age 40, arrived in the Bona Nova in 1620"; the other, "age 34, in the Bona Nova 1621." The Bona Nova arrived in Virginia, on her 2d voyage, in the fall of 1620; on her 3d voyage, not long before March 25, 1622. The references are possibly to the same man and his wife. They were living in "Elizabeth Cittie beyond Hampton River—Beinge the Companies land,"—in 1625, and still there in 1635.

In 1569, the manor-house at Twickenham was leased to Catherine and Barnard Hampton (which Barnard had been clerk of the Council to Edward VI., Queen Mary, and Queen Elizabeth). William Hampton of Virginia may have been to the manor born.

The Hampton family of South Carolina (of whom Gen. Wade Hampton) was originally from Virginia.—ALEXANDER BROWN.]

Bruce, 109.

[The two foregoing wills still further extend our knowledge of the English connections of John Morley of Charlestown, whose mother Katherine was the only sister of Mrs. Anne Ball and sister, also of Thomas the husband of Hester Burnell. Mrs. Ball's husband was Richard, son of John Bail of Wellingborow (Northampton), as it is shown in the pedigree of Younge (Vis. of London 1633-4). Her daughter Anne was married to James Yong of London, merchant. In my extracts from London Marriage Licenses (Hist. Coll. of Essex Institute 1892) will be found, on page 39, the marriage Allegation of Thomas Gate Esq. and Anne Morley, the sister of our John Morley. HENRY F. WATERS.]

Proved by Elizabeth Hacker the relict &c., power reserved for John Hacker &c. Alchin, 23.

[John Hacker came to Virginia in the Hopwell, at the age of 17, in 1624. In 1635 he had a patent granted him of 150 acres on the west side of upper Chip-pocks Creek; fifty of this was due him for his personal adventure and one hundred for his two servants Abraham Hill and Charles Hould. William Rookeing came over in the Bona Nova in 1619, and was aged 26 in 1624. In 1636 Wm. Rookins had 150 acres in the county of James City, the said land being called "the flying point." GEORGE CHEYNE SHATTUCK, M.D.

By the REV. CALEB DAVIS BRADLEE, D.D., of Boston, Mass.

IN writing a brief sketch of the life of George Cheyne Shattuck, M.D., for the NEW-ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER (with the hope of writing a larger notice at a later date), I am embarrassed at the beginning by two thoughts. First, as to whether I am not too nearly related to the subject of my memoir to do full justice to his merits, as we are told that those near to a mountain cannot clearly describe it; and secondly, whether I am not too well acquainted with the merits of my friend, so as to be liable to be charged with exaggeration by those who did not know him, for certainly after a study of his character for over thirty years, I have not been able to discover in it any rough edges whatsoever, for he seemed to me to reach, as nearly as any human being possibly could, the highest standard of moral and spiritual growth.

George Cheyne Shattuck was born in Boston, Mass., July 22d, 1813. He was the son of Dr. George Cheyne and Eliza (Cheever) Shattuck, and grandson on his mother's side of Hon. Caleb Davis, all of Boston.

The father of young Shattuck was a man thoroughly steeped in benevolence, and he tried always to give where two parties would be helped at the same time. He once subscribed to a large number of dictionaries in order to help the poor author, and then gave the books to needy students that they might get aid in their studies.

A poor student went to him for medical advice, and he asked for his pay only one favor, viz., that the student would deliver a note for him at a certain store on Washington street. The young man, to his great astonishment, found when he delivered the note that it was an order to the tailor for a whole suit of clothes for his benefit.

The mother of the boy was also exceedingly generous, and I was informed by one of her friends that she would give anything away that she thought any other person needed more than she did.

So the young boy came into the world enveloped by charity, and his own nature was richly in accord with the royal beneficence that surrounded him. Previous to his entrance into Harvard College he attended a grammar school in Boston, and at the age of nine entered the Latin school, where he remained for three years, and was then sent to the "Round Hill School," Northampton, that was under the care of Dr. Cogswell. It was at the "Round Hill School" where he probably obtained that thorough idea of education, moral, physical and spiritual, that led him afterwards to become the founder of St. Paul's school, Concord, New Hampshire.

In the early part of his life his love for study was perhaps somewhat over-stimulated by a kind but exacting father, who, on days that were given by the school especially for rest and recreation, insisted that his son should have private teachers, so that there was hardly a pause from constant study till the time he entered college, but it was a touching sight to behold the complete obedience of the child, and his patient and loving self-surrender.

He entered college in 1827, receiving his A.B. in 1831; amongst his classmates, well known to all, were Francis Gardner, John Hopkins Morison, John Lothrop Motley, Nathaniel Bradstreet Shurtleff, Wendell Phillips and many others.

It was his desire, I think, from earliest youth to enter the medical school at graduation, whilst it was his father's wish to prevent him from doing so, as undoubtedly he thought his physical strength would not be equal to the demand made upon the profession of a physician, and, in the spirit of the perfect obedience that he had always exhibited, he entered the law school, where he remained one year, a perfect martyr to his fidelity, when the father, deeming any further opposition unwise, allowed him to follow his own course, so that he received his degree of M.D. in 1835. Almost all of his professional life was spent as an instructor. He visited Europe several times for rest and study, and always returned refreshed and invigorated both in mind and body.

April 9th, 1840, he married Miss Anne Henrietta Brune of Baltimore, Maryland, who was the daughter of Fredk. William and Anne (Clarke) Brune.

For nearly twenty years he was a professor in the Harvard Medical School; professor of Clinical Medicine, 1855-1859, and professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine, 1859-1873. For a large number of these years he was the Dean of the Medical Faculty, and those who know all about his unruffled patience, his wise judgment, and his courteous manner can clearly conceive how well he must have filled such an office, and what respect and affection he must have secured for himself.

For thirty-six years he was one of the visiting physicians of the Massachusetts General Hospital. He was also president of the Massachusetts Medical Society, 1872-1874. He was a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and of the American Statistical Society. He was a member of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society. He gave medical instruction by lectures in St. James College, Maryland, and in Trinity College, Connecticut, and positively would not receive any compensation either for his instruction or his expenses.

Soon after his marriage he changed his church relations, as a Unitarian, and became an ardent Episcopalian, devoting his life and strength and means to the building up of that Church.

To the Church of the Advent, where he worshipped, and of which he was one of the earliest friends, he made large donations every week, and at one time his gift was twenty-five thousand dollars.

He was also the founder of St. Paul's School, Concord, as we have intimated, and to this institution he gave during his life one hundred thousand dollars or more, and, what is better, gave his time and his advice, and very frequently his presence and medical help.

He gave very largely to a school in Minnesota that bears his name.

"He was," says Dr. Eliot, "a member of almost every society board in his diocese, a delegate to every diocesan and every general convention, a Trustee of the General Theological Seminary, and of other bodies beyond the diocese."

It is said that at one time he thought of studying for the ministry, but instead of doing so he became the foremost layman in the Church, and we might say the leading layman of all churches of whatever name, for his mind was broad, his sympathies were great, his love was widespread, and whilst theologically he might perhaps be classed as the most strict of Episcopalians, his heart was greater than his creed, and all true Christians received from him a holy welcome.

It is something very remarkable that notwithstanding his busy life as physician, as teacher, and churchman, he was most delightful in his conversation, full of good humor, and a host whose hospitality was unbounded. His spiritual, mental and social nature seemed to be beautifully blended, so that on whatever side you looked he seemed especially great on that side, and yet, with all this real greatness he was one of the most modest and most unassuming of men, giving of necessity some of his charities publicly, but giving quietly and unostentatiously large sums of money known only to the recipient and himself, and recorded in the "Great Book of God."

On March 22d, 1893, he passed away to God; his wife, his loving and faithful companion for many happy and holy years, following him soon afterwards, January 6th, 1894. Two sons, a daughter, and grandchildren survive our departed friend, to whom he never gave an hour of pain nor a moment of regret till he left them bereft of his presence, his counsel and his help. About two weeks before he fell asleep I had the privilege of sitting by him, and of listening to his genial words. I beheld a composure the most complete, a resignation not to be surpassed; and the true Christian hero was wonderfully and sweetly revealed.

What a life, what a death, and how grand must have been the entrance into the other life, and what a legacy our friend has left for the uplifting of our souls.

Peace be to his ashes!

Sacred be our memory of him! Joyful the thought that we shall meet him again in God's holy City!

THE BENT FAMILY.

By ALLEN H. BENT, Esq., of Roxbury, Mass.

1. JOHN<sup>t</sup> BENT, who sailed from Southampton, Eng., in 1638, and became one of the first settlers of Sudbury, Mass., was born in the parish of Penton-Grafton, some seventy miles south-west of London, in the county of Hants. The ship's list gives his age as 35, but according to the parish records he was baptized on the last day of November 1596, his father being Robert Bent (1566-1631). In 1639 John's sister Agnes Blanchard and mother started for New England, but both died during the passage. John Bent's house lot, about six acres, was on the north-east side of the old road that runs from what is now Wayland Centre to Sudbury Centre, about a quarter of a mile from the former, and here he lived, a farmer, until his death Sept. 27, 1672, aged nearly 76. His will is dated thirteen days before his death, his wife Martha and oldest son Peter being named as executors. His widow lived until May 15, 1679.

Children of John and Martha, the first five being born in England, the last two in Sudbury, Mass.:

- i. ROBERT, bap. Jan. 10, 1624-5; d. at Newbury, Mass., Jan. 30, 1648, æ. 23.
- ii. WILLIAM, bap. Oct. 24, 1626; d. young probably.
2. iii. PETER, bap. April 14, 1629.
- iv. AGNES, b. about 1616 Edward Rice of Sudbury, and was the mother of all his children, for she is mentioned in her father's will in 1672, which is sufficient proof that she did not die, as Barry and others say, soon after her marriage. She died in Marlboro' June 4, 1713, æ. 83.
3. v. JOHN, b. about 1635.
4. vi. JOSEPH, b. May 16, 1641.
- vii. MARTHA, b. about 1643; m. June 5, 1663, Samuel How of Sudbury, where they had seven children, the youngest being David, the first proprietor of the Wayside Inn, made famous by Longfellow.
2. PETER<sup>2</sup> BENT (John<sup>1</sup>), as well as his father, was one of the petitioners for the township of Marlboro' in 1656, and soon after settled there, where he had a grant for a mill, which was probably in the part which afterward became Southboro'. During King Philip's War his son was scalped by the Indians, his house garrisoned and burnt. He died in "Old England sometime in May 1678," aged 49. His will is dated Dec. 21, 1674, at which time he was about to start for England. He returned between these two dates, however.

Children of Peter and Elizabeth Bent, the first three born in Sudbury, the others in Marlboro':

5. i. PETER, b. Oct. 15, 1653.
- ii. MARTHA. Probably the Martha living in Boston in 1690.
- iii. ELIZABETH, b. Dec. 2, 1658.
- iv. AGNES, b. Aug. 19, 1661; m. July 9, 1684, Caleb Johnson of Sudbury.
- v. JOHN, b. Jan. 8, 1663; d. April 20, 1676, at Cambridge, whither the family had removed for safety after Philip's war.
- vi. ZACHEUS, b. about 1667; d. March 20, 1690, æ. 23.
- vii. PATIENCE, b. 1670.
6. viii. HOPESTILL, b. Jan. 17, 1672.
3. JOHN<sup>2</sup> BENT (John<sup>1</sup>) bought in 1662 land on west side of the old Connecticut Path, in what is now the town of Framingham. The first petition for the incorporation of this township was headed by Corporal John Bent, who was chosen one of the tythingmen at the second town meeting in 1701, and in Framingham he died in Sept. 1717, aged about 82. He was twice married, first July 1, 1658, to Hannah, daughter of John Stone of Cambridge, and second to Martha, daughter of Matthew Rice. The three children are by the first wife:
1. HANNAH, b. May 6, 1661; m. Feb. 26, 1681, John, son of John Adams of Cambridge.
7. ii. JOHN, b. Nov. 29, 1689.

He moved back to Sudbury before 1671, however, and was killed accidentally in the summer of 1675 (aged 34) by a pistol shot from his brother Peter. Joseph was the father of six children, five of whom were living in 1686, at the settlement of the estate of John Bourne, their grandfather, though the names of two daughters are not known. The children of Joseph and Elizabeth whose names are known, the two youngest being born at Sudbury, were:

- i. JOSEPH, b. Oct. 11, 1667; d. young.

He saw service in the disastrous Canadian campaign of 1690, in the first of the French and Indian wars, and on his tombstone in the old burial ground in what is now the town of Wayland, is called an ensign.

In 1770 he was one of the six largest taxpayers in Marlboro', besides owning lands in Southboro' and Westboro'. His will is dated Feb. 1, 1786, but he did not die until March 11, 1798, aged 91. ## PROBATE FORMS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

IN the REGISTER for January 1863 was printed an article entitled "New Probate Forms in Massachusetts," specifying the changes which would prove advantageous to the genealogist in tracing the identity of individuals in the distant future, and otherwise. We have recently learned some facts about their origin and the manner of their introduction, a record of which is worth preserving.

The Revised Statutes of 1836 provided, in chapter 83, as follows :

SEC. 8.—The several judges of probate shall, from time to time, make rules for regulating the practice and conducting the business in their respective courts, in all cases not expressly provided for by law; and they shall, within one year after this act shall take effect, return a statement of their rules and course of proceedings to the supreme judicial court, and shall make a like return of all their rules thereafter made, as soon as conveniently may be, after making the same; and the supreme judicial court shall have power to alter and amend all such rules, and to make other and further rules, from time to time, for regulating the proceeding in all the probate courts of the Commonwealth, as they shall judge necessary, in order to introduce and maintain regularity and uniformity in the said proceedings."

This provision was incorporated into the General Statutes in chapter 117, section 19.

No steps were taken to put in operation this provision of law until after the passage of the act of 1858 creating the office of Judge of Probate and Insolvency for each of the fourteen counties, in the place of both the Judges of Probate and the Judges of Insolvency, of whom there were then twenty-seven, the two offices having previously been consolidated for Dukes County.

Judge William A. Richardson, then of Lowell, had been Judge of Probate for Middlesex County something more than two years, and was one of about five re-appointed to the newly created consolidated office of Judges of Probate and Insolvency from among the twenty-seven Judges of Probate and Judges of Insolvency.

He had long been impressed with the necessity for a new system of forms for general use throughout the Commonwealth, to supersede the great variety which had been adopted from time to time by the judges separately in the several counties, each according to his own ideas and practice without consultation with others. However familiar one might have been with the forms and practice in his own county, when he had business elsewhere he was obliged to send for forms and instructions at great inconvenience.

Judge Richardson had been engaged on the revision of the statutes for more than three years as one of the commissioners who framed the GENERAL STATUTES OF 1860, and it occurred to him that this provision for making rules of practice might afford the means of establishing the much needed forms, alike for all the counties.

At a meeting of the newly appointed Judges of Probate and Insolvency at Boston, he presented his views, and suggested the appointment of a committee to carry them into execution. A committee was thereupon appointed, consisting of JUDGE JOHN WELLS, of Chicopee, for Hampden; JUDGE WILLIAM A. RICHARDSON, of Lowell, for Middlesex; and JUDGE SAMUEL F. LYMAN, of Northampton, for Hampshire.

As much printing would be required, and no means were provided for paying the expense, Judge Richardson made an arrangement with Messrs. Wright and Potter, the State Printers (who were then engaged in printing the work of the commissioners on the General Statutes), to print the forms in full for such counties as so desired, and in blank for such counties as might afterwards order them, in expectation that all the counties would eventually adopt the forms, as they did in fact.

1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the system is not working properly.

Judge Lyman, who had been Register of Probate for many years and was accustomed to Hampshire forms only, resigned soon after he saw the first forms printed, giving as a reason that the changes were too radical for him. Judge Wells resided so far from Boston, where the forms were printing, that he could give no attention to the work and was rarely in Boston during its progress.

The result was that the whole labor devolved upon Judge Richardson, who gave more than two years devoted study and care to the work. He had been for several years a member of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, and in framing the forms he always kept in view the advantages to genealogists in future years, after the records had accumulated, of having facts about heirs, next of kin, minors, &c, accurately presented and recorded.

The result was that the forms, on examination by the Supreme Court, to whom they were presented, proved satisfactory, and on April 11, 1861, Chief Justice Bigelow entered of record the order which, after describing the forms, closed as follows:

"And whereas said forms have been examined, considered and approved by this court;

"Therefore, in order to secure regularity and uniformity in the proceedings of the Probate Courts in the several counties, it is ordered, that copies of all said forms be filed with this court and recognized as standard forms to be adopted and used in all the Probate Courts of this Commonwealth."

Probably we should not have had a uniform system of forms, at least for an indefinite period of time, but for the gratuitous labor of Judge Richardson and his successful arrangement for printing the blanks, as the undertaking would have been little understood and too expensive for trial. These forms have been in operation now more than thirty years, and nobody would wish to return to the old diversified system.

In the case of Baxter vs. Blood (128 Mass., 543) the Supreme Court, considering the legal effect of these forms, held that a notice not in accord with the prescribed form given by a probate court was void, and that all proceedings dependent upon it were invalid.

Judge Richardson has since been Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, and Judge of the Court of Claims (U. S.) at Washington, of which he is now the Chief Justice.

LETTER OF JONATHAN ALDEN OF MARSHFIELD, 1722.

Colonel Winslow, honored sir, concerning the difficulties that I have, and am under tho' not so bad as it were, I understand that James Arnold has been down at your house as desires your honor to put in as guardian, & has been down at my house, when I was not at home unbeknown to me and had persuaded my wife to give up her guardianship, and I accidentally heard of it by a friend that he told it to. I would desire you sir, not to take any more notice of their talk for she is of of it again, and says she thinks she shall not do it. Sir, they have been doing things unbeknown to me, & so contrary to me I thiuk a purpose to make difference between us two.

Sir, I desire you in as long as I have found you a faithful friend hitherto and hope shall never find you no other I would desire of your honor not to put in guardians 'til the children are old enough to choose their guardians sir I will tell you if you do, I am under the greatest hardship that can be for if the children's guardians take their part of the farm into their hands we shall have but a sixth part of the farm to pay mother Waterman her rent with and ourselves to live on which if it be so ordered we are totally ruined as to this world if not for another it will make such difference amongst us, and I heard by the by that they had ordered it for yourself to be down the next week, and they know that I shall be gone at the work to the swamp, and shall not be at home. Sir I desire you sir, I desire you to let me know if you design to do any thing about it, for if it be so ordered we must pull up stakes and be gone now we are just settled which will ruin us. Sir I think it best to rest the matter if you please from your humble servant to command

JONATHAN ALDEN.

Marshfield, March the 22d. 1722.

NOTE.—In the Plymouth Probate Records, vol. 4, pages 22 and 23, Elizabeth Waterman, relict and widow of Anthony Waterman, late of Marshfield, is appointed to be guardian of Zebulon Waterman. "Orphan Waterman (your daughter)." Thomas Waterman, Joseph Waterman.

Evidently Jonathan Alden's letter carried his point, and after the children are 14 we find them choosing guardians. Vol. 5, page 414, Joseph Waterman over 14, chooses John Thomas of Marshfield, 27 Dec. 1728.

On same day, Thomas chooses John Thomas.

On 27 day March, 1728, Zebulon Waterman chooses John Thomas, Jr. Orphan Waterman chooses John Thomas, Jr., 25 Oct. 1728-9.

FAMILY OF JOHN SAVAGE, MIDDLETOWN, CONN. 1652.

Contributed by JAMES FRANCIS SAVAGE, A.B., Lowell, Mass.

THE earliest information concerning John Savage, who settled in 1652 in Middletown, Conn.—then known by the Indian name Mattabesett or Mattabeseck,—is that contained in Hartford, Conn. records, as follows:

"John Savage of Hartford was married to Elizabeth Dubbin y<sup>e</sup> tenth day of febr: one thousand six hundred and fifty two."

The name of his wife is Dublin in Middletown land records and the family records; by the marriage record it appears as Dubbin. Presumably, this is a corruption of D'Aubin, to-day commonly written Aubin, one of the many patronymics derived from the name of Ste. Aubin (latine Albinus), bishop of Antwerp. In 1707, John Dublin petitioned the General Assembly of Rhode Island that he might receive some allowance for the shot he received in his head while engaged with Col. John Wanton, in the capture of French privateers. He alleges that by this wound he lost one of his eyes. The Assembly "seriously considering his condition and willing to encourage such that are willing to defend Her Majesty's interest in this Colony" voted him four pounds a year for five years; and, in 1720, the Assembly voted him the same pension during his natural life. This is in evidence of the spelling of the name, as John was contemporary with Mrs. Savage, and might have been a nephew.

Whence John Savage came, where and when he landed in America, are alike unknown to his descendants. As few beside Englishmen were then in New England, it is probable that he came from England to the Massachusetts Bay Colony and thence removed to Hartford. The spelling of the name is various. Hon. R. R. Hinman, long Secretary of State in Connecticut, and well informed as to the early settlers, says: "Savage, Savidge, Savadge, John of Middletown was made free at Hartford, 18 May 1654."

His will is signed "John Sauidg" though, in the declaration with which that instrument opens, it is written "Savdeg." The same uncertainty exists elsewhere. In England, the common spelling is Savage, from the time of Henry V. In France, at Bayeux, Normandy, and at Poitiers, Sauvage prevails. In Canada, where a numerous population of aboriginal extraction exists, the French spelling is followed. Little significance, however, in this case, attaches to difference in spelling, as, in the seventeenth century, the name applied to members of the Massachusetts family, in the public records of that Colony, was written Savadge, Savidge, Savige, and Sauage, as well as Savage. A very old blazon of arms, whose history is unknown, identical with the arms of Savage, of Rock Savage, County of Chester, England, is preserved in the family; members of which, like the Massachusetts branch, have inherited a tradition of kinship to the titled family in Cheshire.

He was made freeman in 1654. In 1657, he possessed 1207 acres of land, 441 acres being on the east side of the Connecticut river. His name is seventh in the list of members, who organized, in 1668, the First Congregational Church of Middletown. He held the military rank of Sergeant, as appears by "An Inventory of the Estate of Sarg<sup>t</sup> John Savidg, deceased March 6, 1684-5," filed with Hartford Probate Records, where his will may be found. His residence was in that part of Middletown known at different periods as North Society, Upper Houses, Upper Middletown and now Cromwell. He died March 6, 1684-5, and left an estate of 805 acres, valued at £480 15s. Children:

THREE LETTERS WRITTEN BY GOV. LEVERETT IN 1675—NEWLY BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Communicated by Hon. GEORGE SHELDON of Deerfield, Mass.

It was in the height of Philip's War, October 5, 1675, a large part of Springfield was burned by Indians. Under the strict orders of the Commissioners of the United Colonies, Maj. John Pynchon, the commander of the forces in the Connecticut valley, had the day before marched from Springfield to Hadley. There all his command was to concentrate for a grand movement up the valley. These orders had been known beforehand to the Indians occupying a fort near the village, and they planned to take advantage of the new programme.

Hitherto these Indians had been on the most friendly terms with the English, by whom they had been kindly treated and fully trusted. Special manifestations of friendliness to the settlers had been made on the day Maj. Pynchon marched away. Their treachery was wholly unprovoked. They were impelled only by an innate love of blood and plunder.

Notice of the intended attack, sent by Toto, a friendly Indian at Springfield, reached Springfield at midnight of the 4th. A courier was dispatched to Pynchon, who made a forced march back to the doomed town. The condition of affairs when he arrived is best told in the following letter, not superscribed, but evidently written to Rev. John Russell at Hadley :

Springfield, Oct. 5, '75.

This letter was on a large folio, and occupied but a small part of it. The blank space was covered by a confused mass of specks as if ink had been shaken over it from a pepper box—apparently a continuation of the letter in cipher.

Many years ago I made a copy of the letter, but gave little thought to the cipher. Lately, while comparing my copy with the original, it occurred to me that Maj. Pynchon, in the emergency of the occasion, could not have taken the time to write it; that it must have been added by another hand. Clearly the letter had been sent to Mr. Russell, and there was elsewhere evidence that he had forwarded it the next day to Gov. Leverett. Then came to mind the fact that on this very day the regicides Goffe and Whally were in hiding at Mr. Russell's house! and another fact, that Gov. Leverett was in the secret ! What more likely than that when the letter was at Mr. Russell's over night this cipher had been added, and was of course a secret communication to the governor? Could this mystery be unravelled doubtless new matter relating to the regicides would be revealed. Looking further, another letter was found from Mr. Russell to Gov. Leverett endorsed—"Rec'd Oct 8. 1675." A blank folio of this was covered with the same undefined characters. A third discovery of the same kind seemed to render it certain that my conjecture was true, and excitement was at a fever pitch. Under the advice of Dr. Samuel A. Green, I called the attention of an expert, Mr. Wm. P. Upham, to the discovery and its apparent importance. With enthusiastic zeal Mr. Upham entered on the work of exploring the mine and deciphering the mystery, giving freely of his time and talent. Eleven score years had told upon the paper and the ink, but by persistent effort and the aid of a sort of sixth sense, it seemed to me, a key was discovered, and the contents of the three letters made to appear. The result was of course disappointing to us; for, although facts of historical interest were exhumed, we failed to find what was so confidently expected—secret communications from Gen. Goffe to Gov. Leverett. But a single guarded allusion to the regicides was found in them all. It appears that the governor had utilized these blank pages to write short hand letters upon, from which his secretary could make formal copies. It should be noted that among all the correspondence of that month, which has been preserved, relating to the war in the valley, the resignation of Pynchon and the appointment of Capt. Samuel Appleton to succeed him, not one of these cipher letters has been found. They are, therefore, now given for the first time to the public.

NEWTONVILLE, April 19, 1892.

GEORGE SHELDON, Esq.:

My Dear Sir:

I have deciphered the three short-hand manuscripts you pointed out to me in Vol. 67 of the Mass. State Archives, with the exception of a few illegible words. They are written by Gov. John Leverett, the first two on the blank part of a letter (No. 283) dated at Springfield, Oct. 5, 1675, from John Pynchon to Rev. Mr. Russell at Hadley, and endorsed "Major Pinchon's letter rec'd 8th October 1675" [added in shorthand] "and answer and the [letter] to Cap't. Appleton;" and the third on the back of (No. 289) from Rev. John Russell to Gov. Leverett, not dated, but endorsed in Edward Rawson's hand, "Mr Russells letter rec'd 8 october 1675" to which endorsement is added in shorthand "and answer."

The following is my rendering of the three short-hand letters. I have indicated doubtful or illegible words by brackets, and interlined words by brackets with a star. I have also marked the end of each line by an upright stroke. The short-hand has no punctuation except an occasional colon, and no distinction of capitals.

Very truly yours,

WM. P. UPHAM.

Major Pinchon by yours to Mr Russell [from Springfield 5 instant*] we [heard?] the Lord [answering] the prayers of his people by terrible things | [in deed] To receive the intelligences thereof with a still spirit is very difficult. Yet the great undertaker | and teacher of his people knows [how] to teach [us?] to [profit by evil] and we shall find it matter of acknowledgment | to his praise when he will take any course to do us good who is fathful that has sayd all things | shall worke together for good to them that love and fear him of which number I hope through grace we will | be found. Sir if it be true what is sayd that the old sachem Wequogan in whom so much confidence was put | was an actor and incourager in this burning I doubt not but you see how [failing] confideuces are in such | who cannot be truer than whom they serve and whether there hath been all that done to have secured those Indians | that might have been is to some a [question]: But the will of the Lord is done and therefore to reflect upon any thing | that might have been before is but for caution for heare-after and not to add affliction by blaming you or any | for what was not done. May we be [sincerely] humbled and refined and [abhor] ourselves in dust and ashes. The | [same almighty God that hath bereaved*] can restore the like we are bereaved of and will [ ] give that that is better. Sir, by the Councils | order to Capt. Appleton [sent by Leftenant Upham*] you will see theyr readiness to gratify you and give in what as they can to you | yet not doubting but that by counsell and otherways you will be assisting to the utmost unto him | and the whole service in those parts: Hadley wants some countenance and encouragement and direction | for theyr fortification which I think they have in a good forwardness for theyr securitie. I desire [you?] | as you have opportunity to be assisting [them therein*] [you will readily put forth your†] You intimate as if Springfield | were not like to be tenable if so it will be a [more*] awful stroke that hath such a consequence as to breake up a | [church] and towne which we must leave to the Lord directing you upon the place. We ordered Leftenant Upham | with thirty men and Corporal Poole with those from Quabauge [being 35 to recruit the companies with you*] not knowing how to send supplies so | far as from Boston [to them*] for that theyr whole time is spent in fetching provisions yet [since*] we heard that that place being | wholly deserted [would†] [is likely to*] be out of the way of intelligence therefore must leave it with you that are nearer them that if | you judge it most advisable for to have a garrison there you with Capt. Appleton order theyr settlement as may be | most facile for the keeping the same up and if you have theyr supplies from those parts as formerly you intimated | it should be attended [to?]: if you could [attain] to be with the General Court this sessions it may be of great use | to the publique and not disservice to yourselfe [and so for deputies from your towns] The [magistrates] many being dispersed or in Council left | it with me to write to you which I have done though not without paine. I commend you to the Lord and | with mine [and wives] kinde respects sympathizing with you and your dear wife in your affliction and remain Sir |

Your humble ser[vant]

Leftenant Upham to be | delivered you from the Council theyr order and letter whereby they commit the care | and conduct of all the military forces from us and Connecticut unto yoursele | and as they have upon good grounds betruſted you so we heartily deſire that [they] and | you may ſee that it is the Lords call to you by his [ſparing] of you to [ ] you [annew] in | the ſervice to his owne glory and his peoples good and you know your reward will be with him | not that we ſhall be wanting to encourage and ſtrengthen you therein to the utmoſt. You are to take | notis that while the [ſeat?] [of the war*] is kept in the Colony you are to have the chiefe command and [neither] you | nor Major Treat with Connecticut forces are to be drawn off but by the Commiſſioners or the | concurrence of [counſels there. If you both draw into the other Colony Major Treat is to have the command in chiefe*] and if there ſhould be any orders [inferior] to the Colony | of Connecticut men you are [fairly] to entreat them and let them ſee that it is a breach of the agreement | by the Commiſſioners a copy whereof I herewith remit unto you I doubt not but the Lord will direct you | with that wiſdom [how?] to carry it towards Major Treat. In that reſpect God in your work and place calls you to concurrence | Unanimity in commanders is greatly conducing to the true ſervice of God and theyr country | I deſire you will be careful of giving advice and encouragement to Hadley reſpecting theyr | fortification for theyr better ſecurity [and ſo of the whole*] there was [likewiſe†] [former*] order to Leftenant Upham to march with | 30 men and Corporal Poole from Quabang with 35 men to fill up your companies and to | ſend off any that may be [diſenabled] by ſickneſs: but ſince we know that it is thought with you that it | is of abſolute neceſſity to keepe a gariſon at Quabange or Brookefield in order to paſſage for | intelligence if ſo you with the advice of Major Pinchon are to order the ſettlement thereof | and theyr ſupply to be from thoſe parts for that it is not above a 3<sup>d</sup> of the way from you | to that place of what it is from Boſton there and in the ſettling of them you are to take care that there may | be as good huſbandry for theyr proviſion as may be [and that there may not be the former courſe of profuſeneſs continued | but expenſiveneſs prevented†] If need be for ſupply of proviſion for that army there it is to be had from Connecticut | which muſt be timely [provided for*] before winter If there ſhould be a neceſſity of deſerting Springfield | as Major Pinchon intimates it will be very awful but the concluſion thereof muſt be left with you on the | place the diſadvantage of having the forces ſcattered to ſo great diſtance is matter of conſideration though | methinks it may be [ſo?] ordered that there might be timely [aſſiſtance by] them there [for any ſervice*] as occaſion offers | But I muſt as before leave it with you upon the place I commend you to God and [ ] his | [blessing] be with you and upon you and all the reſt with you and remain your [true] friend.

One thing more I leave to your conſideration that your forces lying on both ſides the river | that proviſion be made for transport one to the other [with] ſecuritie from the enemy[s] ſhot They have horſe boats | built as ſtanchions and with planke they may ſecure the men.

(The next letter is from Gov. Leverett to Rev. John Russell at Hadley.)

Reverend Sir

By yours of the 4. and 5. with your other of the day after what in the former was [represented] from conjecture and fear by your latter is ascertained | together by the enclosed from Major Pinchon namely of the dreadful and terrible stroke of God upon us [at Springfield*] and that in a[ns]wer to prayers and [ ] | solemn humiliation of Churches and people [of God*] as it shows the greatness of our provocations so our falling short in our [humiliations] for that the Lord | carries it as being angry with our prayers. To lie under such strokes and receive the intelligences thereof and [the like that | follows] so from place to place as it becomes [us?] is not only beyond the strength of man but of [grace except as proportioned] to him that trusts | to [find] God in all. And not to sin where [ ] is more a priviledge than [ ] To know the meaning of so great wrath is | attainable only by [supplicating] and to see so as to read it is by Gods [ ] To trust God when bereaving [through killing] is [more?] easily spoken | than practised. Yet there are those that are so taught though its but few [ ] miserie from war good Hez. with] good is | the word of the Lord for that peace and truth [should] be in his [days]† but to say good is the word of the Lord when he is accomplishing | that word by his works bereaving of peace and [crosing of truth] in our day I find a very difficult lesson. Yet to | yield to temptation [or revilings] will be but [a poor example]. May we be brought to beare the indignation of the Lord for that we have | sinned until he please will be [ ] when Gods hand is stretched out still further to be exercised with the stirring of the people [though as to David some talke of cutting apieces or stoning]. To be inabled to be encouraged [ourselves*] in the Lord our God is a sure help. | Every evidence of our interest in him and owning him to be God all sufficient will prove the efficacy of his command as being | our God [ ] to walke before him and be upright according to a gospel integrity in which way what time | I am afraid I will trust in thee. My time and state of body admits not enlargement. For those intricacies you take notis of in | some orders that have passed respecting several in command you may find the [abating of the powers of] several relation but by the | ultimate conclusion that comes by Lieutenant Upham you will find the knot tyed: and the command placed upon Capt. Appleton | which must be without exception being according to the conclusion of the Commissioners. Nor is Major Treat to be commanded of | but by the Commissioners or the concurrence of the counsels [there on the place*] and should ther be motion contrary upon any pretence it may be | of sadder consequence than the present stroke I have writ to [Capt. Appleton]‡ major Pinchon and Capt. Appleton | to be encouraging and advising about your fortification and doubt not they readiness to [afford] the same. Thus with kind | respects to you and all friends with you I commend you to the Lord and remain Sir your [friend to serve you] ser[vant]. J. L.

Then he said: give my mother, Mr. Burrowe's Book and my sister Whiting that new book concerning Thomas Savage. To my sisters, Abigail and Judith, five shillings apiece, and to good wife Wilson five shillings; and then extremity of pain again interrupting him, he only said to his mother who was by him, there are other things of mine that I pray father dispose of as you see cause, and these words he spake twice. ## PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S ANCESTRY.

By the Hon. JOSEPH H. BARRETT, A.M., of Loveland, Ohio.

THE valuable article of Samuel Shackford, Esq., in the REGISTER, vol. xli., pp. 153-7, is conclusive in its main purpose of tracing the line of John Lincoln, of Rockingham county, Va., to Samuel Lincoln, of Massachusetts. In the other direction, Mr. Shackford appears to have accepted, without independent investigation, a statement found in some of the later biographies that Abraham, son of John Lincoln, removed to North Carolina and there married Mary Shipley, by whom he had three sons, Mordecai, Josiah and Thomas, born in that State. This is in direct contradiction of President Lincoln's own statement that his father, Thomas, was born in Virginia. It is, moreover, a matter of record that so late as the autumn of 1781, the President's grandfather had a wife, whose christian name was Bersheba, still living in Rockingham county, Va., three years after the birth of the youngest son, Thomas. See letter of Mr. Harris in the Century for March, 1887.

Mr. Morse's life of Lincoln (American Statesmen series), opens with this singular misconception:

Abraham Lincoln knew little concerning his progenitors, and rested well content with the scantiness of his knowledge. The character and condition of his father, of whom alone upon that side of the house he had personal cognizance, did not encourage him to pry into the obscurity behind that luckless rover. He was sensitive on the subject; and when he was applied to for information, a brief paragraph conveyed all that he knew or desired to know.

The exact contrary of the above, in its main spirit and intent, I can personally affirm and there is sufficient published evidence to prove. His correspondence with a Virginia relative in 1848 (see communication in the Century, just referred to), and also with Solomon Lincoln, of Hingham, earlier published, shows the lively interest he took in tracing his genealogy; and much more than "a brief paragraph" was given by him to inquirers on the subject in more than one known instance besides the "short autobiography" written out "at the request of a friend" in 1860, after his nomination—the part relating chiefly to his ancestry and parentage filling nearly two of the large pages of the "Complete Works" edited by Messrs. Nicolay and Hay (vol. i., pp. 638–40). He took pride in his name; did not forget that of the three counties into which Kentucky was first divided, one was named Lincoln (the other two being Franklin and Jefferson); and when he visited Massachusetts in the summer of 1848, as one of the Congressional Committee accompanying the remains of John Quincy Adams to their last resting-place, he was pleased at being claimed, on his introduction to a Worcester audience, as "of our Lincoln stock."

Thomas Lincoln has been treated with scant courtesy by some of the biographers—by some with sheer injustice. His first temporary shelter for his family in the wild forest of Indiana has subjected him to the charge of "shiftlessness"—though really this abode was not materially worse than was common under like circumstances in eastern colonies. Had Mr. Morse become familiar with the local histories of his own section, he might have been less censorious toward Thomas Lincoln in that regard, without making allowance for the differences of latitude. For it could hardly be expected of one who writes that the Sangamon is "a stream which empties into the Ohio river" (i., 15), and that Pittsburg Landing, the scene of a great battle, is "on the west bank of the Mississippi," (i., 361), to take note of the geographical fact that Gentryville, Ind., is farther south than Louisville, Ky.

The same biographer says:

Thomas was as restless in matters of creed as of residence, and made various changes in both during his life (i., 10).

The facts are that he lived on the same farm in Indiana while his son grew from the age of seven to twenty-one; that after a year or two spent in Macon county, Illinois, he passed the remaining twenty years of his life in Coles county; while in creed he was a Baptist—a member of that church at Hodgenville, Ky., at Gentryville, Ind., and in Coles county. If he made any change it was only to the "Campbellite" branch of the Baptist church. The late Rev. Thomas Goodwin, of Charleston, Ill., who preached at the funeral of Thomas Lincoln in 1851, said of him in 1887:

In his case I could not say aught but good . . . . He was a consistent member through life of the church of my choice—the Christian church or Church of Christ; and was as far as I know—and I was a very intimate friend—illiterate, yet always truthful, conscientious and religious.

It may be added that this "unenlightened form of Christianity," as Mr. Morse seems to regard it, had such men as President Garfield and Jeremiah S. Black among its adherents.

MORTON'S NEW ENGLISH CANAAN.

By the Rev. B. F. DE COSTA, D.D., of New York City.

THIS remarkable work was printed at Amsterdam, 1637. My attention was called to the book by the late Rev. William S. Bartlet of the Massachusetts Historical Society, who informed me that he regarded it so highly as to copy the entire work with his pen, in order to have it by him. This led the writer to borrow the copy in the library of Harvard College for the purpose of a somewhat extended examination. Mr. Bartlet, however, was not the only person who valued Morton's work sufficiently to make a copy; for, in the summer of 1885, while turning over some of the treasures of Mr. Henry Stevens, at his store in St. Martin's Lane, London, I found a manuscript copy of the work, made by the late Samuel G. Drake, who states on the fly leaf of the bound manuscript that he borrowed Morton's book of John Quincy Adams. Mr. Drake says:

On a blank leaf in the original Mr. Adams had written as follows:

"For an account of Morton see 1 Neal's Hist. New-England, 111; 1 Hutchinson, 8-31; Winthrop's Jour., 20, 27, 321, 552; 2 Belknap's Biog., 352; to which reference I add Hazard 1, 474; Hubbard N. E., 137-41; Indian Wars, 478, Bost. Ed., 1677."

Under date of Dec. 4, 1830, Mr. Drake says that he borrowed the volume to copy on Nov. 25, and that "this copy was made as time served, for I attended my store and other affairs 'as usual.' The time was rainy, and for eleven days the sun was not visible from his store. When the copy was completed it was read over with the assistance of Mrs. Drake, one holding the printed volume.

Having been informed that a copy of the work was preserved in the library of the S. P. G. Society, London, bearing date of 1632, I addressed the secretary, with the following result:

19 DELAHAY STREET, WESTMINSTER, S. W.,

DEAR SIR:

We have only one copy of Morton's "New English Canaan,"—in it the date 1632 is written in on the title page; nowhere else is there a date mark of any kind.

The passages "And I cannot spie any mention made of it in the wooden prospect," and "my countryman, Mr. Wood, declares in his prospect," occur in our copy at pages 84 and 38 respectively—the only difference being that "wooden" is spelt with two d's.

Yours faithfully,

H. W. TUCKER.

Subsequently Dr. Tucker wrote again, saying :

In our copy of Morton's N. E. Canaan the books are said to be “ Printed for Charles Greene,

“ and are sold in Paul's Church-yard ”

not “ Printed by Charles Green,” as your letter would imply.

Later I made a personal examination of the Book, and saw the date plainly written in. The writer also improved the occasion of his visit in London to make a comparison of the undated copy belonging to the Venerable Society with several copies of the edition bearing date of 1637, the result of this comparison proving to his entire satisfaction that only one edition was ever printed, and that the undated copy is the same as the dated of 1637, with the exception of the title page, which was printed separately, evidently in England, and inserted.

First, the title page of the undated copy is printed on different paper, the water mark carrying eight lines across the leaf against seven in the paper of the dated copy, which throughout carries only that number, while the other water marks throughout both copies is everywhere the same except on the title page. On the title page of the Venerable Society's copy, at line 11, instead of “country” we read “countrie,” and on the next line “yeeldeth” for “yealdeth,” which is in the British Museum copy. Other variations need not be pointed out, so far as the title page is concerned.

Continuing, the examination of the body of the various copies in London indicates throughout the identity of origin. In all the copies the “R” in Morton, page 6, is found to be battered, and on pages 52–53, 164, the quads at the bottom show. The copies in the United States will probably show the same marks, though of course it is not essential for our demonstration that they should appear in all copies. Page 176 of the various copies, four of which are in the British Museum and one in the Stevens collection, show the catchword “Tapster,” battered. The Hargrave copy in the British Museum, however, wants the first ten pages apparently, and lacks two pages of table of contents at end of page 188, but, on holding the following leaf up to the light for the purpose of examining the water mark, the writer found the missing leaf pasted in between two thin leaves. This copy may have been one of the copies with the dateless title. The study might be continued to any extent, but beyond question the result would be the same, there being a total failure to find a solitary proof of even the slightest kind that more than one edition of the book was ever printed.

Hearing that the North Catalogue mentioned a copy of the work with the date of 1634, I addressed Mr. Stride of the British Museum, with the following result :

LONDON, Sept. 7, 1885.

MY DEAR SIR:

In answer to yours of the 5th inst., we have Evans' Catalogue of North's Library, and in part the third entitled "A catalogue of the curious and extensive library of the late John North, Esq., removed from his residence, East Acton. Part the third, etc. May 25, etc., 1819." On page 25 is the following: "No. 600. Morton's New English Canaan, in russia, 1634," it was bought by Rodd, for 14 shillings."

I also received the following:

13 WELLINGTON STREET, STRAND, }
LONDON, 26 August, 1885. }

DEAR SIR:

Not having a copy of North's catalogue I cannot refer to see whether Morton's New English Canaan is described as dated 1634, but of this I am positive—no such edition exists. Every copy I have ever seen is dated Amsterdam 1637, and printed by J. F. Stam. North's library was sold in 1819 by Evans, and as the British Museum have the set of his sale catalogues, with names and prices, North's must be among them. In my own opinion the blunder is by Lowndes or his printer, and I think you need not bother to look for any edition of 1634 but consider it a printer's blunder.

I am, dear sir,

Yours faithfully,

JOHN H. BOHN.

The question seems to be settled. In 1883, the writer published "A Few Observations on the Prince Society's Edition of the New English Canaan"* for private distribution, which might be looked at in connection with the foregoing.

MATTHEW FIELD OF LONDON, MERCER; HIS FAMILY AND ARMS.

By OSGOOD FIELD, F.S.A., of Rome, Italy.

THE following article, I hope, may prove of interest to the readers of the REGISTER†; and more especially so, to the numerous descendants of Robert Field, the emigrant. With some trifling exceptions, the facts here stated have never appeared in print, and have been gathered in the course of my own investigations.

In the Hall of the Mercers' Company of London is an old oak carving, consisting of a large shield of the Mercers' arms, and underneath a smaller

* This edition was published in 1883, and contains on pages 95 to 105 a "Bibliography of the New English Canaan," by Charles Francis Adams, Esq., the editor of that edition.
—EDITOR.

† Other articles on the Field Family by the author of this contribution will be found in the REGISTER for April, 1863, Vol. 17, pp. 106-12; April, 1863, Vol. 22, pp. 166-73; and October, 1876, Vol. 30, pp. 406-9.

one with those of Field (a chevron between three garbs), impaling two coats,—one a lion rampant, the other a chevron between three dolphins; the latter being the arms of Meredith.

This carving was formerly in an ancient mansion at Hackney, called "The Black and White House," which was pulled down some years since, and which is said to have been built by Matthew Field, a member of the Mercers' Company. The carving was presented to this guild some time ago by William Tyssen, whose family, now represented by Lord Amherst, have been lords of the manor in which this old house stood since 1693.

The impalement of the Meredith arms is explained by the fact that Matthew Field's wife was of that family, as may be seen in the following pedigree taken from the Harleian MSS. in the British Museum, 1096, fo. 20.

ROBERT MEREDITH = Jane, dau. of Sir Wm. Loke, knt. of London, Mercer. his will proved 28th Jun'y, 1546.

Rich'd Springham = Mary of London, sister merc'r. & coh'r of Wm.	Wm. Meredith, married, but died s. p.	Matthew Field = Elizab'th, of London, sister & merc'r. & coh'r of Wm.	Jeffrey = Elyn Dutchett sister of London, coh'r merc'r. of Wm.
---	---	--	---

The court rolls of the manor of Kingshold, which forms part of Hackney, Co. Midd<sup>x</sup>, contain the following references to Field:

1568. Wm Alman & Elizth his wife (formerly wife of Wm White dec<sup>d</sup>) made a surrender to Matthew Feylde, Citizen and Mercer of London.
1570. Henry White (son of the above Wm White) made a surrender to Matthew Feilde of London, mercer.
1581. Henry Rowe is admitted to lands by the surrender of s<sup>d</sup> Matthew Field & Elizth, his wife, which lands of late belonged to Henry, Joshua & Thomas White as the sons & heirs of Wm White, dec<sup>d</sup>.
- 1581-2, Jan. 19. A presentment is made that Matthew Field is dead and that Elizabeth Field of Wakefield, Co. York is dau<sup>r</sup> of Christopher Field brother of the s<sup>d</sup> Matthew.
1599. Matthew Springham* of London, Merchant Taylor, surrenders land late of Matthew Field of London, Mercer, to the use of Otho Nicholson of London, Esq. & Elizth his wife for their lives, rem<sup>r</sup> to s<sup>d</sup> Springham.

It would appear, therefore, that Matthew Field died childless, and he does not seem to have left a will, as none can be found among those recorded in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, London; but there is an entry there, that on the 1st April, 1581, administration was granted to Anthony Marler on the estate of Matthew Field of St. Laurence, Old Jewry, Mercer.

His burial is recorded in the Parish Registers of this church 12th Jan. 1580.

* Son of Richard Springham of the preceding pedigree.

We have seen that Elizabeth Field of Wakefield was heir to Matthew, her uncle, and this is confirmed by the following extracts from the rolls of this manor:

1583. Elizabeth ffeild, cousin (i.e. niece), and heir presumptive of Matthew ffeild dec<sup>d</sup> redd Woodside close in Wrenthorpe (6 acres), to Thomas Cove.

It would seem from the following entry in the Wakefield rolls that this Elizabeth ffeild married Wm. Hall of Settle.

1596. Indenture 39th Elizth Wm Hall of Settle, yeoman, & Elizth Nowell, his wife, cosyn (i.e. niece), of Matthew ffeild of the Citie of London, dec<sup>d</sup>, of the one part, and Matthew Watkinson of Ardeslawe, chapman, and Matthew ffeild of Ardislawe,† gentleman, of the other part, surrender to the latter house shopp with chambre over in Wakefield and 8 acres in Wrenthorpe at £5 per annum rent.

The Matthew ffeild of Ardislawe of the last extract was the son of John Field of Ardsley, the astronomer, who has been styled "the Proto-Copernican of England," and to whom the arms of his family, sa, a chevron between 3 garbs argent, were confirmed, and a crest granted 4 Sept. 1558. This Matthew is called second son of John Field in the Pedigree recorded at the Herald's Visitation of Yorkshire in 1584-5. He is also mentioned in the will of his mother, Jane Field of Ardsley, dated 17 July, 1609. He was probably heir to his father, as his eldest brother, Richard, was disinherited for misconduct in the astronomer's will, made in 1587.

To return to Matthew Field of London, the parish registers of Wakefield do not commence till 1613, and therefore afford no help in tracing his ancestry; but among the wills recorded at York, we find that of Christopher Feylde of Wakefield, mercer, dated 8 July, 1557. He names in it his son and heir Matthew, to whom he bequeaths the residue of his estate, and to whose wife a legacy is left. The other children named are Elizabeth, "now wife" of Henry Watkinson,‡ Katharine, wife of Richard Atkinson, and Christopher. The testator also speaks of his brothers Nicholas and William. He desires to be buried in the church of Wakefield near his wife, and directs his executors to cause "a troughe stone" with a remembrance of himself, wife and children in pictures of brass to be set upon and laid upon the grave.

The Rev. J. L. Sisson, in his "Historical Sketch of Wakefield Church," published in 1824, says that a monument formerly existed in the north aisle of the edifice with this inscription: "Here under this stone lyeth buried the bodies of Christopher Fylde, mercer and Eliz: his wyfe, which Christopher deceased the 30, day of November in the year of our Lord God 1558, on whose soul Jesus have mercy."

The Wakefield manor rolls supply another link tending to show the relationship between this Christopher and Matthew Field of London, for we find in them under the date 1547 and heading of Sandall, that Christopher field was elected propositus for lands formerly Tho<sup>s</sup> Shays, and again in 1569, also headed Sandall, that Matthew field of London was elected propositus (greave), for Shay's land, deputy Wm. Sykes.

In the subsidy roll of the 15th Henry VIII. (1524), under Westgate, Wakefield, Christopher Feyld is assessed for £20, goods 20<sup>s</sup>. There are a few other references to him in the manor rolls. In 1541 he surrendered lands in Wakefield graveship and manor to Elizabeth, his wife. He is referred to in 1544 as Christopher ffield, Sandall, merchant. In 1552 Rob<sup>t</sup> Copley "redd lands to Christopher ffield, Sandal." I presume that his residence was at or near Sandal, and his place of business in Wakefield.

There was another Christopher Field living at the same time in this neighborhood. Both Christophers witnessed the will of Christopher Rishworthe, gent. of Crofton in 1538,—one describing himself as "wardroper" and the other as "husbandman." The latter made his will in December, 1570, and died shortly after. He names in it his sons Robert and John, also Christopher, Frances, Elizabeth and Alice, children of Robert and Isabel and Frances, those of John. He describes himself as of Crofton, and as he leaves to five of his grandchildren each "one ewe lamb," we may assume that his calling was that of "husbandman," and that he is the witness so described in Rishworthe's will.

Crofton and Sandal are about two miles from Wakefield, and adjoin. The latter was at this period by far the most important of the two, and those residing in its immediate neighborhood may have been described as of Sandal. Here stood the famous castle, whose ruins are still shown, which was originally the chief seat of Wakefield manor, and which was at different epochs the residence of Richard III. and many other royal and distinguished persons, till its capture in 1645, during the civil wars, and demolition shortly after. It is not clear, therefore, if Christopher Field, the father of Matthew of London, resided at Crofton, or Sandal. The Parish Registers do not help us in this matter; those of the former place not commencing till 1617, and of the latter till 1652.

On the south side of the village of Crofton is an old building, on which are the arms of this family of Field,—a chevron between three garbs. It was doubtless the residence of some members of it; but I cannot say if it was the home of either Christopher, or dates back to their time. There were members of the family at a much later period at Crofton. William Feilde, who made his will 4 Dec. 1623, describes himself as "of Crofton," and left sons, William, Richard, Henry and Thomas.

All the persons named were, without doubt, offshoots of the family, which had been seated at Sowerby* since the commencement of the existing manor rolls. These begin in 1284,† but are imperfect till 1306. How much earlier they were there is not clear; but it would appear from the Coucher book of Whalley Abbey, which has been published by the Chetham Society, that there were Fields at Rochdale about the middle of the thirteenth century. Although this town is in another county—Lancashire—it is only about a dozen miles from Sowerby.

The earliest mention I have met with of any member of the family in the immediate neighborhood of the town of Wakefield is in 1413, when John Field of Normanton is referred to in the manor rolls, who may have been the progenitor of the branches whom we find later at Crofton, Sandal and Ardsley.

* Pronounced Sorby.

† One of the earlier rolls is endorsed 1272 by mistake, as it relates to several years later.

The diary of Richard Symonds, written in 1644 and 1645, which has been published by the Camden Society, contains a description of a monument, which he saw in Madley Church, near Hereford, which has since disappeared. It was that of a knight in complete armor of the thirteenth century,—his surcoat embroidered with his arms,—sable, three garbs argent; underneath was the inscription “Walt’us et Joh’es Felde.” The name and similarity of the arms would indicate that the family of these knights was identical with that of Wakefield manor, but there exists so little documentary evidence of this early date, that I am unable to trace the connection.

Burke, who is not always reliable, states in one edition of his “Landed Gentry,” that Hubertus de la Feld held lands in Lancashire, the third year after the Conquest (presumably granted for military services at the time of the Norman invasion), and that others of the name were proprietors in this county at various dates, during the next two centuries. I would remark here, that the name is always written “del ffield” in the earlier part of the Wakefield rolls and until after 1400, and that this is a more correct form than “de la field.”

The simplicity of the family arms, aside from the early date of the monument in Madley Church, show that they were among the most ancient in the United Kingdom. In choosing this “canting” coat, one would suppose that the Fields would have assumed the natural and proper color for the garbs; but there was a substantial reason for not having done so, as it would have been identical with one already adopted by another family. In a roll of arms, attributed to the reign of Henry III., and which is considered the most ancient one in England, of which any copy exists, the coat of the de Segraves is given as sable, three garbs or. A little later the Earls of Chester bore, Azure, three garbs, or.

Although there may be in England, or America, and probably are, other descendants of the family which was once numerous in the manor of Wakefield, and of which Matthew Feild of London, mercer, was a member, only those who can trace their ancestry to Robert Field, one of the patentees of Flushing, Long Island, in 1645, have established a claim to represent it.

His father William* is described as of Sowerby in the Parish Registers of Halifax, when his two eldest children were baptized in 1591 and 1593 respectively. In or about 1594, he removed to North Ouram, which is only a few miles distant from his early home, and he resided here when his son Robert, the emigrant, was baptized, 9 March, 1605, and remained here until his death in 1619. His removal may be explained by the fact that his wife Susan was daughter of John Midgley of North Ouram, and, not improbably, she inherited property there.

North Ouram, as well as Sowerby, is in the extensive and once royal manor of Wakefield, which may be considered the cradle of this branch of the Fields.

To conclude, the connection between the great city companies of London and the Wakefield manor family did not cease with the death of Matthew Field, for in the rolls referred to there is this entry under the date of 1612: “William Feilde civis et Marchante† Tayler de London & Sara ux eius, surrender vac. voc. Lawefeild (Wakefield), to John Lyon of Wakefield, gent., money to be paid at his house in the psh of St. Faith, London.” This * Probably the William, son of Christopher Field of Sowerby, and Grace Gradsheighe, who was baptized at Halifax in 1543.

† It does not follow that his calling was that of tailor, for many, having other occupations, joined this wealthy guild for the great privileges conferred by its membership.

William Field's will, recorded in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, London, is dated 28 Jan. 1621-2, and was proved 13th February of same year. He describes himself as Citizen and Merchant Taylor of London, speaks of his wife, Sara, and children not named. Besides other property, he leaves lands in Bedfordshire and Lambeth, and bequeaths to twenty poor people of this parish of St. Faith, each 20<sup>s</sup>. His widow Sarah's will was dated 30 July, 1653, but not proved till 10 Nov. 1657. She describes herself as "of St. Faith's under St. Paul's, widow, aged and weak." She names her eldest son Samuel, deceased, son James, grandchild William Field, and daus. Sarah, wife of Robert Thornton, Elizth, wife of Adam Howes, and Mary, wife of Wm. Jeston; also granddaughter Mary, wife of Oliver Boteler of Harrold, Co. Bedford, Esq. She speaks of her leases in St. Paul's Churchyard and Old Change. Her burial is thus recorded in the parish registers of St. Faith's, 4 May, 1657, "Mrs. Feild, out of St. John's chancel." In the registers of St. Faith are recorded the baptisms of William, Elizabeth, Daniel and Nathaniel, between 1656 and 1661, inclusive, children of "William Field, woolen draper, & Eliz<sup>b</sup>th of St. Paul's churchyard." The father was, doubtless, the grandchild named in Sarah Field's will.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

NOTES.

"VIRGINIA GENEALOGIES" AND CHARLES H. BROWNING. (REGISTER, January 1893, p. 87; April 1894, p. 210.)—To those familiar with Mr. Browning's genealogical methods, his attack on my "Virginia Genealogies," page 216 of the REGISTER, will be amusing. But Mr. Browning is, to say the very least, disingenuous, and lest those who know nothing of his methods may think his statements, referred to above, are true I feel it a duty to show their falsity.

"Virginia Genealogies" makes no pretence of giving royal, or even transatlantic pedigrees. The few exceptions given in its pages prove the rule. But the book itself overflows with original authorities for the deductions therein, which is the reverse of all Mr. Browning's genealogical work.

His disingenuousness appears in a marked degree in his article, REGISTER p. 210, as will be clear to any one who will take the trouble to compare that article with my Virginia Genealogies, and thus "verify his references." (REGISTER p. 210.)

With two copies of my book in his library, one in Philadelphia, and one at Ardmore, it suits Mr. Browning's purpose best not to quote my exact words, but to falsify my statements. "Virginia Genealogies" is a large octavo book of 800 pages, mostly in small type, matter very much condensed. It would make three volumes equal in size to Mr. Browning's "Americans of Royal Descent" if printed in the same style. It contains 200 pedigrees. Of these Mr. B. attacks only one—Wallace. He searched through the 800 pages of small type to discover a weak spot for his weapon. He found three names incidentally given, i. e.,—Weems, Towson and Fleming [Payne] whose English ancestry I mentioned in just six lines of Mr. B.'s type. Against these, this genealogical Don Quixote levelled his lance. The importance he gives to them is only equalled by the prodigious display of learning which he makes, not to disprove them, but to disprove his wilful misrepresentation of them, as thus appears, viz.:

WEEMS, p. 350 "Virginia Genealogies. Mr. B.'s statement is false. I do not give the Weems pedigree as he reports. He artfully says: "I have not quoted the exact words of Hayden's unreliable deductions." He knew that he dared not quote my exact words, and follow them with his misrepresentations of page 210, REGISTER. In a foot note to a sketch of Rev. Mason J. Weems, the first biographer of Washington, I state: "The Weems family of Md. claim descent from David Weems son of James, youngest son of the Earl of Wenys." From this Mr. B. manufactured his charge on page 210.

TOWSON, p. 274. In giving the marriage of William Smith, 1864, to Virginia Towson, son of Thomas Towson of Williamsport, Md. (a town of whose existence Mr. B. was apparently ignorant), I mention incidentally that she was granddaughter of General Nathan Towson, U. S. A., and added, as quoted from a sketch of Gen. T., printed during his lifetime, these words: "whose mother descended from Oliver Cromwell through Richard, son of Henry and grandson of the Protector." The printer omitted the quotation marks, and Browning puts the matter in his usual disingenuous way.

FLEMING: p. 256. Mrs. Madison's Fleming descent is given as long held in Virginia thus: "Descended from Sir Thomas Fleming, New Kent Co., Va., 1616, 2d son of the Earl of Wigton" (Pocahontas 58, Richd. Standard Jan. 7, 1881). Mr. Browning says (p. 210): "There may have been a Sir Thomas Fleming, and Dolly may have been descended from him." Thus he conveys the impression that her Fleming descent may be spurious. He is not honest enough to state that on pages 388 and 630 of his "Americans of Royal Descent" he gives Mrs. Madison's descent (pedigree clxxxi.) exactly as I do, omitting only the words "Earl of Wigton," a title that in no way affects Mrs. M.'s Fleming descent, which is given incidentally in my pages, but directly in his to give Mrs. M. a Royal line from Robert III. of Scotland!! And yet he has the audacity to say that I have made "Mrs. M.'s noble descent out of whole cloth."

WALLACE: p. 689. My "Wallace" pedigree refutes Mr. Browning's attack on its very face. He says I "refer to Patterson's History of Ayr, &c." for my Wallace descent. This is false. I make no reference whatever to Patterson. His name occurs but once, and then in a letter from Mr. Wier of Scotland to Mr. J. O. Mitchell, p. 690, which I give verbatim. Patterson does not disprove my Wallace deduction. That "the Virginia Wallaces descended from Wm. Wallace of Galrigs" is proven by Dr. Michael Wallace's indenture, p. 697. That this William was brother of "John Wallace of Elderslie," p. 688, is also proven by the authorities I quote. How this William became possessed of Galrigs, or whether he was Commissioner 1720, in no way affects the descent of the Virginia line from the "Elderslie" line through "William Wallace of Galrigs."

My history of "Wallace of Elderslie, Scotland; and Ellerslie, Virginia" is given (p. 687) on the authority of Sir B. Burke, Anderson, and Crawford; of A. C. Douglas of Mains, Esq., and Miss Sterling of Glenbervie, Scotland, both near consins of the Virginia family, and descendants of the "Elderslie" line, who gave me free use of their records; and of J. O. Mitchell of Glasgow, Esq., the well known Archaeologist. Mr. Mitchell's work, "The Wallaces of Elderslie," (not "Ederslie," as Mr. B., with usual inaccuracy gives it) published in the "Transactions of the Archaeological Society, Glasgow, 1884," he very kindly allowed me to use, presenting me with a copy of that, and of his "Two Elderslies." These give results of latest research in re Wallace. Mr. Mitchell's letters to me (pp. 688-9), with Dr. Michael Wallace's indenture (p. 697) stating him to have been the "Lairfull Son to the Deceast William Wallace of Galrigs, with the Special Advice and Consent of Thomas and Michael Wallace Merchts in Glasgow his Uncles &c.," and the full correspondence in my Wallace, present an array of evidence that cannot be doubted.

Mr. Browning's animus in his attack on my "Virginia Genealogies" is apparent. Stung by my exposure of his three spurious Conyngham and Peyton pedigrees (REGISTER, Jan. 1893, p. 87), he seeks revenge regardless of means. When my protest to these spurious pedigrees was sent to him, 1892, he replied "it is libellous," and intimated legal means of redress.

Finding his "game of bluff" a failure, he wrote "let me down as easy as you can." I did so, and he accepted the correction apparently in good faith, as the eight or ten letters he wrote to me later on asking for further corrections, &c., indicate. I give here only the first. During this correspondence, in which Mr. B. imposed on my courtesy by asking new data, &c., for his third edition of "Royal Descents," he was searching my pages to find a point to attack; and this evidently not for the purpose of defending the three pedigrees I disproved Jan. 1893, nor in the interest of the truth, but to make a show of learning and to gratify an undignified spirit of retaliation.

"Dear Mr. Hayden:—I have naturally been very much interested in what you have published about the Peytons of Virginia. Col. J. L. P[eyton] of Staunton, who furnished me also with the Peyton matter in Am. of R. D., now regrets exceedingly having done so, as he owns up to having been "all wrong." May I ask you where I can find the original of the quotation in your book, 'Mr. Thomas Peyton, gent., son of Major Robert Peyton, patented 110 ac. in Glouc. 1738.' I will be much obliged to you if you'll help me correct the Peyton matter in my book—for new edition. Yours truly, C. H. BROWNING."

Finally, I thank Mr. Browning for his attack. It will call attention to his methods. One has said that "for ten people that listen to a lie about a man, there will not be five who will listen to the contradiction of it." But "Virginia Genealogies" can stand all assaults. It shows hard, honest work, deductions based on real efforts to prove them step by step; countless authorities like deeds, wills (50 in full) parish registers, family Bibles, law reports, etc. As a human production it contains errors, but no one can examine it and honestly charge me with one statement "made out of whole cloth," or "failure to verify references." The book is a monument of eight years of conscientious, painstaking, industrious effort to "prove all things and to hold fast that which is good," and it challenges criticism even from pedigree makers, as well as genealogists. The thorough honesty of the book is clear as the sunlight.

FRANCIS FAMILY RECORD.—(Communicated by N. J. Herrick, Esq., of Alfred, Maine).—The following records were copied from the old family Bible formerly belonging to Colonel Ebenezer Francis of Beverly, Massachusetts, a distinguished patriot of the Revolutionary War. He received a captain's commission in the Continental Army, July 1, 1775, the year following was colonel, and commanded a regiment on Dorchester Heights. By commission of November 19, that year, he was authorized to raise a regiment in Massachusetts, and at the head of this regiment, the Eleventh Massachusetts, he marched in January 1777 for Ticonderoga. His death occurred July 7, 1777, at Hubbardston, N. Y., where he was shot while leading his troops to battle. The Bible is now in the possession of

QUERIES.

ALDEN QUERIES.—In the REGISTER for 1883, page 19 — Bristol Church Records:

1. Baptized—James Alden, son of James and Sarah Alden, Nov. 3, 1754. Who were they? and their parents? What became of them?

2. In New Hampshire Colonial Records, very early, there is a Dr. Thomas Alden, evidently a man of prominence. Who was he? Was he related in any way to "Mayflower" John Alden?

3. Who was Hannah ——— wife of Prince<sup>3</sup> Snow (Mark<sup>2</sup>, Nicholas<sup>1</sup>)?

4. What was the name of the Hammond who married Sarah<sup>4</sup> Snow (Nicholas,<sup>3</sup> Mark,<sup>2</sup> Nicholas<sup>1</sup>)? Who was he? his parents? Where did they live, and did they have children?

In January number of the REGISTER, 1894, I was much interested in the Kyrtland family. Wm. Southworth, son of the first Constant, married Rebecca Pabodie, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Alden) Pabodie. She died before 1708, and he married Martha (Kyrtland) Blaque, and had Gideon and Andrew. Her name is Blaque in Savage, when she was wife of Joseph Blaque. She had other children than those given by Savage. She was Martha, daughter of Nathaniel and Parneli (——) Kirland. Who were the parents of her husband? She outlived Wm. Southworth, and her will is at Taunton Probate Records, dated 13 day of June 1729, in which she gives to my son Joseph Blaque, son Samuel Blaque, son Gideon Southworth, son Andrew Southworth, daughter Mary Southworth (this was Mary Blaque, her daughter, who married her step son Joseph), grandson of Wm. Southworth, granddaughter Mary Blaque. I would like to know more of these children. Gideon and Andrew went towards Rochester, Mass.

Wm. Pabodie, son of William Pabodie and Elizabeth (Alden) Pabodie, married three times; 1st, Judith, "departed this life July 26, 1714, in the 45th year of her age; 2d, Elizabeth, died 1717, Dec. 14, aged about 45." Who were these two? He married 3d, Mary (Morgan) Starr, widow of Thomas Starr of New London, born March 20, 1670. Little Compton Records say she died 1743. Starr Genealogy says Sept. 14, 1765. Her stone is not with the others. When and where did she die? Her daughter Jerusha Starr of New London, born Feb. 8, 1702-3, married Wm. Pabodie 3d, her stepson.

Wm. Palmer, Little Compton, in will dated 1745-6, speaks of sons William, Joseph, John, Thomas, Silvestor; daughters Elizabeth Head, Susannah Southworth, Abigail Shaw, grandson Gamaliel Richmond, son of deceased daughter Patience. I would like to know the parents of this Southworth (who married Susannah Southworth) and his first name, and other particulars.

Mercy Pabodie, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Alden) Pabodie, married 1669 John Simmons. He died probably 1715. When did she die? Did she marry again? His will speaks of youngest son Moses, and Moses's six brothers, John, William, Isaac, Benjamin, Joseph and Joshua, and their two sisters, Martha wife of Samuel West, and Rebeckah wife of Constant Southworth. This corrects several accounts where Rebeckah is said to be the daughter of Aaron Simmons.

I would like further particulars in regard to these children and their families. John the son married Experience Pincknel, and died 1711, and his widow was made executrix. Were there any children, and who were they?

Troy, N. Y.

M. L. I. ALDEN.

MARKHAM.—Dr. Markham, whose genealogy of the Markham family was announced as in preparation in July 1892 [ante., vol. 46, p. 246], wishes to ascertain the parents of Jephthah Markham, born somewhere near Hartford, about 1740-45. He is said to have had brothers Daniel and John, and perhaps others. He had twelve children—the next to the youngest, Jephthah, born 1780, near Hartford, was bound out to a Mr. King. They have a large progeny of influential men in the West. Anything to put Dr. Markham on the track of this line to connect with Deacon Daniel will be thankfully received. Perhaps he may have been a son of Daniel 2d and Patience Miller of Enfield, not on record. Address Dr. E. A. Markham, P. O. Box 93, Durham, Conn.

SHAW AND BEAL.

Shaw.—Nicholas<sup>s</sup> Shaw (the third of that name) was born in Abington, January 23, 1713. The record gives the names of his parents as Nicholas<sup>s</sup> Shaw and Lizzie or Lydia. Can any one give me the surname of this Lizzie and the names of parents or the place of her birth?

Beal.—Nicholas<sup>s</sup> Shaw married in Abington. 6th February, 1735, and she died in Abington in 1808, aged 91 years. Can any one give me the names of the parents of this Ruth Beal, or the place of her birth?

R. K. SHAW.

Marietta, Ohio.

BAXTER AND TAYLOR.—What were the names of the parents of Elihu Baxter and Tryphena Taylor, married Oct. 24, 1777? He was born in Tolland County, Conn., perhaps at Norwich, Dec. 18, 1749; she was of Pelham, N. H. Both are buried at Norwich, Vt., where they lived many years. $25.00 will be paid the first person sending me the names of the parents of either, or $50.00 for both.

Brunswick, Me.

R. H. BAXTER.

JACKSON.—Dea. John was one of the first settlers of Tyringham, Mass., in 1749, and the first deacon of the church in 1750. Who were his parents? This John Jackson is not mentioned in Francis Jackson's History of Newton, though family tradition makes him from that neighborhood.

WOOD-ELDERKIN.—Col. Jedidiah Elderkin of Windham, Conn., married, in 1741, Annie Wood [1721-1804], daughter of Phineas Wood. Of this Phineas Wood,—his parentage, residence, date of birth and death,—can any reader give information?

ALBERT LEFFINGWELL, M.D.

ELLIS AND ABRAMS.—Wanted, the genealogy of Rowland Ellis, born Sandwich, Mass., September 10, 1776, married Sally, daughter of Wm. Abrams of Sandwich, July 1st, 1802, died October 12th, 1812. Wanted also, genealogy of William Abrams of Sandwich, Mass., born January 16, 1742, died September 27, 1843.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE STATE OF MAINE.—Hon. Joseph Williamson of Belfast, Me., has prepared a Bibliography of that state from the earliest period to 1891, which will be published by the Maine Historical Society. It will make an octavo of over one thousand pages.

With a few classified exceptions the work aims to include the full title of every book, pamphlet, and magazine article ever written or published in, or concerning Maine, or of which her citizens were the authors. About 10,000 titles are thus given, and the names of over 2500 authors, with brief notices. It will contain numerous notes and cross references; the whole constituting a complete key to the biography, history and literature of the State.

The volume will be furnished in substantial binding, printed on good paper, and will be delivered free of postage or express at five dollars per copy.

As the edition is limited, and will not be stereotyped, parties desiring the work will send in their subscription without delay. Address, The Maine Historical Society, Portland, Me.

CENTENARY OF FORT DEFIANCE.—August 8th, 1794, General Anthony Wayne, with his command, arrived at the confluence of the Auglaize and the Maumee rivers, and recognizing the favorable situation, soon had the point between the rivers fortified and named Fort Defiance. This Fort was an important point during the Indian wars following its erection, and also in the War of 1812.

The enterprising city of Defiance is beautifully situated on both sides of the rivers, and now numbers 10,000 inhabitants who have a just pride in the history of the "Old Fort Grounds." and they are taking great interest in the preparations for a suitable celebration of the Centennial Anniversary to continue three days, August 7th, 8th and 9th, 1894.

The pioneer societies of the Maumee Valley will participate in this celebration, and it is the desire of the citizens that all persons interested in the earlier history of the northwest territory be particularly invited. The governors of several states, and many other prominent men from a distance, have signified their intention to be present. All persons attending will be given a cordial welcome.

Of the Committee on Invitation.

BUTLER.—I am seeking information concerning Nathaniel Butler and Abigail his wife, or John Butler and Mary his wife, both of which families lived at and owned property in Stafford, Tolland County, Conn., in 1750 and thereabouts, and their descendants continued residents of Stafford and vicinity for many years subsequent. I am specially desirous of ascertaining their previous residence, and who their ancestors were, and also just which of the several branches of the Butler family they trace into. Any assistance or suggestions will be very thankfully received by

F. O. BUTLER.

THE PROVINCIAL FLAG OF PENNSYLVANIA.—The Pennsylvania Gazette of January 12th and April 16th, 1748, gives a description of devices which Dr. Benjamin Franklin says (in his Autobiography) that he furnished for flags for the "Associators" of 1747, in Philadelphia. (Vide Sparks's Franklin, p. 146, for details.)

No mention is made in either issue of the color of the silks upon which these devices were painted. Can you, or any reader, put me in the way of finding out the color of the silk, especially that of the flag with device No. 1, "a lion erect, a naked scimitar in one paw, the other holding the escutcheon of Pennsylvania, motto 'Patria'"? TOWN HISTORIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons having facts or documents illustrating the history of any of the towns announced under this head are advised to send them to the person engaged in writing the history of that town.

Deerfield, Mass., by Hon. George Sheldon.—This work, announced in the REGISTER for October 1893, page 485, is now in press. It treats of the Times when and the People by whom the town was Settled, Unsettled, and Resettled, and a special Study of the Indian Wars in the Connecticut Valley; with Genealogies. It is more than a history of Deerfield. It embraces wider fields and throws strong light on New England life from its earliest days. The book is the result of twenty-five years of laborious and painstaking research. It covers a period of two hundred and fifty years (1636-1886) and is an authentic history of one of the most celebrated of colonial towns.

The work will make two octavo volumes. They will contain over one thousand pages. The price is $5 a volume in ornamental cloth. To those who subscribe before the work is issued, it will be $4.20 delivered. Subscriptions received by the author, George Sheldon, Deerfield, Mass., or the committee of publication, C. Alice Baker, Cambridge, Mass.; Francis M. Thomson, Greenfield, and John Sheldon, Greenfield, Mass.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of births, marriages, residence and death. When there are more than one christian name they should all be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full names are known.

NECROLOGY OF THE NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Prepared by the Historiographer, REV. EZRA HOYT BYINGTON, D.D., of Newton, Mass.

THE sketches of deceased members prepared for the REGISTER are of necessity brief, because the space that can be appropriated is quite limited. All the materials for more extended memoirs which can be gathered are preserved in the archives of the Society, and they will be available for use in preparing the "Memorial Biographies," of which four volumes have been issued and a fifth volume is in press. The income from the Towne Memorial Fund is devoted to the publication of these volumes.

EX-GOVERNOR WILLIAM GASTON, A.M., LL.D., was born in South Killingly, Connecticut, October 3d, 1820, and died in Boston January 19, 1894. He was the son of Alexander and Kesia (Arnold) Gaston. His father was a merchant of excellent reputation, who was for many years a member of the Legislature of Connecticut, as his father had been before him.

Governor Gaston was descended on his father's side from Jean Gaston, a French Huguenot, who left France early in the seventeenth century on account of his religious principles, and settled in Scotland. His sons removed to the North of Ireland about 1675. One of his descendants, John Gaston, settled in Connecticut in 1730. One of his descendants, Dr. Alexander Gaston, was a member of the Legislature of Connecticut in 1781. His son William was a Judge of the Supreme Court, and a member of Congress.

On the maternal side, Mr. Gaston was descended from Thomas Arnold, who, with his brother William, came to New England in 1636. In 1654 Thomas joined his brother William in Rhode Island, to which Colony he had gone with Roger Williams.

Alexander Gaston removed from Connecticut to Roxbury in the summer of 1838, when his son William was in his eighteenth year. William had been prepared for college in Brooklyn, Connecticut, and at Plainfield Academy, and was graduated from Brown University in 1840. He began to study law in the office of Judge Francis Williard of Roxbury, and completed his course with Charles P. and Benjamin R. Curtis of Boston. He was admitted to the bar in 1844, and began the practice of the law in Roxbury. In 1865 the law firm of Jewell, Gaston and Field was formed, with offices in Boston. Mr. Gaston continued in this firm until he was elected to the office of Governor of the Commonwealth. In 1879 he formed a new law firm, which has been known of late years as the firm of Gaston and Snow.

Mr. Gaston was not long in reaching a position as one of the leading lawyers at the bar. His practice was not confined to any department. He was distinguished in all. He had a wide and comprehensive knowledge of law, an acute and logical mind, and a judicial temper. He had great influence with the Court. He was a brilliant and effective pleader before a jury. He was a safe and wise counsellor. He was skilful in the cross examination of witnesses. As a real estate lawyer he had few equals.

Those who were associated with him at the bar bear emphatic testimony to his high sense of honor, his strict integrity, and his steady and consistent opposition to trickery and double dealing. It is safe to say that he never knowingly aided any one by his advice in evading the law, or in using it as a means of injustice or oppression. Those who sought to induce him to aid them in schemes of trickery and fraud were sure to draw upon themselves his righteous indignation. He scorned every sort of meanness.

And yet he had a large and lucrative practice in his profession. He made a great deal of money by his practice, and has left an ample fortune.

He was City Solicitor of Roxbury for five years, and he was Mayor of that city in 1861 and 1862. In 1853 and 1854 and 1856 he was a member of the Legislature, and in 1863 he was a member of the Senate. He was elected Mayor of Boston in 1870 and re-elected in 1871. The great fire occurred during his term, and he acquitted himself in such a way as to endear himself forever to the sufferers by that great calamity. In 1874 he was elected to the office of Governor as a Democrat, the only one of that political party who held that office for many years. There was a majority of his political opponents in the Council, and the political conditions were peculiarly delicate, but he conducted the affairs of his office in such a way as to command the sincere respect of his political opponents, while he won the enthusiastic support of his political friends.

Since his retirement from the office of Governor he has devoted all his time to his profession, and to historical studies. Although he had an abundant income from his investments, he was an assiduous worker up to a few months before his death. He was extremely simple in his manners and in his dress; a fine specimen of an American citizen.

He was elected a resident member of this Society April 5, 1871.

In 1875 his alma mater, Brown University, conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. The same degree was conferred upon him by Harvard College the same year.

Mr. Gaston married May 27, 1852, Miss Louisa A. Beecher. They had three children, who survive him.

The following resolutions were adopted by the New-England Historic Genealogical Society at the March stated meeting after his death:

Resolved, That in the death of Hon. William Gaston, the New-England Historic Genealogical Society recognizes the loss of one of its most distinguished and valued members. Mr. Gaston had gained the position in life of one who made history. He had filled the office of Governor of Massachusetts at a peculiarly interesting period of the Commonwealth's annals, and was therein identified with the centennial anniversary of that year in which began the people's struggle for political independence. His manly and thoroughly creditable bearing at that time avouched him a fit representative of the State in which the conflict was opened.

Resolved, That, aside from his public career, in the lines of private citizenship and friendship, William Gaston merited and received our admiration and regard. Modest and unassuming in personal bearing, kind and thoughtful in his consideration for others, he secured the esteem and affection of all who were privileged to enjoy his acquaintance. Eminent in professional and public life, he exercised a nearer and warmer attraction to his neighbors and every-day associates, which will render his memory a cherished possession to all of them. Affable, courteous, liberal-minded, high-toned, his popularity was like that desired by Lord Mansfield—"that which follows, not that which is run after; that popularity which sooner or later never fails to do justice to the man who seeks noble ends by noble means."

FRANCIS GREENLEAF PRATT, Jr., of Boston, died at his home March 20, 1894. He was born in Middleboro', Mass., August 8, 1850. He was elected a resident member of this Society April 2, 1890, and became a life member the same year.

Mr. Pratt was a descendant of the ninth generation from Matthew Pratt, who died in Weymouth, Mass., August 29, 1672. On his mother's side he was descended from John Eddy, who came to Plymouth in 1630. The two families have been noted for integrity and capacity in business. They had an important part in the early history of New England. They had an excellent record for patriotic services during the Revolution. Several of his ancestors on the maternal side have been eminent as lawyers and clergymen. Zackeriah Eddy, one of the most distinguished lawyers in the old colony, was his grandfather. Zackery Eddy, D.D., of Brooklyn, was his relative.

He was the son of Rev. Francis G. Pratt and Charlotte Elizabeth Eddy of Middleboro'. He was educated in the high school in Middleboro', the normal school in Bridgewater, and Phillips Academy, Andover. He left school at an early age to engage in business. He was six years with Lee and Shepard. About seventeen years ago he became connected with the Youth's Companion of this city, and worked his way to the practical direction of its business affairs. He was a sagacious and very prosperous business man, and had a very extensive acquaintance among business men.

He was interested in the history of New England, and in the genealogy of New England families. He prepared, in connection with others, the genealogy of the Eddy family, published in 1880, and the genealogy of the Pratt family published in 1889.

He was a man of unusual modesty, a tireless worker, genial and companionable, simple in his tastes and habits, and at the same time he was capable of directing large interests. He gave much time and thought to public institutions outside his private affairs, and although comparatively young, has left a name that will be remembered for the large benevolent work which he carried forward, as well as for his admirable traits of personal character. Mr. Pratt was never married.

SAMUEL KIDDER, of Lowell, was born in Charlestown, Massachusetts, August 3, 1821, and died February 15, 1894. He was the youngest of seven children, and the only son. On his mother's side he was a direct descendant from John Rogers, who was burned at Smithfield Feb. 4, 1555. He inherited the spirit of that courageous man. Mr. Kidder was educated in the common schools, and in the academies at Medford and Woburn.

He was an active and successful business man. He began life as a druggist in Lowell forty years ago. In 1865 he entered into the firm of Page, Kidder & Co. in Lowell, dealers in flour and grain. He acquired an ample fortune, and was able to retire from active business several years ago. He was for about thirty years a director in the Lowell Institution for Savings. He was also for many years a director in the Wamesit National Bank in that city. He was intrusted with the settlement of a large number of estates, and he did the business "with the even balance of justice in his hand." He never would swerve a hair's breadth from what strict honesty demanded.

Mr. Kidder was a well read man. He was very familiar with modern ecclesiastical history, especially with the history of New England ministers and churches. He had a large fund of anecdote about the clergymen of this and other generations. He was well acquainted with the works of the New England divines. A clergyman of unusual scholarly attainments said of him: "I never knew the layman who could tell me so much that I did not know about our New England ministers and churches."

He married, October 24, 1846, Miss Ellen Coggin, youngest daughter of Rev. Jacob Coggin. She died May 18, 1856. He married as his second wife Miss Mary Jane Davis, Sept. 24, 1857. She died May 29, 1880. Five daughters survive him.

Mr. Kidder was elected a resident member of this Society December 4, 1878.

LINUS PIERPONT BROCKETT, A.M., M.D., was born in Canton, Connecticut, October 16, 1820, and died in Brooklyn, New York, January 13, 1893. He was elected a corresponding member of this Society September 1, 1847.

Dr. Brockett was educated in the Connecticut Literary Institution, and at Brown University. He was graduated from the Yale Medical School in 1843, and continued a number of years in the practice of medicine. His physical strength was not sufficient for the exacting work of his profession, and he turned aside to the pursuit of literature. From 1847 to 1857 he was in the publishing business in Hartford. In 1854 he was appointed a commissioner by the State of Connecticut to investigate the condition of Idiots, and the best methods of dealing with them. This occupied him two years. Since 1856 he has been connected with several religious papers. He has done a large amount of thorough and valuable work. He published more than forty distinct works on biographical, geographical, historical, literary, and religious subjects. He contributed toward the first edition of the American Cyclopædia. He wrote a History of the Civil War; Woman's Work in the Civil War; Men of Our Day, Phila. 1868. He was one of the leading contributors to the New Encyclopædia of Missions. He accumulated his material by patient investigation, and wrote easily and well.

Dr. Brockett was the son of a minister, and a large part of his literary work was of a religious character. His largest usefulness was in connection with Christian Missions in foreign lands.

Amherst College conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts in 1857.

EDWIN FORBES WATERS, a life member of this Society since 1877, was born in Petersham, Mass., July 7, 1822, and died in San Francisco April 18, 1894.

Mr. Waters was a self-made man. His parents were in moderate circumstances, and he was thrown early in life upon own resources. He learned the trade of a printer, and at the age of fourteen secured work in a newspaper office in Portland, Maine. He came to Boston a few years later. In 1864 he purchased an interest in the Boston Daily Advertiser. He devoted himself heart and soul to the paper, and his hand was soon felt in all its departments. He continued the publisher of the Advertiser for eighteen years. He made the paper a financial success, as well as a strong factor in politics. He retired from the business in 1882. He was at one time chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and his political influence was strong and wholesome.

He married Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement, so well known as a writer upon art. Soon after his marriage in June 1883, he started on a trip around the world, which occupied him two years. His home on Newbury street was rich in treasures of art which he and his accomplished wife had brought together during their many foreign tours. He was a member of a number of societies, political and historical, and was one of the influential men of Boston.

HENRY TRUMAN BECKWITH, a Life Member, elected January 3, 1855, was the third child and eldest son of Truman and Alice Dexter (Brown) Beckwith. He was born at No. 46 South Main street, in Providence, 22d Dec. 1818. His father was then and for many years afterwards actively engaged in the cotton business, and was earning a reputation for judgment and honesty which has not been surpassed in Providence. The family moved, when Henry was ten years old, to the now old-fashioned house on the corner of Benefit and College streets, where he lived nearly all his life. That house was splendid when it was first built, and generally considered extravagant. After Truman Beckwith died in it in 1878, Henry moved out and built a new house opposite the College, in which he died April 7, 1893. Henry did not graduate from Brown University, but he was for two years a member of the class of 1838, a class famous in Rhode Island, for it contained Bradley, Clarke and Jenckes, among its distinguished lawyers, and gave a president to the College in the person of Dr. Robinson. After a few years he went from Boston to Calcutta as supercargo of a ship. The first voyage was made in 1841 and the last return voyage in 1843. It took a year to make the round trip then, the voyage each way took four months and the ship stayed two months in each port. Then he spent the next two winters in Macon, Georgia, as a buyer of cotton. He went South in October and returned in April. Then in 1845 he became bookkeeper for his father, an occupation which lasted for the rest of his life. Up to his father's death he received a salary as bookkeeper; after his father's death he kept his own books, living on the income of the handsome fortune his father left him. As a poor man he had given away a certain considerable fraction of his income. As a rich man he gave away the same fraction, and it became a help to many persons and societies, and especially to those parishes of the Episcopal Church which were organized in poor neighborhoods. Mr. Beckwith's family were and are Baptists, but he became a member of the Episcopal Church in 1870, when he was fifty-two years old. He never married, and his occupation gave him, or he took from it, some leisure that he employed in reading, and improving himself, in writing to instruct the public, for whom he worked in several societies. He was a member of the Franklin Society and the Rhode Island Historical Society, and much interested in both of them. He held various offices, of which the unpaid treasurership of the Providence Athenæum was the most laborious. His holidays were spent in travel. He was always going to see things, from Westminster Abbey to a boulder in Johnston. With an interest that never tired he made the longest and shortest journeys, and having exhausted the guide-books, he made all sorts of private notes to be used when he should revisit some place to see the sights he had missed before. In the same way that his sightseeing was only limited by his physical endurance and took in all kinds of sights, so his mania for collecting was only limited by the time at his disposal and the things that he could buy or have given to him. He kept everything, photographs, maps, letters, autographs, pieces of wood, brass and iron, each with an association. He was interested in very many things, but in none so much as parks. His last years were spent in trying to save the Cove, that elliptical basin with a narrow belt of trees which was beautiful, but coveted by the railroads, its neighbors. He bought some land beautifully situated in the northern part of Providence, where the French troops had encamped during the Revolution, and offered it to the city on the condition that the Cove might be spared. The majority of the citizens had already shown that they wanted what is called "terminal facilities," and the city government of course declined to accept "Rochambeau Park." Mr. Beckwith was much disappointed, and resorted to the subject very often with a little bitterness, but he had a good temper and interested himself in other things. He was a good man, certainly full of crotchets, but they were all innocent and most of them useful ones. • •

HORATIO GATES JONES, A.M., D.C.L., was elected a corresponding member of the Society, January 7, 1852. He died at his home in Roxborough, in Philadelphia, Pa., March 14, 1893, at the age of seventy-one.

Mr. Jones was born in Roxborough, then a separate township, January 2, 1822. He was son of Rev. Horatio Gates Jones, D.D., and Deborah Levering, grandson of Rev. David Jones and Anna Stillwell, great-grandson of Morgan Jones and Eleanor Evans, and great-great-grandson of David Jones and Esther Morgan. His ancestor, last named, was one of many who emigrated from Cardiganshire, Wales, in the early part of the eighteenth century. They brought with them the zealous religious faith and courageous patriotism characteristic of their country, and stamped those virtues strongly upon the settlements which they founded. Rev. David Jones, the grandfather of our member, was an eminent Baptist minister, settled for many years over the Great Valley Church in Tredyffrin township, near Philadelphia. He was famous in the American Revolution as "the fighting parson," being a chaplain during the whole war, serving first under Gates, then under "Mad Anthony Wayne," being with the latter at Brandywine, at Germantown, at Mounmouth, at Yorktown, and under him again in the same capacity in the Indian war of 1794-96. He was chaplain in the War of 1812, although then seventy-six years old; in 1817 he officiated at the dedication of a monument to mark the Paoli massacre, from which he himself had narrowly escaped, and in 1829 was buried in the Great Valley church-yard, within sight of Valley Forge, where he had wintered with Washington. Such patriotic blood would surely tell in his descendants!

Mr. Jones received his education at the Roxborough public schools, at Hadlington College (a preparatory school long since extinct), and at the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1841. Devoting his attention to the study of law, he was admitted to the Philadelphia Bar in 1847 and continued in that profession throughout his life, his practice being largely in the Orphans' Court. He was for several years a member of the upper house of the State Legislature, where he introduced the "Religious Liberty Bill."

His ample means allowed him to give much time to historical research and to publish many valuable papers, mostly upon topics connected with local antiquity and family biography. Among them were "Life of Andrew Bradford, the Founder of the Newspaper Press in the Middle States of America," "Memoir of Henry Bond, M.D.," "Diary of S. J., or Journal of a Country Baptist Minister," "History of the Great Valley Baptist Church," "History of the Brandywine Baptist Church," "Biographical Sketch of the Rev. David Jones, A.M.," "History of the Levering Family of Roxborough," "History of Roxborough and Manayunk," "An Account of the Early Paper Manufacture in Pennsylvania." These and other works of a similar character were prepared with marked thoroughness and painstaking.

He had been a member of the Pennsylvania Historical Society since 1848, was for many years one of its Secretaries, and afterwards a Vice-President until his death. To that Society he left all his historical papers as well as a considerable bequest in money. He was also a member of the American Antiquarian Society, the Western Reserve Historical Society, the Moravian Historical Society, and of several State historical societies. Brown University gave him the honorary degrees of A.M. in 1863, and Judson University that of D.C.L. in 1880.

Mr. Jones's well-known religious, benevolent and patriotic interests and activities were the natural heritage of his honored ancestry. He was from early life a member, and for many years a deacon, of the Lower Merion Baptist Church, of which his father had been the founder and for forty-eight years the pastor, and the history of which was his last published work. He was president of the Philadelphia Baptist Association, a trustee of Crozer Theological Seminary, and a generous giver to churches, hospitals and endowments connected with that denomination.

Affectionately remembering the country from which his ancestors came, he took a deep interest in the Welsh, spoke their language fluently, was president of the Welsh Society of Philadelphia, and bequeathed to it his Welsh books and a fund for the support and relief of needy and deserving Welshmen. At his funeral there was sung, in accordance with his request, a hymn of Christian faith in the Welsh language.

The sturdy patriotism of the revolutionary chaplain reappeared in the War of the Rebellion two generations later. A brother of Mr. Jones commanded a regiment of Union soldiers and fell at Newberne, a sister died as a nurse in a Virginia hospital, and our member was full of patriotic zeal in everything relating to the triumph of the national cause. He was associated with George H. Stuart on the Executive Committee of the U. S. Christian Commission, and the writer vividly remembers his visit to City Point in the winter of 1865, in company with Bishops James and Lee, on an errand of mercy with reference to our prisoners at Richmond. Gen. Grant sent them up the James River on his private steamer and on their return Mr. Jones gave us an enthusiastic account of their interview, under flag of truce, with the rebel authorities.

Mr. Jones married, May 27, 1852, Caroline Elizabeth Vassar Babcock, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., daughter of Rev. Rufus Babcock, D.D., and Olive Bicknell Smith. She died March 7, 1889.

FRANCIS ORMOND FRENCH, A.M., LL.B., was elected Jan. 2d, 1883, a resident member of this Society, and died Feb. 26, 1893, in Tuxedo, N. Y.

Francis Ormond French was the son of Benjamin Brown French, who was

Clerk of the United States House of Representatives in 1845-47, and Commissioner of Public Buildings under Lincoln. His mother was a daughter of Chief Justice William Merchant Richardson of Chester, N. H. His grandfather was Hon. Daniel French, formerly Attorney-General of New Hampshire. The late Hon. Henry Flagg French, formerly of Exeter, N. H., County Solicitor, Bank Commissioner and Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in New Hampshire, and later of Concord, Mass., Assistant District Attorney for County of Suffolk, President of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, and for the last eight years of his life Assistant Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, was an uncle of Mr. French. He was a nephew of Mrs. Helen A. Cochrane née French, a writer well known to the public as "Ruth Chesterfield," and also a cousin of Daniel Chester French the sculptor.

Francis O. French was born Sept. 12, 1837, at the house of his grandfather, Judge Richardson in Chester, N. H. He was prepared for college at Phillips Exeter Academy, and entered the sophomore class at Harvard in 1854. He was graduated with honors in 1857. He was admitted to the Bar in 1860. In Sept., 1862, he was appointed Deputy Naval Officer of Customs at Boston, and in 1863 was appointed Deputy Collector of the same port. He resigned in 1865 to enter the banking firm of Samuel A. Way of Boston. In October, 1870, he went to New York to enter the firm of Jay Cook & Co. After the Cook failure, Mr. French represented the London firms of McCullough & Co., and Melville, Evans & Co., in New York. In 1874 he, with others, secured the control of the First National Bank of New York, and engineered the funding operations of United States Loans. This probably laid the foundation of Mr. French's large fortune. In 1880 he retired from business, but in 1888 accepted the presidency of the Manhattan Trust Company.

He died Feb. 26th, 1893, of heart failure, at his cottage in Tuxedo, N. Y. Funeral services at his residence in New York City. He was buried beside his parents in Washington, D. C.

Ex-Governor Charles H. Bell, in his Bench and Bar of New Hampshire, says of Mr. French: "He was distinguished in college for his mathematical faculty, to which he probably owed much of his success in his business operations in later life. He was extremely systematic, and always kept thoroughly conversant with all the details of every undertaking with which he was concerned. He inherited a taste for literature, and was the poet of his college class. He was liberal, polite, and well-informed; he had travelled much, and was an accomplished man of the world. He was united in marriage, in 1861, to Ellen, second daughter of Hon. Amos Tuck of Exeter, and left three children." Elizabeth, the eldest, married July 14, 1892, Colonel the Hon. Herbert Francis Eaton, Grenadier Guards, brother of Lord Cheylesmore; they reside in England. Amos, the only son, is connected with the Manhattan Trust Co. Elsie resides with her mother in Tuxedo, N. Y.

HON. ALVAN AUGUSTUS BURRAGE, of Boston, was elected a resident member of this Society, December 5, 1855, and became a life member in 1863. He died November 6, 1893, at his residence, No. 282 Newbury street, Boston, Mass., and his burial took place in Mt. Auburn.

Alvan Augustus Burrage, son of Capt. Josiah and Ruth (Kilburn) Burrage, was born May 30, 1823, in North Leominster, Mass. He was a descendant of Robert and Rose Burrage of Seething, Norfolk Co., England, and of John Burrage, immigrant, who appeared in Charlestown, Mass., as early as 1637. He was the eighth son and twelfth child in a family of thirteen children. His childhood and early youth were passed at home, where he was required to labor on the farm and thus contribute his part to the support of a large family. When of school age until eleven years old he attended the district school for a few weeks in summer and in winter, and after that only the winter terms until sixteen years of age. Then, February 19, 1839, he entered the store of Messrs. Richardson & Burrage to learn the sale of woolen goods, at which date commenced his mercantile life in Boston, where he ever afterwards resided. He must have arrived in the city over the old stage line, as at that date no railroad had been constructed in the direction of Concord, Harvard and his native town. His worldly possessions consisted of one suit of clothes and fifty cents of hard cash in his pocket. In compensation for his first five years of service he received his board and clothing, amounting annually to from $250 to $375. He received his first salary as salesman at the age of twenty-one years in the amount of $450; of this he saved $39. The next year his salary was advanced to $600 and at the end of that year, 1845, he had a capital on deposit of $185. January 1, 1846, he became one of the firm of Wilkinson, Stetson & Co., and continued this partnership until October, 1852. January 1, 1853, at the age of thirty years, he became a co-partner with Noble H. Hill and his brother Charles H. Burrage, constituting the firm Hill, Burrage & Co.; this continued for six years. In 1859 the firm became Burrage Brothers & Co. They lost heavily in the "great Boston fire," suffering to the extent of not less than $100,000 beyond all insurance. At the age of fifty years, December 31, 1873, Mr. Burrage retired from business.

Mr. Burrage took a deep interest in public reforms and in political matters. He was warmly identified with the anti-slavery cause when it was in public disfavor, and took an active part in the Free Soil party. He was elected a Representative to the General Court in 1867, 1868 and 1869; a member of the Boston Board of Aldermen in 1875 and 1876; and was chosen to the State Senate in 1878 and 1879. He organized the Citizen's Convention which nominated, in 1887, Mr. Hart for mayor.

Mr. Burrage wrote articles and letters for the press on current topics of the day, which commanded attention. He published "The Burrage Memorial" volume in 1877, a book of 265 pages, which must have cost much labor and research. He was an admirer of Theodore Parker and gave much time and money towards the erection of the Parker Memorial Building.

Mr. Burrage married May 17, 1849, Elizabeth Amelia Smith, of Groton, Mass. They had eight children. His widow, one son and three daughters survive him.

By Rev. E. O. Jameson, of Boston.

NATHANIEL GATES CHAPIN, the second child and first son of Nathaniel and Fanny Bowen (Brown) Chapin, was born at Walpole, N. H., August 20, 1817. The circumstances of his childhood were such as to give him a strong, healthy physique, and opportunities to create an ambition for a broader experience than a New Hampshire farm afforded. His opportunities for education were limited, and yet better than was the average of country boys, being such as the public schools and a year or two in a private school at Bellows Falls could afford, with a reasonable desire to make the most of these opportunities. At the latter school, he was frequently called upon to hear recitations, and at one time the principal proposed to fit him for Dartmouth College, and to give him assistance through his college course, with the understanding that he should become a teacher in his school.

When he was seventeen, he had a desire to go to Boston to learn a trade, and one of the Bellows Falls merchants, having kindly secured a place for him in a wholesale dry goods establishment in Boston, in September, 1834, he left his New Hampshire home. Boston had been a city but nine years, and contained about 50,000 inhabitants. What is now called the Old State House was then occupied as a wine store throughout the whole of the basement. The principal story contained the whole of the Post Office and the Merchants' Reading Room, about half the main floor being given to each; and in the second story was the City Hall, with all necessary room for the Mayor and Aldermen and Common Council, and all other connected offices. This dry goods house established a branch in New York, and this youth was sent there as a clerk, which gave him a glimpse of New York life. About 1840, he started, with small resources, a commission business in Boston, forming a partnership with a wholesale grocery house in Cleveland, Ohio. This enterprise met with moderate success, but did not encourage large results.

On the 31st of August, 1843, he and Harriet Louisa Fisher were married, at Boston. She was born in Boston, April 23, 1822, and was the daughter of Jabez (and Susanna) Fisher, of the firm of Fishers & Baldwin of Boston. This firm had long been established in the provision business, having packing houses at Cincinnati, and at Lacon on the Illinois river, and the senior member of the firm was the pioneer in pork packing in the West. About 1846, Mr. Baldwin of this firm retiring, the vacancy was offered to the writer, and the firm became Fishers & Chapin, which necessitated the writer's often going to the West.

In 1842, he bought the old Sumner estate in Brookline, a house containing revolutionary associations, the house having been built in 1740. In 1855, he spent most of the year travelling in Europe. He was a director for quarter of a century in the New England Mutual Insurance Company. About 1862, he was chosen a director in the Massachusetts Bank, which, at present time of writing (1890), he has held nearly thirty years.

The packing business during the past decade had undergone such changes, through great competition, etc., that it could not be carried on in its previously conservative manner, notwithstanding its past great success. A business loss each year had become the usual result, and a profit the exception, so that in 1875 this firm, with other Boston firms, was forced to suspend. It struggled hard, forgetting family needs; and nearly succeeded in paying its debts in full, to attain which the Brookline home, with its pleasant associations, was given up. The writer was then chosen treasurer of the Eastern Railroad, at its re-organization in 1875, which position he held for over twelve years, and until the road was leased to the Boston & Maine Railroad, when he was chosen Vice-President of the Massachusetts National Bank, which position he now (1890) holds.

He was a devoted member of the Church of the Disciples. He was a life member of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, and also of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society.

This sketch would be incomplete, if it failed to record the blessing of a loving and devoted wife, and children, the comfort and hope of numerous grandchildren, the harmony and affection of brother and sisters, and the happy recollection of loving friendships. He was fond of nature, and his happiest recreation was in his flower garden, or in his tool room. He also had a deep love for music, and since his youth had almost always been connected with some musical club, perhaps most happily so with the Handel and Haydn Society, of which he was at one time a member of the government.

The above sketch was written, in 1890, by my father for a genealogical work on which he was engaged for many years before his death. This work will be completed by another hand.

During the last week of January, 1894, my father caught an unusually heavy cold. It was never his wont to pay attention to slight ailments, and after a few days stay in the house, he returned to his office, in stormy weather. The cold developed at once into diaphragmatic pleurisy, of which he died January 27th, after thirty-six hours illness. He was buried at Forest Hills, two days later.

His life, to the very last, was one of incessant activity, and of great happiness; the latter springing from a pure, upright, temperate mind, and a healthy, active nature. To live in harmony with his fellow men, to promote their welfare through kindly sympathy and interest, were distinguishing points in his nature.

M. H. C.

He was elected a member of this Society, August 5, 1863.

RANDALL GARDNER BURRELL, Esq., of Boston, a resident member, elected March 6, 1872, was born in Bucksport, Me., July 24, 1816, and died in Washington, D. C., April 4, 1893.

He was the son of Randail and Zillah (Smith) Burrell, and was descended from a long line of Cape Cod and Nantucket ancestors. He was educated in the schools of his native town of Bucksport, and at the age of eighteen went to Bangor, Me., and served an apprenticeship for the trade of carpenter and builder. This apprenticeship was for the term of three years. At the end of this service he went to the South, and located at Appalachicola, Fla., where he was employed for five years; after which he returned North. He located at Boston, where he engaged in the business of piano-forte manufacturing, in the establishment of Mr. Gilbert, where he remained until the "gold-fever" of 1849 attracted so many away to the Pacific coast. He went with the crowd of would-be gold-winners to California, and endured the hardships, and tried the chances of those wild days and scenes, until the year 1854, when he returned again to Boston and resumed his former business of piano-making. Later he was associated with Mr. Charles H. Dennett in the firm of "Burrell & Dennett," piano-case manufacturers, in which business he continued. His residence was at 200 Dartmouth Street. Mr. Burrell was a man of much ability in his line of business, was public-spirited and influential in many ways. He was an active member of the "Charitable Mechanic Association," and belonged to the Massachusetts lodge of the Ancient Order of Free Masons. He was also a member and promoter of the Boston Natural History Society. In 1892 Mr. Burrell, finding his health failing, started upon a journey to the South and thence to the Pacific coast, but on his return was taken ill at Washington, where he died, as above noted. Mr. Burrell was an advocate of cremation as the proper method of interment, and, by his wish, his remains were cremated at Baltimore, and his ashes are interred at Forest Hills, Roxbury. Funeral services were held at The Church of the Disciples, conducted by Rev. Charles G. Ames. Mr. Burrell left one son, Dr. Herbert L. Burrell.

Sermons for the Church. By CALEB DAVIS BRADLEE, D.D. Pastor (pro tem) of Christ's Church, Longwood. Boston: Geo. H. Ellis, 141 Franklin Street. 1893. 12mo, pp. 275.

These sermons of Dr. Bradlee's are clear, direct, practical and forceful. They are, what Bishop Brooks said in his Lectures on Preaching (a book that Dr. Steenstra used to advise the students at the Theological School to read through carefully once a year) sermons ought to be: "Good tools to work with." That is to say, the sermon is not or should not be an end in itself, but merely a means toward an end. A sermon may be from a literary point of view quite artistic, it may be as nearly faultless in its construction as any human production can be, and yet it may utterly fail to meet its true purpose, to reach down into and touch deeply the heart and soul of man. To quote Bishop Brooks again: "Preaching is the communication of truth by man to men. It has in it two essential elements, truth and personality." Now, given this determination on the part of the minister to preach the simple gospel truth, and an earnest effort to present it with all the power he is capable of, there is no reason why he will not be able to win souls to Christ. Let no one think for a moment that the influence of the pulpit is waning. It is now, as it has been, a mighty factor in the development of Christianity, in the saving of immortal souls. It may be true that,—owing to the rapid growth and great efficiency of the daily press, and the constant multiplication of books,—the pulpit may not exercise the same influences as formerly in certain directions. But surely this is no detriment to Christianity, it does not detract from its influence. The object of the pulpit is to preach “Jesus Christ and Him crucified”; to urge with all the fire and force it is capable of the acceptance of the eternal truths of the Christian faith as set forth in the Apostles’ and Nicene Creeds; to insist upon the necessary amount of dogmatic teaching, the belief in the historic events connected with the life of our Lord Jesus Christ; to insist upon obedience to the moral law which has its source in the very being of God. In a word, the pulpit deals with the deepest and profoundest questions of human life; questions which lie at the basis of the life that now is and of that which is to come; questions which no thoughtful person may ignore, bearing as they do on the eternal welfare of the human soul. The Christian looks with clear vision from the present to the future; from the transitory to the permanent; the present life,—passing like a panorama before him,—takes its due position, its true perspective in the grand procession of the ages yet to be.

The duty of the pulpit is to fire the hearts and souls of men with ardent admiration and passionate love for the divine exemplar of our faith, the Saviour and Redeemer of our souls. There probably never was a time when there were more sermons published than to-day, and yet, however helpful they may be, however great their influence for good, men will not be satisfied with anything less than the spoken word fresh from the heart of the minister of the gospel. The pulpit is and ever will be one of the most powerful forces for good in the world. Men will ever hunger and thirst for the precious promises of the gospel, which nothing but glowing, heartfelt preaching will satisfy.

We hear many complaints to-day about the large body of non church-going people in the cities and towns of our land. This indifference may be owing to many causes: to the spread of agnostic literature; to the prevalence of the Sunday newspapers—some fairly good, some positively harmful. But whatever the causes of this lax observance of the Sabbath, of the Lord’s Day, may be (a day that our forefathers respected and held very dear), we cannot help admitting the evil and also the duty devolving upon us to do what we can to overcome it. And now is the time for the Christian Churches to rise more fully (although splendid work is now being done) to the great opportunities, demands and exigencies of the present. “The field is white unto the harvest.” But the laborers are few. And then the clergy have other duties beside that of preaching the gospel. More men ought to be put into the field. Oh if more of the students in our colleges who are about to take up their life-work could get the enthusiasm, the love of souls—which has inspired the lives of so many Christians—if they could only feel that they have a mission, a message to carry to men, they would then look forward with eagerness to a life in the ministry, as the happiest, the most sacred that a man can lead, and (even more than this) as fraught with the greatest opportunities for serving God and their fellow men.

Magazine of the Daughters of the Revolution. A Quarterly. Vol. 1-2, 1893 to 1894. Price $1.00 per annum.

Since the Centennial Celebration of American Independence, there has been much greater interest manifested in our ancestors than formerly throughout the country. Two Societies—The Sons of the Revolution, and The Sons of the American Revolution—have grown up. Likewise two Societies of Daughters. The Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution has its headquarters at Washington, and is about six months the elder, dating from 1891. The Society of the Daughters of the Revolution has its headquarters in New York City, at 64 Madison avenue. This Society from the beginning has insisted on proven “lineal descent from an ancestor who, as a military or naval or marine officer, soldier, sailor or marine in actual service, under the authority of any of the Thirteen Colonies or States, or of the Continental Congress, and remaining always loyal to such authority, or a descendant of one who signed the Declaration of Independence or of one who was a member of the Continental Congress, or of the Congress of any of the Colonies or States as an official appointed by or under the authority of any such representative bodies, actually assisting in the establishment of American Independence by service rendered during the War of the Revolution, becoming thereby liable to conviction of treason against the government of Great Britain, but remaining always loyal to the authority of the Colonies or States, shall be eligible to membership." The General Secretary is Mrs. D. Phoenix Ingraham. Where information is desired in regard to either Society, the secretary is the one to whom to apply. Both Societies are doing most excellent work. Each one has an official magazine, publishing reports of its meetings and celebrations. The Magazine of the Daughters of the Revolution for 1893 is full of interest. It has many pedigrees of its members, reports of Chapter Regents, traditions, facts, lists of patriots, and also many old historical papers. The Torrey papers by Mr. William Torrey are most excellent. Even in the short time it has been in existence, it has preserved many facts which otherwise would be lost. The Society celebrated the anniversary of Bunker Hill in 1893 in Old South Church. Mrs. Wm. Lee, wife of the senior member of Lee & Sheppard publishing house, is state Regent. Headquarters for Massachusetts, 10 Milk street, Boston. We see by the reports that the organization is spreading throughout the Union, from Texas to California, to Minnesota and Maine.

Vital Record of Rhode Island, 1836-1850. Compiled by JAMES N. ARNOLD.

We are pleased to record the fact that Volumes V. and VI. of this great genealogical work have been published, thereby covering the entire State, and thus completing the main feature of the work. If the General Assembly will be pleased to again extend its aid, Mr. Arnold intends to publish a supplementary volume or two, which will include the Church, newspaper and other semi-public record of the same period as the main portion of the work. While this will naturally repeat much that has been formerly treated in his work, yet being repeated from another public source, especially if the two agree, will fix the accuracy of the date beyond doubt. If they disagree the scholar must then weigh both authorities and decide as best suits himself. The work is indeed a very praiseworthy enterprise, and we venture to say no scholar who is interested in the subject here treated will fail to recognize its merit. To be able to consult a work in which a whole State's record of vital statistics is covered from its first settlement to a very modern date, covering a period of two centuries, is a pleasure very rarely afforded a scholar. If some one with Mr. Arnold's love and enthusiasm for his subject would take each a single county of Massachusetts and work it up as thoroughly as he has his State, what a valuable labor would thus be performed.

The people of his native State certainly owe him a vote of thanks for this great labor of love.

We are pleased to add that his State does appreciate him; and the liberal manner the General Assembly aided the publication speaks volumes in his praise.

The price of the six volumes, thus far published, is five dollars each, except Newport County, which is seven and a half dollars. The work is nearly 3200 pages, and contains 130,000 items. * *

Index Library. Index to Wills Proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 1383-1558, and now Preserved in the Principal Probate Registry, Somerset House, London. Compiled by J. CHALLENGER C. SMITH, Superintendent of the Literary Department, Probate Registry, Somerset House. London: Issued to Subscribers to the British Record Society, Limited. 1893. 8vo. pp. xxxv.+303.

The readers of Mr. Waters's "Gleanings," in the REGISTER, have some idea of the value as materials for history and genealogy, of the Wills proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, now preserved at Somerset House. Mr. Smith, the compiler of this work, contributed to the REGISTER for July, 1892, a descriptive account of the "Will Registers" of that Court. The office which the compiler held so long, that of Superintendent of the Literary Department of that Registry, gave him facilities which he has made use of to prepare the work before us. It will be a great help to those who have occasion to consult these Registers, and to those who wish to ascertain what wills are recorded there.

This is one of the many valuable serials which have been issued in instalments in the Index Library published by the British Record Society. It was commenced over three years ago, and the instalment in the number for March, 1894, the last received, reached the letter N. The first volume, now before us, was completed in the number for December last. It ends with the letter J. Another volume we presume will complete the work undertaken, and give us a perfect index to the wills from 1383, in the reign of Richard II., to 1558, the beginning of Queen Elizabeth's reign.

We cannot give a better idea of the value of this index than by quoting the following from the announcement of the work by the Record Society: "How great an improvement this Calendar is on the old ones hitherto available, those accustomed to search in the literary room will most appreciate. For the information of others, it may be well to say that the ancient calendars, of which there is one for each year, give no further clue to the identity of testators than is afforded by the surname and the Christian name. In this new Calendar, Mr. Smith has arranged the whole of the testamentary documents for the one hundred and seventy-six years anterior to the commencement of Queen Elizabeth's reign in one lexicographical index, so that the references to any given surname may now be obtained in fewer minutes than hitherto it has taken days. Moreover, the residence and occupation of each testator, when given in the records, is invariably added; and not content with this, Mr. Smith has in numberless cases added other counties named in the Wills, a boon which for purposes of identification is simply invaluable. The value of the work for consultation will be found much increased by the arrangement adopted of placing all names under the most usual modern spelling in heavy type, while the form actually occurring in the Will is indicated, when it varies from the normal form in ordinary Roman letter. The ancient spellings are entered in their proper places, and ample cross references are given."

Mr. Smith prefixes to this volume an "Introduction," giving much valuable information as to the manner of keeping records of probate matters and the administration of probate affairs in the metropolis of England.

An Historical Sketch of Groton, Massachusetts, 1655-1891. By SAMUEL A. GREEN. Groton: 1894. 12mo. pp. 5+253.

Ex-Mayor Green of Boston has preserved in print much material relating to the history of his native town of Groton, Mass. Among his works of this nature may be named three volumes of the Groton Historical Series, 1887-1893; Groton Epitaphs, 1878; A Brief Account of Some of the Early Settlers of Groton, 1878; Groton Records, 1880; Groton During the Indian Wars, 1883; and Boundary Lines of Old Groton, 1885.

This series of books will be a great assistance to any one who writes a full and complete history of Groton, which no one could do better than Dr. Green himself. The volume before us gives a compendium of the history of that town. It was written originally for and appeared in the second volume of a History of Middlesex County, published in Philadelphia in 1890. A few copies were then struck off separately. This reprint will be found handy to those who wish to learn the principal facts in the history of Groton.

Dr. Green has set a good example for those who take pride in the annals of the town in which they were born.

Suffolk Manorial Families, being the County Visitations and other Pedigrees.

Edited with Extensive Additions by JOSEPH JAMES MUSKETT, Corresponding Member of the Historic Genealogical Society of New England. Vol. I. Part I. Privately Printed. Exeter: William Pollard & Co., Printers and Lithographers. 1894. Royal 4to. pp. 40. It will be issued to subscribers only, in Parts of forty pages, price 5 shillings each; and the number printed will be restricted to 250 copies. Address the Editor, care of J. Musckett Yetts, Esq., 56 Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, England.

Since the issue of our April number, the first part of Mr. Musckett's "Suffolk Manorial Families," which was announced by us in October, 1891, as in preparation, has been published, and is now before us. As no adequate history of Suffolk has been printed, this work will be welcomed by many students of family history, particularly in this country, whose early settlers came so largely from this part of England. Mr. Muskett has had much experience in genealogical research, and has been engaged many years in collecting materials for this book. The descents, in this work, "founded upon Wills, Depositions, post-mortems, deeds, parish registers, and other ancient records, are to be brought down, when possible, to the present time."

The part before us is devoted to the families of Winthrop of Groton, Ponder of Braintree, and Sharpe of Islington. The article on the Winthrops of Groton, the ancestors of our distinguished New England family of that name, will particularly interest our readers. It is enriched with wills, deeds, visitations, and other records illustrating the history of the family. It is brought down to our own day, and includes the venerable Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, LL.D., who has held and honored the offices of United States senator, Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and president of the Massachusetts Historical Society. We hope our readers will show their appreciation of Mr. Muskett's invaluable work by a liberal support of the undertaking.

The second part, which is in press, will, we learn, contain a larger number of families.

Agricultural Bibliography of Maine: Biographical Sketches of Maine Writers on Agriculture, with a Catalogue of their Works, and an Index to the Volumes on the Agriculture of Maine, from 1850 to 1892. By SAMUEL L. BOARDMAN. Augusta: Printed for the Author. 1893. Royal 8vo. pp. 117.

Mr. Boardman, the author of the book before us, is an able writer, and has contributed much to agricultural and literary periodicals besides having been the editor of several agricultural newspapers. He has evidently spent much time in the preparation of this book. An Introduction of eighteen pages gives a historical sketch of Agriculture and Agricultural Literature in Maine. It is illustrated by a fac-simile of the title-page of the "Rural Socrates," the first book relating to agriculture published in Maine. It was published anonymously, but was written by Benjamin Vaughan, LL.D., of Hallowell, of whom the late John H. Sheppard, A.M., wrote an interesting account for the REGISTER for October, 1865. The Bibliography is arranged alphabetically. The sketches of writers are prepared with great care as to accuracy and fairness. The book is embellished with a portrait of Ezekiel Holmes, the first secretary of the Maine Board of Agriculture, a view of the offices of the Maine Experiment Station, a view of the Laboratory of that station, and a view of the grounds of the Maine State College. A fac-simile of the title-page of the "Northern Shepherd," the first original treatise on Maine Agriculture, is also given.

A Monograph. Mesheck Weare. By EZRA S. STEARNS. Privately Printed. Concord, N. H.: Republican Press Association. 1894. Sm. 4to. pp. 22.

Though Mesheck Weare was one of the most prominent figures in New Hampshire history, this is the first attempt to give a complete narrative of his life. The author of the pamphlet, Mr. Stearns, who is the Secretary of State of New Hampshire, and has written several admirable town histories, is particularly well qualified for the task he has undertaken. He has succeeded in doing justice to the memory of a deserving patriot.

Ancestral Charts, so Arranged as to Show any Number of Generations and Record of Ancestral Honors, Heirlooms, Portraits, Coat-Armor, etc. Arranged by HOWARD R. GUILD and EBEN PUTNAM. Salem, Mass.: Salem Press Publishing and Printing Co. 1893. Large 4to. pp. 53. Price $1.50 cloth, or $3.00 half leather.

Phillimore's Pedigree Forms. Comprising, 1, Ancestral Tablets; 2, Seize Quarters Tablets; 3, Blank Shields; 4, Ruled Pedigree Paper; 5, Instructions. London: To be obtained from the Author, W. P. W. Phillimore, 124 Chancery Lane, or Charles J. Clark, 4 Lincoln's Inn Fields, London, England. 1894. 8vo. Price for one set in envelope, 1 shilling. Continuation sheets for 1 shilling per packet.

Various forms have been devised for recording the ancestors of an individual, such as that of Mr. Lemuel Shattuck, one of the founders of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, which he published in 1841 in his "Complete System of Family Registration"; that of William H. Whitmore, in his "Ancestral Tablets," 1868; that of the late Edwin Hubbard, in his "Ancestral Records," 1870, and "Our Children and their Ancestry," 1875; that of John Milton Hawks, M.D., in his "Album of Genealogy and Biography," 1874; that of Miss Emma F. Ware, in her "Family Genealogical Record," 1885; and that of Rev. Frederick W. Bailey, in his "Record of My Ancestry," 1892. Most of these have been noticed in the REGISTER.

Two new forms are before us, and their titles are given above. One is devised by two Americans, and the other by an Englishman. They are both well adapted for the purpose for which they are designed. Each has distinctive features, and each has particular merits. They, like their predecessors, consist mainly of blank forms in which can be recorded the names and other details of the ancestors of the person to whom the book is devoted. Messrs. Guild and Putnam say in their book that their object has been "to supply a simple method of recording ancestry, and allowing for the admission of new material." Mr. Phillimore says in his work that "The blank pedigree forms hitherto in use are not altogether suited for the needs of English genealogists, and the present set has therefore been prepared."

History of the Town of Harvard, Massachusetts, 1732-1893. By HENRY S. NOURSE, A.M. Harvard: Printed for Warren Hapgood. 1894. 8vo. pp. 695.

The "Introduction" to this volume contains a correspondence between Warren Hapgood, Esq., of Boston, a native of Harvard, and the Hon. Henry S. Nourse of Lancaster, the author of several works of merit on the local history of Lancaster, and other historical subjects, by which it is seen that the plan of preparing a history of Harvard originated with Mr. Hapgood, who liberally provided for all the outlay incurred, but has shown an untiring interest in the book, and has otherwise rendered valuable aid. Mr. Hapgood has furnished an example that natives of other towns, who have the requisite means, would do well to follow.

Harvard was incorporated June 29, 1732, and was made up of parts of Groton, Lancaster and Stow. The Nashaway Valley, in which it is situated, has an interesting history. Mr. Hapgood, in his letter, says: "In no part of our country were the pioneers beset by greater trials, toil and danger, than in New England, and probably none suffered more than those who lived within sight of Wachusett. The little colony of Lancaster was for many years constantly menaced by savage foes, and as the larger portion of Harvard was originally included in Lancaster, she shared the same experiences."

Mr. Nourse has made an admirable history. He gives accounts of the Nashaway Indians, the pioneer settlers of the Nashaway Valley, the topography and natural history of Harvard, the annals of the town, the ecclesiastical history, the military annals, including the Revolutionary war and the late Rebellion; the educational history, including schools, lyceums and libraries; and the social, political and industrial history of the place. A chapter is devoted to the Bibliography of Harvard, showing the local authorship.

The book makes a handsome volume, and is well indexed.

Records and Papers of the New London County Historical Society. Part V. Vol. I. Published by the Society, New London, Connecticut. 1894. 8vo. pp. 60.

The pamphlet before us contains the proceedings of the New London County Historical Society at its annual meeting, held in the Society's room, New London, on Wednesday, September 6, 1893, and the papers read at that meeting. The first paper here printed is by Rev. S. L. Blake, D.D., on "Gurdon Saltonstall: Scholar, Preacher and Statesman." It gives an able sketch of the life of Gov. Saltonstall. The author says: "These annals have covered one of the most tumultuous periods of our colonial history. They have concerned some of the greatest men who figured in the early days of this most marvelous country. The chief figure among them all who was prominent in the civil, social and ecclesiastical affairs of this colony and of this city, for more than thirty years, was Gurdon Saltonstall."

The next article in the pamphlet is "Orders drawn by the Selectmen of New London" on the town treasurer, January 18, 1764, to August 3, 1766. Following it is "Memoirs of George Washington, Esq., Commander-in-Chief of the American Forces," reprinted from The Universal Magazine of London, March, 1781, "six months before the surrender of Cornwallis"; and "Anecdotes of the late celebrated American General Putnam," reprinted from the same magazine for December, 1781. It is credited in the magazine to "The General History of Connecticut," then recently issued, which, though published anonymously, is now known to be by the unreliable Rev. Samuel Peters. The memoir of Washington states that "An ancestor of this gentleman, about the period of the Revolution, sold his property near Cave, in the East Riding of Yorkshire, and came over to Virginia, where he purchased land." &c. Can the statement that Gen. Washington's emigrant ancestor came from Cave in Yorkshire be traced to an earlier source than this?

Lincoln County Probate Records. Compiled by WILLIAM D. PATTERSON of Wiscasset. Portland, Maine, U. S. A.: Maine Genealogical Society. 8vo. Published monthly in Parts of 16 pages each. Price 25 cts. a part. Parts I. to VIII. pp. 128.

This work was commenced November 15, 1893, and the 8th part appeared on the 15th of June. Lincoln County was incorporated June 19, 1760. Previous to that date the whole of the District now the State of Maine made but one county, named York; and the wills of the whole county from 1640 to 1760 were printed in one volume in 1887, and was noticed in the REGISTER. The administrations and other probate records were not included in that volume. We trust that some one will copy, edit and print them; and continue the whole probate records at least to the close of the last century.

Three counties were formed in 1760 of that territory, viz., York, Cumberland and Lincoln. The probate records of Cumberland County were burnt in the great fire at Portland in 1866. Fortunately, those of the two other counties are preserved.

Mr. Patterson and the Maine Genealogical Society are doing a good work by printing the probate records of Lincoln County, and thus placing them beyond the risk of loss by accident or malice. The wills are printed verbatim. Abstracts of the other records sufficiently full for the genealogist are given. "Lincoln county included nearly all the territory in Maine north and east of the Androscoggin river. Some of it was taken in 1769 to form Washington and Hancock counties; in 1799, Kennebec county; Waldo in 1827; Androscoggin and Sagadahock in 1834, and Knox in 1860."

The eight parts before us contain the records from November, 1760, to May, 1784, about a quarter of a century. They contain a great amount of historical as well as genealogical matter, and deserve a generous support.

Annual Register of Officers and Members of the Society of Colonial Wars. Constitution of the General Society. Published by Authority of the General Assembly. New York. January, 1894. 8vo. pp. 215+xxix.

The Society of Colonial Wars for the State of New York, the first society of this kind organized, was formed Aug. 18, 1893; that for Pennsylvania Jan. 23, that for Maryland Feb. 28, that for Massachusetts April 5, and that for Connecticut April 20. On the 9th of May, 1893, delegates from the societies for these five states and for the District of Columbia, met for the formation of a General Society in New York city, in the Governor's Room, City Hall, and were in session two days. A Constitution was adopted May 10, and the general officers were elected.

The book before us is the first annual volume of the General Society, of which Frederick J. de Peyster is Governor-General. The volume contains the Constitution of the General Society. Under the different states full lists of the officers and members are given. The members of each state are arranged alphabetically, and a brief statement of the offices held by the various ancestors whose services entitle the members to a place in the Society. Some members have a right to membership on account of the services of a dozen or more ancestors.

The Society "has been instituted," to use the words of its constitution, "to perpetuate the memory of those events, and of the men who, in military, naval and civil positions of high trust and responsibility, by their acts or counsel, assisted in the establishment, defense and preservation of the American Colonies, and were in truth the founders of this nation."

The members are deserving of credit for the work they are doing to preserve the memory of the services of the worthies of Colonial days.

We continue in this number our notices of books and pamphlets relating to genealogy.

The first book on our list is devoted to the Upton Family, and is by Hon. William H. Upton of Walla-Walla, in the State of Washington. Judge Upton has devoted many years to the collection of material for the history of the Uptons; and in this book has attempted "to record all that could be learned concerning any Upton who ever lived anywhere in the world." To do this he has spared no expense of time or money. The book is a monument to the family of which the author may justly feel proud. It is handsomely printed, in clear type, on fine white paper with wide margins. It is illustrated with engravings of arms and autographs. The author gives "exact copies of every known ancient pedigree from the Herald's College, British Museum, etc.; abstracts of more than two hundred and thirty Upton wills or records of administration dated prior to 1760; records of baptisms, marriages and burials of Uptons from ninety English parishes; and abstracts of marriage licenses, university matriculations, ancient deeds and Upton data from rare books, etc." The history of the family in this country is fully recorded. A genealogy of the various branches of the Upton race, from the earliest date to the present time, will be found in these pages. Full indexes filling eighty pages are given.

The Burhans Genealogy is another work that has been got up in the best style of such books, without regard to the expenditure of time or money. It makes a handsome volume of over eight hundred pages, and is profusely illustrated with portraits of a high order of execution, and by other engravings. A facsimile of a Burhans deed dated 1677 embellishes the volume. The emigrant ancestor of this family, Jacob Burhans, came to America as early as 1660, as a soldier in the employ of Gov. Stuyvesant. In 1663 his son Jan came here. The author in his preface describes the difficulties under which the book was compiled. "When this genealogy was begun," he says, "it was truly pioneer work." During the last few years the founding of various societies dependent on a knowledge of family history has led to a wider opening of facilities to such an end; local histories, numerous copies of church records, etc., have smoothed the paths of research. But few such aids were attainable when this work was mainly accomplished, and especially was this the case in regard to Holland families settled in Ulster County, N. Y., where we find the Burhans ancestors early made their home. The book has a very full index, and is in every way to be commended.

The third book is on the Hoadley family. The main portion of the volume is devoted to the history of the descendants of William Hoadley, who settled in Branford, Conn., in 1666, and the history of the descendants of Thomas Hoadley of Hartland, Vt. There is also an account of the family of John Hoadly of Guilford, Conn., 1639, who returned to England, and was the grandfather of Bishop Benjamin Hoadley; and mention of other Hoadley families. The author has employed the same system of numbering the various families which he made use of in his Champion Genealogy. It is perhaps the simplest system in use. In regard to the family registers the genealogy is one of the most complete ever published. The male lines have been traced to the present generation, but the female lines have only the date of marriage and place of residence. The book is printed in a handsome octavo volume of 300 pages, with clear type and on fine white paper, thoroughly indexed, embellished by twenty-seven portraits and views, and an engraving of the Hoadley coat of arms. It is substantially and neatly bound in dark brown cloth. Extended biographical sketches of many of the heads of families and others are given.

The Dodge Family, the next book, is by the Hon. Joseph T. Dodge of Madison, Wis., who contributed to the REGISTER for October, 1892, an article giving the early generations of the Dodges of Essex County, Mass. He has devoted much time to collecting the materials for the book before us and compiling the same. At a meeting of the Dodge family at Salem, Mass., in 1879, a committee was appointed to prepare and publish a genealogy of the family; but though some material was collected no volume was prepared and published. What, however, the organization failed to accomplish has been done by an individual. The author "having done something in the field in 1875-6, and later, resumed the work in October, 1891, as a congenial pursuit, and to rescue from oblivion the early records of the family then rapidly being lost or destroyed." Mr. Dodge has been untiring in his researches, and has produced a volume of great merit. It is well arranged and well indexed.

Mr. Parker's "Genealogy of the Ainsworth Families in America" is chiefly devoted to the descendants of Edward Ainsworth, born about 1632, who came to this country and settled in Roxbury, but afterwards removed to Woodstock, Conn. He died March 5, 1740-1, aged about 89 years. His great grandson, Rev. Laban Ainsworth, the minister at Jaffrey, N. H., for over seventy-six years, lived to over one hundred years. The author has bestowed much labor in the collection of materials and in compiling this book, and has succeeded in making a full and satisfactory family history. Thirty pages are devoted to other Ainsworths, including those who cannot be connected with Edward Ainsworth, as well as those who clearly are not his descendants. The book is well printed, in clear type on white paper, and is well indexed. The author has compiled the book "in loving memory of his mother, Sarah Ainsworth Parker, daughter of Reverend Laban Ainsworth, minister of Jaffrey, New Hampshire."

The Burt Genealogy is by the late Mr. Burnham of Hartford, Conn., the author of the Burnham genealogy published a quarter of a century ago. The book was published by Miss Elizabeth Burt, of Warwick, N. Y. The emigrant ancestor of this family was Henry Burt, who settled at Roxbury, Mass., and, about 1633, after a short residence there removed to Springfield in the same colony. He died April 30, 1662. The book is well compiled, being clearly arranged with full and precise dates. Quite full extracts from public record are printed, relating particularly to the emigrant. The work has been ready for the press for some years, and it is owing to the interest of Miss Burt of Warwick in the history of the Burts that it was finally published. The book makes a handsome volume, and is illustrated by many fine portraits. It is well indexed.

Mr. Leach's Memoranda relating to the Ancestry of ex-Vice President Morton is well compiled, and makes a very interesting volume. Besides the Morton genealogy, to which sixty-seven pages are devoted, there are brief genealogies of the Hartpence, Hopkins, Stetson, Parsons, Strong, Stebbins, Sheldon, Frairy, Clapp, Holton, Hinsdale, Dickinson, Barnard, Marshfield, Foster and Rayne families. This book is printed on superior paper and embellished with fine portraits and other engravings. It has an index.

The Bates and Fletcher volume has been got up by the Hon. Theodore C. Bates of Worcester, and is primarily devoted to his branch of these two families. The portion relating to his grandfather, Capt. Jonathan Fletcher, and his great grandfather, Major Daniel Fletcher, who both did service in the Revolutionary war, is particularly interesting. The Bates family is descended from Clement Bates, an early settler of Hingham, Mass. It makes a handsome quarto volume and is well indexed.

The two following works by Mr. Wilson of Nahant, Mass., are bound together. His careful tracking and tracing of two lines of descent from Gowen Willson, the Kittery settler of 1647, is an example of patient labor through town, church and county records. For careful work and intelligent statement it is to be commended, as it presents in convenient form all that is to-day surely known of this ancient family, at one of its earliest locations in America.

The next two works on the Stiff and Watts families are by Mr. Phillimore of London, who is well known as an experienced genealogical writer. The Stiffs are an ancient Gloucestershire family, whose history Mr. Phillimore traces. Early wills and other documents relating to the family are printed. Views of the church at Hawkesbury where the Stiffs were seated are given. The Watts family, the subject of the second pamphlet, is a Shropshire family, seated at Neen Savage in that county. The surname, originally written Watson, was permanently shortened into Watts sometime between 1722 and 1743. The descendants of this family are fully traced in the work before us.

The "Ogdens of South New Jersey" is by Messrs. William Ogden Wheeler and Edmund D. Halsey of Morristown, N. J. The authors have done their work well. They think that the ancestor of John Ogden of Fairfield, Ct., was probably a brother of "Old John Ogden" of Elizabethtown, N. J. They have had records searched, and have corresponded extensively with various members of the family to obtain materials for a genealogy of the Ogdens.

Mr. Stuart, the author of the next work, has collected a great amount of interesting matter concerning the Stuarts of Essex County, Massachusetts, and their descendants. The book is embellished with colored engravings of the Old Stewart or "clan" tartan, and the Stuart plaid.

The Sanford genealogy is chiefly devoted to the ancestry and descendants of William Sanford, born at Taunton, R. I., Sept. 27, 1757; died at Madison, N. Y., Oct. 26, 1837. The book is well compiled and well printed.

The Whitcomb genealogy gives the ancestry and descendants of Col. Jonathan P. Whitcomb, a great-great-grandson or John Whitcomb, who settled in Dorchester, Mass., as early as 1633, but removed to Scituate in 1640, and to Lancaster in 1654. Jonathan P. Whitcomb was born in Leominster, Mass., Jan. 14, 1740, and died at Swansey, N. H., June 13, 1792. The book preserves much interesting matter. It is embellished with portraits.

The Stearns family, the subject of the next pamphlet, is a branch of the Stearns family that settled in Watertown, Mass., and concerning which much genealogical matter is preserved in Boud's Watertown. It seems to be carefully prepared.

Jonathan Rich, whose descendants are given in the next pamphlet, was born at Truro, on Cape Cod, August 20, 1771. He settled at Fort Covington, N. Y., where he died April 7, 1844. He was descended from the Rich family early settled on Cape Cod.

The Leavens pamphlet was prepared and read at the house of the widow of Hon. Paschal P. Leavens at West Berkshire, Vt., Aug. 24, 1889. It preserves much interesting family history.

The two pamphlets by Mr. Runyan of Princeton, N. J., on the Runyan and Osborne families, preserves the record of branches of those families. The Runyan family is descended from Hugh Runyan, born 1715, and died 1804. The Osborne family is traced to Jacob Osborne, born 1753, died 1803.

The author of the Bedell pamphlet is Edwin Bedell of Fairmont, New York city. The ancestor of this family, John Bedell, an early proprietor of lands in New Jersey, lived in what is now Morris County, N. J. The author has made an interesting pamphlet.

The next pamphlet gives the descendants of Rowland Ellis, born in Sandwich, Mass., Sept. 10, 1776, who died Oct. 25, 1807. We have here a good account of his descendants.

The next two pamphlets by Miss Leavitt of Boston, and Mr. Greenwood of New York city, are reprints from the REGISTER, and our readers know their merits.

DEATHS.

WILLIAM BERRY LAPHAM, M.D., died in Augusta, Me., February 22, 1894, in the 66th year of his age. His life was a gain, and his death a loss to the State of Maine. He was born August 21, 1828, in Greenwood, Oxford County, Me. His youth was spent in Bethel, entered Colby University in 1851, but did not graduate; read medicine with Dr. Almon Twitchell, and attended Maine, Dartmouth College and New York Medical Schools, and began practice at Bryant's Pond in 1856. The war came on, at its outset he became an assistant surgeon, then first lieutenant in Co. F, 23 Maine Volunteers; on being mustered out at completion of service, he began the recruiting of the 7th Maine Battery, serving to the close of the war as senior first lieutenant. Still he was retained in the service of his country as quarter-master, with rank of captain, until October 30, 1865, when he was mustered out as brevet major. Doctor Lapham's experiences in the civil war were written out for his friends, and printed for private circulation. They are full of martial interest. Returning to Bryant's Pond he was elected to the Legislature, and in 1868 was appointed Trustee of the Maine Insane Hospital, serving six years, four of which as President, causing many fresh methods of treatment to be introduced. From 1872, onward, he was one of the editors of the Maine Farmer. For six years he was an efficient member on the Board of Examining Surgeons for Invalid Pensioners. In 1883 he took up the work of genealogist and historian. That which he had regarded as a pastime became his employment. Fortunes and misfortunes may alternate, but true merit ever wins. He was ever a lover of the common life of the people. This was the secret of his enthusiasm for family and local life. He was a thorough student of the history and present status of Maine. He was a prolific writer, and a man who only wrote of those things which hold the common mind. His articles in the Maine Farmer, the various historical magazines, and his writings in behalf of the railroads of the State, are all full of information and enthusiasm. He compiled many family histories, which were put into book form; among them, the Lapham, Bisbee, Chase, Clason, Knox, Webster, Ricker, Hill and Hazelton, beside Semi-Centennial of Oxford Democrat, Memorial of Governor J. B. Bodwell, Bradbury Memorial, History of Masonic Lodge, Augusta, and a generous share of the History of Kennebec County. His several town histories are models of form for books of this character. The history of Woodstock was published in 1862; Paris, 1884; Norway, 1886; Rumford, 1890; and Bethel, 1892; and during his last year the history of Kittery was brought very near to completion. For four years he carried on the Maine Genealogist and Biographer, 1875-1878, against financial loss. Doctor Lapham led a busy and useful life. As a physician, patriot, citizen, historian, or a man among men, he was earnest, courageous and truthful. Colby University conferred the degree of A.M. upon him in 1871.

Sir Nathaniel Barnardiston, kn., was high sheriff of Suffolk in 23d of James I. His second son, Sir Samuel, is said to have been the first person to whom the name of Roundhead was applied.

On his death he was the subject of many monodies in English, Greek and Latin, and published in a pamphlet entitled "Suffolk's Tears, or Elegies on that renowned Knight, Sir Nathaniel Barnardiston." He was a friend of John Winthrop and interested in his company.

Thomas Barnardiston his grand-nephew married Mary Downing, daughter of Sir George (H. C. 1642), who entailed his whole estate on their son. (See Mass. Hist. Coll. 4th series, VI.)—W. K. WATKINS.]

Jacamah Scott, whom I do hereby ordain and appoint executor &c., is at a great distance from hence and not able to put this my will in execution in this place, I do hereby appoint William Clapcott of Stepney, sailmaker, executor in trust &c. Fane, 120.

[The testator by his mention of his uncle, Jonathan Rainer, of Southampton, L. I., is evidently son of that John Scott of notoriety, who married Deberah, daughter of Thurston Rainer and sister of Jonathan Rainer.

John Scott senior had a career of interest, and was identified with many important events in the early history of the country, not with credit, however, in most instances.

His own account in a petition states he was son of an Englishman of fortune, who lost his life in the royal cause. The son, for cutting the bridles and girths of the Parliamentary horses at Turnham Green in 1642, was brought before a committee and finally sent to New England, under care of E. Downing, arriving in Sept. 1643, and was placed under Lawrence Southwick, the Quaker, at Salem, Mass., as a servant. In May 1648 he was to serve him as much longer after his service expired as would amount to 35 shillings.

In 1654 he was arrested by the Dutch at Long Island and sent to New Amsterdam, and after a short imprisonment discharged.

The same year an action was brought against him by a neighbor for defamation, but the affair was settled privately.

He was made a freeman at Southampton in 1657, and 9 Dec. 1658 was granted a home lot of three acres, and five more provided he remain three years. March 8, 1659-60, he bought at Southold a sloop of two Dutchmen, and 11 June following half a ketch at the same place of Richard Raiment of Salem.

He evidently commenced his career then as a mariner, as we find that he met in 1661 at Whitehall (Eng.) Daniel Gutherson and Dorothea his wife, who was a daughter of Thomas Scott of Eggerton, Kent, and claimed kinship as a member of the family of Scott, of Scott's Hall, and by persuasive means sold Gutherson lands he claimed to own on Long Island, and by such dealing ruining Gutherson, who was prevented by death from ever visiting this country; his son was placed in the care of Scott, and was by him sold as a servant to Herringman, an innkeeper at New Haven.

Many people from Lynn, Mass., were vitimized by Scott, whose conveyance of lands, he said he got from the Indians, was found to be of no worth.

We then find him interested in the Atherton Company, in the Narragansett Lands, and desiring to be made governor of Long Island.

In 1663 Connecticut, exasperated by what she considered double dealing on his part, ordered his arrest and confiscation of his estates.

He escaped from prison, however, and in 1666 we find that he was obliged to take refuge in the Barbados.

We next find him commanding an expedition in 1667 as Major Scott at Toboga and Guiana, and later with the titles of colonel and vice-admiral. He also visited about this time Newfoundland, as we find by an address to the King in 1668 giving an account of the country from 1496, drawn from Scott's and other evidence.

In the proceedings against Scott for fleecing her husband, widow Gutherson was greatly assisted by Samuel Pepys, the diarist, and for this Scott swore revenge, and later, on Scott joining the band of Titus Oates, implicated Pepys as a Papist, and this resulted in Pepys's confinement in the Tower, from which position he had hard work to extricate himself.

After 1680 we lose sight of John Scott, and the date and manner of his death is unknown.

ZACHARYE GOODYEARE, citizen and vintner of London, 18 July 1613, proved 31 July 1613. To be buried in the parish church of St. Gregory near Paul's in London. To my loving mother ten pounds. To my cousin Mary Storie five pounds. The residue to my son Stephen Goodyere whom I make executor. I make, nominate and ordain my brothers John Partridge, scrivener, and Ralph Bowlton, merchant tailor, citizens of London, overseers.

Admon. granted (at above date) to Ralph Bowlton during the minority of Stephen Goodyere the son, to whom issued commission 15 October 1624, he having reached full age. Capell, 70.

[The testator may be a kinsman, possibly the father of Stephen Goodyear of Connecticut.—H. F. W.]

Wit: William Cutter, the mark of Thomas Gibson.

Commission issued 31 October 1656 unto Mabel Read, widow, the relict and principal legatary of the deceased, to administer &c. according to the tenor and effect of the said will &c. Berkley, 346.

[The place of residence of William Read, the testator of the above will, was not declared, but the Probate Act Book for the year 1656 shows it to have been Newcastle upon Tyne (Northumberland). According to Savage he was of Dorchester (Massachusetts), a passenger in the Defence 1635, aged 48, with wife Mabel 30, George 6, Ralph 5 and Justus 18 months, had at Dorchester Abigail baptized 30 Dec. 1633, was freeman 14 March 1639; removed probably first to Rehoboth, or perhaps lived at Woburn. His sons George and Ralph seem to have lived in Woburn.

HENRY F. WATERS.

An account of William Reed, the testator, and his descendants forms Chapter IV. (pages 61 to 150) of the "History of the Reed Family," by Jacob Whittemore Reed, published in 1861. The author of this book states that this William Reed was the oldest of any of the Puritan emigrants to New England by the name of Reed, and that his wife Mabel's maiden surname was Kendall. He also states that he removed from Dorchester to Scituate, and thence to Woburn. He does not name Rehoboth as a residence.—EDITOR.

William Read, or Reed, for some years lived in Woburn, and is the common ancestor of most of the Reed family here. July 7, 1648, Nicholas Davis of Charlestown sold to William Reade of Muddy River a house and lands in Woburn, described in a bill of sale recorded in Suffolk Deeds, Book 1, page 93. This estate passed from William Reed to Samuel Walker, senior; and, in 1674, the latter gave a deed of it to his son Samuel Walker, who, in 1662, married Sarah, daughter of said William Reed. In this deed the estate is referred to as that purchased of William Reed, and it remained in the Walker family until 1847.

According to the Woburn Records William Reed remained in Woburn as late as 1652. He returned to England shortly after that date with his wife Mabel and their youngest children. After her husband's death, in 1656, the widow Mabel returned to Woburn, and, as administratrix of her husband's estate, caused ancillary administration to be taken out in Middlesex County, Feb. 17, 1661-2. The original papers brought from England are missing from the probate files at Cambridge, but the official record of the will and the letter testamentary are still preserved there. This record varies slightly from the wording as given above by Mr. Waters, but the only important difference in the two copies is, that the name Abigail in Mr. Waters's transcript appears as Michael in the record at the Probate Office at Cambridge. Abigail is undoubtedly correct; for, apart from the supposed reference to Michael in the father's will, as recorded at Cambridge, there is no evidence of his existence. Abigail married Francis Wyman of Woburn, and together with her brothers, George and Ralph, lived and died in Woburn. Among the court files in the clerk of court's office at Cambridge, can be found a suit, of date 1658, which gives an interesting but unpublishable episode in the histories of the two families of Ralph and George Reed. The latter gave his age in court, in 1659, as "30 years or thereabouts." The widow, Mabel Reed, married Henry Summers, senior, of Woburn, Nov. 21, 1660, and died in Woburn, in 1690, aged 85.

William Cutter, a witness to the above will of William Reed, came to New England, but afterwards returned to Newcastle-upon-Tyne, his former home.

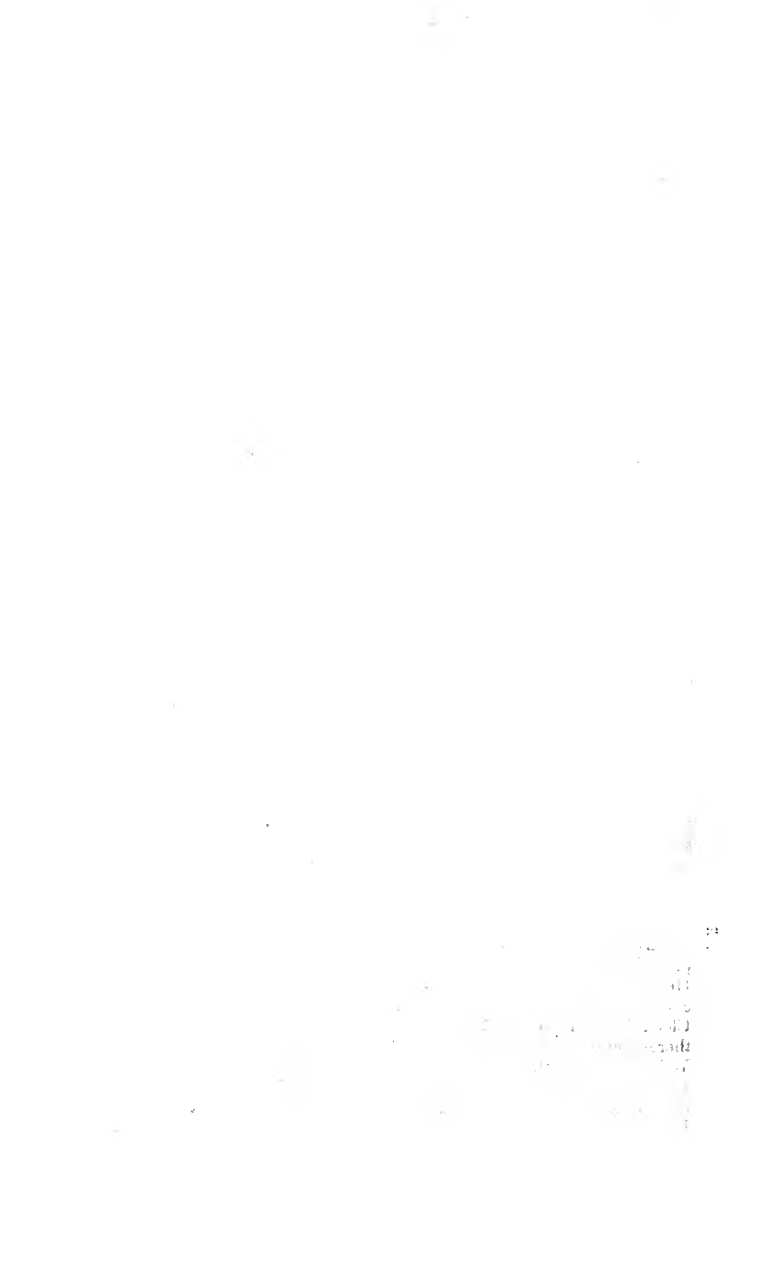

The will of Thomas Reede, given above, adds three names to the sons of William Reed, hitherto unknown to us, and for this reason is of special interest to the Reed family in this country. EDWARD F. JOHNSON.]

Register 26, Com. Ct. of London (1629-1634) p. 42.

[I venture to send the foregoing Elliott notes, even though it is an incomplete collection, and my researches have not been exhaustive. They relate, as will be easily seen, chiefly to the family of which a pedigree is given in the Visitations of Essex, published by the Harleian Society, for it is to that family that, I feel convinced, our beloved Apostle to the Indians belonged, and I hope that some day it will be our good fortune to see this fully and clearly proved. In the mean time it may be as well to put in print and so save for future use these notes, as well as some extracts from parish registers, which a descendant of the holy man has succeeded in obtaining. These notes and extracts show plainly how closely connected the family of the Apostle were with the places with which the family whose pedigree is given were also connected. One fortunate discovery in the shape of a will may settle the whole matter for us. Let us hope such good fortune will come to us.

It may be well to refer to some of the points given us in some of these wills. That of Thomas Grene of Stanford Rivers (1534-1537), for instance, shows that he was connected also with "Cotred" in Herts. And he seems to have been a proprietor of the manor of Belhouse in Stanford Rivers. His wife Elizabeth seems also to have been the widow of an Elliott. Now, if we examine the pedigree of Wilson of Willion as given in the Visitation of Herts (pub. by the Harl. Soc.), page 121, we shall find there that Thomas Wilson of "Codreth," Herts, had (among other children) a daughter . . . wife to . . . Greene and after to . . . Elliott of Stanford Rivers, another daughter Alice wife to Conniswell, a son Rafe and a son Edward. Thomas Grene in his will speaks of "William Cammeswell which married my wife's suster." This was doubtless that "Alice wife to Conniswell." And Cammeswell is probably the true reading. Again, Grene speaks of "lands in Cotred that I bought of Raufe Wilson." This Raufe Wilson was doubtless the Rafe Wilson of the pedigree, one of the brothers of Alice "Conniswell," and of Mrs. Greene als. Elliott. Now examine the pedigree of Elliott in the Visitation of Essex and we find that Thomas Elliott of Cottered, Herts, the common ancestor of those embraced in the pedigrees of Elliott, married . . . daughter of Thomas Wilson of Cottered, Herts, gent., a sister of Edward Wilson. Undoubtedly it was she who afterwards became the wife of Thomas Grene of Stanford Rivers. So it appears that we can correct the pedigree of Wilson by changing the order of marriage of that daughter of Thomas Wilson with her respective husbands and giving them all baptismal names. She was Elizabeth Wilson, and was wife to Thomas Elliott and after to Thomas Greene.

George Ellyott of Stortford (Bishops Stortford) Herts, Esq., whose will (1548-1554) I give, was, without doubt, one of the sons of that Thomas Elliott by Elizabeth Wilson. He mentions an eldest brother John, a youngest brother John, a brother Robert, a brother Thomas and a sister Johan Heynes. His own children were evidently Magnus Elliott, George Elliott and Katherine, wife of . . . Sparoke, or Sparke. And he brings into the line of succession of his landed estate, after decease of his children, and failing their male issue, John Elliott of London, mercer, and Henry Elliott of Lanocke (probably an estate near Hitchin). These two I believe to have been sons, the one of that eldest brother John and the other of that youngest brother John mentioned in the will. The printed pedigree shows the one but not the other. In fact, incomplete, like so many Visitation pedigrees, it does not give that youngest brother John Elliott at all; and it was from this younger John or his brother Thomas that I suspect our John Elliott of Roxbury was descended. Finally the testator describes his brother Robert Elliott as of Hunsdon, and the will is witnessed by John Elliott of Wickham Hall, John Elliott of London, Richard Fletcher, curate, and Richard Pilston. John Elliott of Wickham Hall was the eldest brother John of the will and father of John Elliott of London. Richard Pilston was nephew of the testator by marriage with Winifred, one of the half sisters of John Elliott of London.

Now we come to the will of Thomas Elyot of Wydford (1551-1554) whom I believe to have been the brother Thomas mentioned in the preceding will. He mentions sons Thomas, John and Simon, and speaks of lands in Widford and Ware, names of places very significant when we come, later on, to read the will of the father of our John Elliott. Let us also recall that his brother George owned a house occupied by Simon Elliott (this probably in Little Hadham).

Next I furnish will of John Haynes of Much Hadham (1551-?). He mentions (among others) wife Joanne (perhaps the sister of George Elliott), son George, daughter Agnes, late the wife of John Grave, and daughter Catherine wife of Simon Elliott. Following this is the will of George Haynes of Much Hadham (1584) who was perhaps the son of the preceding testator and possibly husband, by a first match, of Blythe a daughter of John Elliott of Wickham Hall. These two wills are also interesting to us as relating to the family of our Governor Haynes, of Massachusetts and Connecticut, who was the son of John Haynes of Coddicott Herts and Old Holt Essex (buried at Much Hadham Herts), who was perhaps the son of this very George Haynes whose will I give. It is well also to note that John Haynes in his will (1551) provides for two "Sarmondes" to be preached at Widford.

Next comes the will of Thomas Ellyott of London (1557) who makes a bequest to the church at Widford, and by his mention of his "uncle John Ellyott of Stratford" (Stortford), Herts, and John Elliott, his son, of London, mercer, binds himself to this family. By naming his father and mother, John and Johan Ellyott, then living in Widford, he enables us to place him exactly. His father was John Elliott, that youngest brother mentioned in will of George Elliott already given. And now we have two of the sons of Thomas and Elizabeth (Wilson) Elliott, of the pedigree, placed in Widford, a place so important in the history of our Indian Apostle, since it was there he was born and baptized. It will be noted that we have found also the probable parentage of Henry Elliott, named in George Elliott's will, for this Thomas mentions a brother Henry. Besides this Henry there is an eldest brother of the testator, named John, whose son John Elliott comes just in the line of entail of the testator's lauded estate in Widford. And one, or both, of them seems to have been then living in Waltham, Essex (quite near Nasing). Unfortunately the testator did not name his other nephews and nieces.

Following the above comes the will of John Elyott of Stortford parsonage, evidently the eldest brother John of George Elliott's will and certainly the John Elliott of the pedigree, father (among others) of John of London and Edward of Newland, father also of Blythe Haynes and of Winifred the wife of Richard Pilston, already referred to. Besides these he names sons George and Rowland and daughters Tabett (Tabitha), Alice and Agnes, the last named wife of another Pilston.

Edward Elliott of Newland, Essex, Esq., whose will (1595-1596) is next given, is the one on whose account the pedigree was given in the Visitation of Essex. It was through his wife Jane, a daughter and co-heir of James Gedge, that he became connected with Newland. The printed pedigree is very defective in regard to his family. He names sons Thomas (afterwards knighted), Edward and John, daughters Hannah, Jane and Elizabeth, and a daughter Collen. This last mentioned daughter, I have found, was Dorothy, wife, probably, of John Collen. Hannah became the wife of John Pinchon (see my notes on the Pinchon family), Jane was probably married to John Butler, and Elizabeth was the wife of John Yonge of Roxwell. Besides these I am confident we must give him Mary, married, first to Edward Bogas of Ardley Essex, gent., and secondly to Mr. Matthew Davis, clerk, vicar of Writtle. (See Marriage Licenses, Bishop of London, Edward Boosy and Jane Bogas, and the will of Dorothy Davis printed among my Pinchon notes.) Mr. Matthew Davis in his will (1616-1625) mentions wife Mary, son John, daughter Dorothy, and also refers to his wife's children which she had by Mr. Bogas. (P. C. C. Clarke 46.) Of course there is the chance that when Dorothy Davies referred to Mrs. Mary Davies as mother she meant stepmother. At any rate there can be little question that Dorothy herself was a granddaughter of Edward Elliott of Newland, since she names (1634) her uncle Sir Thomas Elliott, her uncle John Elliott, his wife Anne and children Edward, Anne, Mary and Susan, her uncle and aunt John and Hannah Pinchon, and her aunt Elizabeth Young, widow. It is well to note also that when Edward Elliott of Newland was making his will his brother George was then living (having three sons) and a sister Pulisden (Pulston or Pilston). The testator's son Edward died in 1602, without issue, as we can gather from the Admon. granted to his sisters Dorothy Collen and Hannah Pinchon.

The next will (that of Robert Morley) refers to the alliance of Thomas Elliott of Belhouse in Stanford Rivers, Essex, with Catherine daughter of Nowell Sotherton, one of the Barons of the Exchequer, in connection with which see the Sotherton pedigree in the Visitation of London, A.D. 1568.

John Myllett of Hunsdon, whose will (1603-1604) follows next, married Katherine Elliott of Hunsdon, widow of Philip Elliott. License was granted 25 January 1593, he being then styled of London. It was James Elliott, son of Philip and Catherine, who was afterwards parson of Raleigh, Essex. I have not come across the will of Catherine's first husband.

Dame Benett Webb's will (1602-1603) is not quite clear. She was one of the daughters of Sir Christopher Draper (Mayor of London) by Margaret daughter of Henry Greene of Essex, and had been the wife of Sir William Webb, also Lord Mayor of London. I thought it worth the while, however, to save it for future use.

The next will, however, that of John Conyers of London (1600-1604), places itself. He must have married Catherine widow of Anthony Williams, Esq., Auditor of the Mint (see pedigree of Williams of Abbots Langley in Visitation of Herts). Timothy, daughter of Anthony and Catherine Williams, was the wife of Noel Sotherton and mother of Catherine wife of Thomas Elliott of Belhouse. We are thus enabled to correct and amend both the Visitation of London (1568) and the Visitation of Herts. The former does not give the parentage of Timothy Sotherton, while the latter wrongly states that her mother, Catherine, was the widow of John Conyers, the fact being evident that she must have been married to Williams first and Conyers afterwards, as shown clearly by this will of her second husband, who outlived her. At least I do not now see any other way of explaining it.

The will of Austin Elliott of Waltham Abbey (1605) refers to his father George Elliott as apparently then alive. I would suggest that this George Elliott was one of the two brothers (by the whole blood) of Edward Elliott of Newland, the other being Rowland Elliott, after whom probably this Austin Elliott named his son. If I am correct in my theory of his relationship to the Elliotts of Stortford and Newland this will becomes important as showing another line of this Visitation family living in Widford, since the testator directs his body to be buried there, and speaks of his father as living there. Austin and Edward Elliott (mentioned in this will) were probably two of the three sons of George Elliott referred to by Edward Elliott of Newland in 1595.

John Elliott, whose will (1606) follows, I do not undertake to place definitely. I would simply call attention to his ownership of lands in Hunsdon. Nor will I attempt to place Roger Elliott of Waltham Holy Cross, whose will (1608), or George Elliott of London, whose will (1611) connects him with Weston Heris; or, again, John Eliote of Weston, whose will (1612) follows. But a pedigree of the first named (John Elliott of Hunsdon, A.D. 1606) appears in the Visitation of London A.D. 1634 (Harl. Soc.) p. 252.

Hugh Elliott of Waltham Holy Cross, whose will (1613) follows, owned lands in Widford, and named a cousin Ferdinando Elliott of Epping (also named in the will of John Myllett as an innholder) and an Edward Elliott of Widford, who may have been a son of George and brother of Austin Elliott, already referred to.

The testator of the next will (Nicholas Elliott als Aylett) I have not attempted to place.

Then comes the will of Bennett Elliot of Nasinge, father of our John Elliott, who seems to have owned lands in Widford, Ware and Hunsdon, three places so closely connected with the family whose wills have been passing under our examination, who was also, as it appears, married in Widford, and his famous son born there. Can we have much doubt that he belonged to the same family, even though we cannot place our finger upon the exact connecting link?

James Eliot of Raleigh Essex, clerk, whose will (1623) comes next, was evidently the son of Philip and Catherine Elliott and stepson of John Myllett.

I give in addition the will of John Campe of Nasinge, showing an apparent connection of this family with Elliotts. Later on I may add notes taken from other Elliott wills.

Uncalendared will in File (1591) Com. of London (Essex and Herts).

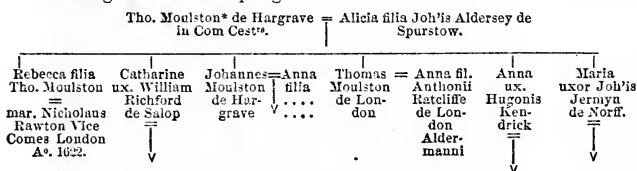

[This will, referred to in the will of John Myllett 1603 (ante, p. 392), I have been hunting for in vain on the Calendars of the various Courts in which it might have been entered for probate. At last I have discovered it in a bundle of unindexed wills, as above. His baptism, marriage and burial may be found on the parish registers of Hunsdon (see REG. for Oct. 1885, pp. 366-368). His father's name was probably John.

DAME ANNE MOWLSON (ante, vol. 47, p. 114):

[At the above reference an abstract of the will of Dame Mowlson, the founder of the First Scholarship in Harvard College, will be found. An abstract of the will of her husband, Sir Thomas Mowlson, is printed in the same volume, page 113, and that of her brother, Anthony Radcliffe, in volume 48, page 266. The college for young women established in connection with Harvard University, known as the "Annex," which was incorporated by the Massachusetts Legislature this year, has been named Radcliffe College, in honor of Dame Mowlson, whose maiden name was Radcliffe. The researches of Mr. Waters, published in these "Gleanings," made it almost certain that her surname was Radcliffe; but as there was a chance (only a small one it is true) that she may have been a half sister of Anthony Radcliffe, at the suggestion of Mr. Andrew McFarland Davis, the editor of the REGISTER wrote to George W. Marshall, LL.D., F.S.A., Rouge Croix, Herald's College, London, asking if he could furnish positive information on this point. This he was able to do. He sent the following extract from a pedigree in Vincent's London:

REV. JOHN CODMAN, D.D.

PASTOR OF THE SECOND CHURCH IN DORCHESTER, MASS.

JOHN CODMAN was born at Boston, Massachusetts, August 3, 1782, and was baptized in the Brattle Street Church by the pastor, Rev. Samuel Cooper, D.D. His father, the Hon. John Codman, was a Boston merchant of high standing and a member of the Governor's Council. His mother was Margaret, youngest daughter of the Hon. James Russell. His paternal emigrant ancestor, according to Wynman's Charlestown, was Robert<sup>1</sup> Codman of Salem, whose son Stephen<sup>2</sup> settled at Charlestown, from whom the descent was through Capt. John,<sup>3</sup> who was poisoned by his slaves in 1755; John,<sup>4</sup> and the Hon. John<sup>5</sup> the father of the subject of this memoir. His mother's emigrant ancestor was the Hon. Richard<sup>2</sup> Russell (son of Paul<sup>1</sup> Russell of Hereford, England), who came to this country in 1640, settled at Charlestown, and was treasurer of the colony, 1644 to 1676, from whom the descent is as follows: James,<sup>3</sup> Daniel,<sup>4</sup> and James<sup>5</sup> the father of Margaret (Russell) Codman.

John Codman was educated at Andover Academy and at Harvard College. From the latter institution he was graduated in 1802. Among his classmates were Levi Lincoln, afterwards Governor of Massachusetts; William Allen, afterwards President of Bowdoin College; Leverett Saltonstall and Samuel Hoar, afterwards members of Congress; and Levi Frisbie, afterwards a professor at Harvard College.

After his graduation, he commenced the study of the law with his kinsman John Lowell of Boston. His father died on the 17th of May, 1803, at the age of forty-eight, leaving to his family an ample fortune. During his last illness he expressed a wish that his son should become a minister. In compliance with this wish, Mr. Codman abandoned the study of the law and began preparing himself for the ministry. He studied with the Rev. Henry Ware at Hingham, with whom he remained about a year, when he removed to Cambridge and continued his theological studies. In 1805 he visited Europe, and pursued his studies in theology in Scotland. He spent three years abroad, visiting many places in Great Britain and the continent. He obtained at Bristol a license to preach, dated April 29, 1807, and was invited to preach at the Scotch Church of Swallow Street, London, where he officiated about a year. He returned to New England, arriving in Boston in May, 1808.

He received a call from the Second Church, Dorchester, which he accepted, and was ordained December 7, 1808. The Rev. William Ellery Channing, who was a personal friend of Mr. Codman, and whose church his step-mother attended, preached the ordination sermon. The two clergymen, in the subsequent division of the Congregationalists into the Orthodox and Unitarian Churches, were leaders in the opposing parties. The clergymen who took part in the ordination services were about equally divided between the two parties. Mr. Codman, at the time of his settlement, had decided views on the points which caused the separation of the two wings of the Congregational Church, and expressed them in his letter to the Dorchester church in reply to their call.

A few years after his settlement, a controversy arose between some of his parishioners and himself on the subject of his ministerial exchanges. In the year 1809 he received a letter dated November 10 of that year, signed by forty of his parishioners, asking him to make his "exchanges generally with those ministers who preach the public lectures in Boston, on Thursdays, and with them indiscriminately." The parish subsequently voted to request him to exchange with the ministers who composed the Boston Association, of which he was a member, and appointed a committee to wait on him and obtain a definite answer whether he would comply with the request of the parish. The committee reported that they had received from Mr. Codman this answer: "That he cannot pledge himself to exchange with any man or any body of men whatever." The parish, at an adjourned meeting October 23, 1810, after hearing the report, voted that "If the Rev. Mr. Codman's principles are such that he cannot comply with our request, which we consider all important to our future peace and prosperity, that the connection between him and us become extinct." The vote was adopted by a yeas and nays vote—yeas 40, nays 35. Though this is not stated by the disaffected parishioners, the real ground of dissatisfaction was the doctrines preached by Mr. Codman and those with whom he exchanged. In the same month seventy-three members of the parish, in an address to him, said: "Nearly all of your parishioners appear satisfied with your performances, and acknowledge that you have conformed to the doctrines and principles held out to us in your communication previous to your ordination; and the foundation of the difficulties professedly is your declining to exchange ministerial labors with the Association of Ministers to which you belong." An address was also received from one hundred and eighty-one female members of the parish, expressing a hope that he would come off conquering in that important conflict.

Two Ecclesiastical Councils were held to act in this matter; one October 30, 1811, and the other May 12, 1812. At the first council the members were equally divided on the principal charge relative to exchanges, twelve voting that "the aggrieved brethren and the majority of the parish had just cause of complaint against the Rev. Mr. Codman," and twelve voting in the negative. At the second council, the question proposed was "Whether the dismissal of the pastor was expedient?" The council being equally divided in their vote, the moderator, the Rev. Joseph Lathrop, D.D., of West Springfield, gave the casting vote in the negative. On the 24th of November it was again voted by the parish to dismiss their minister, though it is said that, at that time, of one hundred and fifty church members "all but seven or eight were anxious to retain their pastor." Soon after a compromise was effected. The opponents of Mr. Codman agreed to sell their pews and retire from the parish. The cost of the pews purchased was about ten thousand dollars, which was furnished by Mr. Codman and his friends. The parish then voted that "Mr. Codman should not be confined in his exchanges, the advice of any council or member thereof notwithstanding." Thus, in December, 1812, "four years from the beginning of his pastorate," says the Rev. Edward N. Packard, in his Seventy-Fifth Anniversary Sermon, December 31, 1882, "Mr. Codman saw united and happy people around him, and the land had rest" for nearly forty years.

On the 19th of January, 1813, Mr. Codman was married to Mary, eldest daughter of Ebenezer Wheelwright of Newburyport, who survived him. By her he had nine children, three of whom died in infancy, and six survived—three sons and three daughters. His son Capt. John, author of "Sailor's Life and Sailor's Yarns" and other works, was a member of Amherst College about two years, but did not graduate. He resides in New York. Another son, William Coombs, is engaged in the real estate business in Boston; and the third son, Robert, was graduated at Harvard College in 1844, and is a lawyer in Boston. His daughters were: 1. Mary Margaret, who married O. W. Pollitz of Hamburg, where she resided for a long time, but died July 21, 1894. 2. Margaret Russell, who married Rev. William A. Peabody, professor of Latin and modern languages at Amherst College; she died March 9, 1893. 3. Elizabeth, who married Charles K. Cobb and resides, a widow, in Boston. Her two sisters were also widows.

In November, 1824, he took a sea voyage to Charleston, South Carolina, for the benefit of his health, and spent several months in that State and in Georgia. He was accompanied by his wife and a female relative. On the 1st of February, 1825, he and his companions embarked for Liverpool, where they arrived on the morning of the 22d. They spent about five months in Europe, including a short visit to Paris. Among the celebrities visited by them were the Rev. Thomas Chalmers, D.D., at St. Andrew's, Scotland, and Hannah More at her residence of Barley Wood. In July they sailed for America, arriving in Boston August 30, 1825. A third visit to England was made nine years later. Having been appointed in June, 1834, a delegate to represent the General Association of Massachusetts at the annual meeting of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, he embarked October 16, 1834, in the ship "Silvie de Grasse" from New York for Havre. He published an account of the religious anniversaries of London, with a sketch of his tour in Europe, in a volume entitled "A Visit to England." He returned home in September, 1835. Another and the last visit to Europe was made in 1845. He "was absent from home about six months, spending most of his time among his early friends in England and Scotland." He left Boston in April, and reached home in September of that year. He attended the anniversaries of the religious and philanthropic societies at London, and spoke at the meetings of the British and Foreign Bible Society, the Religious Tract Society, the London Missionary Society, and the Congregational Union of England and Wales.

His duties as minister of the Second Church of Dorchester were regularly and faithfully performed. "The life of the pastor of a country parish," says the Rev. William Allen, D.D., the biographer of Dr. Codman, "offers little of stirring incident to interest the public. Happy in the faithful and diligent discharge of the duties of his office, and in the devoted affection of his flock, he exercised over them that silent yet powerful influence by which the character of a people is generally moulded."*

The Rev. Joshua Bates, in his "Reminiscences of Dr. Codman," p. 262, says:

His style of writing and happy manner of delivering his discourses rendered his preaching attractive and impressive. There was, however, one quality of his preaching, connected both with the style of his writing and the manner of his speaking, which I hardly know how to describe—a quality, without which all preaching is cold, formal and comparatively inefficient—a quality indeed, or rather a gift bestowed, in measure, on all good preachers of the word of God; but on him in an eminent degree. I mean that power which enables the preacher "to hide himself behind his subject," and bring the souls of his hearers into a condition to sympathize with his own soul, and into communion with him who is the end of the law and the substance of the gospel which he preaches;—that power exhibited both in writing and speaking of the great themes of Christianity, which compels the hearers to feel that the preacher is "serious in a serious cause,"—that he believes what he says, loves what he believes, and feels experimentally, and obeys practically, what he thus loves, believes and commends to others.

He is said to have been "distinguished for fine manners, a highly cultivated intellect, amiable and generous disposition, and a consistent and elevated Christian character." He received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from Yale College in 1802, and from Brown University in 1814. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was given him in 1822 by the College of New Jersey, and in 1840 by Harvard College.

Dr. Codman published "Sermons delivered on Various Occasions, with Addresses, by John Codman, D.D., Boston, 1834," 8vo., pp. 436; and numerous occasional sermons and addresses. He died on Thursday morning, December 23, 1847, aged sixty-five.*

DESCENDANTS OF DANIEL MORRISON OF NEWBURY, MASS., WHO APPEARED IN HAVERHILL, MASS.,
STRATHAM, EPPING, CANDIA AND SANBORNTON, N. H.

By Hon. LEONARD ALLISON MORRISON, of Windham, N. H.

IN that very valuable work, the History of Sanbornton, N. H., which is a monument to its author, Rev. M. T. Runnels, he was somewhat in doubt as to the origin of the early Morrisons of Sanbornton, but finally concluded that they were closely connected with the first Morison settlers of Londonderry, N. H. (see Vol. 2, p. 494, of that history), and descendants of David<sup>1</sup> Morison. From my investigations while preparing the "History of the Morison or Morrison Family," and more particularly by researches of recent date, it is certain that he was in error in regard to the conclusions at which he arrived. This information unfortunately was not available to Mr. Runnels when his work was printed. The Morrisons of Sanbornton are the descendants of Daniel<sup>1</sup> Morison (not David<sup>1</sup>), a resident of Newbury, Mass. in 1690, and are not connected with the early Morrisons of Londonderry, N. H. upon this side of the ocean. That there was a connection upon the European side, and that the Sanbornton Morrisons were originally of the same Scotch blood, hardly admits of a doubt. Such a strong resemblance in form and features has existed between members of these two branches of the family as to excite remark. Those of the name of Morison, who come rightfully by it, and are genuine Morrisons, are always of Scotch descent.

This article is prepared for a historical purpose only; that the facts collected by me might be preserved, and that through the REGISTER others besides the widely scattered members of the Morrison family of Sanbornton, Tilton, Candia, and other towns might know the name of their first common ancestor in America.

1. DANIEL<sup>1</sup> MORRISON, the progenitor of this branch of the Morrison family, was born approximately about 1668; place of birth unknown, and the time of emigration to America has not been ascertained. He was a resident of Newbury, Mass. in 1690, where he resided many years, and was a farmer. On May 20, 1695, he and Thomas Staples purchased of Abiel Long and wife Hannah, eighteen acres of land. On February 28, 1696, he was one of sixty-four persons taxed for building the West End meeting house. On March 14, 1699-1700, then of Newbury, he bought of Moses Chase of that town, fifteen acres. On February 3, 1706-7, he purchased of Stephen Greenleaf of Newbury, twenty-seven acres, known as the "Rate lott." He married Hannah Griffin for his first wife. She was daughter of John Griffin and his wife Lydia (Shatswell) Griffin. The latter was daughter of Theophilus Shatswell, a son of Theophilus Shatswell of Haverhill, Mass. Mrs. Hannah Morrison was born in Bradford, Mass., with her twin brother John Shatswell, April 2, 1671; died in Newbury, October 9, 1700. (County Court Records.) On April 7, 1709, "Know ye that we whose names are mentioned, viz:—Lydia Griffin, widow, Bradford, and her children: John, Ebenezer, Samuel, and Nathaniel Griffin,—Daniel Morrison, in behalf of his 'former wife, Hannah Griffin'; and daughters Lydia, wife of William Kowilton; Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Staples, Susanna, wife of Christopher Bartlett, Jr., and Abigail Griffin," for £105, sold to Stephen Barker, one hundred and seventy-eight acres, given the widow Griffin by her father Theophilus Shatswell. The land was on north side of Merrimack river in Haverhill.

On June 20, 1710, Daniel Morrison of Newbury, yeoman, having bought in partnerships with his brother-in-law, Thomas Staples, May 20, 1695, eighteen acres of woodland of Abiel Long, and it not being mentioned in sd bill of sale what each party should have of sd land, I, sd Morrison say that I am satisfied with  $\frac{1}{3}$  of sd estate.

He bought June 9, 1714, of Sarah Thompson, woodland on the Bradford road.

Daniel Morrison of Newbury, yeo. for love and affection, on March 16, 1726, made a deed of gift of forty acres, in Newbury, on the Bradford road, to his son John Morrison.

On April 1, 1731, he sold for £790, to Timothy Morse, a tenement of housing and thirty-two acres of land. This was probably his home, as he on December 23, 1731, bought of John Stevens of Rowley, for £280, thirty acres in Rowley. He removed from Newbury, and became a citizen of Rowley soon after this date, for on June 6, 1734, Daniel Morrison of Rowley, and wife Mary, for love and affection, deeded to Roger Chase and his wife Abigail of Newbury, thirty acres in Rowley, with my dwelling house, barn and orchard.

Mr. Morrison married Hannah, daughter of John and Lydia (Shatswell) Griffin of Merrimack Village. She died October 9, 1700.

By implication of the Griffin deed, he had a wife living April 7, 1709. He married 2d, March 27, 1707, Mary, daughter of Deacon John Foulson of Exeter, N. H. She was born September 27, 1664; died February 14, 1711.

He married 3d, Mary ———, who survived him. He made a will November 3, 1736, proved May 10, 1737, showing that he died between those dates.

To his wife Mary he gave £10 bills of credit, provided she accept of this my last will and testament. In case she does not accept of this my last will, then I do not give her anything. The reason why I thus deal with her is because I have given her £40, which she hath disposed of, which money was in Lieu of a bargain made between us before marriage. His trusty friends John Case and Joshua Bayley were executors. Children:

2. i. DANIEL,<sup>2</sup> b. in Newbury, Mass., August 1, 1691. Resided in Rowley, Mass.
3. ii. JOHN, b. in Newbury, March 28, 1693. Bought lands in Stratham, December 9, 1717.
- iii. HANNAH, b. in Newbury, January 27, 1695-6.
4. iv. EBENEZER, b. in Newbury, October 6, 1697. Resided at Stratham, formerly a part of Exeter, N. H., in 1723.
- v. MARY, born in Newbury, March 20, 1699. By Newbury records, were marriage intentions between her and Charles Annis, October 6, 1716, whom she married.
- vi. ABIGAIL, mentioned in her father's will as daughter Abigail Chase. She married Roger Chase of Newbury, March 16, 1725.

By second marriage:

Two children, stillborn to them April 1 and 2, 1702.

- vii. LYDIA, } twins, { b. February 4, 1710. They probably died young, viii. BERAH, } as they are not mentioned in their father's will.

2. DANIEL<sup>2</sup> MORRISON (Daniel<sup>1</sup>) was born in Newbury, Mass., August 1, 1691. He removed to Wells, Me., and on June 19, 1739, he and his brother John of Haverhill, Mass., for £38, deeded land in Rowley to Benjamin Poor. He married Abigail, daughter of John Kimball of Amesbury, Mass., at Rowley, November 25, 1712. On December 8, 1726, Deborah Kimball, widow of John Kimball of Amesbury, John and Mary Kimball, Abigail Morrison and Daniel Morrison of Newbury, children and heirs to estate of John Kimball, quitclaimed to Abraham, son of John Kimball, all rights in two acres of land of our father's homestead. He married Deborah, daughter of John and Deborah (Winsley) Weed, born in Salisbury, Mass. Child.

- i. DANIEL,<sup>3</sup> received a legacy by will of his grandfather Daniel.<sup>1</sup>

3. JOHN<sup>2</sup> MORRISON (Daniel<sup>1</sup>) was born in Newbury, Mass., March 28, 1693. He is the same John Morrison that is mentioned in vol. 2, page 494 (No. 4, John<sup>2</sup>), History of Sanbornton, N. H. He was attracted to land in Exeter, N. H., and on December 9, 1717, "John Morrison of Newbury" bought land and house "on the North side of the King's highway" in Exeter, of Nathaniel Ladd of Stratham. He was a resident of Newbury. On March 16, 1726, he received a deed of gift from his father Daniel, forty acres in Newbury, on the Bradford road. Later he was a resident of Haverhill, apparently of the east parish. He was a rate payer there in 1741, and signed petitions there in 1743 and 1748. His will, recorded at Salem, Mass. Probate office, was made August 18, 1769, proved February 27, 1770, showing that he died between those dates. In that document he is called "Cordwinder." He

DOROTHY STANTON.

By EDWARD DOUBLEDAY HARRIS, Esq., of New York City.

THE fate of an early Dorothy Stanton of Stonington, Connecticut, has been a mystery to genealogists from Miss Caulkins's day to the present; nor, notwithstanding the statements in recently published genealogies of the Dennison and Stanton families, does it seem nearer a solution.

The woman in question was the daughter of Thomas, and granddaughter of the first Thomas Stanton, the Indian interpreter. She married Nicholas Lynde of Charlestown, subsequently John Trerice, and thereafter becomes apparently confounded with some other Dorothy Stanton whose identity is undiscovered.

The positive evidence concerning her may be summed up as follows:—

Stonington church books record the baptism of Dorothy, daughter of Thomas Stanton, Junior, April 24, 1681. There is reason to believe that she was, at that time, a child of two or three years of age. The town records dispose of her later, in this wise: "Nicholas Lynd of Charlestown and Dorothy Stanton of Stonington were married 9 May, 1696." Charlestown records confirm the fact of the marriage, but alter the date to 7 May, the entry, however, being delayed until 10 March, 1700-1.

Col. Lynde, continuing the story, wrote in his family bible, "my Grand-daughter Sarah Lynde, daughter to my son Nicholas—Lynde, was born Feb. 23, 1700, on a Sabbath day in the morning." The birth was at Charlestown, for the town records there enter it as Feb. 25, 1699-1700, and the church records follow with the baptism, March 31, 1699, and the admission of the mother, Dorothy, to full communion, on the same day.

Then the bible record goes on:—"my Grand-child Joseph Lynde, son to my son Nicholas Lynde, was born at Stonington in January 1702-3 on a Thursday"; and the Stonington records fix the exact date as the 1st, "about to of the clock in the afternoon," and that of the baptism as the 10th of the same month.

The bible again is authority for Lynde's death "at Jamaica [W. I.] Oct. 1703," and the Charlestown records for the marriage of Dorothy to John Trerice, Jan. 22, 1707-8.

At this point the difficulty begins. The family records of the Lyndes are, happily, so complete, that no room is given for the suspicion that the Dorothy who married Trerice was any other than the widow of Nicholas. Wyman, generally careful, makes this Trerice the elder John, then, if living, in his 69th year,* while Mr. Appleton, much more reasonably, prefers to consider him the younger man, born 1671.† John Jr. was living June 29, 1722, to join with his sister Hannah Austin in the conveyance of real estate, then an inhabitant of Charlestown.‡ Middlesex and Suffolk county records of probate and deeds, and Charlestown town and church records have been vainly searched for further trace of Dorothy Trerice.

We know that Col. Lynde adopted the two children of his deceased son Nicholas. He, himself, died intestate Jan. 29, 1722, but the division of his large estate gives no intimation concerning the daughter-in-law Dorothy. But if the widow is thus, in recorded history, so suddenly lost sight of, family tradition has kept her memory green. Her son, in 1746, named a daughter for her, and this Dorothy lived until 1837, to see the name borne worthily by two others, Mary Dorothy Harris (1797-1890) and Dorothy Lynde Dix (1802-1887), both in the fourth generation in descent from Dorothy Stanton. Certainly as long ago as in 1820 there was an unquestioned family tradition that after the death of Lynde the widow had "three or four husbands, and died in Connecticut at the age of 105 (or 107) then the widow Dennison." This would place the date of her death at about 1785, when the granddaughter referred to was in her fortieth year, with years enough then before her in which to confirm or correct a tradition certainly in force in 1820.

Mess. Baldwin and Clift in their Dennison book§ ignoring or ignorant of the Trerice marriage, gave the widow Lynde to John Frink, and 3d to Robert Dennison of Montville, and then gave to her by Dennison, a son George, born 1719, and a daughter Dorothy, born 1721.

In Baldwin's Stanton Genealogy of 1882 he reasserted the Frink-Dennison story and finding in the Stonington records three children of John Frink, born between 1710 and 1717, fastened them upon Dorothy without any authority whatever that is now apparent.

After a long and persistent search for Baldwin's authority of this apparent confirmation of the family tradition of the Dennison marriage (which, by the way, the compilers of the Dennison book were probably not aware of), the writer found it in the Montville church records. The Rev. David Jewitt, the second pastor, began his new book with an account compiled "with care" of the several families of the parish. This was in 1739. Page 2, devoted to the family of Capt. Robert Dennison, gives us the names of his chil-

Dorothy, bapt. Dec. 30, 1722.

Turning back to the first book of records, commencing with the gathering of the church, we are confronted with a difficulty,—one that Baldwin disposed of by ignoring. In the list of original covenants of Oct. 1722, are the names of "Capt. Dinnison and Mrs. Sarah Dinnison," presumably husband and wife. Jewitt so understood their relation, as he in his copy writes "Capt. Robert Dennison and his wife Sarah," and moreover finds "old Miss Sarah Dennison" a church member in 1739, the captain having died in 1737. If Sarah were Dennison's wife in 1722, and Dorothy bore him a child in 1721, then it was quick work even for those days of speedy matrimonial consolations. But, if we believe this, and that his Dorothy had been Lynde's widow, how reconcile Sarah's appearance with the Lynde tradition that Dorothy lived "the widow Dennison" until 1785?

The most careful scrutiny of the Stanton records fails to find any Dorothy married to a Frink. Nor does any evidence appear as yet, save Jewitt's testimony, of any Frink with a Dorothy as a wife; nor does the Dennison book, on the other hand, give us any widow Dorothy that could possibly serve our purpose. Again, if Trerice were living in 1722, unless Dorothy had left him, she could not have been the wife of Frink from 1710 to 1717, and of Dennison in 1721.

The Baldwin and Clift statement was at first accepted by the writer of this article as conclusive, and it was not until a personal examination of the Montville records had been made by him, together with a study of the Trerice-Frink-Dennison alliances, that doubt arose in his mind as to the identity of the Dorothy concerned. Meantime the Rev. William A. Stanton had printed his Stanton Genealogy with the writer's endorsement of the Baldwin theory* and Professor and Mrs. Salisbury had given to the public their sumptuous work embracing the chapter on the Lords, repeating the same account.

Perhaps some future investigator may discover evidence that will confirm Jewitt's record, and Baldwin's construction of it, but meantime the writer prefers to believe that Dorothy Lynde did not marry either a Frink or Robert Dennison of Montville, and that her story, after the Trerice marriage in 1708, is yet to be told.

LAKIN FAMILY.

By Hon. SAMUEL A. GREEN, M.D., of Boston, Mass.

AMONG the first settlers of Groton were the brothers Lieutenant William and Ensign John Lakin, who each owned a twenty-acre right as original proprietors of the town. They had both previously lived at Reading, where they had been married. During the earliest history of Groton their names appear frequently in the affairs of the town, and they seem both to have taken a prominent part in civil and ecclesiastical matters. William's house-lot lay on both sides of the road leading to Hawtree Meadow, which is now known as Chicopee Row; and John's was at Nod, a district lying northerly of the soapstone quarry. From these two militia officers are descended the numerous family of Lakins in Groton and wide neighborhood. For facts concerning John Lakin, see an article in the REGISTER (xlv., pp. 81, 82) for January, 1891.

The following copies of old papers, now in my possession, help to clear up some of the obscurities existing in the genealogical history of the family. William Martin, whose name appears in the first receipt, was the step-father of William Lakin, and he, too, had previously lived at Reading. The brothers William and John were sons of William Lakin, of England, who came to this country, perhaps as early as the year 1645, with their mother and step-father, accompanied also by their grandfather William Lakin, senior.

The next two receipts relate to bequests made by William Martin, who, according to the County records, died at Groton on March 26, 1672[-3], aged about 76 years. They are in the handwriting of the Reverend Samuel Willard, who, like other country ministers of that period, in addition to their pastoral duties, acted the part of scribes for the benefit of their neighbors. The following are copies of the papers:—

Groton: August. 5. 1673.

Received by my Brō Jnō Lakin of Groton, ten pounds in the pay of Ralph Dix of Reading, upon the account of a legacy of the said sūme bequeathed to me, by my Father William Martin in his last Will & Testa-

The first of these receipts was lately given to me by Mr. Charles Butler Brooks, of Boston, who found it among the papers of his grandfather Caleb Butler, Esq., the historian of Groton; and the other two were given to me more than forty years ago by the late Hon. John Boynton, of Groton. It is somewhat singular that these old manuscripts, relating to similar transactions in the same family, should now come together after the vicissitudes of nearly two centuries and a half. Elizabeth Sherman, one of the witnesses, was a younger sister of Mr. Willard's wife.

William Lakin, senior, was the oldest person among the original settlers of Groton, and he died on December 10, 1672, aged about 91 years.

William Martin's house-lot at Groton lay on the borders of a large sheet of water which in his lifetime was known as Martin's Pond, and still keeps the same name. In the record of James Parker's land, on July 6, 1666, "the pond called Goodman Martin's Pond" is mentioned. There is also a Martin's Pond within the original limits of the town of Reading,—but now lying in the northwest corner of North Reading,—which may have been named after him, as he lived there before coming to Groton. Perhaps some local antiquary of that neighborhood can give the origin of the name.

DIARY OF REV. WILLIAM HOMES OF CHILMARK, MARTHA'S VINEYARD, 1689-1746.

Contributed by Dr. CHARLES EDWARD BANKS, U. S. Marine Hospital Service, Portland, Me.

IN the library of the Maine Historical Society there is a manuscript volume of 96 pp., of the size known as quarto, bound in contemporary leather and containing the notes of births, marriages, deaths, and important events occurring within the personal knowledge of the diarist. It is closely written from cover to cover, even the fly leaves and insides of the covers being utilized by the original owner or its subsequent possessors. It is the diary or note book of the Reverend William Homes, a native of the North of Ireland,* sometime pastor of Strabane, and from 1715 to his death the settled minister of Chilmark on Martha's Vineyard. Mr. Homes was born in 1663, and when a young man came to the Vineyard where he taught school for three years, 1686-9.—(Allen, Biographical Dictionary, 463). He returned to Ireland, where in 1692 he was ordained over the parish of Strabane, and next year, September 26,

* His father was buried at Donachmore, according to the Diary, which may give a clue to the origin of the family.

1693, he married Katherine, daughter of Reverend Robert Craghead of Londonderry. The first child of this marriage was born in Stragolun, and the others in Strabane. He continued as pastor of this church till 1714-5, when with his wife and nine children he crossed the ocean and made his future home in Chilmark, where he was ordained pastor September 15, 1715. He kept this relationship to the day of his death, June 20, 1746, a period of over thirty years. He published several sermons and religious works.

The greater portion of the diary is made up of weekly entries dated "Lord's day," detailing his texts and sermon, of which the following is a sample of the whole :

xber 7 1718 being Lords day I preached before noon from 1 pet 24 to whom coming as unto a living stone and after sermon administered the sacrament of the Lords supper afternoon I preached from Col: 1. 13. Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness in all which I hope I was assisted the Lord follow my poor labours with a rich blessing to edification and salvation of souls.

These weekly entries are usually followed by some note of a death, "remarkable providence," birth, baptism, admission to church membership, state of weather or such kindred items. The first few leaves of the book contain his family record, sons, daughters and grandchildren, with a list of marriages and deaths in the town of Chilmark during his residence. These entries I have transcribed and they follow this introduction :

Mr John Mayhew of Chilmark died feb<sup>r</sup> 3<sup>d</sup> 1688<sup>g</sup> about two of the clock in the morning: and was buried feb<sup>r</sup> 4th His distemper was a pain in the stomacke, shortness of breath and a faintness his distemper continued from the last of september till the time abovesaid.

By the application of fried oats &c The pain removed from his Body to his stomacke: no means that were made use of for his recovery proved useful to him. He was buried the fifteenth day about two afternoon.

The truly virtuous gentlewoman M<sup>rs</sup> Mary Mayhew Spouse to the Honoured Matthew Mayhew Esq<sup>r</sup> of Edgartstown, departed this life May 1st 1690 about 9 at night. Her distemper was a Milignant fever. It continued from the 29th day of April in the morning till the time of her Comfortable departure. She was hurried the next day towards night.

WILLIAM HACK AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

By CHRISTOPHER A. HACK, Esq., of Taunton, Mass.

IN the records of Wills and Administrations for Hampshire County, England, the name Hack frequently occurs in the sixteenth and early part of the seventeenth centuries. Its first appearance in this country was about the year 1660 when William Hack, who is supposed to be the ancestor of all the Hacks in New England, became a resident of Taunton, Mass.

He married Mary ———, and had a son William, born November 15, 1663. In 1664 he went to England to settle his affairs there, leaving his wife and son here, and intending to return the following summer; but he never came back. In June, 1667, his wife not having received any letters nor any intelligence from him, applied to the Court at Plymouth "producing divers testimonies to make it manifest to the Court that William Hacke her husband is dead," and obtained Letters of Administration on his estate, which consisted of personal property appraised at 33£ 08s. 6d. and a dwelling house and nine acres of land.*

His son, William Hack, married and had two sons, William and Seth, and three daughters. He accumulated a large property for those times, consisting principally of real estate, a part of which is still held by some of his descendants. His homestead was in Taunton, on the east side of Three Mile River between Westville and North Dighton. In 1690 he joined the Phipps expedition to Canada. For his services, losses and sufferings in this expedition, the Legislature of Massachusetts, by Acts passed between the years 1732 and 1735, awarded him two tracts of land containing one hundred and fifty acres each, situated on the east bank of the Connecticut river between the towns of Sunderland and Northfield.†

LETTER OF WILLIAM STEVENS, 1795, A SEAMAN IMPRESSED BY THE BRITISH.

Communicated by EDWARD W. JAMES, of Norfolk, Va.

THE letter of William Stevens, which I found in the Norfolk County Clerk's Office, may prove of interest to some of the readers of the REGISTER, as he was a citizen and freeholder of Boston, and was a victim of the most cruel method ever practised by the British Government for the purpose of manning its fleets; and it reflects a sad and mournful light on a dark and humiliating period of American history.

At a Court Held for Norfolk County April the 20th 1795

LETTER OF PAUL JONES, 1777.

[From a copy in the possession of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society.]

Portsmouth. July 12. 1777.

Sir.

I am come here on a disagreeable errand—to supersede you, against whom I can have no cause of complaint.

Delicacy would not permit my more early Appearance. I wished to give you time to consider seriously whether your suspension can be in any respect owing to me?—You must be convinced that it was not when you recollect that I was—appointed to command a far better ship than the Ranger;—Besides I believe you think me incapable of Baseness

You will have an Opportunity of disproving whatever may have been said to your disadvantage; and the charges against you, whatever they are, must be supported by incontestable Facts, otherwise they will gain no credit with men of Candor and Ingenuity—your present calamity may yet terminate, in your future happiness—when it appears you have been wrongfully charged, you will be entitled to a greater share of public good will and approbation than you could otherwise have claimed.—I wish you well—and am

Sir

Your most Obedient

very humble servant

PROPOSAL OF MARRIAGE BY DANIEL HUBBARD FOR THE HAND OF MISS COIT.

Honoured Sir & Mad<sup>m</sup> J blush & tremble on my knees while J study how to approach your Presence, to ask of you a Blessing for which J have long address'd y<sup>e</sup> Skies. From my first Acquaintance at your House I have wish'd my Happiness thence; nor have I yet found it in my Power to seek it from an Other. My careful Thoughts with ceaseless Ardors commend y<sup>e</sup> Affair to that Being, who alone inspires a pure & refined Love. The Eye-Lids of y<sup>e</sup> Morning discover me in my secret Places, with my first Devotions soliciting y<sup>e</sup> dear important Cause; and y<sup>e</sup> Evening-Shades are conscious to y<sup>e</sup> Vows J make for y<sup>e</sup> f<sup>r</sup> Creature, who next to Heaven holds the Empire of my Heart. And now while I write J pray y<sup>e</sup> great Master of Souls to incline yours to favour my Address. By y<sup>e</sup> Love of God J beseech you—Ye happy Parents of my Partner Soul—but J forbare till J may be honoured with y<sup>e</sup> Oppertunity of a personal Application. D. HUBBARD”

Stonington Decmber, 1730

NOTE.—Daniel Hubbard, the writer of the above letter, was the son of Rev. John Hubbard, Jr. (H. C. 1695), and was born April 3, 1706, probably in New Haven. He was graduated at Yale College in 1727. A sketch of his life will be found in “Yale Biographies and Annals,” by Prof. F. B. Dexter, page 354. His proposal was accepted, and he was married August 13 (or 18), 1731, to Martha, daughter of John Coit of New London, to whom the letter is addressed. He settled at New Loudon in the practice of the law. He was appointed sheriff in 1735, and held the office till his death March 24, 1741-2. He left three sons and two daughters. His widow married, Sept. 6, 1744, Thomas Greene of Boston (see Coit Genealogy, page 32). There used to be twin portraits of Mr. Greene and his wife, a little above miniature size in ovals in one frame on copper painted by Copley, which was in the possession of Miss Mary G. Chapman of Boston. I used to see the picture often when a child. Augustus T. Perkins describes it in his Sketch of Copley and some of his Works, page 66. I am not quite sure that the lady was the adorable Miss Coit, though the probability is that she was. Thomas Greene had two wives. His first wife was Eliza daughter of John Gardiner of Gardiner's Island, and his second the above Mrs. Martha (Coit) Hubbard. There are portraits of Thomas Greene and his wife Martha, painted by Copley, in the possession of their great-grandson, Rev. David Greene Haskins D.D., of Cambridge. They are described by Mr. Perkins, pp. 65-6. Mr. Greene's portrait is dated Sept. 25, 1758. It was therefore painted when Copley was only 21 years old.

HOLMES.—The following is the inscription on the monument in the village cemetery in Alfred, Me., in memory of the Hon. John Holmes, a distinguished statesman and one of the first United States Senators from Maine after its admission into the Union in 1820:

"In memory of | John Holmes, | Born in Kingston, Mass., | March 28. 1773,
| Died in Portland, Maine, | July 7, 1843. | Forty years a resident of Alfred. |
A Representative in Congress | from Massachusetts. | Chairman of the Committee | which drafted the Constitution | of Maine, and one of its first | United States Senators. | And to add greater honors to his age than | man could give him, he died fearing God."

On one side of the monument is the following inscription in memory of his amiable and greatly lamented wife:

"Mrs. Sally, | wife of | John Holmes | Died Dec. 6, 1835, | Ae 62 years. |
She lived the sincere friend | the faithful and affectionate | wife and mother. |
the professed and practical | Christian. | Her death was calm and serene | Her hope sure and steadfast."

Mr. Holmes married second, Mrs. Caroline F. Swan, youngest daughter of Major-General Henry Knox of Thomaston, Me., greatly distinguished during the Revolutionary war and as member of President Washington's cabinet. Mrs. Holmes died at the Knox mansion in Thomaston in October, 1851.

DWIGHT.—On page 457, vol. 1, of the "Descendants of John Dwight of Dedham, Mass., by Benj. W. Dwight," there appears the following erroneous statement:

John Dwight m. Jan. 31, 1841, Nancy Shaw Everett, b. June 17, 1817 (adopted dau. of Hon. Melatiah Everett of Wrentham, Mass., and Fanny Shepard).

It should be: John Dwight m. Jan. 13, 1841, Nancy Shaw Everett, b. June 17, 1817 (adopted dau. of Hon. Melatiah Everett of Wrentham Mass., and dau. of his brother Metcalf Everett and Fanny Shepard).

QUERIES.

CARWITHEN, CARWITHY.—Examination of the REGISTER has yielded the following facts:

John Cogan of Boston appointed Nicholas Carwithye, citizen and grocer of Exeter (England) his attorney to collect a debt and legacies. This was between 1638 and 1641 (xi. 270).

Mention occurs of Samuel Carwithen of Salem, anno 1651 (vii. 335).

Joshua Carwithly married Elizabeth daughter of John Farnam at Boston 6: 6: 1657 (xi. 204); they had a daughter Elizabeth born at Boston, June 6, 1659 (xiii. 220); Joshua was a "mariner" and died prior to September 1, 1663. His widow married Edmund Mumford (xiii. 154-5).

Mention occurs of Digory Carwithy, master of the "New England Marchant of London" (xxxvii. 395) and of Digorey Carwithen, master of the "Nue England Merchant" May 6, 1653 (xxxi. 375); and the death of Dickery Carwithen, shipmaster, at Boston, 6: 7: 1653, is recorded (x. 72).

David Carwithen married "Francis Oldam, Widdow" at Boston, September 22, 1660 (xix. 163).

David, son of David Carwithen and Francis his wife, was born at Boston, June 1, 1661 (xv. 351).

David Carwithin, born March 3, 1688-9, died about 1713, married April 6, 1710, Mary daughter of Thomas Deane of Boston (ix. 93). Mary afterwards married Wadl. (Wadleigh?) and died June 9, 1736 (xxxi. 429; xxxvii. 283).

The records of Christ Church, Philadelphia, show that on January 16, 1731-32, William West married Abigail Carwithen (8 Pa. Arch. (2d series) 42, 271). I have seen no other mention of the name Carwithen in Pennsylvania, and shall be obliged for information connecting Abigail Carwithen with the New England family, or for further particulars as to that family.

ARGALL AND PERCIVAL:—

Sir Samuel Argall's will, written May 23, 1625, mentions "Anne Percivall the wife of Samuel Percivall of London, chandler," and gives her all his lands, etc. in Virginia.

WALKER-ODELL.—Joseph and Abigail (Prudden) Walker, of Stratford, Conn., had a daughter, Joanna Walker, born, probably, about 1675, who married a Mr. Odell. Orcutt calls him Samuel Odell, and fixes the date of marriage as before 1702. Mrs. Schenck, on the contrary, names him as John Odell, the son of William Odell, Senr., of Fairfield, Conn. Can anyone reconcile these conflicting statements? (Orcutt's Hist. Stratford. Mrs. Schenck's Hist. Fairfield.)

MRS. CLARK AND HER ESCAPE FROM THE INDIANS.—In Salma Hale's "Annals of Keene, N. H.," and in Mr. Hurd's "Hist. of Cheshire and Sullivan Cos., N. H.," it is related that in the year 1746 a young girl, afterwards Mrs. Clark, escaped from an Indian by running and took refuge in the fort.

Whose wife was this Mrs. Clark?

In one account of the story, page 81, of the County History, she is called Mrs. Isaac Clark, and also it is stated that Isaac Clark left no issue.

The Mrs. Clark who outran the Indian was my ancestor, and her daughter (my grandmother) was Mrs. Charles Rice of Ash Swamp, Keene, N. H., where the incident occurred.

There is either a mistake in calling her Mrs. Isaac Clark, or in the statement that Isaac Clark left no issue.

REPLIES.

MARTIN'S OR MARTHA'S VINEYARD (ante p. 201).—In the REGISTER for April, 1894, Dr. Banks has given a very interesting account regarding the nomenclature of the Vineyard. Some ten years ago, my friend, Hon. William T. Davis, called my attention to a map or rough sketch of the Vineyard, accompanying a communication to Sir William Phips, in which some of the ancient names on the Vineyard are mentioned, showing the origin of the present designations. The communication is as follows: (Maps and Plans at State House, Vol. 3.)

"To his Excellency Sir William Phipps Knight Cap<sup>t</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> and Gouv<sup>r</sup> of the province of the Massachusetts bay and the honorable Council having drawn something like the Several divisions of Marthas-vineyard. I further declare what its properties may be,—there is a patent graunt for Edgar-town to all intents and purposes to be held of the Menor of East Greenwich in Kent, bounded on the West by holms hole and tickanoman point. So containing all the east end of the Island with the island called Chapaquidget & Natuk your most humble petitioner prayeth that Edgartown may be confirmed in their most autient Rights to their utmost bounderies by the draft your honors may see how tisbury, Chilmark and its dependences & ye west end of the island lyeth together. we desire not to invade any mens property, neither can it be, for the pattent of ye provence giveth to all, their rights and propertys formerly graunted them

Your most humble petitioner prayeth that Tisbury, Chilmark and its dependences, with all the west end of the island be made one hamlet for the better carrying on all publick concerns there, and that Marthas Vineyard & Elizabeth IIs be considerd as one place, so that one Representative may serve for the whole

The Military Officers of the company at Chilmark & Tisbury are Cap<sup>t</sup> Benjamin Skiff, Lieu<sup>t</sup> Isaac Chase, Insg<sup>n</sup> John Manten men approved, we propound as most fit at Edgartown Mr John Butler to be Cap<sup>t</sup> Mr Tho<sup>s</sup> Dogget to be Lieu<sup>t</sup> Mr Jacob Norton to be Insg<sup>n</sup> & Mr Joseph Norton to be Marshall

Your most humble petitioner shall ever pray for your properous Government
Simon Athern

The sketch or map shows that "Ye gay head" received its name early. Noman's land, alias Capooket, evidently belonged to Tickenoman, from whom the point was named on the south side of the vineyard. "holmes his hole" explains itself. Chapaquidget is modernized into Chappaquiddie, and Capog into Cape Poge.

INSCRIPTIONS AT NORFOLK, VA. (ante p. 17).—In the January number of the REGISTER is given a number of inscriptions of New Englanders buried in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Norfolk, Virginia.

In St. Paul's churchyard in that city is the following on a small headstone, that may be of interest to some of your readers:

"Samuel W. Cushing of Berwick Massachusetts, killed in a Duel 24th April 1800, AE 23 years."

St. Paul's is the old Parish Church, and was built in 1739.

A record in another place, showing who Cushing was, has the following:

"Cushing, Samuel W. Appointed Midshipman, 28 August, 1799. Last appearance on Records of Navy Department, 12 September 1799. Killed in a duel."

VINCENT'S LONDON (ante p. 405).—Dr. Marshall writes that Vincent's London, which he quotes in his letter to the editor, is a manuscript in the Heralds' College in the collection of Heralds' Visitations, &c., formerly belonging to and compiled by Augustine Vincent, Windsor Herald, which collection was given to that College by Ralph Sheldon. "It is," he writes, "one of our most important series of manuscripts. and one we take as evidence." An account of Vincent, who died Jan. 11, 1625-6, will be found in Noble's History of the College of Arms, page 240, and Allibone's Dictionary of Authors, vol. 3, page 2525.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE CAMPBELLS OF CRAIGNISH IN SCOTLAND.—A prospectus of a limited work of 100 copies on this family with their alliances and cadets has already appeared. It will be edited by Andrew Ross, Esq., Marchmont Herald of the Lyon office, Edinburgh.

In point of antiquity the house of Craignish ranks next to the Ducal family of Argyll in the annals of the clan Campbell. The history of the family dates from about 1130, and from the period of the Ragman Roll to the present time there is documentary evidence to prove that the line of male descent has been continued unbroken.

A cadet of this family came to America in the last century, where he changed his name. Are there any existing representatives of this cadet in the United States or Canada?

NECROLOGY OF THE NEW-ENGLAND HISTORIC
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.

Prepared by the Historiographer, REV. EZRA HOYT BYINGTON, D.D., of Newton, Mass.

THE sketches of deceased members prepared for the REGISTER are of necessity brief, because the space that can be appropriated is quite limited. All the materials for more extended memoirs which can be gathered are preserved in the archives of the Society, and they will be available for use in preparing the "Memorial Biographies," of which four volumes have been issued and a fifth volume is in press. The income from the Towne Memorial Fund is devoted to the publication of these volumes.

JAMES HOWARD MEANS, A.M., D.D., of Dorchester, was born in Boston, December 13, 1823, and died in Dorchester, Massachusetts, April 13, 1894. He was elected a resident member of this Society March 5, 1856, and became a life member in 1867. Only twenty-four of the present members of the Society have been connected with it as long as Dr. Means.

His father James Means was a well known Boston merchant of the last generation. His mother was Joanna Howard. He was prepared for college at the Boston Latin School, entered Harvard College at the age of sixteen, and was graduated in 1843. He pursued his professional studies at Andover Theological Seminary, and was graduated in 1847. One who knew him well in early life has written: "His early education afforded everything that could be desired in the way of home influence and culture. His training at school, college and seminary gave him a thorough equipment for his work." The seminary at Andover was at that time at the zenith of its fame as a school of divinity. Professors Stuart, Woods, Park, Phelps and Edwards were its teachers, and the students prosecuted their studies with enthusiasm under their direction.

Mr. Means was licensed to preach by the Suffolk North Association in April, 1847. He began his ministry as an assistant of Rev. Dr. Codman, in the Second Church of Dorchester. Dr. Codman had been at that time the pastor of that church thirty-nine years. He died the next year, and Mr. Means was at once chosen as his successor; and was ordained July 13, 1848. He continued the pastor of that church for thirty years, retiring from active service in 1878, at the age of fifty-five, on account of impaired health. He continued to reside in Dorchester, with his people, to the time of his death, suffering much of the time from general debility, which finally assumed the form of gradual paralysis.

It is not easy for those who have known Dr. Means only since his retirement from public life as a clergyman, to realize how large a place he filled in this community a quarter of a century ago. He was the pastor of a large and prominent church for the period of a generation; an eloquent and attractive preacher; a man of literary tastes and accomplishments; a gentleman of elegant manners, and a happy adaptation to every call of social or public life. He was put forward as a representative man, by his denomination, on great public occasions. He was connected with most of the benevolent and religious societies in which they were intrusted. He was wise in counsel, as he was eloquent in speech. He had decided opinions, and was strong in his advocacy of important truths and doctrines. He was one of the best representatives of a New England minister of the Puritan faith and polity, with the best culture of the middle period of this century.

Dr. Means was a contributor to the best literary and theological journals. Some of his articles have had a permanent influence upon the men of his time. He was also a careful student of New England history. One of the historical articles from his pen was delivered at the Seventieth Anniversary of his Church in 1878, and was published with the proceedings of that anniversary. A volume of Sermons, which he published in 1865, gives a good illustration "of the substance and method of his preaching."

Dr. Means was for many years a trustee of the Perkins Institution for the Blind; secretary of the Boston City Missionary Society; president of the trustees of Armenia College in Turkey, and of the trustees of Bradford Academy, Mass.; and a corporate member of the American Board. Williams College conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1874.

He married, June 6, 1849, Charlotte Abigail Johnson of Boston, who died October 28, 1893. Four children survive them, two of whom, J. Means and C. J. Means, are in Boston; a third, F. H. Means, is pastor of a church in Windham, Connecticut; and a daughter, Miss Marion B. Means.

The home of Dr. Means has been for many years "in the spacious elm-shadowed mansion, built in the old Colonial style, which stands back from the street, only two doors from his church." A memorial volume is expected from the press, which will contain, with other matter, a number of memorial addresses which were read at a commemorative service held in the Second Church in Dorchester, a few weeks after his death.

HON. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN NOURSE, of Boston, was born in Orrington, Maine, August 2, 1816, and died in Boston, April 7, 1893. He was elected a resident member of this Society, May 4, 1870, and became a life member the same year.

Mr. Nourse was descended in the seventh generation from Francis and Rebecca Nurse, who came from England in 1635, and settled in Salem in 1640. Mr. Nurse purchased the Townsend Bishop farm, in what is now Danvers. The homestead is still standing, and has been in the possession of his descendants ever since. His wife Rebecca was a woman of the noblest character, and was held in high esteem in the church and in social life. During the prevalence of the witchcraft delusion she was accused of the crime of witchcraft. She was at that time an aged matron. She bore herself with the dignity of conscious innocence before the Court, but was found guilty, and publicly executed. The horror which was caused by the "doing to death" of this mother and grandmother had much to do in bringing about the reaction which terminated the delusion, and led those who had been the participants in the judicial murders of those years to confess their wrong, and turn from all such follies and crimes.

Mr. Nourse graduated from the common school when he was twelve years of age. He never went to college, but was a student all his life, an admirable example of an American citizen, devoted to a business life, who was acquiring knowledge from year to year, and who became an authority upon such subjects as his pursuits led him to investigate.

He went to Apalachicola, Florida, at the age of nineteen, and engaged in the cotton business. A few years later, he became a partner in the firm of Nourse & Brooks, which was for a long time one of the leading houses in the cotton trade in the South. In 1837 he removed to Boston, and continued in the cotton business until his death. At the beginning of the War he was strongly urged by Jefferson Davis, Alexander H. Stevens and other leaders in the Rebellion to join them, but he steadily refused, and did what he could with his pen and his purse to strengthen the cause of the Nation.

Mr. Nourse was often urged to accept political positions, but he steadily refused, except that he served for a few years as an alderman of Apalachicola, and as mayor of that city. He was president of the Chamber of Commerce while there; and afterwards president of the Boston Board of Trade; and vice-president of the National Board of Trade. He served as vestryman in Trinity Church, Boston, for twenty-two years.

In 1867 he was appointed Honorary United States Commissioner at the Paris Exposition. He prepared a valuable report on the cotton trade, which was published by the Department of State. On economic questions he was regarded as an expert, and was frequently summoned as such before committees of Congress. Senator Sherman once said that Mr. Nourse did more than any other man in public or private life to prepare the way for the resumption of specie payments. As a cotton statistician, he was regarded as the ablest in the world, for many years. He published no books, but wrote much for the press on matters relating to the cotton trade, the tariff, currency, and other economic topics. In 1878 he was appointed a commissioner to the International Monetary Conference at Paris, but he was not able to accept.

HON. STEPHEN MERRILL ALLEN, A.M., LL.B., of Boston, was born in Albany, N. H., April 15, 1819, and died in Charlottesville, Va., January 19, 1894. He was descended from an old New England family. Samuel Allen and Anna his wife, who came from England, settled in Braintree about the year 1632. Their son Samuel settled in Bridgewater in 1660. Japhet, of the fourth generation, fought at Lexington and at Bunker Hill, and served in the army through the war. For eight generations, the family has been identified with the best political and religious life of New England.

Stephen M. Allen was born at the homestead of his maternal grandfather, Jeremiah Gilman, who was a special friend and confidential adviser of General Washington. The family removed to Maine, where they resided a number of years during the boyhood of Stephen. When he was seventeen years old he came to Boston, to engage in business. He attended an evening school to supplement his education. At the age of twenty he began business on his own account. He was successful in business in Boston and in Roxbury. When he had acquired sufficient means to enable him to prosecute his studies he entered the Harvard Law School, and in 1846 he received from Harvard the degree of LL.B., though he did not engage in the practice of law.

He followed for many years the profession of a mechanical engineer, and built a large number of mills in different parts of the country. He built the hydraulic canal at Niagara Falls, one of the greatest water powers in the world. He also invented a method of using wood-fibre in the manufacture of paper, which gave a great impulse to that industry.

He found time for historical and scientific studies. He was the author of a book entitled "Religion and Science," which was written in reply to certain articles by Professor Tyndall. This book gave him a reputation in England, and he was elected a fellow of the Royal Historical Society, vice-president of the British Topographical Society, and a member of some other scientific societies. He was for a number of years president of the Webster Historical Society. He was elected a resident member of the New-England Historic Genealogical Society, March 2, 1853, and became a life member in 1872. In 1850 he received the honorary degree of A.M. from Columbia College. A few years later Dart-month gave him the same honor. He was in the city government of Roxbury in 1848, and in 1851 was a member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

Mr. Allen resided on the Myles Standish farm in Duxbury a number of years, spending a part of each year in Roxbury. He has been an invalid the last two years, and has spent most of his time in the South, where he died.

REV. JOHN CORDNER, LL.D., of Boston, was born in the North of Ireland, July 3, 1816, and died in Boston, June 22, 1894. He was the son of William Cordner, and Mary Ann Nelson. He was educated at the Royal College, Belfast, Ireland, and was graduated from the theological school connected with the Remonstrant Synod of Ulster in 1843. In 1844 he came to Montreal, Canada, and was ordained as pastor of the Unitarian Church in that city; which office he held for thirty-five years. He held a high position in his profession, and was a man of wide influence. He received the degree of LL.D. in 1870, from McGill University of Montreal.

Dr. Cordner was all his life a prolific writer for the press. Many of his articles related to discussions which have less interest at this time than they had when they were written. Others are of permanent value. In 1869 he published a volume of sermons, entitled "A Memorial of Twenty-Five Years Ministry."

He removed to Boston in 1879, and has not been connected with any church as its pastor since that time. But he has always been active in promoting the interests of his denomination. The establishment of the Unitarian Association in its present admirable building was due to a large extent to his efforts.

He married, October 2, 1852, a daughter of Francis Parkman, LL.D., who survives him, with two children.

In 1859 he was elected a corresponding member of this Society. This membership was terminated by his removal to Boston, and he was elected a resident member, Dec. 4, 1889.

EDWARD B. BLASLAND.—Major and brevet Lieut.-Colonel Edward Boutelle Blasland, youngest son of Thomas and Lucretia (Boutelle) Blasland, was born in Boston, Oct. 9, 1838. His father was the son of William and Mary (Bussey) Blasland, and grandson of William Bussey of Boston, and was located for many years at South Boston as a much respected druggist and apothecary. The mother of Lieut.-Col. Blasland was the daughter of Nathaniel and Mary (Hill) Boutelle, and grand-daughter of John Hill who served at the Battle of Lexington.

Lieut.-Col. Blasland received his earliest education at the primary and grammar schools of South Boston, graduating with honor as a medal scholar at the Hawes Grammar School in 1852. He then went to the English High School at Boston, where he remained until 1855. Soon afterwards he was employed by the firm of Bates & Goldthwait, carpet dealers on Washington Street near Cornhill, Boston.

The commencement of the War of the Rebellion in April, 1861, found him a member of the Boston Light Infantry Battalion, which, at the beginning of hostilities, was stationed at Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, where it remained for some time. When the Massachusetts 33d Regiment was organized in the summer of 1862, he received a captain's commission on the 9th of August. He commanded a company from Lowell.

The Massachusetts 33d was one of the most conspicuous regiments in the state's contingent during the rebellion. It was kept at the front almost constantly from the time it joined Gen. Sigel's command till the close of the war. It was at one time commanded by Colonel, afterwards General Adin B. Underwood (a member of the Society). Captain Blasland participated with his regiment in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Beverly's Ford, Gettysburg and Wanhatchie. In the last mentioned engagement the regiment was ordered to charge up a hill for the purpose of dislodging the enemy from his rifle pits at the top. The hill was so steep as to be inaccessible to cavalry, but the regiment was successful in driving the enemy from the pits. Colonel Underwood and Captain Blasland were both badly wounded in this action, which took place on the 29th of October, 1863. Captain Blasland was afterwards engaged at Missionary Ridge, Knoxville, Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain, Atlanta, Savannah, Averysboro' and Bentonville, where he captured the colors of the 26th Tennessee Regiment.

Captain Blasland was promoted Major Nov. 3, 1864, and brevet Lieut.-Colonel U. S. V. March 13, 1865, "for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Wanhatchie, Tennessee." He was mustered out on the 11th of June, 1865. Returning home, he received in 1872 the appointment as messenger at the Boston Custom House, and was soon after promoted to the position of assistant to the deputy surveyor, thus again serving under his former military chief, General Underwood, who was surveyor of the port. He held this office about nine years. In 1882 or '3, he was appointed to a position in the collector's department at the Boston City Hall, holding the office till his death. He was chosen department inspector of the Grand Army of the Republic under the department commander, Gen. Charles Devens.

Lt.-Colonel Blasland was a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, in which he was elected May 5, 1875, Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company (in which he was elected first lieutenant June, 1884), 33d Regiment Association, New-England Historic Genealogical Society, Bostonian Society, Columbian Lodge of Free Masons, Orpheus Club, Boston Club, Royal Arcanum and Independent Order of Red Men. In all these organizations he sustained an honorable and worthy record.

He died on the 29th of January, 1893, at the age of 54, the immediate cause of death being an injury to one of the toes of his left foot early in November, 1892. Blood-poisoning set in and the toe was amputated, but probably too late to save him as the result was fatal. The funeral occurred at St. Matthew's church on Broadway, South Boston, on Tuesday, January 31, 1893, and was very largely attended, the services being conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. E. George. The pall bearers were Capt. Augustus Whittemore and Major John McDonough of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, J. M. Ricker and R. M. Wiswell of the collector's office, City Hall, George Brown and A. A. Folsom of Columbian lodge of Masons, Capt. C. E. Niebuhr and Lieut. H. A. Turner of the Loyal Legion, and Capts. C. S. Walker and M. E. Richardson of the 33d Regiment. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was at Forest Hills.

Lieut.-Colonel Blasland was a man of many estimable traits of character. In disposition kindly and genial, he won hosts of friends by his high social qualities, his generosity and liberality. His bravery on the field of battle was more than once acknowledged by his superior officers, and his services to his country during nearly the whole of the war for its preservation will long be remembered. He was elected to active membership in the Society on the 3d of June, 1885.

By Oliver B. Stebbins, Esq., of South Boston, Mass.

HON. FRANKLIN HAVEN was born in Cambridge, Mass., May 30, 1804. In 1807 his parents removed to Boston, where he attended the public schools. At the age of twenty he was appointed teller of the Globe Bank, of which Charles Sprague, the "poet banker," was at that time cashier. In 1831 the Merchants Bank was chartered, and Mr. Haven was made its cashier, and five years later its president, an office which he held for forty-six years. He was Pension Agent for Massachusetts from 1838 to 1854, and United States Sub-Treasurer from 1849 to 1853. He was a confidential friend of Daniel Webster, and was named by Mr. Webster in his will as one of the trustees of the Marshfield estate. In 1851 the Legislature of Illinois appointed Mr. Haven one of the original board of directors of the Illinois Central Railroad. He held that office for thirteen years, and upon retiring from it the stockholders recognized his services by presenting him a service of silver plate. In 1853 Governor Banks appointed Mr. Haven chairman of the State Board of Commissioners for Public Lands. Under direction of this Board the Back Bay was filled, the Public Garden enlarged, Commonwealth Avenue and the adjoining streets laid out, and several million dollars were realized for the treasury of the Commonwealth. Mr. Haven was for many years a director of the Eastern Railroad, and was an early advocate of the Boston Clearing House, and its first president.

During the civil war Mr. Haven rendered valuable services to the government. In 1861 and 1862 he was chairman of the committee of Boston Banks to collect subscriptions for government loans. He was repeatedly summoned to Washington to confer with the Secretary of the Treasury and the House Committee of Ways and Means upon questions of public finance, and his suggestions were not infrequently the basis of official and legislative action. In every position of trust or responsibility he exhibited the highest degree of uprightness, application to duty and personal urbanity. In his manners he was a gentleman of the old school. This, joined to a kindly nature and a generous heart, made him an agreeable companion and a delightful friend. The late S. G. Goodrich ("Peter Parley"), in his "Recollections," published in 1856, writes:—"Let no one say I speak irreverently of bank presidents. One of my best friends during many years of trial, was Franklin Haven, president of the Merchants Bank of Boston, who found it in his heart while administering his office with signal ability and success, to collect a library, cultivate letters, learn languages and cherish a respect for literary men."

Mr. Haven died at his summer residence at Beverly Farms, Oct. 31, 1893. He was elected a resident member of this Society June 6, 1855. He married in 1828, Sarah Ann Curtis, daughter of Samuel Curtis of Boston, who survives him. He left three daughters, Mrs. Sarah Ann Pierpont, Mrs. Waldo O. Ross and Miss Mary E. Haven; and two sons, Franklin Haven, who succeeds his father in the presidency of the Merchants Bank, and Edward Belknap Haven.

By the Rev. George M. Adams, D.D., of Auburndale, Mass.

CHARLES WILLIAM PARSONS, A.M., M.D., was elected a member of this Society, February 2, 1881. He was born in Providence, R. I., September 6, 1823, and died near the site of his birth, September 2, 1893.

His ancestral line in this country, on his father's side, is traced back to Joseph Parsons, who came from England in 1635 and was one of the earliest inhabitants of Springfield, Mass., and afterwards resided at Northampton. His father was Usher Parsons, M.D., who had charge of the sick and wounded at the battle of Lake Erie on the 10th of September, 1810, and became well known from that time till his death in 1863 as a surgeon and physician, a writer on a variety of subjects, and a professor in Brown University. He was a vice-president of this Society, and a sketch of his life is printed in the REGISTER, vol. 23, page 250. The mother of Charles was Mary Jackson, a daughter of Rev. Abiel Holmes, D.D., of Cambridge, and a sister of the Autocrat of the Breakfast Table.

The birth of this boy was hailed with joy by a wide circle of relatives and friends. Means of education were liberally provided according to the wisdom of the time. Losing his mother before he was two years old, he became a member of his grandfather's family at Cambridge, where he had his home for many years. Such was his progress in the prescribed course of study that he became a member of the freshman class of Harvard College before he was fifteen years of age.

He was then a youth of fine, though delicate features, and was pointed out to the writer of this note (who was a senior) as possessed of unusual attainments and as being the youngest and one of the most promising members of his class.

A dozen years later, this young man, having received his academic and medical degrees from Harvard and enjoyed widely extended opportunities to prepare himself for his chosen profession, became associated with his father in the practice of medicine in the city of Providence. In that city he spent the rest of his life, and that city enjoyed and appreciated the benefits of his elevated character, of his studious habits, his scientific and historical researches and his ennobling spirit. It is not necessary to state the honors which he received from Brown University, Rhode Island Medical Society, Rhode Island Historical Society, and other worthy institutions in and out of the state. He conferred as well as received honors.

Never physically strong and for a long period in a feeble condition, he had not the courage to undertake great enterprises nor the energy to carry them forward. Yet he accomplished much for his fellow men, sweetening life wherever he went. He was pithily called a gentleman of the old school. His favorite resorts in Providence were the Athenaeum, the college library and the Historical Cabinet. His numerous brief essays upon a variety of interesting subjects were well written. He did much to honor his profession and promote the cause of good learning, history, science and humanity. He also made bequests to worthy institutions that will cause his name to be remembered with honor and gratitude by succeeding generations in his native city and State.

Dr. Parsons was married in 1853 to Mary Hallowell, a daughter of John Lane Boylston and a grand-daughter of Ward Nicholas Boylston, who is honored, like his uncle Nicholas, as a benefactor of Harvard University. His wife died in 1887. At his death in 1893, his remains were deposited by the side of those of his beloved consort in the Boylston burial lot in Princeton, Massachusetts.

Oliver Cromwell. By GEORGE H. CLARK, D.D. With illustrations from old Paintings and Prints. Boston: D. Lothrop Company. 1893. 12mo. pp. 4+258.

Rarely has a work of this size contained so much food for thought and reflection. It should be carefully studied, not merely read, to obtain in full measure the rich fruits of Dr. Clark's thought and research. The author acknowledges indebtedness to Carlyle's labors and researches in regard to the life of Cromwell (as indeed have Taine, Froude and Green, and I suppose all of our own writers who have studied this period of English history) in the preparation of the work under consideration. And Carlyle never rendered a greater service to the cause of history than when he gathered and published all he could find of Cromwell's letters and let them tell the story in large measure, of the life of this noble man. Oliver Cromwell was born of good English stock in the town of Huntingdon, near Cambridge, on the 25th of April, 1599. His father and three of his uncles had sat in the Parliaments of Queen Elizabeth. He belonged to the class of English country gentlemen, a class that has for many generations been the backbone and sinew of the English nation. After receiving his education at Cambridge he returned to his native town, and there and at St. Ives and Ely he lived until about forty years of age; years of preparation for his great life-work which lay before him. It would be interesting to dwell upon the early scenes of his life (to which his thoughts so often recurred during the turmoil and strife of his after life); to dwell upon the story of his life in Parliament; to dwell upon the account of his organization of the Ironsides, the nucleus of that splendid army which won victory after victory over the royalist forces in England, Ireland and Scotland, an army the mere dread of which caused Cardinal Mazarin of France and the Duke of Savoy to stop the persecution of Protestants. While Cromwell was taking part in the battles of Edgehill, Marston Moor, Newbury, Naseby, Preston, Dunbar and Worcester. Blake, the great admiral, was winning naval victories at Malaga, in the Dutch war, and over the large Spanish fleet at Teneriffe. The period of history covered by the life of Cromwell is, to me at least, one of the most fascinating in the whole wide range of English history. Indeed he was one of the most important actors in this the second and concluding act of the great drama of civil and religious liberty thought out and fought out on English soil. But Cromwell was a regicide. This was the one great fault of his life. It may be pleaded in extenuation that he was disposed to be friendly toward the King long after other Parliamentary leaders and prominent army officers, discouraged by his faithlessness, had refused to treat with him; in fact Cromwell came near losing his position in the army because of his efforts to save the King. The exigencies of the situation might have, probably did, require the imprisonment of the King; but nothing can adequately excuse the death sentence that was imposed upon him. And it seems to me that there was but one nobler scene in the life of this ill-fated man (I mean of course the courageous way in which he met his death) than when he refused to recognize the authority of the judges before whom he was brought. Had his life been marked by the wisdom and fair dealing of Cromwell's, the result might have been far different.

The secret of the success of the Puritan movement was the deep earnestness of the Puritan belief and character. Even the splendid enthusiasm of the cavalier was no match for this strong tenacity of purpose. It was a triumph of principles over long-existing conditions and surroundings. It was the clarion note of civil and religious liberty that swept over the land. Surely the Puritans could not have prevailed had they not been inwrought through and through with a firm conviction of the right. Milton called Cromwell "the father of his country." And the Protector's position was not unlike that of our own Washington in the darksome days that followed the Declaration of Independence. It was loyalty to principle, to truth and duty (ever inherent qualities of the English race), which upheld both heroes in their long and arduous struggle for liberty. Well has Taine (that great thinker and deep student of history, who has so singularly entered into the spirit of English institutions), called Cromwell "the greatest of the Puritans"; he also says, "he was English to the core; a great soul like one of Shakespeare's." He succeeded in making England the dominant power among the nations, although, as our author has well said: "It was not so much to make the nation great that he labored, but to make it safe and happy." To quote again from his words: "For two hundred years England was not so low down in the scale of nations as she fell during the reign of Charles II.; for six hundred and twenty years, from the time of William I. to the time of William III., there was no reign in which she ranked so high as during the Protectorate." Let us attempt, if we may, a short study of the personality of the man. We are here dealing with no surface character (although scarcely any life could be more open and simple than his). His was a deep life; a life of introspection, lived in the fear of God. In one of his letters he expressed the longing "to get a heart to love and serve his Heavenly Father better." He had pushed the bark of his soul out from the shallows of life where the wavelets idly ripple upon the sands, out into the wild waste of waters, wherever duty called, believing, knowing (however deeply conscious he was of his imperfections) that he was constantly under the protection of Divine Providence. Next to his religious faith (or indeed a part of it), I should say his strength lay in his sincerity—his absolute, unwavering sincerity. Dr. Clark has well placed this quotation from Carlyle on the title page of his book: "It is the property of the hero, in every time, in every place, in every situation, that he comes back to reality; that he stands upon things, and not shows of things."

On Some Social Distinctions at Harvard and Yale before the Revolution. By FRANKLIN BOWDITCH DEXTER. Worcester, Mass., U. S. A. Press of Charles Hamilton. 1894. 8vo. pp. 28.

The work before us is a paper read at a meeting of the American Antiquarian Society, October 21, 1893, and is reprinted from the printed proceedings of that Society.

"In the Catalogues of graduates of Harvard College," says Prof. Dexter, "down to 1772, and in those of Yale down to 1767, the names of the students of the successive classes are placed—not alphabetically, as now, and not as at Oxford and Cambridge in the order of application for admission, or according to scholastic merit, but—in an order supposed to indicate the rank of the respective fathers of families."

Prof. Dexter, in the pamphlet before us, has produced a mass of evidence bearing upon the placing of students and arrives at the conclusion that the supposition he names—that the students were placed according to the rank of their fathers, is substantially correct. The investigation he has made in a very thorough manner, and much historical matter relative to early New-England college students and their life in college is preserved in these pages, which are worthy of a careful perusal. The author presents conclusive evidence that this plan was in vogue for a long period, but we are not quite sure that it was so from the founding of Harvard College. I doubted this in 1871, when I published my life of Rev. Michael Wigglesworth, and I doubt it still. The original placing of the students was probably according to the rank of their fathers, but I question whether they could not gain a higher place by their scholastic attainments. I still adhere to the opinion I expressed upwards of twenty years ago in relation to the Harvard class of 1651: "Among the classmates of young Wigglesworth," I said, "were some whose parents evidently held a higher position in society than his. Thomas Dudley was the son of Rev. Samuel Dudley, and the grandson of two governors of the colony; Seaborn Cotton was a son of Rev. John Cotton, teacher of the First Church of Boston; and Isaac and Ichabod Chauncey were sons of Rev. Charles Chauncey, afterwards president of the college. Here are four students whose parents held positions of honor among the colonists, and were descended from the gentry of England; and they are placed in the catalogue of the college below the son of one whose name in the New Haven Colonial Records, where it frequently occurs, is never found with the honorary prefix of 'Mr.' Is it likely that all these young men forfeited their rank by misconduct?" Still, I am open to conviction, and perhaps something may be discovered to explain the mystery."

Proceedings of the First General Court of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts at Boston, December 21, 1893. Including the Address of the Rev. George M. Bodge, on the Great Narraganset Fight of December 19, 1675. Publication No. I. Boston: Printed for the Society. 1894. 8vo. pp. 54.

In our July number we noticed the first "Annual Register" of the Society of Colonial Wars published by the General Society. We then gave some account of that society, and of the several state branches. The first state society was organized Aug. 18, 1892, and the General Society May 10, 1893.

This is the first publication of the Massachusetts Society. It gives the proceedings on Forefathers' Day, 1893, including the speeches of Samuel S. Green, the lieutenant-governor, Capt. Nathan Appleton, Hon. Henry O. Houghton, the deputy-governor, and Capt. Albert A. Folsom.

The principal address of the evening was by the Rev. George Madison Bodge, the chaplain, on the "Great Narraganset Fight," Dec. 19, 1675. It gives a graphic description of this desperate engagement, which was, to use Mr. Bodge's language, "one of the most important battles in our country's history, about which, however, hitherto very little reliable information has been brought together in recorded form, or in reliable history, and the later revival of historical interest finds many records lost beyond recovery." Mr. Bodge was well qualified to speak on this subject, as his "Soldiers of King Philip's War," originally contributed in chapters to the REGISTER, show.

The pamphlet also contains a list of officers, an Historical Sketch of the Massachusetts Society by James Atkins Noyes, the historian, and the By-Laws of the Society. It is handsomely printed on clear white paper, and in every way does credit to the Rockwell & Churchill press from which it issues.

Historical Manuscripts and Reprints, No. 3, July, 1894. Fac-simile of the First Draft of the Freeman's Oath, in the handwriting of Gov. John Winthrop, and of the Servant's Oath, together with a Modification of the Freeman's Oath, both in the handwriting of Gov. Thomas Dudley, with a Note by the Hon. Mellen Chamberlain, LL.D. Royal, 8vo. pp. 6.

The Freeman's Oath; the First Issue of the New-England Press. By JOHN WARD DEAN. 8vo. pp. 4.

The last issue of "Historical Manuscripts and Reprints," by the Boston Public Library, gives a fac-simile of valuable documents which have recently come into the possession of that Library. These documents are a first draft of the Freeman's Oath, in the handwriting of Gov. Winthrop, and a draft of an oath for a servant, and a modification of the Freeman's oath, both in Gov. Dudley's handwriting, specimens of which are rarely met with. Besides fac-similes of these documents, careful transcripts are printed. Two experts in deciphering the chirography of that day—Messrs. William P. Upham and Abner C. Goodell—made independent transcripts for the Trustees of the Public Library which were found to be almost identical. Judge Chamberlain, at the request of the Trustees, prefixed a learned note on the history of the Oath, in which he shows the importance of these documents.

Previous to the discovery of these documents there were three forms of the Massachusetts Freeman's Oath accessible to historical students; one preserved among the Miscellaneous Records of the Colony (vol. i., p. 353 of the printed records), another in its regular records (vol. i., p. 117), under May 14, 1634, when the former Freeman's Oath was revoked; and the other as printed by order of the Colony, which, though no copy of the original is known to be in existence, is reprinted in Child's "New-England's Jonas." The last two vary principally in spelling.

In the REGISTER for October, 1891, p. 305, the writer of this notice printed some remarks upon the Freeman's Oath and other early issues of the New England press. A small edition was reprinted with the title found at the head of this article.

1737-1747. Diary of Rev. Daniel Wadsworth, Seventh Pastor of the First Church of Christ in Hartford. With Notes by THE FOURTEENTH PASTOR. Hartford, Conn.: Press of the Case, Lockwood & Brainard Company. 8vo. pp. 149.

We are told in a Prefatory Note to this volume, by the editor, the Rev. George Leon Walker, D.D., that "in the exhumation and re-arrangement of the possessions of the Connecticut Historical Society, incident to the enlargement of the Wadsworth Athenæum in 1892, was brought to notice a Diary kept by Rev. Daniel Wadsworth during the larger part of his ministry as seventh pastor of the First Church of Christ in Hartford. Mr. Wadsworth sustained this relationship from September 28, 1732, to his death on November 12, 1747. His Diary, however, was only begun on the 5th of May, 1737—nearly five years after his settlement—and it ends with his last feeble entry sometime in February, 1747, nine months before he died."

The ministers' diaries, which were so common at one time in New England, have preserved many facts relating to local history and biography, and others illustrating the manners and customs of the day. Often some important fact or date is settled by them. The diary of the Rev. Mr. Wadsworth is of more than usual value in this respect. The editor has added to its value by many illustrative notes, which must have cost him much patient labor. The "Prefatory Note" contains a sketch of the life of the reverend diarist. He was a man of influence, and had a good library. "He built a house," says the Rev. Dr. Walker, "on the site of the present Athenæum building founded by his grandson, the ground in the rear being his garden."

We continue in this number our notices of books and pamphlets relating to genealogy.

The first book on our list is the Morris Genealogy, giving the descendants of Edward Morris, who came from Nazeing, in the County of Essex, England, or its vicinity, and settled at Roxbury, Mass., and afterwards removed to Woodstock, Ct., where he died Sept. 14, 1689. An account of him, filling six pages, is given. There is also a view of his gravestone. A full record of his descendants, many of whom held important stations in life, is found in this book, which shows great research, and is carefully compiled. It is well printed, and illustrated with numerous portraits and other engravings. Mr. Morris has done a good service in preserving these memorials of his ancestors and kindred.

The book on the Kimber Family is designed to embrace "the families in the United States from the settlements in Pennsylvania and New York, the families in England and the descendants in Australia." It is the result of seven or eight years research, and is printed by the author with a hope that an interest in their history will be awakened among the Kimber family, which will enable him to issue a more comprehensive work. The book is well compiled, handsomely printed, well indexed, and illustrated with portraits.

The book on the Chessman Family is an "Illustrated Family Record." The author is Mr. Samuel Chessman of Salem, Ohio, who has been engaged in collecting his material for about twenty years. The author has gathered much material about the family, which he presents to the public in the volume before us. It is well printed and profusely illustrated by portraits of a large number of descendants of the Chessman family.

The Piper Family gives the descendants of Elisha Piper of Parsonsfield, Me., born at Stratham, N. H. in 1746, and died in Parsonsfield in 1798. He was a great-grandson of Nathaniel Piper, the emigrant ancestor, who settled in Ipswich, Mass. as early as 1665. An Appendix gives genealogies of Asa Piper of Wakefield, N. H.; Solomon Piper of Boston, Mass., and Stephen Piper of Newfield, Me., and their ancestors and immediate descendants. The book is well compiled and has an index.

The Start Family is descended from William Start, who settled at Ipswich, Mass. in the latter part of the seventeenth century or the early part of the eighteenth. The author acknowledges assistance in his work from the Rev. Anson Titus and the late William M. Sargent, both experienced antiquaries and genealogists. The book is well compiled and well indexed.

The Clutterbuck Family is by the Rev. Mr. Clutterbuck, rector of Penton-Mewsey in Hampshire. "The family of Clutterbuck," he says, "has for centuries occupied a prominent position in Gloucestershire, where the name is still of frequent occurrence." Much interesting matter relating to this ancient English family, some of the branches of which are found in America, is here found. The record is brought down to the present time.

Barnabas Metcalf, to whose descendants the next work is devoted, was a great-great-grandson of Michael Metcalf, a genealogical account of whom and his descendants was published in the REGISTER for April, 1852—forty-two years ago. The pamphlet was originally printed in the Dedham Historical Register for October, 1893. It is well compiled with full and precise records.

The next two works, The Bent Family and Pynchons Wills, are reprints from the REGISTER. We need not inform our readers of their merits.

BARNARD RANDOLPH of London Esq. and Common Sergeant of the same city, 14 December 1580, with Codicils dated 29 December 1582, 24 May 1583, 17 June 1583, 1 August 1583 and 5 August 1583, proved 24 February 1583. My earnest desire is to be buried at Tysherst where I was born and where my father and mother and first wife be buried, in the Chapel where my pew standeth or in some convenient place in the high Chancel there, "as shall seeme most meetest to my Executors, desiringe theme and namely my son Batherst to cause some convenient & comely monument to be made there as one Mr. Carewe of London hath made at Stone in Kent for his wife's flather (or better)," with some "Epitath" and my arms to be set up within or upon the said monument. I have conveyed unto Agnes my wife certain lands &c. of the yearly value of forty pounds, for term of her natural life, in lieu and for her jointure, which were conveyed by me before to sundry other uses. In recompence thereof I will that my son John Randolphe shall pay yearly unto my said wife during her natural life, out of all my manors, lands, tenements &c. which shall come unto him by my death, a yearly sum or annual rent of forty pounds. To my said wife one hundred pounds in lieu of such household stuff as I meant to have given her, if she continue with me in house as a loving and obedient wife until my decease and not otherwise. And as for her children, Myhell and Thomas Smallpage . . . . . I think them very well satisfied and that they have good cause to say and think well of me. And to the children of her daughter Haydock (alias Haries) which she had by the said Haydocke I do give one hundred pounds. And if my said wife and her son Myhell Smalpage had not shewed them very unquiet and unkind towards me, as well by their often complainings and open misreporting of me, to my great grief and infamy, their portions had been much better. Again he says of the legacy to his wife "I give her in discharge of my conscience and not for her deserving." Son in law Launcellot Batherst and his wife, my only daughter, Judith. Her two daughters Elizabeth and Mary. My sister Sabbes children. The daughter of my late brother Thomas Randolphe. My only son John. He is joined in marriage with a good gentlewoman. A cup of my daughter's which was stolen out of my study in London when I was robbed. My manors, lands, tenements &c. in Sussex my son shall have after my decease. Judith, daughter of my son John. The daughters of my daughter Fynnes. My son Fynnes. My daughter Villers. Sisters Sabb and Bingham. Brothers Sabb and Nepsham. My daughter in law Barbara Vyllers, widow of William Vyllers deceased. Brother in law Sir Roger Manwood, knight, Lord Chief Baron. My brother Lunsford. My brother Borne and his wife. My sister Wood. I give my seal ring of my arms that was made in "Andwarpp" to my son John and my seal ring of the same arms made in London to my daughter Judith.

In the Codicil of 29 Dec. 1582 he prays his executors to have his body buried in the parish church of Mary Magdalen where he now dwells, near his pew, for the reason that the ways to Tysherst "are most tymes of the yeare verye fowle." Mention made of cousin Nicholas Fuller. Son in law Launcellot Batherst who before was one of my executors until he did refuse to let me lye in his house. Butts, 27.

[In my "Notes on Edward Randolph" ("Historical Papers" of the late Charles W. Tuttle, Ph.D., Boston, 1889, pp. 282-376), I presented substantially all the genealogical information then accessible to me respecting Edward Randolph and his more immediate ancestors. The wills of his father Dr. Edmund Randolph, of his grandfather Bernard Randolph, and of his uncles William and John Randolph, here given, supply us with other items of genealogical value. It is stated in said "Notes" (p. 283) on "family tradition," that the above named John emigrated to Virginia. His will would seem to make this improbable; but, if he did emigrate, he returned to England prior to 27 March, 1628.

The will of Edward Randolph, of which an abstract is given above, will be found in full in Tuttle's "Historical Papers" above mentioned (pp. 280-281). He was a son of Doctor Edmund Randolph and his wife Deborah Master, daughter of Gyles Master, Esquire, all of the city of Canterbury. He was bred to the law, having been admitted to Gray's Inn, 10 November, 1650. He was married three times. His first wife was Jane, daughter of Thomas Gibbon of West Cliffe, Kent, by his wife Alice (Taylor) Gibbon. He married for his second wife, Grace Grenville of London, who died in Boston, U. S. A., in 1682. He married, thirdly, Mrs. Sarah (Backhouse) Platt, widow of Peter Platt, in London, 24 December, 1684. As his wife is not mentioned in his will, it may be presumed that she died before 15 June, 1702.

From his will and letters we obtain the names of five, perhaps of all, his children, namely, Jane, Deborah, Elizabeth, Mary and Sarah. Jane married a Williams; Mary married, subsequently to 1702, Thomas Smith, M.D., of Maidstone; Elizabeth married a Pim (or Pym); Mary had deceased probably before 1702; Sarah, daughter by the last wife, was born after 1684, as she had not reached the age of eighteen years at the date of his will. He left at least one grandson, namely, Charles Pim, son of his daughter Elizabeth. The occurrence of the same names of children in the different generations of the Randolphs of Kent and of Sussex adds strength to the presumption that they were descended from the same original ancestor.—ALBERT H. HOYT.]

"Bernard<sup>1</sup> Randolph of London Esq. and Common Sergeant of the same city" was also of Wards, Sussex. He was admitted to the office of common serjeant, March 4, 1563. Prior to December, 1582, he "charitably agreed to bestow a large sum of money for bringing water out of the River Thames, by an engine to be constructed by Peter Morice, from London Bridge to Old Fish Street, in like manner as he had already brought the water to Leadenhall, and by the way to supply the private houses of the citizens, which offer had been approved by the Court of Aldermen," etc. His charities in this kind amounted to £1800. Partly administered by the Fishmongers' Company.

January 28, 1582-3, Queen Elizabeth wrote to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, etc. "that Bernard Randolph, Common Serjeant, through age and infirmities was unable to fulfil his duties." "The Queen recommended Julius Cæsar, Doctor of Civil Law, for the place and desired them to award some reasonable portion of the profits to Randolph during his life," etc. In February, 1582-3, the Lord Mayor wrote to Sir Francis Walsingham acknowledging her Majesty's letters in favor of the appointment of Dr. Cæsar, as deputy to Bernard Randolph. The matter had been brought before the Courts of Aldermen and Common Council. Mr. Randolph "had in both Courts delivered openly his answer in tears, declaring his desire to remain and to die an officer of the City, and his most humble petition that intercession might be made for him to Her Majesty, not to command him to be removed," and the Common Council became humble petitioners for him to her majesty.

Sir Thomas Randolph (1523-1590), the celebrated diplomatist, who was probably of the same family as Barnard afore-said, married a relative of Walsingham.

4. George<sup>3</sup> Bathurst, the fourth son, b. 1587, m. in 1610 Elizabeth Villiers, and had by her thirteen sons and four daughters. Their youngest son, Sir Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Bathurst, m. Frances, daughter of Sir Allen Apsley of Apsley in Sussex, and their son Allen<sup>6</sup> Bathurst was created Baron Bathurst January 1, 1712, and Earl Bathurst August 27, 1772.

1. Randolph<sup>3</sup> Bathurst, the eldest son, married Catherine Argall, and they were the parents of Judith<sup>4</sup> Bathurst (who married "Thomas Buckhurst"), Sir Edward<sup>4</sup> Bathurst and Samuel<sup>4</sup> Bathurst, mentioned in Sir Samuel Argall's will. There were probably other children.

The Edmond Randolph mentioned in John Browne's will, I suppose to be the Edmond Randolph (who married Margaret Argall) mentioned in Sir Samuel Argall's will; and may be the "loving cousin Edmond Randolph Esq" mentioned in the will of Barnard Randolph of Biddenden in 1628.

I cannot now refer to the best county histories of Sussex and Kent; but I am under the impression that the Randolphs of these two counties were of the same original stock. The Randolphs of Virginia are said to have been originally from Sussex. The line as prepared for me by the late Rev. Edmund Randolph, of the Isle of Wight, England, and published in The Critic, Richmond, Virginia, a few years ago, is as follows:

ROBERT RANDOLPH of Hams, Sussex, m. Rose, dau. of Thomas Roberts of Hawkhurst, Kent.

I. WILLIAM,* b. 1572, d. 1660; settled at Little Houghton, Northamptonshire; m. 1st, Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Smith of Nawnham, and had issue:

1. THOMAS, the poet, b. June 15, 1605; d. March, 1634.

2. WILLIAM, b. 1607.

3. ROBERT, b. — ; d. 1671.

4. ELIZABETH, b. 1613; m. — Burkett.

I. WILLIAM RANDOLPH m. 2d, Dorothy, dau. of Richard Lane, and widow of Thomas West.

5. JOHN.

6. RICHARD, b. 1621; d. 1671; m. Elizabeth Ryland.

i. Richard.

ii. William, b. 1651; emigrated to Virginia about 1669; d. 1711. Left issue in Virginia.

7. HENRY, b. 1623; went to Virginia in 1643; clerk Henrico Co., clerk House of Burgesses, etc. Left issue in Virginia.

8. ANNE, b. 1625; d. infant.

9. GEORGE, b. 1627; killed before the battle of Naseby.

10. MARGARET, b. 1629.

11. JUDITH, b. 1630.

The "Mr Edmond Peershall" mentioned in John Browne's will (1596), I take to be the Edmond Peshall, Esq. who married Mary<sup>3</sup> Bathurst. He is mentioned in "The Genesis of the United States," pp. 225, 257, 387, 826, 962, 965. Most of those named in Sir Samuel Argall's will can be located by the extract from the Argall pedigree given in that work on pp. 814-815. For other references see the Index.

I am glad that Mr. Waters has established the date of Sir Samuel's death. When compiling the sketches for my work, I noted the extract from Capt. Pennington's letter, first published in "The Aspinwall Papers," Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., Vol. IX., fourth series, and afterwards in "The Dictionary of National Biography," Vol. II., p. 80. I also noted that Strype gave 1633 as the date of his bequest to "The Trinity House," and that others had placed his death in 1639. I asked a friend in London to read the whole of Pennington's letter and to reconcile the dates, if he could. The reply was that "it was the master of the Swiftsure who died in 1626, and not Argall." The language of the letter seems not to have been very clear. In the light of the will, it is now evident from this letter that Argall died on January 24, 1625-6.—ALEXANDER BROWN, of Norwood, Nelson Co., Va.

WILLIAM POOLE of Shute, Devon, Esq. (date not specified) proved 14 October 1587. To be buried where my wife shall appoint. To the Vicars of Colyton and Seaton. I have appointed to Katherine my wife, for her jointure, for term of her life, the manor of Blackborne boty and my moiety of the manor of Beare (and other lands &c.). Other bequests to her. And my will is that the said Katherine my wife shall have the "manuraunce," usage and occupation of my house and Park of Shute &c. for three score years if she so long live, and after that term it shall be to my son and * Mr. William Randolph lived first at Hams, near Lewes in Sussex, and afterwards settled at Little Houghton. He was steward to Edward Lord Zouch, of whom there is a portrait and sketch in "The Genesis," see p. 1066 and index. Ben Jonson was Lord Zouch's intimate friend, and he adopted Mr. William Randolph's son Thomas, the poet, as one of his literary sons.

To every of my consins William and Thomas Broughton one yearly rent of four pounds &c. To Laurett Grene my goddaughter forty shillings yearly so long as she shall serve my wife and at the day of my wife's death ten pounds so as she shall marry with the consent of Leonard Grene her brother. The executors to be John Popham Esq. the Queen's Majesty's Attorney General, Thomas Hanham and George Wadham Esqs. Spencer, 62.

[William Poole of Shute, Devon, the testator, married Katharine Popham, sister of Sir John Popham, Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench, and of Capt. George Popham, the leader of the short-lived colony that settled in August, 1607, near the mouth of the Kennebec River. The testator was buried at Shute, Aug. 24, 1587. His widow was buried there Nov. 9, 1588.—EDITOR.]

[Sir William Pole, the testator, son of the preceding, was the well known antiquary, author of "Collections towards a Description of Devonshire," 4to. London, 1791. He was the father of William Pole, or Poole, the schoolmaster at Dorchester, Mass. (whose epitaph is printed in the REGISTER, vol. ii., page 381) and of Miss Elizabeth Poole, the first known settler of Taunton, Mass.

Sir William Pole was bp. Aug. 27, 1561, at Shute, Devon, and d. in Feb., 1635-6. His burial is entered on the Colyton Register as "10th day of March, 1635"; but in the Appendix to his published "Collections" he is said to have died "on the 9th of February at his house of Colcombe in the seventy-fourth year of his age." There is an original picture of him at Shute House.—(History of Taunton, Mass., by Rev. S. H. Emery, Syracuse, 1893, page 67, where other facts concerning him will be found.) He married 1st, Mary, dau. and coheir of Sir William Periam, Knt, Lord Chief Baron of the Exchequer; and 2d, Jane, dau. of William Symes, Esq., and widow of Roger How of London, merchant. There is a pedigree of this family in the "Visitations of the County of Devon," edited by Lient. Col. J. L. Vivian, pages 602-4, commencing before the time of Henry II. and coming down to the present century, to which work I am indebted for many of my facts. The children of Sir William were all by his first wife. His sons were: 1. Sir John, created a baronet Sept. 12, 1628; m. 1st, his step-sister, Elizabeth, dau. of Roger and Jane (Symes) How; 2d, Mary, widow of William Lechland. 2. William, bur. Aug. 19, 1586. 3. Periam, bp. Francis mat. at Oriel College, Oxford, March 24, 1609-10, aged 16; B.A. Nov. 3, 1612; M.A. from Hart Hall, June 12, 1616; vicar of Tregony, Cornwall, 1623 (Foster's Alumni Oxonienses, vol. 3, p. 1175). Thomas Southcote of Ottery Molun. 3. Elizabeth, bp. Aug. 25, 1588; came to New England; d. May 21, 1654, aged 65.—(See Emery's Ministry of Taunton, vol. i., pp. 42-3.) 4. Anne, bp. Nov. 1, 1589; m. Edward Walrond of Bovey, Devon; mar. lie. Jan. 5, 1611-12, Exeter. 5. Eleanor, bp. May 22, 1597; m. Anthony Floyer of Floyers Hayes. A pedigree of this family of Pole, by Samuel G. William Pole (above named), son of the testator, was mat. at Oriel College, Oxford, March 24, 1609-10, a. 16; B.A. Nov. 3, 1612; student of the Inner Temple, 1616, as of Colyton, gen. (Foster's Alumni Oxonienses, vol. 3, p. 1176). He and his sister Elizabeth came to New England as early as 1637. He settled at Dorchester, but after a short stay there removed to Taunton. He returned to Dorchester as early as 1660, and died there Feb. 25, 1674-5, aged 81. A biographical notice of him, by William B. Trask, A.M., is printed in the Dorchester Antiquarian Society's History of Dorchester, pp. 487-9.—EDITOR.]

[This William Pole is mentioned prominently in the early days of Taunton, 1639, as Capt. William Pole. He was a deputy of Taunton to Plymouth in that and other years, and was also member of the Council of War. He moved to Dorchester in 1660, where his son Theophilus was born 27 May that year. He held the offices of clerk of the writs and schoolmaster in Dorchester, where he died 24 Feb. 1674-5. On his tomb was engraved an epitaph of his own composition. Jane, his wife, survived him. From depositions in the Suffolk and Bristol County records, there seems to be a relationship with the Farwell family at Taunton, though it may be through William Pole rather than his wife. Jane, widow of William, died 9 Sept. 1690. Her will, dated 29 Aug. 1690, mentions son John and his wife, daughters Bethesda Filer (wife of John Filer) and Mary Henchman (wife of Daniel Henchman), a grandson, John Pole (who died before 1711), and his sister Jane (who married Timothy Lindall). The children of William and Jane Pole were: John, b. 1639, d. 1711; Nathaniel, living in 1654; Timothy, drowned at Taunton 1667; Mary, m. Daniel Henchman; Bethesda, m. 1686, John Filer; William, bapt. 1653, d. 21 April, 1687; Theophilus, b. 1660.—W. K. WATKINS.]

DOROTHY POLE of Tallaton, Devon, widow, 24 January 1651, proved 18 February 1651. To my daughter Dorothy Pole two hundred pounds. To my daughter Mary Pole two hundred pounds. To my son Theodor Pole one hundred pounds. To my son Periam Pole the best cow which I shall be possessed of at the time of my death. Whatever shall be recovered in the snite or suites for the recovery of the issues and profits of certain parcels as appurtenances of the farm of Southcotts shall be equally divided

The household stuff in my farm house called High Haine in the parish of Morton Hamstead shall be equally divided between my two daughters Dorothy and Mary and my said two sons Periam and Theodor. The rest of my goods &c. I give and bequeath unto my son Nathaniel whom I make sole executor. Theodor a minor. A tenement at Charmouth.

[For the above references I am indebted to my good friend S. A. Smith, Esq., M.D., who has a large knowledge of Devonshire families. The following will, which I gathered long ago, also refers to the family of our William Pole or Poole.

HENRY F. WATERS.

Who the "Nathaniel Pole of New England" named as kinsman by the testator, Sir William Pole, in 1733 was, I do not know. The will states that he was "lineally and regularly descended from Mr. Nathaniel Pole, brother to Sir John Pole, and son to Sir William Pole, knight." I cannot learn that Sir William had a son Nathaniel; but his son William came to New England and had a son Nathaniel. The testator evidently did not have a very precise knowledge of his relatives out of England, and I think it probable that when he names "Mr. Nathaniel Pole brother to Sir John Pole" he intended Mr. William Pole, and possibly it may be so written in the original will.—EDITOR.]

Pembroke, 192.

[I have little doubt that the Mr. Mathew Allyn here referred to as having sold lands to William Thorne was our Mr. Mathew Allyn of Cambridge, Massachusetts, and afterwards of Hartford and Windsor, Connecticut. He and (his kinsman) Thomas Allyn (or Allen) of Barnstable, Massachusetts, are frequently referred to in Lechford's Note-Book, and especially in connection with Devonshire and west of England men. On page 416 of that Note-Book (as printed) Mr. Mathew Allyn (or Allen) is described as lately of Bramton in com Devon, &c. I have no doubt by Bramton is meant Brauton, near Barnstable, Devon. East Down (Estdowne, as above) is very near both places. On page 418 of the Note-Book (as printed) appears Thomas Allyn (or Allen) of Barnstable, N. E., conveying to John Eells of Dorchester, N. E., one house and garden in Barnstable, Devon, and referring to father-in-law John Marke of Bramton in Devon, and brother Richard Allen of Branton, aforesaid. Here then we may look for the English home of Matthew and Thomas Allyn.—HENRY F. WATERS.]

First, as touching my wife, with whom I coupled myself in the fear of God, refusing all other, and linked myself unto her, living with her in the blessed estate of wedlock, by whom also, by the blessing of God, I have now three sons and one daughter, all living, viz<sup>t</sup> Richard, being my eldest, Susanne, Bernard and John, and albeit after my departure I doubt not but that God, according to his promise, will be unto her a husband, yea a patron, a father and her defender and will not suffer her to lack if she trust, fear and serve him diligently, calling upon his Holy name, yet forasmuch as God hath blessed me with worldly substance and she is my own flesh, and whoso provideth not for his denieth the faith and is worse than an infidel, I do therefore give and bequeath unto her, for the term of her natural life, my chief mansion house, called Groves, in the parish of Southwokendon, &c. &c. Certain lands I have assured to my son Richard Saltonstall at the time of his mar-

B. 24 Com. of London (1621-1626), L. 473.

JOHN PARKER, citizen and merchant taylor of London, his will begun the 3<sup>d</sup> of August 1620, continued the beginning of August 1622 and again the 3<sup>d</sup> of August 1625, signed 8 August 1625, with a codicil dated 12 February 1626, proved 5 April 1627. To be buried in the church of St. Andrew Undershaft in London where my late brother William Parker and my predecessor Mr. Robert Comyn als Chilcotte and my late master Sir William Craven are buried, and I suppose that my wife hath a purpose also to be buried there. My wife Ann shall have her customary part of my estate according to the Custom of this City, and if it shall please God to send me any child or children such child or children shall likewise have their customary parts according to the equity, right and custom of this City of London wherein I live. The inhabitants of the parish of St. Antholins in London where my younger brother Robert Parker and I have a house and shop left us by our late master Sir William Craven during our lives. My late brother William Parker, deceased, did by his last will bequeath unto my brother Nicholas five hundred pounds, of which there remains in my custody, by the desire of my said brother Nicholas, two hundred pounds until he have occasion to employ it and for which I do allow him consideration although he desire it not. And he hath a bill of mine for four hundred pounds, made some three or four years past when I had so much money of his in my custody, and the said bill he supposeth to be lost or "inveggelled awaie" from him by some dishonest person, and therefore by his acquittances to me doth testify the same and also doth testify that he hath received all the money contained in the said bill except only the said two hundred pounds. Now, forasmuch as my said brother Nicholas Parker is a very aged man, having neither wife nor child, and is very well minded both to give and to lend so far as his power extendeth, and sometimes lendeth where he cannot receive again, for which cause I suppose that our late brother, deceased, did moderate his legacy, accordingly, remembering the old proverb which is that enough is as good as a feast, for discretion is a good companion to go with natural affection, my said brother Nicholas Parker having lived in the country all his days, thanks be to God in good credit amongst his neighbors, and hath ever been willing and ready to do good according to his ability, and his bringing up hath not "byne" to manage matters of great value, — but, to come unto my purpose, my will and desire is &c. &c. As concerning such legacy as I myself do intend towards my said brother Nicholas, I do, in my own poor opinion, suppose it better that he should receive some annuity which may plentifully supply him rather than that he should be fitted and furnished with any needless sum of present money, either to lay out upon unprofitable bargains or to lend to such borrowers as are not willing to pay again. Then follows a long recital of business dealings concerning the manor of Langthorne in Yorkshire. I one of the executors of my predecessor Mr. Robert Chilcot. At this day all the debts are paid and so are all the legacies except a part to myself in the right of my wife and a part unto the two youngest children of my brother in law Mr. Richard Spurweye and a part unto four of the youngest children of my brother in law Mr. Richard Prowse. And as concerning such portions and legacies as are due and belonging to my wife's three sons, William, Richard and Robert Chilcot, I do acknowledge myself to be answerable for them. My said brother in law Mr. Richard Prowse is more curious concerning his acquittance than all others are. Reference to a bequest made by M<sup>r</sup> Chilcot to the town of Tiverton in Devonshire for a school &c. My next heir, if it please not Almighty God to send me any child or children of my own, will be one of my brothers, first my eldest brother Nicholas, and, after his decease, my brother Robert Parker. The parish of Wallsall in the Co. of Stafford where I was born. To my brother Robert Parker of the City of London, merchant taylor &c. (against this is written "he is departed this life"). My cousin Thomas Parker of Clinckford. His wife that now is (against this is written "she is dead"). The children of my cousin Edmond Parker of Bloxwich in Staffordshire. My cousin Joane Tidman which was the daughter of my uncle William Parker. My cousin Elizabeth Wood als Heywood which was the daughter of my aunt Agnes Goodman. Her children, two of them in London, viz<sup>t</sup> Tymazen dwelling with my Lady Craven and Thomas Haywood dwelling with me. My cousin Mr. Samuel Clarkson, merchant taylor of this city. My cousin Mr. Richard Frances of this City, merchant taylor. My cousin John Clarkson of Wallsall and his son George Clarkson who is servant unto my said cousin M<sup>r</sup> Richard Frances. My cousin William Clarkson's children. My cousin Mrs Margaret Perry the daughter of my cousin Mr. William Wilkes late of this city deceased, and the children of my said cousin Margaret Perry (in the margin is written "my cosen M<sup>ris</sup> Perry is deceased therefore lett her sonne w<sup>ch</sup> should haue bene my servant haue her tenne poundes").

Item, I give and bequeath unto my cousin Sir Richard Saltonstall, knight, a ring of gold of the value of forty shillings and to my cousin his bedfellow, Dame Elizabeth Saltonstall, another ring of gold, of the like value, and also the sum of fifty pounds. My sister in law Mrs. Elizabeth Sowch of Rygate. My brother in law Mr. Edward Hopegood and his wife that now is. My wife's two brethren Mr. Andrew Cade and Mr. Symond Cade of London. Walter Cade (their nephew). My sister in law Mrs. Joane Slee widow, my cousin M<sup>r</sup> Roger Slee & his wife, my cousin Mr. John Berry and his wife, my cousin Mr. William Hame and his wife and my cousin Mr. William Slee and his wife. My cousin Mr. John Clarkson of Wallsall School in Staffordshire and his wife.

In August 1625 he refers to his brother Robert as having departed this life. My cousin John Cooke. Joshua Cooke. Skynner, 38.

Then follows the last will and testament of JOHN PARKER, of London merchant taylor, as executor of the last will &c. of the Right Rev<sup>d</sup> Father in God Lancelot Andrewes late Lord Bishop of Winchester deceased. Reference to his kinsmen the Right Worshipful Roger Andrewes D.D., Master of Jesus Coll. in Cambridge, his two sisters Mary Burrell and Martha Salmon, Roberge Lee and her two sons, William Andrewes, son of his brother Nicholas deceased, the children of his brother Thomas Andrewes deceased, viz. Others. This will is dated 15 February 1626 and proved 5 April 1627. Skynner, 39.

SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE DESIRED FOR THE FIRST VOLUME OF A BOOK ENTITLED

"OLD HOUSES OF NORWICH."

COMPILED FROM OLD RECORDS, DEEDS, MANUSCRIPTS, ETC. ETC., BY MARY E. PERRINS.

This work has been prepared to answer queries, so often made by descendants of the early inhabitants, as to the location of the homes of their ancestors. It aims to give an account of the original home lots, the old houses and people of the parish of Norwich Town from 1659 to the year 1800. The first volume will include the buildings on the main roads from Mill Lane (or Lafayette St.) to the road leading to Bean Hill from the corner of the Meeting-house Green, and also genealogical charts of the residents, as long as they reside in this part of the town. The book will contain two maps, about two hundred and fifty pages, and fifty genealogical charts. As soon as the requisite number of subscribers has been obtained, the work will be at once placed in the publisher's hands, and be ready for delivery as soon as possible. The book will not be published unless enough subscriptions are received to pay the expense of a first edition.

A list of unmounted photographs of houses, gravestones, etc., to be procured at reasonable prices, will be furnished to each subscriber, and unbound copies of the book may be ordered by those who desire to illustrate their own family histories.

Price per volume, ) Cloth, $3.00.
                                  ) In loose sheets for illustrating, $2.00.

Subscriptions may be sent to NOYES & DAVIS, or CRANSTON & Co., Main St., Norwich, Conn.

The second volume, giving an account of the houses from the meeting-house corner to the Bean Hill bridge, and a third describing Chelsea, or the Landing, will be issued later.
